598-676 Regulation of Private Pension Provision

As to the Personal Accounts Delivery Authority see PARA 676A.

Halsbury's Laws of England/SOCIAL SECURITY AND PENSIONS (VOLUME 44(2) (REISSUE))/15. REGULATION OF PRIVATE PENSION PROVISION/(4) THE PENSIONS OMBUDSMAN/664. Functions of the Pensions Ombudsman.

664. Functions of the Pensions Ombudsman.

The Pensions Ombudsman<sup>1</sup> may investigate and determine the following complaints and disputes:

- 1559 (1) a complaint made to him by or on behalf of an actual or potential beneficiary<sup>2</sup> of an occupational or personal pension scheme<sup>3</sup> who alleges that he has sustained injustice in consequence of maladministration in connection with any act or omission of a person responsible for the management of the scheme<sup>4</sup>;
- 1560 (2) a complaint made to him:
- 161
- 219. (a) by or on behalf of a person responsible for the management of an occupational pension scheme who, in connection with any act or omission of another person responsible for the management of the scheme, alleges maladministration of the scheme<sup>5</sup>; or
- 220. (b) by or on behalf of the trustees or managers of an occupational pension scheme who, in connection with any act or omission of any trustee or manager of another such scheme, allege maladministration of the other scheme<sup>6</sup>;
- 162
- 1561 (3) any dispute of fact or law which arises in relation to an occupational or personal pension scheme between a person responsible for the management of the scheme and an actual or potential beneficiary, and which is referred to him by or on behalf of the actual or potential beneficiary; and
- 1562 (4) any dispute of fact or law which arises between the trustees or managers of an occupational pension scheme and:
- 163
- 221. (a) another person responsible for the management of the scheme; or
- 222. (b) any trustee or manager of another such scheme,
- 164
- 1563 and which is referred to him by or on behalf of the person referred to in head (4) (a) or head (4)(b) above<sup>7</sup>.

Complaints and references made to the ombudsman must be made to him in writing<sup>8</sup>. Regulations<sup>9</sup> may provide that, subject to any prescribed modifications<sup>10</sup> or exceptions, Part X of the Pension Schemes Act 1993 applies in the case of an occupational or personal pension scheme in relation to any prescribed person or body of persons, where the person or body is not a trustee or manager or employer but is concerned with the financing or administration of, or the provision of benefits under, the scheme, as if for the purposes of that Part he were a person responsible for the management of the scheme<sup>11</sup>.

The ombudsman may investigate a complaint or dispute notwithstanding that it arose, or relates to a matter which arose, before 1 October 1990<sup>12</sup>. The ombudsman must not investigate or determine a complaint or dispute:

- 1564 (i) if before the making of the complaint or the reference of the dispute, proceedings have been begun in any court in respect of the matters which would be the subject of the investigation<sup>13</sup>;

- 1565 (ii) if the scheme is of a description which is excluded from the jurisdiction of the ombudsman by regulations under this provision<sup>14</sup>; or
- 1566 (iii) if and to the extent that the complaint or dispute, or any matter arising in connection with the complaint or dispute, is of a description which is excluded from the jurisdiction of the ombudsman by regulations under this provision<sup>15</sup>.

1 As to the Pensions Ombudsman see PARA 663 ante.

2 The persons who, for the purposes of the Pension Schemes Act 1993 Pt X (ss 145-152) (as amended) (see PARAS 663 ante, 665 et seq post) are 'actual or potential beneficiaries' in relation to a scheme are: (1) a member of the scheme; (2) the widow or widower, or any surviving dependant, of a deceased member of the scheme; (3) where the complaint or dispute relates to the question: (a) whether a person who claims to be such a person as is mentioned in head (1) or (2) supra is such a person; or (b) whether a person who claims to be entitled to become a member of the scheme is so entitled, the person so claiming: s 146(7) (amended by the Pensions Act 1995 s 157(1), (3)). As to members see generally para 557 note 9 ante. In the Pension Schemes Act 1993 Pt X (as amended), 'member', in relation to a pension scheme, includes a person: (i) who is or has been in pensionable service under the scheme; or (ii) who is or has been treated under s 181(4) (see PARA 557 note 9 ante) as a member in relation to the scheme for the purposes of any provision of the Pension Schemes Act 1993 or under the Pension Schemes (Northern Ireland) Act 1993 s 176(3) as a member in relation to the scheme for the purposes of any provision of that Act: Pension Schemes Act 1993 s 147(8). 'Pensionable service' includes pensionable service as defined in the Pension Schemes (Northern Ireland) Act 1993 s 176(1): Pension Schemes Act 1993 s 146(8). In the Pension Schemes Act 1993 generally, unless the context otherwise requires, 'pensionable service', in relation to an occupational pension scheme to which Pt IV Ch I (ss 69-82) (as amended) (see PARA 931 et seq post) applies and a member of it, means service in relevant employment (ie any employment to which the scheme applies) which qualifies the member, on the assumption that it continues for the appropriate period, for long service benefit under the scheme; but there is to be taken into account as pensionable service only actual service, ie service notionally attributable for any purposes of the scheme is not to be regarded as pensionable service and no account is to be taken of scheme rules by which a period of service can be treated for any purpose as being longer or shorter than it actually is: ss 70(1)-(3), 181(1). For the meaning of 'long service benefit' see PARA 932 note 7 post.

3 For the meaning of 'occupational pension scheme' and 'personal pension scheme' see PARAS 741, 710 respectively post.

4 For the purposes of the Pension Schemes Act 1993 Pt X (as amended), the following persons (subject to s 146(4) (as substituted)) are responsible for the management of an occupational pension scheme: (1) the trustees or managers; and (2) the employer, but, in relation to a person falling within one of those heads, references in Pt X (as amended) to another person responsible for the management of the same scheme are to a person falling within the other head: s 146(3) (s 146(1)-(3), (3A), (4) respectively substituted and added by the Pensions Act 1995 s 157(1), (2)). For the purposes of the Pension Schemes Act 1993 Pt X (as amended), a person is responsible for the management of a personal pension scheme if he is a trustee or manager of the scheme (s 146(3A) (as so added)); and 'trustees or managers', in relation to a pension scheme which is a public service pension scheme or a Northern Ireland public service pension scheme, includes the scheme's administrators (s 146(8)). As to managers generally see PARA 555 note 9 ante. For the purposes of Pt X (as amended), 'employer', in relation to a pension scheme, includes a person: (a) who is or has been an employer in relation to the scheme; or (b) who is or has been treated under s 181(2) (see PARA 660 note 18 ante) as an employer in relation to the scheme for the purposes of any provision of the Pension Schemes Act 1993, or under the Pension Schemes (Northern Ireland) Act 1993 s 176(2) as an employer in relation to the scheme for the purposes of any provision of that Act: Pension Schemes Act 1993 s 146(8). The jurisdiction of the ombudsman with regard to the employer does not extend to the consideration of disputes regarding the normal contractual relations between the employer and employee but is limited to matters in relation to the occupational pension scheme: see Engineering Training Authority v Pensions Ombudsman [1996] PLR 409. For the meaning of 'public service pension scheme' see PARA 874 post. 'Northern Ireland public service pension scheme' means a public service pension scheme within the meaning of the Pension Schemes (Northern Ireland) Act 1993 s 176(1): Pension Schemes Act 1993 s 146(8). A breach of trust which results in no loss to the beneficiaries will not result in maladministration: see Hillsdown Holdings plc v pensions Ombudsman [1997] 1 All ER 862, [1996] PLR 427.

5 'Maladministration' should be given a purposive construction: see Westminster City Council v Haywood [1996] 2 All ER 467, [1996] 3 WLR 563; affd on other grounds [1997] 2 All ER 84, [1997] 3 WLR 641, CA.

6 In any case falling within head (2)(b) in the text, references to the scheme to which the complaint relates are to the other scheme referred to in that head: Pension Schemes Act 1993 s 146(1) (as substituted: see note 4 supra).

7 Ibid s 146(1) (as substituted: see note 4 supra). In any case falling within head (4)(b) in the text, references to the scheme to which the reference relates are to the scheme first mentioned in that head: s

146(1) (as so substituted). Where the ombudsman directs a person responsible for the management of an occupational or personal pension scheme to make any payment in respect of benefit under the scheme which, in his opinion, ought to have been paid earlier, his direction may also require the payment of interest at the prescribed rate: s 151A (added by the Pensions Act 1995 s 160).

8 Pension Schemes Act 1993 s 146(2) (as substituted: see note 4 supra).

9 For the meaning of 'regulations' see PARA 557 note 2 ante.

10 For the meaning of 'prescribed' see PARA 555 note 1 ante. 'Modifications' includes additions, omissions and amendments, and related expressions are to be construed accordingly: Pension Schemes Act 1993 s 181(1). This definition is applied for the purposes of the Pensions Act 1995: see s 124(5).

11 Pension Schemes Act 1993 s 146(4) (as substituted: see note 4 supra). The ombudsman may investigate and determine a complaint concerning the administration of a personal or an occupational pension scheme made to him by or in respect of an actual or potential beneficiary of the scheme who alleges that he has sustained injustice in consequence of maladministration in connection with an act or omission of an administrator of the scheme: Personal and Occupational Pension Schemes (Pensions Ombudsman) Regulations 1996, SI 1996/2475, reg 2(1). Where the ombudsman commences an investigation under reg 2(1), the provisions of the Pension Schemes Act 1993 Pt X (as amended) apply in relation to the administrator as they would apply in relation to a person responsible for the management of the scheme: Personal and Occupational Pension Schemes (Pensions Ombudsman) Regulations 1996, SI 1996/2475, reg 2(2).

12 Ie the date on which the provisions under which his office was constituted came into force: Pension Schemes Act 1993 s 146(5). As to the time limit for investigating complaints see PARA 666 post.

'Independent trustee', in relation to a scheme, means (i) a trustee of the scheme appointed under the Pensions Act 1995 s 23(1) (appointment of independent trustee by the Regulatory Authority: see PARA 795); (ii) a person appointed under s 7(1) (see PARA 608) to replace a trustee falling within head (i) or (ii) of this definition: Pension Schemes Act 1993 s 146(8) (amended by the Child Support, Pensions and Social Security Act 2000 s 53(1), (8); and the Pensions Act 2004 Sch 12 para 24(c)).

Pension Schemes Act 1993 s 146(1) further amended: Pensions Act 2004 Sch 12 para 24(a).

The Pensions Ombudsman may not investigate or determine any dispute or question falling within heads (3)-(7) unless it is referred to him (A) in the case of a dispute falling within head (3), by or on behalf of the actual or potential beneficiary who is a party to the dispute; (B) in the case of a dispute falling within head (4), by or on behalf of any of the parties to the dispute; (C) in the case of a dispute falling within head (5), by or on behalf of at least half the trustees of the scheme; (D) in the case of a dispute falling within head (6), by or on behalf of the independent trustee who is a party to the dispute; (E) in the case of a question falling within head (7), by or on behalf of the sole trustee: Pension Schemes Act 1993 s 146(1A) (s 146(1A), (1B) added by the Child Support, Pensions and Social Security Act 2000 s 53(1), (4)). For the purposes of the Pension Schemes Act 1993 Pt X, any reference to or determination by the Pensions Ombudsman of a question falling within head (7) is taken to be the reference or determination of a dispute: s 146(1B) (as added).

NOTE 2--Head (2) now refers to 'widow, widower or surviving civil partner': Pension Schemes Act 1993 s 146(7)(b) (amended by SI 2005/2053).

Also head (2A) a person who is entitled to a pension credit as against the trustees or managers of the scheme; and in head (3)(a), for 'head (1) or (2)' read 'head (1), (2) or (2A)': Pension Schemes Act 1993 s 146(7) (amended by the Child Support, Pensions and Social Security Act 2000 s 53(1), (7)).

For the purposes of the Pension Schemes Act 1993 s 146(7) a person must be regarded as a member of a scheme if he is, or has been, entitled to the payment of benefits under it: SI 1996/2475 (see NOTE 11) reg 1A; SI 1997/3038. See Westminster CC v Haywood (No 2) [2000] 2 All ER 634 (retrospective effect of SI 1997/3038).

NOTE 4--In the Pension Schemes Act 1993 s 146(3) (amended by the Child Support, Pensions and Social Security Act 2000 s 53(1), (5)) for 'occupational pension scheme' read 'occupational pension scheme or a personal pension scheme'. Pension Schemes Act 1993 s 146(3A) repealed: Child Support, Pensions and Social Security Act 2000 Sch 9 Pt III(3).

When seeking to establish that a person contracted to provide administrative services to the trustees of a pension scheme is an administrator of the scheme, the test is whether he is engaged to act, or advise, in, or about, the trustees' affairs in the running of the scheme and whether he has assumed an administrative role on the trustees' side in the administration of the scheme's affairs: R (on the application of Britannic Asset Management Ltd) v Pensions Ombudsman [2002] EWCA Civ 1405, [2002] 4 All ER 860.

See Edge v Pensions Ombudsman [2000] Ch 602, [1999] 4 All ER 546, CA (no jurisdiction to set aside a deed of amendment by the trustees of the scheme where the effect would be to deprive members who were not parties to the proceedings of proprietary rights to which they were entitled). See also Marsh & McLennan Companies UK Ltd v Pensions Ombudsman [2001] IRLR 505 (no jurisdiction to make direction, without hearing representations from all those affected by it, that method of calculating guaranteed minimum pension be equalised).

TEXT AND NOTE 11--For the purposes of the Pension Schemes Act 1993 s 146(4) a person or body of persons is concerned with the administration of an occupational or personal pension scheme where the person or body is responsible for carrying out an act of administration concerned with the scheme: s 146(4A) (added by Pensions Act 2004 s 275(1)). The amendment made by the Pensions Act 2004 s 275 has effect in relation to the making of any provision under the Pension Schemes Act 1993 s 146(4) applying the Pension Schemes Act 1993 Pt 10 in relation to a complaint or a dispute in so far as it relates to a matter which arises on or after the day on which the Pensions Act 2004 s 275 comes into force (ie 6 April 2005: see SI 2005/275): Pensions Act 2004 s 275(2). For the purposes of s 275(2), a question falling within the Pension Schemes Act 1993 s 146(1)(g) is to be treated as a dispute: Pensions Act 2004 s 275(3).

TEXT AND NOTE 13--Now head (i) if, before the making of the complaint or the reference of the dispute (A) proceedings in respect of the matters which would be the subject of the investigation have been begun in any court or employment tribunal; and (B) those proceedings are proceedings which have not been discontinued or which have been discontinued on the basis of a settlement or compromise binding all the persons by or on whose behalf the complaint or reference is made: Pension Schemes Act 1993 s 146(6)(a) (substituted by the Child Support, Pensions and Social Security Act 2000 s 53(1), (6)).

665. Exclusions from jurisdiction.

In a case to which the statutory requirement to make arrangements for internal dispute resolution applies<sup>1</sup>, the Pensions Ombudsman<sup>2</sup> must not investigate or determine a complaint<sup>3</sup> or dispute<sup>4</sup> concerning an occupational pension scheme unless written notice of a decision in respect of that complaint or dispute has first been issued by the trustees or managers of the scheme under the arrangements required by statute<sup>5</sup> or unless, where an application concerning a complaint or dispute has been made to an occupational pension scheme under the required arrangements, he is satisfied that:

- 1567 (1) there is no real prospect of a notice being issued within a reasonable period from the date on which the complaint or dispute was received by him in writing; and
- 1568 (2) it is reasonable in the circumstances that he should investigate and determine the complaint or dispute, in which case he may investigate and determine that complaint or dispute in advance of written notice of a decision being issued<sup>6</sup> in respect of it<sup>7</sup>.

other than a complaint or dispute relating to the management of a personal pension scheme<sup>10</sup>.

For the purposes of the investigation or determination of any complaint or dispute, the ombudsman must not make any findings of fact to the effect that a person responsible for the management of an occupational pension scheme has failed to comply with certain statutory requirements<sup>11</sup>.

598-676 Regulation of Private Pension Provision

As to the Personal Accounts Delivery Authority see PARA 676A.

Halsbury's Laws of England/SOCIAL SECURITY AND PENSIONS (VOLUME 44(2) (REISSUE))/15. REGULATION OF PRIVATE PENSION PROVISION/(4) THE PENSIONS OMBUDSMAN/670. Procedure on an investigation; in general.

670. Procedure on an investigation; in general.

Where the Pensions Ombudsman<sup>1</sup> proposes to conduct an investigation into a complaint made or dispute referred to him, he must give:

- 1584 (1) any person (other than the person by whom, or on whose behalf, the complaint or reference was made) responsible for the management of the scheme<sup>2</sup> to which the complaint or reference relates; and
- 1585 (2) any other person against whom allegations are made in the complaint or reference, an opportunity to comment on any allegations contained in the complaint or reference<sup>3</sup>.

The Secretary of State<sup>4</sup> may make rules with respect to the procedure which is to be adopted in connection with the making of complaints, the reference of disputes, and the investigation of complaints made and disputes so referred<sup>5</sup>.

The rules may include provision:

- 1586 (a) requiring any oral hearing held in connection with such an investigation to take place in public, except in such cases as may be specified in the rules<sup>6</sup>;
- 1587 (b) as to the persons entitled to appear and be heard on behalf of parties to an investigation<sup>7</sup>; and
- 1588 (c) for the payment by the ombudsman of such travelling and other allowances (including compensation for loss of remunerative time) as the Secretary of State may determine, to:
  - 165 223. (i) actual or potential beneficiaries<sup>8</sup> of a scheme to which a complaint or reference relates; or
  - 224. (ii) persons appearing and being heard on behalf of such actual or potential beneficiaries, who attend at the request of the ombudsman any oral hearing held in connection with an investigation into the complaint or dispute<sup>9</sup>.

Subject to any provision made by the rules, the procedure for conducting such an investigation must be such as the ombudsman considers appropriate in the circumstances of the case; and he may, in particular, obtain information from such persons and in such manner, and make such inquiries, as he thinks fit<sup>10</sup>. The ombudsman may disclose any information which he obtains for the purposes of such an investigation to any of the specified persons<sup>11</sup>, if the ombudsman considers that the disclosure would enable or assist that person to discharge any of his functions<sup>12</sup>.

For the purposes of such an investigation, the ombudsman may require any person responsible for the management of the scheme to which the complaint or reference relates, or any other person who in his opinion is able to furnish information or produce documents relevant to the investigation, to furnish any such information or produce any such documents<sup>13</sup>.

For the purposes of any such investigation the ombudsman has the same powers as the court<sup>14</sup> in respect of the attendance and examination of witnesses (including the administration of oaths and affirmations and the examination of witnesses abroad) and in respect of the production of documents<sup>15</sup>. No person may be compelled for the purposes of any such investigation to give any evidence or produce any document which he could not be compelled to give or produce in civil proceedings before the court<sup>16</sup>. If any person without lawful excuse obstructs the ombudsman in the performance of his functions or is guilty of any act or omission in relation to such an investigation which, if that investigation were a proceeding in the court, would constitute contempt of court, the ombudsman may certify the offence to the court<sup>17</sup>. Where an offence is so certified the court may inquire into the matter and, after hearing any witnesses who may be produced against or on behalf of the person charged with the offence and hearing any statement that may be offered in defence, deal with him in any manner in which the court could deal with him if he had committed the like offence in relation to the court<sup>18</sup>.

To assist him in an investigation, the ombudsman may obtain advice from any person who in his opinion is qualified to give it and may pay to any such person such fees or allowances as he may with the approval of the Treasury determine<sup>19</sup>. The ombudsman may refer any question of law arising for determination in connection with a complaint or dispute to the High Court<sup>20</sup>.

The ombudsman may order the discontinuance of an investigation if he considers it appropriate to do so; but before making any such order, he must send notice to the party to the investigation against whom it is proposed that any such order should be made giving him an opportunity to show cause why such an order should not be made<sup>21</sup>.

Where the Pensions Ombudsman<sup>1</sup> considers it appropriate for an oral hearing to be held in connection with any investigation conducted by him, he must, with due regard to the convenience of the parties to the investigation<sup>2</sup>, fix the time and place of any such hearing and, not less than 21 days<sup>3</sup> before the date so fixed (or such shorter time as the parties agree), send to each party a notice of the time and place of the hearing<sup>4</sup>. Halsbury's Laws of England/SOCIAL SECURITY AND PENSIONS (VOLUME 44(2) (REISSUE))/15. REGULATION OF PRIVATE PENSION PROVISION/(4) THE PENSIONS OMBUDSMAN/675. Procedure in relation to oral hearing.

675. Procedure in relation to oral hearing.

Each party to the investigation<sup>1</sup> must inform the Pensions Ombudsman<sup>2</sup> whether or not he intends to attend or be represented at the hearing and whether or not he intends to call witnesses<sup>3</sup>. If any party to the investigation does not intend to attend or be represented at the hearing, he may send to the ombudsman additional written representations<sup>4</sup>.

All hearings by the ombudsman must be in public except where, by reason of the disclosure of any matter that relates to intimate personal or financial circumstances, or is commercially sensitive, or consists of information communicated or obtained in confidence, or concerns national security, it is just and reasonable for the hearing or any part of it to be in private<sup>5</sup>. A member of the Council on Tribunals or of the Scottish Committee of that Council is entitled to attend the hearing whether it is in public or in private<sup>6</sup> and the ombudsman, with the consent of the parties to the investigation, may permit any other person to attend any hearing which is held in private<sup>7</sup>.

Any person whose conduct has disrupted or is likely to disrupt the hearing may be excluded by the ombudsman<sup>8</sup>.

If a party to the investigation fails to attend or be represented at a hearing of which he has been duly notified, the ombudsman may conduct the hearing and determine the complaint or dispute in the party's absence or may adjourn the hearing<sup>9</sup>. Before deciding to dispose of any case in the absence of a party, the ombudsman must consider any representations in writing submitted by that party in response to the notice of hearing<sup>10</sup>.

At any hearing, any party to the investigation, if an individual, may conduct his case himself (with assistance from any person if he wishes) or may appear and be represented by any person whether or not legally qualified, provided that, if in any particular case there are good and sufficient reasons for doing so, the ombudsman may refuse to permit a particular person to assist or represent the party at the hearing<sup>11</sup>.

At the beginning of any hearing the ombudsman must explain the order of proceeding which he proposes to adopt<sup>12</sup>. He must conduct the hearing in such manner as he considers appropriate to the clarification of the issues before him and generally to the just handling of the investigation and he must so far as seems appropriate seek to avoid formality in the hearing<sup>13</sup>. The parties to the investigation are to be heard in such order as the ombudsman determines and they are entitled to give evidence, to call witnesses, to question any party to the investigation or witnesses and to address the ombudsman both on the evidence and generally on the subject matter of the investigation<sup>14</sup>.

Evidence before the ombudsman may be given orally or, where the ombudsman considers appropriate, by affidavit or written statement, but the ombudsman may, if it is appropriate, at any stage of the hearing require the personal attendance of any deponent or maker of a written statement<sup>15</sup>. The ombudsman may receive evidence of any fact which appears to him to be relevant notwithstanding that such evidence would be inadmissible in proceedings before a court of law, but must not refuse to admit any evidence which is admissible at law and is relevant<sup>16</sup>.

Any irregularity resulting from failure to comply with any provisions of the relevant procedural rules<sup>17</sup> does not of itself render the proceedings void<sup>18</sup>.

The ombudsman may, at any stage of the investigation, order to be struck out or amended any written representation on the grounds that it is scandalous, frivolous or vexatious; but before making any such order he must send notice to the party to the investigation against whom it is proposed that any such order should be made giving him an opportunity to show cause why such an order should not be made: r 16(1)(b), (2).

598-676 Regulation of Private Pension Provision

As to the Personal Accounts Delivery Authority see PARA 676A.

675 Procedure in relation to oral hearing

TEXT AND NOTE 6--SI 1995/1053 r 12(2) revoked: SI 2008/2683.

Halsbury's Laws of England/SOCIAL SECURITY AND PENSIONS (VOLUME 44(2) (REISSUE))/15. REGULATION OF PRIVATE PENSION PROVISION/(4) THE PENSIONS OMBUDSMAN/676. Determinations of the Pensions Ombudsman.

676. Determinations of the Pensions Ombudsman.

Where the Pensions Ombudsman<sup>1</sup> has conducted an investigation he must send a written statement of his determination of the complaint or dispute in question:

- 1594 (1) to the person by whom, or on whose behalf, the complaint or reference was made; and
- 1595 (2) to any person (if different) responsible for the management of the scheme<sup>2</sup> to which the complaint or reference relates, and any such statement must contain the reasons for his determination<sup>3</sup>.

Where the ombudsman makes such a determination or makes such a determination under any corresponding legislation having effect in Northern Ireland<sup>4</sup>, he may direct any person responsible for the management of the scheme to which the complaint or reference relates to take, or refrain from taking, such steps as he may specify in the statement or otherwise in writing<sup>5</sup>. Subject to the above provision, the determination by the ombudsman of a complaint or dispute, and any such direction given by him, is final and binding on:

- 1596 (a) the person by whom, or on whose behalf, the complaint or reference was made<sup>6</sup>;
- 1597 (b) any person (if different) responsible for the management of the scheme to which the complaint or reference relates<sup>7</sup>; and
- 1598 (c) any person claiming under a person falling within head (a) or head (b) above<sup>8</sup>.

Any determination or direction of the ombudsman is enforceable in England and Wales, in a county court as if it were a judgment or order of that court<sup>9</sup>.

If the ombudsman considers it appropriate to do so in any particular case, he may publish in such form and manner as he thinks fit a report of any such investigation and of the result of that investigation<sup>10</sup>.

An appeal on a point of law lies to the High Court from a determination or direction of the ombudsman at the instance of any person falling within heads (a) to (c) above<sup>11</sup>. The ombudsman may appear as a party on the hearing of the appeal<sup>12</sup> but if he does so he may be at risk for the costs of the appeal<sup>13</sup>.

2 As to the persons responsible for the management of a scheme see PARA 664 note 4 ante.

Where the ombudsman directs a person responsible for the management of an occupational or personal pension scheme to make any payment in respect of benefit under the scheme which, in his opinion, ought to have been paid earlier, his direction may also require the payment of interest at the prescribed rate: Pension Schemes Act 1993 s 151A (added by the Pensions Act 1995 s 160). The prescribed rate of interest for these purposes is the base rate for the time being quoted by the reference banks: Personal and Occupational Pension Schemes (Pensions Ombudsman) Regulations 1996, SI 1996/2475, reg 6(1). 'Base rate' means the rate for the time being quoted by the reference banks as applicable to sterling deposits or, where there is for the time being more than one such base rate, the rate which, when the base rate quoted by each bank is ranked in a descending sequence of four, is first in the sequence; and 'reference banks' means the four largest institutions for the time being which (1) are authorised by the Bank of England under the Banking Act 1987; (2) are incorporated in and carrying on within the United Kingdom a deposit-taking business (as defined in s 6, but subject to any order under s 7: see FINANCIAL SERVICES AND INSTITUTIONS vol 49 (2008) PARA 791); and (3) quote a base rate applicable to sterling deposits: Personal and Occupational Pension Schemes (Pensions Ombudsman) Regulations 1996, SI 1996/2475, reg 6(2). A direction by the ombudsman for the payment of money is not to be enforced, whether by issue of a warrant of execution or otherwise, unless the applicant for enforcement has filed with his application a copy of the direction, certified by the ombudsman to be a true copy of the original; but subject to this, wherever the ombudsman directs the payment of money, the County Court Rules 1981 concerning the enforcement of payment of judgment debts apply to the direction as if it were a county court judgment: County Court (Pensions Ombudsman) (Enforcement of Directions and Determinations) Rules 1993, SI 1993/1978, r 2.

Wherever the ombudsman directs a person to take, or refrain from taking, any step, the County Court Rules 1981 concerning the enforcement of a judgment, in CCR Ord 29 (committal for breach of order or undertaking), apply to the direction as if it were a county court judgment or order; but the procedure provided by Ord 29 r 1(3) for a county court, at the request of the judgment creditor, to issue a copy of the judgment or order indorsed with a notice as to the consequences of disobedience, does not apply to a direction of the ombudsman unless the applicant has filed with his request a copy of the direction, certified by the ombudsman to be a true copy of the original: County Court (Pensions Ombudsman) (Enforcement of Directions and Determinations) Rules 1993, SI 1993/1978, r 3.

The Board<sup>1</sup> may not approve<sup>2</sup> a contract as a retirement annuity contract unless it appears to it to satisfy the conditions that it is made by the individual with a person lawfully carrying on in the United Kingdom the business of granting annuities on human life, and that it does not:

- 1606 (1) provide for the payment by that person during the life of the individual of any sum except sums payable by way of annuity to the individual; or
- 1607 (2) provide for the annuity payable to the individual to commence before he attains the age of 60 years or after he attains the age of 75 years; or
- 1608 (3) provide for the payment by that person of any other sums except sums payable by way of annuity to the individual's widow or widower and any sums which, in the event of no annuity becoming payable either to the individual or to a widow or widower, are payable by way of return of premiums, by way of reasonable interest on premiums or by way of bonuses out of profits; or
- 1609 (4) provide for the annuity, if any, payable to a widow or widower of the individual to be of a greater annual amount than that paid or payable to the individual; or
- 1610 (5) provide for the payment of any annuity otherwise than for the life of the annuitant, and that it does include provision securing that no annuity payable under it is capable in whole or in part of surrender, commutation or assignment<sup>3</sup>.

701. Net relevant earnings.

'Net relevant earnings' means, in relation to an individual, the amount of his relevant earnings<sup>1</sup> for the year of assessment<sup>2</sup> in question, less the amount of any deductions falling to be made from the relevant earnings in computing for the purposes of income tax his total income for that year, being:

- 1634 (1) annual payments (other than interest) payable out of profits or gains;
- 1635 (2) patent royalties;
- 1636 (3) certain rents and royalties in respect of mines, quarries and similar concerns and electric line wayleaves<sup>3</sup>;
- 1637 (4) deductions in respect of losses or capital allowances<sup>4</sup> arising from activities the profits or gains of which would be included in computing relevant earnings of the individual<sup>5</sup>.

To the extent that a deduction within head (4) above has been made from income other than relevant earnings in any year for which the individual claimed and was allowed relief with regard to a qualifying premium<sup>6</sup>, that amount must be treated as reducing the individual's net relevant earnings for subsequent years of assessment, being deducted as far as possible from those of the immediately following year, whether or not he claims or is entitled to claim relief<sup>7</sup> for that year, and so far as it cannot be so deducted, then from those of the next following year, and so on<sup>8</sup>.

For the purposes of the provisions relating to relevant earnings<sup>1</sup>, a sponsored superannuation scheme means a scheme or arrangement:

710 Meaning of 'personal pension scheme'

TEXT AND NOTE 7--'Personal pension scheme' means a pension scheme that (1) is not an occupational pension scheme, and (2) is established by a person within any of the Finance Act 2004 s 154(1): Pension Schemes Act 1993 s 1(1) (substituted by Pensions Act 2004 s 239(1)-(3); and amended by the Finance Act 2007 Sch 20 para 23). In the 1993 Act s 1(1) 'pension scheme' (except in the phrases 'occupational pension scheme', 'personal pension scheme' and 'public service pension scheme') means a scheme or other arrangements, comprised in one or more instruments or agreements, having or capable of having effect so as to provide benefits to or in respect of people on retirement, on having reached a particular age, or on termination of service in an employment: s 1(5) (added by Pensions Act 2004 s 239(4)). The power of the Treasury under the Finance Act 2004 s 154(4) (power to amend ss 154 and 155) includes power consequentially to amend (a) head (1) of the definition in the Pension Schemes Act 1993 s 1(1) of 'personal pension scheme', and (b) any provision in force in Northern Ireland corresponding to that head: s 1(6) (as so added). A stakeholder pension scheme will be treated for all purposes as a personal pension scheme where (1) it is established under a trust; (2) the provisions of such a scheme do not require the employer of any member of the scheme to make contributions to the scheme; and (3) it would be an occupational pension scheme, except for these provisions: Pension Schemes (Categories) Regulations 2005, SI 2005/2401, reg 3.

An application to the Board<sup>1</sup> for its approval<sup>2</sup> of a personal pension scheme<sup>3</sup> must be in such form, must contain such information, and must be accompanied by such documents, in such form, as the Board may prescribe<sup>4</sup>. The Board may at its discretion grant or refuse an application for approval of a personal pension scheme, but its discretion is subject to statutory restrictions<sup>5</sup>. The Board has the power to grant provisional approval in certain circumstances<sup>6</sup>. The Board must give notice to the applicant of the grant or refusal of an application and in the case of a refusal the notice must state the grounds for the refusal<sup>7</sup>. If an amendment is made to an approved scheme without being approved by the Board, its approval of the scheme ceases to have effect<sup>8</sup>.

5 Ibid s 631(2). For the statutory restrictions see ss 632-638 (as amended); and PARAS 712-714 post. The Board may not grant any such application so as to approve a scheme with effect from a date earlier than 1 July 1988: s 655(4) (amended by the Finance Act 1988 s 54(3)).

6 The Board may by regulations make provisions for applications for approval of personal pension schemes to be granted provisionally notwithstanding that the Board has not satisfied itself that the schemes comply with the requirements of the Income and Corporation Taxes Act 1988 ss 632-638 (as amended); and such regulations may, in particular, provide (1) for the contents and form of certificates or other documents which the Board may require the applicant to give it before it grants an application provisionally; (2) for the making of such amendments of the rules of the scheme after the provisional grant of an application as are necessary to enable the scheme to comply with the requirements of ss 632-638 (as amended), and for those amendments to have effect as from the date of approval of the scheme; (3) for the withdrawal of approval of the scheme as from that date if it does not comply with the requirements of ss 632-638 and such amendments as are mentioned in head (2) supra are not made; and may make such supplementary provision as appears to the Board to be necessary or expedient: s 655(5) (amended by the Finance Act 1989 ss 77, 187(1), Sch 7 paras 1, 9, Sch 17 Pt IV). Where the scheme is established under a trust, the Board may grant approval of the scheme provisionally if the application is also accompanied by a written undertaking by the scheme administrator that provision is made so as to ensure that neither the capital nor the income of the trust fund is paid to a member of the scheme except by the provision of a benefit referred to in the Income and Corporation Taxes Act 1988 ss 633-637 (as amended): Personal Pension Schemes (Provisional Approval) Regulations 1987, SI 1987/1765, reg 3A (added by SI 1988/1437). If on examination of the application for approval, and the documents which accompany it, the Board is not satisfied that the scheme complies with the statutory requirements, the Board must give written notice to the person who has power to amend the rules of the scheme requiring him within a period of six months from the date of the notice (or such further time as the Board may allow) to amend the rules of the scheme so that it complies with those requirements with effect as from the date of approval of the scheme: Personal Pension Schemes (Provisional Approval) Regulations 1987, SI 1987/1765, reg 4. If at the expiration of the specified period (or at the end of such further time as the Board may have allowed) the Board is not satisfied that a scheme complies with the statutory requirements, the Board must give written notice to the applicant of the withdrawal of approval as from the date of approval of the scheme: reg 5(1). The notice must state the grounds on which approval is withdrawn: reg 5(2). Where the Board withdraws an approval by such notice, the applicant may appeal to the Special Commissioners against the withdrawal, by written notice stating the grounds for the appeal and given to the Board before the end of the period of 30 days beginning with the day on which notice of withdrawal was given to the appellant: reg 6(1), (2). ### 710-740 Personal Pension Schemes and Personal Equity Plans

Provisions of Income and Corporation Taxes Act 1988 replaced by legislation concerning registered pension schemes: see PARA 873B.

As to the effect of bankruptcy on any rights under a personal pension scheme, see the Welfare Reform and Pensions Act 1999 s 11; and PARA 754A.

Halsbury's Laws of England/SOCIAL SECURITY AND PENSIONS (VOLUME 44(2) (REISSUE))/17. PERSONAL PENSION SCHEMES AND PERSONAL EQUITY PLANS/(1) PERSONAL PENSION SCHEMES/(ii) Restrictions on Approval/713. Scope of benefits.

713. Scope of benefits.

The Board<sup>1</sup> must not approve<sup>2</sup> a personal pension scheme<sup>3</sup> which makes provision for any benefit other than:

- 1652 (1) the payment of an annuity or income withdrawals<sup>4</sup> with respect to which the statutory conditions<sup>5</sup> are satisfied<sup>6</sup>;
- 1653 (2) the payment to a member<sup>7</sup> of a lump sum satisfying the statutory conditions<sup>8</sup>;
- 1654 (3) the payment after the death of a member of an annuity or income withdrawals with respect to which the statutory conditions<sup>9</sup> are satisfied<sup>10</sup>;
- 1655 (4) the payment on the death of a member of a lump sum satisfying the statutory conditions<sup>11</sup> relating to death benefit<sup>12</sup>;
- 1656 (5) the payment on or after the death of a member of a lump sum with respect to which the statutory conditions<sup>13</sup> relating to return of contributions are satisfied<sup>14</sup>.

These restrictions on benefits do not prevent the approval of a scheme which makes provision for insurance against a risk relating to the non-payment of contributions<sup>15</sup>.

1 For the meaning of 'the Board' see PARA 678 note 2 ante.

2 I.e. approve under the Income and Corporation Taxes Act 1988 Pt XIV Ch IV (ss 630-655) (as amended): see PARA 711 et seq ante, 714 post.

4 For the meaning of 'income withdrawals' see PARA 710 note 3 ante.

5 I.e. in relation to annuities, the conditions are that: (1) the annuity must be payable by an authorised insurance company which may be chosen by the member; (2) it must not commence before the member attains the age of 50 or after he attains the age of 75, except that it may commence before the member attains the age of 50 if (a) it is payable on his becoming incapable through infirmity of body or mind of carrying on his own occupation or any occupation of a similar nature for which he is trained or fitted; or (b) the Board is satisfied that his occupation is one in which persons customarily retire before that age; (3) the annuity must be payable to the member for his life, except that it may continue for a term certain not exceeding ten years, notwithstanding the member's death within that term; and for this purpose an annuity must be regarded as payable for a term certain notwithstanding that it may terminate, after the death of the member and before expiry of that term, on the happening of any of the following, i.e. (a) the marriage of the annuitant; (b) his attaining the age of 18; (c) the later of his attaining that age and ceasing to be in full-time education; and (4) the annuity must not be capable of assignment or surrender, except that an annuity for a term certain may be assigned by will or by the annuitant's personal representatives in the distribution of his estate so as to give effect to a testamentary disposition, or to the rights of those entitled on an intestacy, or to an appropriation of it to a legacy or to a share or interest in the estate: Income and Corporation Taxes Act 1988 s 634(1)-(6).

In relation to income withdrawals, the conditions are that where a member elects to defer the purchase of an annuity such as is mentioned in s 634, income withdrawals may be made by him during the period of deferral, subject as follows: (i) they must not be made before the member attains the age of 50, unless they are available on his becoming incapable through infirmity of body or mind of carrying on his own occupation or any occupation of a similar nature for which he is trained or fitted, or the Board is satisfied that his occupation is one in which persons customarily retire before that age; (ii) they must not be made after the member attains the age of 75; (iii) the aggregate amount of income withdrawals by a member in each successive period of 12 months beginning with his pension date must be not less than 35% or more than 100% of the annual amount of the annuity which would have been purchasable by him on the relevant reference date; and for these purposes the relevant reference date for the first three years is the member's pension date, and for each succeeding period of three years is the first day of that period; (iv) the right to income withdrawals must not be capable of assignment or surrender: s 634A(1)-(6) (added by Finance Act 1995 s 58, Sch 11 paras 1, 4). The annual amount of the annuity which would have been purchasable by a person on any date must be calculated by reference to (A) the value on that date, determined by or on behalf of the scheme administrator, of the fund from which income withdrawals are to be or have been made by him under the arrangements in question (ie the value of the accrued rights to which the person concerned is entitled conferring prospective entitlement to benefits under those arrangements, after allowing for the payment of any lump sum that falls to be paid on the date in question); and (B) the current published tables of rates of annuities prepared for these purposes by the Government Actuary: Income and Corporation Taxes Act 1988 s 630(2), (C) (added by the Finance Act 1995 s 58, Sch 11 paras 1, 2). The Board may make provision by regulations as to the basis on which the tables mentioned in head (b) supra are to be prepared and the manner in which they are to be applied: Income and Corporation Taxes Act 1988 s 630(4) (as so added). See the Personal Pension Schemes (Tables of Rates of Annuities) Regulations 1996, SI 1996/1311, regs 3, 4.

6 Income and Corporation Taxes Act 1988 s 633(1)(a) (amended by the Finance Act 1995 Sch 11 paras 1, 3).

7 For these purposes, 'member', in relation to a personal pension scheme, means an individual who makes arrangements in accordance with the scheme: Income and Corporation Taxes Act 1988 s 630(1).

8 Ibid s 633(1)(b). The conditions are that (1) the lump sum must be payable only if the member so elects on or before his pension date under the arrangements in question; (2) the lump sum must be payable on the date which is his pension date under the arrangements in question; (3) the lump sum must not exceed one quarter of the difference between (a) the total value, at the time when the lump sum is paid, of the benefits provided for by the arrangements in question; and (b) the value, at that time, of such of the member's rights under those arrangements as are protected rights for the purposes of the Pension Schemes Act 1993 or the Pension Schemes (Northern Ireland) Act 1993; (4) the right to payment of the lump sum must not be capable of assignment or surrender: Income and Corporation Taxes Act 1988 s 635 (amended by the Finance Act 1989 ss 77, 187, Sch 7 para 2, Sch 17 Pt IV; the Pension Schemes Act 1993 s 190, Sch 8 para 20(2); the Pension Schemes (Northern Ireland) Act 1993 s 184, Sch 7; and the Finance Act 1995 Sch 11 paras 1, 5).

9 The conditions in relation to an annuity are that: (1) the annuity must be payable by an authorised insurance company which may be chosen by the member or by the annuitant; (2) it must be payable to the surviving spouse of the member, or to a person who was at the member's death a dependant of his; (3) the aggregate annual amount (or, if that amount varies, the aggregate of the initial annual amounts) of all annuities to which these provisions apply and which are payable under the same personal pension arrangements must not exceed: (a) where before his death the member was in receipt of an annuity under the arrangements, the annual amount (or, if it varied, the highest annual amount) of that annuity; or (b) where head (a) supra does not apply, the highest annual amount of the annuity that would have been payable under the arrangements to the member (ignoring any entitlement of his to commute part of it for a lump sum) if it had been purchased on the day before his death; (4) subject to heads (5)-(9) infra, the annuity must be payable for the life of the annuitant; (5) where the annuity is payable to the surviving spouse of the member and at the time of the member's death the surviving spouse is under the age of 60, the annuity may be deferred to a time not later than: (a) the time when the surviving spouse attains that age; or (b) where the member's annuity is payable to the surviving spouse for a term certain as mentioned in the Income and Corporation Taxes Act 1988 s 634(5) (see note 5 supra) and the surviving spouse attains the age of 60 before the time when the member's annuity terminates, that time; (6) the annuity may cease to be payable on the marriage of the annuitant; (7) where the annuity is payable to the surviving spouse of the member, it may cease before the death of the surviving spouse if: (a) the member was survived by one or more dependants under the age of 18 and at the time of the member's death the surviving spouse was under the age of 45; and (b) at some time before the surviving spouse attains that age no such dependant remains under the age of 18; (8) where the annuity is payable to a person who is under the age of 18 when it is first payable, it must cease to be payable either: (a) on his attaining that age; or (b) on the later of his attaining that age and ceasing to be in full-time education, unless he was a dependant of the member otherwise than by reason only that he was under the age of 18; (9) the annuity may continue for a term certain not exceeding ten years, notwithstanding the original annuitant's death within that term; and for this purpose an annuity must be regarded as payable for a term certain notwithstanding that it may terminate, after the death of the original annuitant and before the expiry of that term, on the happening of any of the following: (a) the marriage of the annuitant to whom it is payable; (b) his attaining the age of 18; (c) the later of his attaining that age and ceasing to be in full-time education; (10) the annuity must not be capable of assignment or surrender, except that an annuity for a term certain may be assigned by will or by the annuitant's personal representatives in the distribution of his estate so as to give effect to a testamentary disposition, or to the rights of those entitled on an intestacy, or to an appropriation of it to a legacy or to a share or interest in the estate: s 636 (amended by the Finance Act 1995 Sch 11 paras 1, 6).

In relation to income withdrawals, the conditions are that where a person entitled to such an annuity as is mentioned in the Income and Corporation Taxes Act 1988 s 636 (as so amended) elects to defer the purchase of the annuity, income withdrawals may be made by him during the period of deferral, subject as follows: (i) no such deferral may be made, and accordingly income withdrawals may not be made, if the person concerned elects in accordance with s 636(5)(a) (see head (5)(a) supra) to defer the purchase of an annuity; (ii) they must not be made after the person concerned, if he had purchased such an annuity as is mentioned in s 636 (as so amended) would have ceased to be entitled to payments under it; (iii) they must not in any event be made after the member would have attained the age of 75 or, if earlier, after the person concerned attains the age of 75; (iv) the aggregate amount of income withdrawals by a person in each successive period of 12 months beginning with the date of the member's death must be not less than 35% or more than 100% of the annual amount of the annuity which would have been purchasable by him on the relevant reference date; and for these purposes, the relevant reference date for the first three years is the date of the member's death, and for each succeeding period of three years is the first day of that period; (v) the right to income withdrawals must not be capable of assignment or surrender: s 636A (added by the Finance Act 1995 Sch 11 paras 1, 7).

10 Income and Corporation Taxes Act 1988 s 633(1)(c) (as amended: see note 6 supra).

11 The conditions are that the lump sum must be payable on the death of the member before he attains the age of 75, and must be payable by an authorised insurance company: ibid s 637 (substituted by the Finance Act 1995 Sch 11 paras 1, 8).

12 Income and Corporation Taxes Act 1988 s 633(1)(d) (as amended: see note 6 supra).

13 The conditions are that: (1) the lump sum payable under the arrangements in question (or, where two or more lump sums are so payable, those lump sums taken together) must represent no more than the return of contributions together with reasonable interest on contributions or bonuses out of profits, after allowing for (a) any income withdrawals; and (b) any purchases of annuities such as are mentioned in ibid s 636 (as amended) (see note 9 supra); and to the extent that contributions are invested in units under a unit trust scheme, the lump sum (or lump sums) may represent the sale or redemption price of the units; (2) a lump sum must be payable only if, in the case of the arrangements in question: (a) no such annuity as is mentioned in s 634 (see note 5 supra) has been purchased by the member; (b) no such annuity as is mentioned in s 636 (as amended) has been purchased in respect of the relevant interest; and (c) no election in accordance with s 636(5)(a) (see note 9 head (5)(a) supra) has been made in respect of the relevant interest; (3) where the member's death occurs after the date which is his pension date in relation to the arrangements in question, a lump sum must not be payable more than two years after the death unless, in the case of that lump sum, the person entitled to such an annuity as is mentioned in s 636 (as amended) in respect of the relevant interest: (a) has elected in accordance with s 636A (as added) (see note 9 supra) to defer the purchase of an annuity; and (b) has died during the period of deferral: s 637A(1)-(3) (s 637A added by the Finance Act 1995 Sch 11 paras 1, 8; substituted by the Finance Act 1996 s 172(2), (3), but not so as to affect approvals given before 29 April 1996). For these purposes, 'the relevant interest' means the interest, under the arrangements in question, of the person to whom or at whose direction the payment in question is made, except where there are two or more such interests, in which case it means that one of them in respect of which the payment is made; and where, under the arrangements in question, there is a succession of interests, any reference in heads (2) or (3) supra to the relevant interest includes a reference to any interest (other than that of the member) in relation to which the relevant interest is a successive interest: Income and Corporation Taxes Act 1988 s 637A(4), (5) (as so added and substituted).

14 Ibid s 633(1)(e) (added by the Finance Act 1995 Sch 11 paras 1, 3; amended by the Finance Act 1996 s 172(1), (2) in relation to approvals given on or after 29 April 1996, but not so as to affect any approval previously given).

714. Other restrictions on approval.

The Board<sup>1</sup> must not approve<sup>2</sup> a personal pension scheme<sup>3</sup> unless:

- 1657 (1) the Board is satisfied that there is a person resident in the United Kingdom<sup>4</sup> who will be responsible for the management of the scheme<sup>5</sup>;
- 1658 (2) the scheme makes such provision for the making, acceptance and application of transfer payments<sup>6</sup> as satisfies any requirements imposed by or under regulations made by the Board<sup>7</sup>;
- 1659 (3) the scheme makes provision, in relation to arrangements made in accordance with the scheme, for ensuring that the aggregate amount of the contributions that may be made in a year of assessment<sup>8</sup> by the member<sup>9</sup> and an employer<sup>10</sup> of his under the arrangements, together with the aggregate amounts of such contributions under other approved personal pension arrangements<sup>11</sup> made by that member, does not exceed the permitted maximum<sup>12</sup> for that year<sup>13</sup> and any excess is repaid to the member to the extent of his contributions and otherwise to his employer<sup>14</sup>;
- 1660 (4) the scheme prohibits, except in such cases as may be prescribed by regulations made by the Board<sup>15</sup>, the acceptance of further contributions and the making of transfer payments after the date which is the member's pension date<sup>16</sup> in relation to the arrangements in question<sup>17</sup>.

Nor must the Board approve a personal pension scheme which permits the acceptance of:

- 1661 (a) contributions other than contributions by members and by employers of members and minimum contributions paid<sup>18</sup> by the Secretary of State<sup>19</sup>; or
- 1662 (b) minimum contributions paid by the Secretary of State as mentioned in head (a) above in respect of an individual's service as director of a company if his emoluments<sup>20</sup> are not treated<sup>21</sup> as relevant earnings<sup>22</sup>.

6 For the prescribed requirements see the Personal Pension Schemes (Transfer Payments) Regulations 1988, SI 1988/1014 (as amended). If requested to do so in writing by an individual who is a member of the scheme, the administrator of a personal pension scheme must make a transfer payment to another personal pension scheme, a retirement benefits scheme (see PARA 741 post) or a relevant statutory scheme (see PARA 756 post) which must comprise the whole of the accumulated fund held in connection with any arrangements made by the individual in accordance with the scheme except that, where the fund includes protected rights (see PARA 883 post) or has been, or will be, used to pay a personal pension protected rights premium, the amount of the fund which represents those rights or has been, or will be, so used may be excluded: see reg 3 (amended by SI 1989/1115; and by SI 1997/480). Within 30 days after the date on which the payment is made, the administrator must notify the administrator of the receiving scheme of any part of the payment which had its origin in a transfer payment from a retirement benefits scheme or a statutory scheme, and of any amount of that part which has been certified to him as payable under the rules of the scheme to the individual in respect of whom the transfer payment is made by way of lump sum, together with any amount by which that amount has been enhanced at the date of the transfer payment to another personal pension scheme by virtue of the Personal Pension Schemes (Transfer Payments) Regulations 1988, SI 1988/1014, reg 11 (as added): see reg 4 (regs 4-9 amended by SI 1989/1115). He must provide a signed certificate showing separately the maximum amount of the transfer payment which is payable to the individual by way of lump sum: see the Personal Pension Schemes (Transfer Payments) Regulations 1988, SI 1988/1014, reg 4A (regs 4A, 10, 11 added by SI 1989/1115).

A personal pension scheme must accept a transfer payment from another personal pension scheme, a retirement benefits scheme, a relevant statutory scheme or a retirement annuity contract or trust scheme, except in prescribed circumstances: see the Personal Pension Schemes (Transfer Payments) Regulations 1988, SI 1988/1014, regs 5, 6 (as so amended). As to the application of transfer payments see regs 8-10 (as so amended and added). Where the administrator of a personal pension scheme is satisfied, having taken all reasonable steps, that there is no surviving spouse to whom an annuity can be paid, the whole of the accumulated value may be paid as a lump sum: see reg 9.

15 The case prescribed is the acceptance by a personal pension scheme after a member's pension date of minimum contributions paid as mentioned in ibid s 638(6)(c) (as amended) (see the text and notes 18-19 infra) in respect of that member: Personal Pension Schemes (Deferred Annuity Purchase) (Acceptance of Contributions) Regulations 1996, SI 1996/805, reg 3; and 'pension date' for these purposes means the date determined in accordance with arrangements made by a member in accordance with a personal pension scheme on which the member elects to defer the purchase of an annuity such as is mentioned in the Income and Corporation Taxes Act 1988 s 634 and to make income withdrawals in accordance with s 634A (as added) (see PARA 713 ante): Personal Pension Schemes (Deferred Annuity Purchase) (Acceptance of Contributions) Regulations 1996, SI 1996/805, reg 2(1).

A personal pension scheme which permits the acceptance of minimum contributions so paid in respect of an individual's service in an office or employment to which the Income and Corporation Taxes Act 1988 s 645 (pensionable employment: see PARA 722 post) applies may be approved by the Board only if (1) the scheme does not permit the acceptance of contributions from the individual or from the person who is his employer in relation to that office or employment; or (2) at the time when the minimum contributions are paid the individual is not serving in an office or employment to which s 645 applies: s 638(8) (substituted by the Finance Act 1988 s 55(2), (4)).

(iii) Tax Reliefs

A. RELIEFS AVAILABLE

715. Member's contributions.

A contribution paid by an individual under approved<sup>1</sup> personal pension arrangements<sup>2</sup> made by him must, subject to the relevant statutory provisions<sup>3</sup>, be deducted from or set off against any relevant earnings<sup>4</sup> of his for the year of assessment<sup>5</sup> in which the payment is made<sup>6</sup>. In prescribed cases<sup>7</sup> and subject to prescribed conditions<sup>8</sup>, an individual who is entitled to such relief in respect of a contribution may deduct from the contribution when he pays it, and may retain, an amount equal to income tax at the basic rate on the contribution<sup>9</sup>. The scheme administrator<sup>10</sup> must, in such cases and subject to such conditions, accept the amount paid after the deduction in discharge of the individual's liability to the same extent as if the deduction had not been made and may recover an amount equal to the deduction from the Board<sup>11</sup>. Regulations made by the Board for these purposes under these provisions may make provision for carrying these arrangements for deduction into effect and, without prejudice to the generality of that, may provide:

- 1663 (1) for the manner in which claims for the recovery from the Board of a sum equal to the deduction may be made<sup>12</sup>;
- 1664 (2) for the giving of such information, in such form, as may be prescribed by or under the regulations<sup>13</sup>;
- 1665 (3) for the inspection by persons authorised by the Board of books, documents and other records<sup>14</sup>.

Except where the above arrangements for deduction apply, relief in respect of a contribution is given only on a claim made for the purpose<sup>15</sup>.

Where relief under these provisions for any year of assessment is claimed and allowed (whether or not it then falls to be given for that year), and afterwards an assessment, alteration of an assessment, or other adjustment of the claimant's liability to tax is made, there must also be made such consequential adjustments in the relief allowed or given for that or any subsequent year as are appropriate<sup>16</sup>. Where such relief is claimed and allowed for any year of assessment in respect of a contribution, relief must not be given in respect of it under any other provision of the Income Tax Acts<sup>17</sup> for the same or any subsequent year, nor (in the case of a contribution under an annuity contract) in respect of any other premium or consideration for an annuity under the same contract<sup>18</sup>.

6 Income and Corporation Taxes Act 1988 s 639(1). Where approved personal pension arrangements are made by an individual who pays qualifying premiums under a retirement annuity contract within the meaning of s 620(1) (see PARA 686 ante), then (1) the amount that may be deducted or set off by virtue of s 639(1) in any year of assessment must be reduced by the amount of any qualifying premiums which are paid in the year by the individual and in respect of which relief is given for the year under s 619(1)(a) (see PARA 680 ante); and (2) the relief which, by virtue of s 625 (see PARAS 705-706 ante), may be given under s 619 (as amended) by reference to the individual's unused relief for any year must be reduced by the amount of any contributions paid by him in that year under the approved personal pension arrangements: s 655(1).

7 The prescribed cases are cases where under arrangements an individual is paying contributions in respect of net relevant Schedule E earnings; 'net relevant Schedule E earnings' means 'relevant Schedule E earnings' computed in accordance with ibid s 646 (as amended) (see PARA 723 post); and 'relevant Schedule E earnings' means 'relevant earnings' within the meaning of s 644 (as amended) (see PARA 721 post) but with the omission of s 644(2)(c), (d) (which relate to Cases I and II of Schedule D, income and patent income respectively): see the Personal Pension Schemes (Relief at Source) Regulations 1988, SI 1988/1013, regs 2(1), 3, 4. As to the charge to tax under Schedule E (PAYE) see INCOME TAXATION vol 23(1) (Reissue) PARA 605 et seq.

8 The prescribed conditions are (1) that an individual must furnish in writing to the scheme administrator before, or within, the prescribed time, the following particulars, ie (a) his full name and address, date of birth and national insurance number; (b) the full name and address of his employer who has paid, or will pay, net relevant Schedule E earnings to him; (c) an estimate of his net relevant Schedule E earnings for the year of assessment in which he will first pay a net contribution; (d) the full name and address of any employer of his, other than the employer previously referred to, who has paid net relevant Schedule E earnings to him; (2) that an individual must furnish to the scheme administrator before, or within, the prescribed time, certificates which show (a) that, except where the Income and Corporation Taxes Act 1988 s 645(4) or (5) (see PARA 722 post) applies, the individual is not participating in a relevant superannuation scheme; (b) whether or not the individual is paying contributions under other arrangements or under a retirement annuity contract or trust scheme; (c) that the total contributions which the individual is paying under any arrangements or scheme referred to in head (2)(b) supra and will pay under the arrangements to which the certificate relates do not together exceed the total of the maximum amount permitted under s 640 (see PARA 716 post) and so much of any relief given under s 639(1) as is given by virtue of s 642 (carry forward of unused reliefs: see PARA 719 post); (d) that the relevant Schedule E earnings in respect of which the individual will pay, or has paid, a net contribution do not fall within s 644(5) (emoluments of controlling director of investment company: see PARA 721 post); and (3) that on every occasion on which an individual furnishes particulars or a certificate (or both) in accordance with heads (1) or (2) supra he must furnish declarations signed by him to the effect that (a) in relation to the particulars specified in head (1) supra, they are to the best of the knowledge and belief of the individual correct and complete and in relation to a certificate specified in head (2) supra, it is to the best of the knowledge and belief of the individual correct; (b) the individual will within 30 days give notice in writing to the scheme administrator if: (i) he ceases to be employed by an employer who has paid net relevant Schedule E earnings to him; (ii) except where s 645(4) or (5) (see PARA 722 post) applies, he participates in a relevant superannuation scheme: Personal Pension Schemes (Relief at Source) Regulations 1988, SI 1988/1013, regs 5(1), (2), 6(1), (2), 7(1), (2).

The prescribed time relation to the particulars specified in head (1)(a) or (b) supra is before the time at which the individual first pays a net contribution: reg 5(3)(a). The prescribed time in relation to the particulars specified in head (1)(c) supra is within 30 days after the date on which the individual first pays a net contribution or pays a net contribution of such an amount that, except where the Income and Corporation Taxes Act 1988 s 641 (carry back of contributions) or s 642 (carry forward of unused relief) applies, the total net contributions paid by him in the year of assessment exceeds the maximum amount permitted under s 640 on the assumption that his net relevant Schedule E earnings for that year of assessment are not in excess of the estimate referred to in that head and last furnished to the scheme administrator under this provision: Personal Pension Schemes (Relief at Source) Regulations 1988, SI 1988/1013, reg 5(3)(b). The prescribed time in relation to the particulars specified in head (1)(d) supra is within 30 days after the date on which the individual first pays a net contribution in respect of net relevant Schedule E earnings paid to him by an employer of his other than the employer referred to in head (1)(b) supra: reg 5(3)(c).

The prescribed time in relation to the certificate specified in head (2)(a) supra is before the time specified in reg 5(3)(a), within 60 days after that specified in reg 5(3)(c) or within 30 days after the expiry of a period of five years from the date on which the individual last furnished such a certificate: reg 6(3)(a). The prescribed time in relation to the certificate specified in heads (2)(b), (c) supra is before the time specified in reg 5(3)(a) and the prescribed time in relation to the certificate specified in head (2)(d) supra is before the time specified in reg 5(3)(a) or within 60 days after that specified in reg 5(3)(c): reg 6(3)(b), (c).

10 For the meaning of 'scheme administrator' see PARA 714 note 5 ante.

11 Income and Corporation Taxes Act 1988 s 639(4).

12 A claim must be made for a year of assessment (an 'annual claim') or for a tax month (an 'interim claim'); see the Personal Pension Schemes (Relief at Source) Regulations 1988, SI 1988/1013, reg 8(1)-(3). Notwithstanding the provisions of any other enactment, the Board is not under an obligation to make any payment earlier than the end of the month following the month in which the claim is received: reg 8(4). The Taxes Management Act 1970 s 42 (as substituted and amended) (procedure for making claims: see INCOME TAXATION vol 23(2) (Reissue) PARA 1720) does not apply to such a claim: Personal Pension Schemes (Relief at Source) Regulations 1988, SI 1988/1013, reg 11(1). Claims must contain such information and be in such form as the Board may prescribe (and forms prescribed for annual claims may require a report to be given by the scheme administrator's auditor); must contain declarations to the effect that sufficient records in respect of the scheme are maintained so as to enable the prescribed requirements to be satisfied, and that the information contained in the claim (including that declaration) is correct; and must be signed by the scheme administrator or by an authorised representative in the service of the scheme administrator: reg 11(7).

An interim claim for a tax month may be made by a scheme administrator within six months after the end of the tax month for which it is made: reg 9(1). Such a claim may not be based on an estimate but may only be made to recover an amount deducted in respect of contributions paid in the tax month: reg 9(2). An interim claim may not be made for the tax month ending 5 October or any subsequent month until the annual claim for the preceding year of assessment has been made by the scheme administrator and received by the Board: reg 9(3). If the amount claimed is established to the Board's satisfaction, the Board must pay the amount to the claimant; if the Board is not so satisfied it must pay to the claimant any lesser amount established to its satisfaction: reg 9(4). Where a scheme administrator discovers that an amount so paid to him was excessive he must bring into account in the interim claim made by him next after the discovery ('the subsequent claim') the amount of the excess; and if that amount exceeds the amount deducted in respect of the tax month for which the subsequent claim is made, the scheme administrator must repay the amount of the excess to the Board with the claim and if he fails so to do that amount is immediately recoverable by the Board in the same manner as tax charged by an assessment on the scheme administrator which has become final and conclusive: reg 9(5). No payment made or other thing done on or in relation to an interim claim prejudices the decision on an annual claim: reg 11(4).

An annual claim for a year of assessment may be made at any time within six years after the end of the year of assessment; but where in relation to any year of assessment a scheme administrator has received and not repaid in full any amount on an interim claim he must within six months after the end of the year of assessment make an annual claim: reg 10(1), (2). Such a claim may not be based on an estimate but may only be made to recover an amount deducted in respect of contributions paid in the year of assessment, and must bring into account payments made in respect of the year of assessment; and for these purposes 'aggregate interim payments' means the aggregate of payments made (and not repaid) on interim claims: reg 10(3). Where the aggregate of the interim payments shown by an annual claim exceeds the amount deducted for the year of assessment, the scheme administrator must repay the amount of the excess to the Board with the claim and if he fails so to do, that amount is immediately recoverable by the Board in the same manner as tax charged by an assessment on the scheme administrator which has become final and conclusive: reg 10(4). If a scheme administrator fails to make an annual claim within the time limited for the purposes, the Board may issue a notice to the scheme administrator showing the aggregate interim payments for the year, and stating that the Board is not satisfied that the amount due to the scheme administrator for the year of assessment exceeds the lower amount stated in the notice: reg 10(5). If an annual claim is not delivered to the Board within 14 days after the issue of such a notice, the amount of the difference between the aggregate amount and the amount stated in the notice is immediately recoverable by the Board in the same manner as tax charged by an assessment on the scheme administrator which has become final and conclusive: reg 10(6). Where an annual claim has been made and the scheme administrator subsequently discovers that an error or mistake has been made in the claim the scheme administrator may make a supplementary claim within the time limited by reg 10(1): reg 10(7). All such assessments, payments and repayments must be made as are necessary to give effect to the Board's decision on an annual claim, or to any variation of that decision on appeal: reg 11(6).

No appeal lies from the Board's decision on an interim claim: reg 11(2). An appeal from the Board's decision on an annual claim is to the Special Commissioners, and must be brought by giving written notice to the Board within 30 days of receipt of written notice of the decision: reg 11(3). The like provisions as are contained in the Taxes Management Act 1970 Pt V (ss 44-58) (as amended) (appeals and other proceedings: see INCOME TAXATION vol 23(2) (Reissue) PARA 1759 et seq) apply to such an appeal, and on an appeal the Special Commissioners may vary the decision appealed against whether or not the variation is to the advantage of the appellant: Personal Pension Schemes (Relief at Source) Regulations 1988, SI 1988/1013, reg 11(5).

13 The Board may by notice in writing require any person who is, or who at any time has been, a scheme administrator to whom net contributions have been paid, or an individual who has paid such contributions, to give to the Board within such time (not being less than 14 days) as may be provided in the notice such information and in such form as may be prescribed in the notice: ibid reg 14(1). If the Board by notice under the Income and Corporation Taxes Act 1988 s 650 (see PARA 730 post) withdraws its approval of a scheme, or of arrangements made in accordance with it and under which net contributions have been paid, the scheme administrator must within 30 days give to the Board in relation to that scheme, or to those arrangements, the following information: (1) the full name, address, national insurance number, and where known tax office reference of each individual who has paid net contributions after the date specified in the notice in relation to the scheme, or to the arrangements, as the case may be, ('the relevant contributions'); (2) the amount of the relief obtained under s 639(1) by means of the relevant contributions; (3) the amount of such relief actually due; and (4) the difference between the relief referred to in head (2) supra and that referred to in head (3) supra: Personal Pension Schemes (Relief at Source) Regulations 1988, SI 1988/1013, reg 14(2), (3). If an individual who has paid net contributions fails to comply with the requirements of regs 5-7 (see note 9 supra), the scheme administrator to whom such contributions have been made must within 30 days give to the Board the following information: (a) the full name, address, national insurance number, and where known tax office reference of the individual; (b) the amount of relief obtained by him under the Income and Corporation Taxes Act 1988 s 639(1) by means of such contributions; (c) the amount of such relief actually due; and (d) the difference between the relief referred to in head (b) supra and that referred to in head (c) supra: Personal Pension Schemes (Relief at Source) Regulations 1988, SI 1988/1013, reg 14(4), (5). Where a scheme administrator gives to the Board information in accordance with reg 14(2) he must at the time that he gives the information pay to the Board the amount (if any) referred to in reg 14(3)(d) (see head (4) supra) and, if he fails so to do, that amount is immediately recoverable by the Board in the same manner as tax charged by an assessment on the scheme administrator which has become final and conclusive: reg 12.

14 Income and Corporation Taxes Act 1988 s 639(5). Every scheme administrator to whom net contributions have been paid must, whenever required so to do, make available for inspection by a person authorised by the Board for that purpose all books, documents and other records (including all particulars, certificates and declarations furnished under the Personal Pension Schemes (Relief at Source) Regulations 1988, SI 1988/1013, regs 5-7) (see note 9 supra) in his possession or under his control relating to (1) such contributions paid to him; (2) the scheme and the arrangements made in accordance with it and under which the contributions were paid; and (3) the individual who paid the contributions: reg 15(1). Where records are maintained by computer the scheme administrator must provide the person making the inspection with all facilities necessary to obtain information from them: reg 15(2). All books, documents and records referred to in reg 15(1) must be preserved by the scheme administrator so as to be available for inspection for a period of six years following the termination of the scheme, or of arrangements made in accordance with it, to which they relate; and all particulars, certificates and declarations furnished under regs 5-7 must be so preserved for a period of six years following the date on which the individual to whom they relate ceased to make net contributions: reg 15(3), (4).

16 Ibid s 639(6). The like provisions as are contained in the Taxes Management Act 1970 s 30 (as substituted and amended) (recovery of overpayment of tax, etc: see INCOME TAXATION vol 23(2) (Reissue) PARA 1807) apply in relation to the payment by the Board of an amount paid under the Personal Pension Schemes (Relief at Source) Regulations 1988, SI 1988/1013, to which a scheme administrator was not entitled, or recoverable from a scheme administrator under reg 9(5), reg 10(4) or (6) or reg 12 (see notes 13-14 supra), as if it had been income tax repaid to the scheme administrator to which he was not entitled: reg 13(1). An assessment so made must be made by the Board and, subject to the provisions of the Personal Pension Schemes (Relief at Source) Regulations 1988, SI 1988/1013, the like provisions as are contained in the Taxes Management Act 1970 apply as if the assessment were an assessment to tax for the year of assessment in respect of which the amount was paid or is recoverable: Personal Pension Schemes (Relief at Source) Regulations 1988, SI 1988/1013, reg 13(2).

17 For the meaning of 'the Income Tax Acts' see PARA 684 note 4 ante.

18 Income and Corporation Taxes Act 1988 s 639(7). References in the Income Tax Acts to relief in respect of life assurance premiums must not be taken to include relief under the Income and Corporation Taxes Act 1988 s 639: s 639(8).

716. Maximum amount of deductions.

The maximum amount that may be deducted or set off in any year of assessment<sup>1</sup> under the relevant legislation<sup>2</sup> is in general 17.5 per cent of the individual's net relevant earnings<sup>3</sup> for that year<sup>4</sup>; but in the case of an individual whose age at the beginning of the year of assessment is within a specified range<sup>5</sup> that percentage is increased<sup>6</sup>.

Without prejudice to the above provisions, the maximum amount that may be deducted or set off in any year of assessment in respect of contributions paid by an individual to secure a lump sum payable on his death before the age of 75 years<sup>7</sup> is 5 per cent of the individual's net relevant earnings for that year<sup>8</sup>.

Where personal pension arrangements<sup>9</sup> are made by an employee whose employer makes contributions under the arrangements, the maximum amount that may be deducted or set off in any year of assessment is reduced by the amount of the employer's contributions in the year<sup>10</sup>. Any minimum contributions paid under the Pension Schemes Act 1993<sup>11</sup> which are treated<sup>12</sup> as paid by the individual in respect of whom they are paid must be disregarded for the purposes of assessing the amount of relief available<sup>13</sup>.

718. Carry-back of contributions.

An individual who pays a contribution under approved<sup>1</sup> personal pension arrangements<sup>2</sup> in a year of assessment<sup>3</sup> may elect that the contribution, or part of it, is to be treated as paid:

- 1666 (1) in the year of assessment preceding that year<sup>4</sup>; or
- 1667 (2) if he had no net relevant earnings<sup>5</sup> in that preceding year of assessment, in the year of assessment before that<sup>6</sup>.

An election must be made on or before the 31 January next following the year of assessment in which the contributions treated as paid in another year are actually paid<sup>7</sup>. Where such an election is made in respect of a contribution or part of a contribution, the other statutory provisions relating to taxation and personal pension schemes<sup>8</sup> have effect as if the contribution or part had been paid in the year specified in the election and not in the year in which it was actually paid<sup>9</sup>.

Special rules apply in respect of years of assessment prior to 1997-98 for individuals with relevant earnings as an underwriting or former underwriting member of Lloyd's or by way of commission calculated by reference to the profits of Lloyd's underwriting business<sup>10</sup>.

719. Carry-forward of relief.

Where for any year of assessment<sup>1</sup> an individual has relevant earnings<sup>2</sup> from any trade<sup>3</sup>, profession, vocation, office or employment<sup>4</sup> carried on or held by him, and there is an amount of unused relief for that year<sup>5</sup>, relief may be given<sup>6</sup>, up to the amount of the unused relief, in respect of so much of any contributions paid by him under approved<sup>7</sup> personal pension arrangements in any of the next six years of assessment as exceeds the maximum applying<sup>8</sup> for that year for the statutory purposes<sup>9</sup>.

Relief by virtue of these provisions is given for an earlier year rather than a later year, the unused relief taken into account in giving relief for any year being deducted from that available for giving relief in subsequent years and unused relief derived from an earlier year being exhausted before unused relief derived from a later year<sup>10</sup>. Where a relevant assessment to tax<sup>11</sup> in respect of a year of assessment becomes final and conclusive<sup>12</sup> more than six years after the end of that year and there is an amount of unused relief for that year which results from the making of the assessment:

- 1668 (1) that amount is not available for giving relief by virtue of these provisions for any of the six years following that year; but
- 1669 (2) the individual may, within the period of six months beginning with the date on which the assessment becomes final and conclusive, elect that relief is to be given<sup>13</sup>, up to that amount, in respect of so much of any contributions paid by him under approved personal pension arrangements within that six-month period as exceeds the maximum applying for the year of assessment in which they are paid<sup>14</sup>.

- 1675 (b) anything in respect of which tax is chargeable by virtue of the statutory provisions<sup>14</sup> relating to payments on retirement or removal from office or from an employment<sup>15</sup>.

Nor are emoluments of an individual as director<sup>16</sup> of a company<sup>17</sup> income within those heads if the income of the company consists wholly or mainly of investment income<sup>18</sup> and the individual, either alone or together with any other persons who are or have been at any time directors of the company, controls<sup>19</sup> the company<sup>20</sup>. Finally, emoluments of an individual as an employee of a company are not income within those heads if he is a controlling director<sup>21</sup> of the company at any time in the year of assessment in question or has been a controlling director of the company at any time in the ten years immediately preceding that year of assessment, and any of the specified circumstances<sup>22</sup> applies in his case<sup>23</sup>.

Where the following provisions apply to an office or employment<sup>1</sup>, emoluments from it and income from property attached to it are not included in the statutory definition of 'relevant earnings'<sup>2</sup> for the purposes of the provisions relating to personal pension schemes<sup>3</sup>. These provisions apply to an office or employment held by an individual if:

- 1676 (1) service in it is service to which a relevant superannuation scheme<sup>4</sup> relates; and
- 1677 (2) the individual is a participant in the scheme; and
- 1678 (3) the scheme is not one which provides only an annuity payable to his surviving spouse or a dependant of his or a lump sum payable on his death in service<sup>5</sup>.

These provisions apply whether or not the duties of the office or employment are performed wholly or partly in the United Kingdom<sup>6</sup> or the individual is chargeable to tax in respect of it<sup>7</sup>.

710-740 Personal Pension Schemes and Personal Equity Plans

Provisions of Income and Corporation Taxes Act 1988 replaced by legislation concerning registered pension schemes: see PARA 873B.

As to the effect of bankruptcy on any rights under a personal pension scheme, see the Welfare Reform and Pensions Act 1999 s 11; and PARA 754A.

Halsbury's Laws of England/SOCIAL SECURITY AND PENSIONS (VOLUME 44(2) (REISSUE))/17. PERSONAL PENSION SCHEMES AND PERSONAL EQUITY PLANS/(1) PERSONAL PENSION SCHEMES/(iii) Tax Reliefs/B. RELEVANT EARNINGS/723. Meaning of 'net relevant earnings'.

723. Meaning of 'net relevant earnings'.

For the purposes of the statutory provisions relating to approved personal pension schemes and arrangements<sup>1</sup>, 'net relevant earnings', in relation to an individual, means the amount of his relevant earnings<sup>2</sup> for the year of assessment<sup>3</sup> in question, less the amount of any relevant deductions<sup>4</sup> which fall to be made from the relevant earnings in computing for the purposes of income tax his total income for that year<sup>5</sup>. An individual's net relevant earnings for any year of assessment must be computed without regard to any deduction or set off for contributions<sup>6</sup> which falls to be made for that year in respect of the individual<sup>7</sup>.

For these purposes, an individual's relevant earnings must be taken to be those earnings before giving effect to any capital allowances, other than deductions allowable in computing profits or gains, but after taking into account the amounts on which charges fall to be made under the Capital Allowances Act 1990<sup>8</sup>, and references below to income (other than references to total income) must be construed similarly<sup>9</sup>.

In the case of an individual's partnership profits, the amount to be included in arriving at his net relevant earnings is his share of the partnership income (estimated in accordance with the Income Tax Acts<sup>10</sup>) after making from it any such deductions in respect of payments made by the partnership or capital allowances falling to be made to the partnership as would be made in computing the tax payable in respect of that income<sup>11</sup>.

Where in the year of assessment<sup>12</sup> in question:

- 1679 (1) an individual holds two or more offices or employments which are associated in that year<sup>13</sup>;
- 1680 (2) one or more of them is a pensionable job<sup>14</sup>; and
- 1681 (3) one or more of them is a non-pensionable job<sup>15</sup>, and the emoluments for that year from the pensionable job (or jobs) are equal to or exceed the allowable maximum<sup>16</sup> for that year, have effect in the case of the individual as if the references to relevant earnings were references to relevant earnings not attributable to the non-pensionable job (or jobs)<sup>17</sup>. Where the allowable maximum for that year exceeds the emoluments for that year from the pensionable job (or jobs), the individual's net relevant earnings, so far as attributable to the non-pensionable job (or jobs), must not be greater than the amount of the excess<sup>18</sup>.

2    For the meaning of 'relevant earnings' see PARA 722 ante.

3    For the meaning of 'year of assessment' see PARA 680 note 1 ante.

4    The relevant deductions are: (1) annual payments (other than interest) payable out of profits or gains, patent royalties and certain rents and royalties in respect of mines, quarries and similar concerns and electric line wayleaves (ie deductions which but for the Income and Corporation Taxes Act 1988 ss 74 (m), (p) or (q) (as amended) (see INCOME TAXATION vol 23(1) (Reissue) PARA 182) could be made in computing the profits or gains of the individual); (2) deductions from Schedule E income in respect of expenses of employments, professional fees and subscriptions and clergymen's special expenses made by virtue of ss 198, 201 (as amended) or s 332(3) (see INCOME TAXATION vol 23(1) (Reissue) PARAS 628, 654, 652 respectively); (3) deductions in respect of losses or capital allowances, being losses or capital allowances arising from activities profits or gains of which would be included in computing relevant earnings of the individual: s 646(2) (amended by the Finance Act 1988 s 148, Sch 14 Pt VIII).

Where, in a year of assessment for which an amount is deducted or set off under the Income and Corporation Taxes Act 1988 s 639(1) (see PARA 715 ante) against the net relevant earnings of an individual: (a) a deduction in respect of such a loss or allowance of the individual as is mentioned in head (3) supra falls to be made in computing the total income of the individual; and (b) the deduction or part of it falls to be so made from income other than relevant earnings, the amount of the deduction made from that other income must be treated as reducing the individual's net relevant earnings for subsequent years of assessment as follows, ie the deduction must be made so far as possible from the individual's net relevant earnings for the first of the subsequent years of assessment (whether or not he is entitled to relief under s 639(1) for that year), and then, so far as it cannot be so made, from those of the next year, and so on: s 646(5), (6) (s 646(5) amended by the Finance Act 1988 Sch 14 Pt VIII).

710-740 Personal Pension Schemes and Personal Equity Plans

Provisions of Income and Corporation Taxes Act 1988 replaced by legislation concerning registered pension schemes: see PARA 873B.

As to the effect of bankruptcy on any rights under a personal pension scheme, see the Welfare Reform and Pensions Act 1999 s 11; and PARA 754A.

Halsbury's Laws of England/SOCIAL SECURITY AND PENSIONS (VOLUME 44(2) (REISSUE))/17. PERSONAL PENSION SCHEMES AND PERSONAL EQUITY PLANS/(1) PERSONAL PENSION SCHEMES/(v) Miscellaneous Provisions/728. Minimum contributions by the Secretary of State.

(v) Miscellaneous Provisions

728. Minimum contributions by the Secretary of State.

Where the Secretary of State<sup>1</sup> pays minimum contributions<sup>2</sup> for the purposes of approved<sup>3</sup> personal pension arrangements<sup>4</sup>, the amount of the employee's share<sup>5</sup> of those contributions is the grossed-up equivalent<sup>6</sup> of the amount provided for in the pensions legislation<sup>7</sup>.

The employee's share of minimum contributions paid for a year of assessment by the Secretary of State for the purposes of approved personal pension arrangements is treated for the purposes of income tax:

- 1684 (1) as the income for that year of the individual in respect of whom it is paid;
and
- 1685 (2) as contributions paid in that year by that individual under those arrangements<sup>8</sup>.

The Board<sup>9</sup> may make regulations:

- 1686 (a) providing for the recovery by the Secretary of State from the Board, in such circumstances as may be prescribed by the regulations, of any increase attributable to these provisions in the sums paid by the Secretary of State out of the National Insurance Fund<sup>10</sup>;
- 1687 (b) requiring the Secretary of State to give the Board such information as may be so prescribed about minimum contributions paid by the Secretary of State<sup>11</sup>;
- 1688 (c) prescribing circumstances in which these provisions or any of them are not to apply;
- 1689 (d) making such provision as appears to the Board to be necessary or expedient for the purposes of supplementing these provisions<sup>12</sup>.

Any payment received by the Secretary of State by virtue of these provisions must be paid into the National Insurance Fund<sup>13</sup>.

1 As to the Secretary of State see PARA 1 ante.

2 Ie under the Pension Schemes Act 1993 s 43 (as amended): see PARA 913 post.

3 Ie approved under the Income and Corporation Taxes Act 1988 Pt XIV Ch IV (ss 630-655) (as amended): see PARA 711 et seq ante, 729 et seq post.

4 For the meaning of 'personal pension arrangements' see PARA 692 note 6 ante.

5 'The employee's share' of minimum contributions is the amount that would be the minimum contributions if, for the reference in Pension Schemes Act 1993 s 45(1) (as substituted) (see PARA 915 post) to the appropriate age-related percentage, there were substituted a reference to the percentage mentioned in s 41(1A)(a) (as added) (see PARA 911 post): Income and Corporation Taxes Act 1988 s 649(2) (definition substituted by the Pensions Act 1995 s 151, Sch 5 para 12(1)).

6 'The grossed-up equivalent' of an amount is such sum as, after deduction of income tax at the basic rate in force for the year of assessment for which the contributions are paid, is equal to that amount: Income and Corporation Taxes Act 1988 s 649(2). For the meaning of 'year of assessment' see PARA 680 note 1 ante.

7 Ibid s 649(1) (amended by the Pension Schemes Act 1993 s 190, Sch 8 para 20(3)).

9 For the meaning of 'the Board' see PARA 678 note 2 ante.

10 The Board must from time to time, and in amounts and at intervals agreed by the Board with the Secretary of State, advance moneys to the Secretary of State for the purpose of his recovering any such increase: see the Personal Pension Schemes (Minimum Contributions under the Social Security Act 1986) Regulations 1988, SI 1988/1012, reg 3. Those regulations have effect by virtue of the Interpretation Act 1978 s 17(2)(b). As to the National Insurance Fund see PARA 8 ante.

11 For the prescribed information see the Personal Pension Schemes (Minimum Contributions under the Social Security Act 1986) Regulations 1988, SI 1988/1012, regs 4, 5; and see also note 10 supra.

12 Income and Corporation Taxes Act 1988 s 649(4). At the date at which this volume states the law, no such regulations had been made; but see notes 10-11 supra.

13 Ibid s 649(5). The like provisions as are contained in the Taxes Management Act 1970 s 30 (as substituted and amended) (recovery of overpayment of tax, etc: see INCOME TAXATION vol 23(2) (Reissue) PARA 1807) apply in relation to the payment by the Secretary of State of an amount by way of minimum contributions which (1) he was not required to pay; or (2) he was required to pay but which he paid to other persons than the trustees or managers of the personal pension scheme to whom he should have made the payment, as if an amount representing income tax at the basic rate on the amount paid had been income tax repaid to the person to, or in respect of, whom the amount was paid to which that person was not entitled: Personal Pension Schemes (Minimum Contributions under the Social Security Act 1986) Regulations 1988, SI 1988/1012, reg 6(1); and see note 10 supra. An assessment made by virtue of this provision must be made by the Board and, subject to the 1988 Regulations, the like provisions as are contained in the Taxes Management Act 1970 apply as if the assessment were an assessment to tax for the year of assessment in respect of which the amount was paid: Personal Pension Schemes (Minimum Contributions under the Social Security Act 1986) Regulations 1988, SI 1988/1012, reg 6(2).

734. Restrictions on the advertisement of personal pension schemes.

Regulations<sup>1</sup> may be made relating to the form and content of advertisements and such other material as may be prescribed<sup>2</sup> issued by or on behalf of the trustees or managers of a personal pension scheme<sup>3</sup> for the purposes of the scheme<sup>4</sup>. For the purpose of the relevant regulations, 'advertisement' includes every form of advertising, whether in a publication, by the display of notices, signs, labels or showcards, by means of circulars, catalogues, price lists or other documents, by an exhibition of pictures or photographic or cinematographic films, by way of sound broadcasting or television, by the distribution of recordings, or in any other manner; and references to the issue of an advertisement are construed accordingly<sup>5</sup>.

Restrictions are placed on the advertisement of deposit-based schemes<sup>6</sup>. Any projection<sup>7</sup> contained in an advertisement for such a scheme must be prepared on a prescribed basis<sup>8</sup>, contain or be accompanied by a statement in the prescribed terms<sup>9</sup> and, in so far as it relates to contributions which will not give rise to protected rights under the scheme, must comply with other prescribed requirements<sup>10</sup>.

An off the page advertisement<sup>11</sup> for a deposit-based scheme must include the following information:

- 1695 (1) where contributions are payable periodically, whether there are any minimum or maximum amounts of such a contribution and, if so, what those amounts are;
- 1696 (2) how and where full details of the scheme may be obtained; and
- 1697 (3) other prescribed information<sup>12</sup>.

An advertisement for a deposit-based scheme must not, in respect of its design, format or content:

- 1698 (a) convey any information which is false or misleading;
- 1699 (b) contain any statement of fact which the issuer does not at the time the advertisement is issued have reasonable grounds for believing will continue to be true for so long as it remains relevant to the subject-matter of the advertisement;
- 1700 (c) make any comparison with any other personal pension scheme or occupational pension scheme<sup>13</sup> or the state earnings-related pension scheme<sup>14</sup> which is unfair or misleading;
- 1701 (d) make any statement about the past performance of the scheme unless it also contains a warning that such information is not necessarily a guide to future performance; or
- 1702 (e) contain, whether expressly or by implication, any statement to the effect that the advertisement has been approved by any government department or by the Occupational Pensions Board (now replaced by the Occupational Pensions Regulatory Authority)<sup>15</sup>.

Any person who issues or causes to be issued in Great Britain<sup>16</sup> an advertisement for a deposit-based scheme which he knows contravenes any of the statutory restrictions, or being reckless as to whether there is such a contravention, is guilty of an offence and liable on summary conviction to a fine not exceeding level 3 on the standard scale<sup>17</sup>.

- 9 The statement must be in the following terms: 'The figures quoted in this projection of future benefits are illustrations only. They do not represent the upper and lower limits of the amounts of the benefits. What is actually payable will depend on the future movement of market forces, which can go down as well as up, and the effect of charges applicable to the scheme. ### 710-740 Personal Pension Schemes and Personal Equity Plans

Provisions of Income and Corporation Taxes Act 1988 replaced by legislation concerning registered pension schemes: see PARA 873B.

As to the effect of bankruptcy on any rights under a personal pension scheme, see the Welfare Reform and Pensions Act 1999 s 11; and PARA 754A.

Halsbury's Laws of England/SOCIAL SECURITY AND PENSIONS (VOLUME 44(2) (REISSUE))/17. PERSONAL PENSION SCHEMES AND PERSONAL EQUITY PLANS/(1) PERSONAL PENSION SCHEMES/(vii) Information and Penalties/735. Disclosure of information.

735. Disclosure of information.

Special requirements<sup>1</sup> are imposed in relation to the disclosure of information about personal pension schemes<sup>2</sup>. The trustees or managers of a personal pension scheme are under an obligation to provide information in relation to the constitution of the scheme<sup>3</sup> to members and beneficiaries<sup>4</sup>. Basic information<sup>5</sup> about the scheme must be furnished as of course to every member of the scheme within 13 weeks of his becoming a member<sup>6</sup> and to members and beneficiaries on request as soon as practicable after it is requested, provided that the request is not made within three years of a similar request or within three years of the information having been furnished when that person became a member<sup>7</sup>.

Certain material alterations in the basic information must be notified to any member otherwise than an excluded person<sup>8</sup> who is otherwise entitled to it within one month of the occurrence of the alteration<sup>9</sup> and intended material alterations<sup>10</sup> must be so notified not less than three months before the alteration is intended to take effect<sup>11</sup>.

Information concerning:

- 1703 (1) the amount of contributions credited to the individual member under the scheme during the 12 months preceding a specified date<sup>12</sup>;
- 1704 (2) as at a specified date, the value of the member's protected rights under the scheme, and the value of his accrued rights, other than his protected rights<sup>13</sup>; and
- 1705 (3) the date of birth used for determining the appropriate age-related percentage<sup>14</sup> as disclosed to the trustees by the Secretary of State<sup>15</sup> and the name and address of the person to contact should that date of birth be incorrect<sup>16</sup>, must be furnished as of course to each member of the scheme except an excluded person at least once in every period of 12 months after the date of his becoming a member of it<sup>17</sup>, and other prescribed information<sup>18</sup> must be made available to individuals in prescribed circumstances<sup>19</sup>. When any information is provided in accordance with this provision it must be accompanied by a written statement that further information about the scheme is available, giving the address to which inquiries about it should be sent<sup>20</sup>.

Where the trustees or managers of any scheme have not received a payment of contributions (other than minimum contributions<sup>21</sup>) by the date on or before which it was expected to be made, they must inform the member concerned in writing before the expiry of three months from that date, unless the payment is received by them within that period<sup>22</sup>.

A document or series of documents containing prescribed information relating to the financial performance of the scheme<sup>23</sup> must be made available to scheme members in relation to, and not more than one year after the end of, each scheme year<sup>24</sup>.

1 The rules are contained in the Personal Pension Schemes (Disclosure of Information) Regulations 1987, SI 1987/1110 (as amended), which have effect, by virtue of the Interpretation Act 1978 s 17(2)(b), as if made under the Pension Schemes Act 1993 s 113. As to the Secretary of State's power to make regulations under s 113 see PARA 557 ante.

2 See the text and notes 3-24 infra. For the meaning of 'personal pension scheme' see PARA 710 ante. The disclosure requirements do not apply to a scheme comprised in an annuity contract or trust scheme which is approved by the Board under the Income and Corporation Taxes Act 1988 s 619 (as amended) (see PARAS 680-685 ante) or s 621 (see PARAS 693-695): Personal Pension Schemes (Disclosure of Information) Regulations 1987, SI 1987/1110, reg 2; Interpretation Act 1978 s 17(2)(a). For the meaning of 'the Board' see PARA 678 note 2 ante.

3 The prescribed information is (1) the contents of the trust deed constituting the scheme, if it is constituted by such a deed, and of any document constituting the scheme, if it is not constituted by a trust deed (and, if the rules of the scheme are not set out in any trust deed or other document the contents of which so fall to be disclosed, the contents of the rules); and (2) the contents of any document which amends or supplements or wholly or partly supersedes a document the contents of which fall to be disclosed under these provisions: Personal Pension Schemes (Disclosure of Information) Regulations 1987, SI 1987/1110, reg 3(1). A copy of the contents of any of the documents of which disclosure is so required must be made available free of charge for inspection on request (not being a request made by a person within 12 months of the last occasion on which a copy of the contents of the same document was made available for inspection by the same person) by any member or beneficiary, within a reasonable time after the request is made, at a place which is reasonable having regard to the circumstances of the request (reg 3(2)); and a copy of any such document must be furnished, on request, on payment of a reasonable charge, to any such person, within a reasonable time after the request is made, so however that in the case of a document which is publicly available the trustees or managers of the scheme may, instead of furnishing a copy, advise the person who has requested it where copies may be obtained (reg 3(3)).

4 See ibid reg 3(1), (4).

5 The information specified in ibid reg 4(1), Sch 1 (as amended) as follows: (1) the address to which inquiries about the scheme generally, or about an individual's entitlement to benefit, should be sent; (2) the names and addresses of the trustees of the scheme; (3) the conditions of membership; (4) how and where copies of the contents of the documents (relating to the constitution of the scheme) of which disclosure is required by reg 3(1) may be purchased and inspected; (5) whether the scheme is an appropriate scheme and, if it is not, whether an application for the scheme to be certified as such a scheme is under consideration by the Secretary of State; (6) whether the scheme is approved by the Board either as a personal pension scheme under the Income and Corporation Taxes Act 1988 Pt XIV Ch 1 (ss 630-655) (as amended) (see PARA 711 et seq ante) or as a retirement benefits scheme under Pt XIV Ch 1 (ss 590-612) (as amended) (see PARA 747 et seq post) by reference to s 591(2)(h) (see PARA 751 head (8) post) and if not whether an application for such approval is under consideration by the Board; (7) how tax relief on members' contributions is effected; (8) how contributions by members and their employers and (if the scheme is an appropriate scheme) minimum contributions by the Secretary of State, are paid to the scheme; (9) a summary of the conditions of the scheme which govern how a member's accrued rights may be transferred, converted to an annuity or annuities, discharged by the making of payments under an interim arrangement, or commuted to a lump sum; (10) a summary of the scheme's investment policy; (11) illustrative estimates of the cash equivalents, clearly labelled as such and stating the period for which they will be honoured by the scheme, which would be paid on the transfer of protected rights to another scheme at the end of each of the first five years of membership, stating the assumptions made, and whether the same basis of calculation has been used for all members of the scheme, so however that, where a scheme is established by a person to whose business the Financial Services Act 1986 Pt I Ch V (ss 47-63C) (as amended) applies, those estimates may be prepared in accordance with rules made thereunder, and where a scheme is established by a person who is a member of a self-regulating organisation, which is organised for the purposes of Pt I Ch III (ss 7-34) (as amended), those estimates may be prepared in accordance with rules which are binding on that person as a member of that organisation; (12) the basis on which any part (a) of any payment or payments that are made to the scheme by or on behalf of a member; (b) of any income or capital gain arising from the investments of payments such as are mentioned in head (a) supra; or (c) of the value of rights under the scheme, may be used to defray the administrative expenses of the scheme, to pay commission; or in any other way which does not result in the provision of benefits for or in respect of members, so however that, where a scheme is established by a person to whose business Pt I Ch V (as amended) applies, the information required to be specified may be specified in accordance with rules made thereunder, and where a scheme is established by a person who is a member of a self-regulating organisation, which is recognised for the purposes of Pt I Ch III (as amended), the information required to be specified may be specified in accordance with rules which are binding on that person as a member of that organisation; (13) which of the benefits, if any, are such that fulfilment of the obligation to pay them, to or in respect of particular members, is guaranteed by means of one or more insurance policies which are specifically allocated to the provision of benefits payable to, or in respect of, those members; (14) the arrangements that have been made to enable the scheme to meet its obligations in respect of members' protected rights in the event of the scheme's resources proving insufficient to do so and the names and addresses of the persons with whom they have been so made; (15) the arrangements that would be made, in accordance with legislation, to enable the scheme to meet its obligations in respect of members' protected rights in the event of the scheme's resources, proving insufficient to do so and the names and addresses of the persons with whom they would be so made; (16) a statement that the Pensions Ombudsman appointed under the Pension Schemes Act 1993 s 145(2) (see PARA 663 et seq ante) may investigate and determine any complaint or dispute of fact or law in relation to an occupational pension scheme made or referred in accordance with that Act and the address at which he may be contacted; and (17) a statement that the Occupational Pensions Advisory Service Ltd is available to assist members and beneficiaries of the scheme in connection with difficulties which they have failed to resolve with the trustees or administrators of the scheme and the address at which it may be contacted: Personal Pension Schemes (Disclosure of Information) Regulations 1987, SI 1987/1110, Sch 1 (amended by SI 1988/474; SI 1992/1531; SI 1994/1062; SI 1996/776; and SI 1997/786).

6 See the Personal Pension Schemes (Disclosure of Information) Regulations 1987, SI 1987/1110, reg 5(2).

7 See ibid reg 5(3). Where different information is applicable to different members and beneficiaries, nothing in this requirement is to be construed as requiring the trustees of the scheme to disclose information in relation to a member or beneficiary that is not relevant to his rights under the scheme: reg 5(4). 'Beneficiary', in relation to a personal pension scheme, means a person other than a member of the scheme who is entitled to payment of benefits under it: reg 1(2). Where the scheme is an appropriate scheme for the purposes of the Pension Schemes Act 1993 s 43 (as amended) (see PARA 913 post), spouses of members are also entitled to basic information: see the Personal Pension Schemes (Disclosure of Information) Regulations 1987, SI 1987/1110, reg 5(3).

8 'Excluded person' means a person whose present address is not known to the trustees or managers and in respect of whom correspondence sent by the trustees to his last known address has been returned, and no contribution has been made to the scheme during the two calendar years preceding the date on which the information in question would otherwise fall to be disclosed: ibid reg 1(2) (definition added by SI 1992/1531).

9 See the Personal Pension Schemes (Disclosure of Information) Regulations 1987, SI 1987/1110, reg 4(5) (reg 4(5), (6) amended by SI 1988/474; SI 1992/1531). The alterations concerned are alterations in the information specified in any of note 5 heads (1)-(4), (6) or (8) supra.

10 The intended alterations concerned are alterations in the information specified in any of note 5 heads (3), (7)-(9) or (12)-(15) supra.

11 See the Personal Pension Schemes (Disclosure of Information) Regulations 1987, SI 1987/1110, reg 4(6) (as amended: see note 9 supra). Where any intended material alteration in the specified information is consequential on events over which the trustees or managers of the scheme had no control, and it is not possible for them to comply with this requirement within the three-month period, they must comply as soon as reasonably practicable after the intention is formed to make the alteration: reg 4(7). When any information is provided in accordance with reg 4 (as so amended), it must be accompanied by a written statement that further information about the scheme is available, giving the address to which inquiries about it should be sent: reg 4(8).

- 1708 (1) there is in force, or was in force at any time after the appointed day<sup>5</sup>, an appropriate scheme certificate<sup>6</sup>; and
- 1709 (2) apart from this provision, the annual rate<sup>7</sup> of the pension would not be increased each year by at least the appropriate percentage<sup>8</sup> of that rate<sup>9</sup>.

Where such a pension, or any part of it, is attributable to contributions in respect of employment<sup>10</sup> carried on on or after the appointed day:

Where the first such increase is to take effect on a date when the pension has been in payment for a period of less than 12 months, the increase must be of an amount at least equal to one-twelfth of the amount of the increase so required (apart from this provision) for each complete month in that period<sup>13</sup>.

738. Mis-selling of personal pension schemes.

The sale and promotion of personal pension schemes is subject to the normal rules on investor protection<sup>1</sup>. The Securities and Investment Board has, however, issued specific guidance on the conduct of future pensions business<sup>2</sup> and on the identification of cases of mis-selling and remedies in relation to past business<sup>3</sup>. The guidance requires certain categories of investor to be compensated by the financial intermediary<sup>4</sup>.

Where a firm becomes aware of a case of serious and immediate harm or risk of harm attributable to its poor advice or mis-selling, it should be prepared to take immediate steps to mitigate that harm or risk, for example by relieving present hardship where liability is not contested<sup>5</sup>.

1 As to investor protection see generally the Financial Services Act 1986; and FINANCIAL SERVICES.

2 See Pensions Transfers and Opt Outs: Further Safeguards for Future Business (March 1994); and GR2 Future Pension Transfers and Opt Outs: Model Guidance (May 1994), both issued by the Securities and Investments Board. This guidance is not to be viewed as a source of criteria by which to judge past business; nor is it a compendious statement of best practice in relation to pension transfers and opt outs or a comprehensive statement of the principles, rules and other regulatory requirements applicable to such transfers and opt outs; and it should be read in conjunction with those requirements. Firms should supply a copy of the guidance to an investor who requests it: see GR2 Future Pension Transfers and Opt Outs: Model Guidance (May 1994) Annex para 2.

3 See GR3 Past Pension Transfers and Opt Outs: Model Guidance on Priority Cases and Complaints (May 1994); Pension Transfers and Opt Outs: Review of Past Business (October 1994), both issued by the Securities and Investments Board.

A claim which is commenced regarding mis-selling will not necessarily be struck out as an abuse of process simply because the defendant is complying with the requirements laid down by the regulator for compensating victims of mis-selling: see Cocking v Prudential Assurance Co Ltd [1996] TLR 31, [1996] PLR 235.

Halsbury's Laws of England/SOCIAL SECURITY AND PENSIONS (VOLUME 44(2) (REISSUE))/17. PERSONAL PENSION SCHEMES AND PERSONAL EQUITY PLANS/(2) PERSONAL EQUITY PLANS/739. Power to make regulations providing for tax relief on personal equity plans.

(2) PERSONAL EQUITY PLANS

739. Power to make regulations providing for tax relief on personal equity plans.

The Treasury may make regulations providing that an individual who invests under a personal equity plan is entitled to relief from income tax in respect of the investments<sup>1</sup>. The regulations must set out the conditions subject to which plans are to operate and the extent to which investors are to be entitled to relief from tax<sup>2</sup>; and particular, the regulations may:

- 1712 (1) specify the description of individuals who may invest and the kind of investments they may make<sup>3</sup>;
- 1713 (2) specify maximum investment limits and minimum periods for which investments are to be held<sup>4</sup>;
- 1714 (3) provide that investments are to be held by persons ('plan managers') on behalf of investors<sup>5</sup>;
- 1715 (4) specify how relief from tax is to be claimed by, and granted to, investors or plan managers on their behalf<sup>6</sup>;
- 1716 (5) provide that plans and plan managers must be such as are approved by the Board<sup>7</sup>;
- 1717 (6) specify the circumstances in which approval may be granted and withdrawn<sup>8</sup>;
- 1718 (7) provide for plans to be treated as being of different kinds, according to criteria set out in the regulations<sup>9</sup>;
- 1719 (8) provide that the Board may register a plan as being of a particular kind<sup>10</sup>;
- 1720 (9) make different provision as to different kinds of plan<sup>11</sup>;
- 1721 (10) provide for investment by an individual under more than one plan in the same year of assessment<sup>12</sup>.

The regulations may include provision:

- 1722 (a) that in prescribed circumstances<sup>13</sup> an investor under a plan must cease to be, and be treated as not having been, entitled to relief from tax in respect of the investments and he or the plan manager concerned (depending on the terms of the regulations) must account to the Board for tax from which relief has already been given on the basis that the investor was so entitled<sup>14</sup>;
- 1723 (b) that an investor under a plan or the plan manager concerned (depending on the terms of the regulations) must account to the Board for tax from which relief has been given in circumstances such that the investor was not entitled to it<sup>15</sup>;
- 1724 (c) adapting, or modifying the effect of, any enactment relating to income tax in order to secure that investors under plans are entitled to relief from tax in respect of investments, that investors under plans cease to be, and are treated as not having been, so entitled and that investors under plans or plan managers account for tax as mentioned in head (a) or head (b) above<sup>16</sup>;
- 1725 (d) that a person who is, or has at any time been, either an investor under a plan or a plan manager:

225. (i) must comply with any notice which is served on him by the Board and which requires him within a prescribed period to make available for the Board's inspection documents (of a prescribed kind) relating to a plan or to investments which are or have been held under it;
226. (ii) must, within a prescribed period of being required to do so by the Board, furnish to the Board information (of a prescribed kind) about a plan or about investments which are or have been held under it<sup>17</sup>;
- 1726 (e) generally for the purpose of bringing plans into existence, and generally for the purpose of the administration of plans and the administration of income tax and corporation tax in relation to them<sup>18</sup>.

The Treasury may also make regulations providing that an individual who invests in a plan is entitled to relief from capital gains tax in respect of the investments<sup>19</sup> and for the purposes of such regulations, the above provisions apply with the substitution for any reference to income tax of a reference to capital gains tax<sup>20</sup>.

The existing tax regime for personal equity plans is due to be replaced in 1999 with a new regime for individual savings accounts<sup>21</sup>.

1 Income and Corporation Taxes Act 1988 s 333(1). A plan is a scheme of investment to which an individual who is a qualifying individual may subscribe and in respect of which the following conditions must be fulfilled: (1) that it is either a general plan or a single company plan; (2) that it is the only general plan, or as the case may be the only single company plan, to which the qualifying individual subscribes in any year; (3) that it is a plan to which only one qualifying individual subscribes; (4) that, subject to the Personal Equity Plan Regulations 1989, SI 1989/469, reg 4(2) (as substituted) and, in the case of a single company plan, to reg 4A(2) (as added), it is a plan to which the qualifying individual subscribes only by payment directly to the plan manager of a sum or sums of the individual's cash which do not in the aggregate exceed the subscription limit, or in the case of a single company plan one half of the subscription limit, in any year: reg 4(1) (amended by SI 1990/678; SI 1991/733; SI 1991/2774).

Subject to the conditions prescribed by the Personal Equity Plan Regulations 1989, SI 1989/469, reg 4(3) (as amended), a plan fulfils the condition in head (4) supra if the qualifying individual subscribes to it by transferring, or renouncing his rights to, any shares allotted or allocated to him in the circumstances specified in heads (a)-(c) infra to the plan manager or a nominee for the plan manager; and the specified circumstances are where: (a) in pursuance of a public offer, an application is made by the qualifying individual for the allotment or allocation to him of shares in a company which are qualifying investments for general plans or, as the case may be, qualifying investments for single company plans within the meaning of reg 6B(2) (as added), and shares are allotted or allocated to him in consequence of that application; or (b) in connection with the transfer of the whole of the business of a building society ('the society') to a company which has share capital ('the successor company') in accordance with the Building Societies Act 1986 s 97 and the other applicable provisions of that Act, shares in the successor company which satisfy the prescribed conditions in the Personal Equity Plan Regulations 1989, SI 1989/469, reg 4(2B) (as added) are allotted or allocated to the qualifying individual by virtue of his being at a relevant time a member of the society or an employee, former employee or pensioner of the society or of a company which is a wholly-owned subsidiary of the society (i) in priority to other persons; or (ii) for consideration of an amount or value lower than the market price of the shares; or (iii) free; or (c) in connection with the transfer of the whole or part of the business of a mutual insurance company ('the mutual') to a company which has share capital ('the acquiring company') under a scheme to which the Insurance Companies Act 1982 Sch 2C (as added) applies, or (on the assumption, where it is not in fact the case, that the mutual is carrying on business through a branch in the United Kingdom) would apply but for s 15(1A) (as added), shares in a company which is either the acquiring company or a company of which the acquiring company is a wholly-owned subsidiary, and which satisfy the prescribed conditions in the Personal Equity Plan Regulations 1989, SI 1989/469, reg 4(2B) (as added), are allotted or allocated to the qualifying individual by virtue of his being at a relevant time a member of the mutual or an employee, former employee or pensioner of the mutual or of a company which is a wholly-owned subsidiary of the mutual (i) in priority to other persons; or (ii) for consideration of an amount or value lower than the market price of the shares or (iii) free; reg 4(2), (2A) (respectively amended and added by SI 1990/678; amended by SI 1992/623; SI 1997/511). The prescribed conditions in the Personal Equity Plan Regulations 1989, SI 1989/469, reg 4(2B) (as added) are that the shares are qualifying investments for general plans or, as the case may be, single company plans, and have not been allocated or appropriated to the qualifying individual in accordance with the provisions of an approved share option scheme or an approved profit sharing scheme: see reg 4(2B) (added by SI 1997/511).

The conditions prescribed by the Personal Equity Plan Regulations 1989, SI 1989/469, reg 4(3) (as amended) are that the shares are transferred, or the rights to the shares are renounced, within 42 days of their allotment or allocation to the individual; that, in relation to shares referred to in head (a) supra, the shares were not allotted or allocated to the qualifying individual in the circumstances specified in reg 4(3A) (as added); that, in the case of a general plan, any sum payable on such an application as is referred to in head (a) supra, any sum payable for such an allotment or allocation as is referred to in head (b) supra, any sum payable for such an allotment or allocation as is referred to in head (c) supra and the individual's cash subscription to the plan do not together exceed the subscription limit in any year, or that, in the case of a single company plan, any such sums and the aggregate market value at the date of transfer of any shares transferred to the plan manager or his nominee in accordance with reg 4A(2) (as added) and the individual's cash subscription to the plan do not together exceed one half of the subscription limit in any year: reg 4(3) (amended by SI 1990/678; SI 1991/733; SI 1991/2774; SI 1996/1355; and SI 1997/511). The circumstances specified in the Personal Equity Plan Regulations 1989, SI 1989/469 reg 4(3A) (as added) are where: (A) the allotment or allocation of the shares was connected with the allotment or allocation of shares in the company of a different class, or rights to shares in the company of a different class, or shares or rights to shares in another company, or shares or rights to shares in an open-ended investment company or a part of an umbrella company, or units or rights to units in an authorised unit trust or a part of an umbrella scheme, or securities or rights to securities of the company or of another company, to that individual or to any other person; and (B) the terms on which the shares were offered were significantly more favourable to the qualifying individual than they would have been if their allotment or allocation had not been connected as described in head (A) supra: reg 4(3A) (added by SI 1996/1355).

2 Income and Corporation Taxes Act 1988 s 333(2). As to tax reliefs see the Personal Equity Plan Regulations 1989, SI 1989/469, regs 17, 18 (as amended).

3 Income and Corporation Taxes Act 1988 s 333(3)(a). The description of an individual who may invest under a plan (a 'qualifying individual') is an individual (1) who is 18 years of age or over; (2) who has not subscribed to any other general plan, or as the case may be any other single company plan, during the year for which he makes an application under the Personal Equity Plan Regulations 1989, SI 1989/469, reg 9 (as amended); and (3) who is resident and ordinarily resident in the United Kingdom, or who, though non-resident, performs duties which by virtue of the Income and Corporation Taxes Act 1988 s 132(4)(a) (Crown employees serving overseas) are treated as being performed in the United Kingdom: Personal Equity Plan Regulations 1989, SI 1989/469, reg 7 (amended by SI 1991/733; SI 1991/2774). As to qualifying investments see the Personal Equity Plan Regulations 1989, SI 1989/469, reg 6 (as amended); and for general investment rules see reg 5 (as amended). A plan investor who, after subscribing to a plan, at any time ceases to fulfil the conditions of head (3) supra, may retain the benefits of the plan (including the right to any relief or exemption due under the plan) subsisting at that time but, so long as he fails to fulfil those conditions, is not entitled to subscribe further to such a plan: reg 8.

4 Income and Corporation Taxes Act 1988 s 333(3)(b). The subscription limit is £6,000: Personal Equity Plan Regulations 1989, SI 1989/469, reg 4(4) (amended by SI 1990/678).

5 Income and Corporation Taxes Act 1988 s 333(3)(c). As to plan managers see further PARA 740 post; and see the Personal Equity Plan Regulations 1989, SI 1989/469, regs 11-16 (as amended). A plan must be managed in accordance with the Personal Equity Plan Regulations 1989, SI 1989/469, (as amended) by a plan manager and under terms agreed in writing between the plan manager and the plan investor: reg 4(5). Apart from other requirements of the 1989 Regulations, the terms agreed must include the following conditions: (1) that the plan investments must be in the beneficial ownership of the plan investor; (2) that the title to the plan investments must be vested in the plan manager or his nominee or jointly in one of them and the plan investor; (3) that, where a share certificate or other document evidencing title to a plan investment is issued, it must be held by the plan manager or as he may direct; (4) that the plan manager must, if the plan investor so elects, arrange for the plan investor to receive a copy of the annual report and accounts issued to investors by every company, unit trust, open-ended investment company or other entity in which he has plan investments; (5) that the plan manager must be under an obligation (subject to any provisions made under any other enactment and if the plan investor so elects) to arrange for the plan investor to be able (a) to attend any meetings of investors in companies, unit trusts, open-ended investment companies and other entities in which he has plan investments; (b) to vote; and (c) to receive, in addition to the documents referred to in head (4) supra, any other information issued to investors in such companies, unit trusts, open-ended investment companies and other entities; (6) that the plan manager must satisfy himself that any person to whom he delegates any of his functions or responsibilities under the terms agreed with the plan investor is competent to carry out those functions or responsibilities; (7) that at the request of the plan investor and within such time as must be agreed an entire plan with all rights and obligations of the parties to it may be transferred to another plan manager; (8) that the plan manager must notify the plan investor if by reason of any failure to satisfy the provisions of the 1989 Regulations a plan has or will become void: reg 4(6) (amended by SI 1997/1716).

Regulations<sup>1</sup> may include provision that a European institution<sup>2</sup> cannot be a plan manager<sup>3</sup> unless one of the following three requirements is fulfilled<sup>4</sup>. The first requirement is that:

- 1727 (1) a person who either is not an individual and has a business establishment in the United Kingdom<sup>5</sup>, or is an individual and is resident<sup>6</sup> in the United Kingdom, is for the time being appointed by the institution to be responsible for securing the discharge of prescribed duties<sup>7</sup> which fall to be discharged by the institution<sup>8</sup>; and 1728 (2) his identity and the fact of his appointment have been notified to the Board<sup>9</sup> by the institution<sup>10</sup>.

The second requirement is that there are for the time being other arrangements with the Board for a person other than the institution to secure the discharge of such duties<sup>11</sup> and the third requirement is that there are for the time being other arrangements with the Board designed to secure the discharge of such duties<sup>12</sup>. Different duties may be prescribed as regards different institutions or different descriptions of institution<sup>13</sup>.

The regulations may provide:

- 1729 (a) that the first requirement must not be treated as fulfilled unless the person concerned is of a prescribed description<sup>14</sup>;

18. OCCUPATIONAL PENSION SCHEMES

(1) GENERAL PRINCIPLES

741. Meaning of 'occupational pension scheme' and 'retirement benefits scheme'.

For most statutory purposes, an occupational pension scheme means any scheme or arrangement which is comprised in one or more instruments or agreements and which has, or is capable of having, effect in relation to one or more descriptions or categories of employments<sup>1</sup> so as to provide benefits, in the form of pensions or otherwise, payable on termination of service, or on death or retirement, to or in respect of earners<sup>2</sup> with qualifying service in an employment of any such description or category<sup>3</sup>.

For the purposes of obtaining the approval<sup>4</sup> of the Board<sup>5</sup>, a retirement benefits scheme means a scheme for the provision of benefits consisting of or including relevant benefits<sup>6</sup> but does not include any national scheme providing such benefits<sup>7</sup>. References for those purposes to a scheme include references to a deed, agreement, series of agreements, or other arrangements providing for relevant benefits notwithstanding that it relates or they relate only to:

- 1734 (1) a small number of employees<sup>8</sup>, or a single employee, or
- 1735 (2) the payment of a pension starting immediately on the making of the arrangements<sup>9</sup>.

The Board may, if it thinks fit, treat a retirement benefits scheme relating to employees of two or more different classes or descriptions as being two or more separate retirement benefits schemes relating respectively to such one or more of those classes or descriptions of those employees as the Board thinks fit<sup>10</sup>; and for these purposes, employees may be regarded as belonging to different classes or descriptions if they are employed by different employers and a particular class or description of employee may consist of a single employee, or any number of employees, however small<sup>11</sup>.

1 For the meaning of 'employment' see PARA 560 note 5 ante.

2 For the meaning of 'earner' see PARA 32 ante (definition applied by the Pension Schemes Act 1993 s 181(1)).

5 For the meaning of 'the Board' see PARA 678 note 2 ante.

6 'Relevant benefits' means any pension, lump sum, gratuity or other like benefit given or to be given on retirement or on death, or in anticipation of retirement, or, in connection with past service, after retirement or death, or to be given on or in anticipation of or in connection with any change in the nature of the service of the employee in question, except that it does not include any benefit which is to be afforded solely by reason of the disablement by accident of a person occurring during his service or of his death by accident so occurring and for no other reason: Income and Corporation Taxes Act 1988 s 612(1). See further PARA 747 et seq post.

7 Ibid s 611(1).

8 For these purposes, 'employee' (1) in relation to a company, includes any officer of the company, any director of the company and any other person taking part in the management of the affairs of the company; and (2) in relation to any employer, includes a person who is to be or has been an employee; and 'employer' and other cognate expressions are to be construed accordingly: ibid s 612(1). 'Director' in relation to a company includes: (a) in the case of a company the affairs of which are managed by a board of directors or similar body, a member of that board or body; (b) in the case of a company the affairs of which are managed by a single director or similar person, that director or person; (c) in the case of a company the affairs of which are managed by the members themselves, a member of that company; and includes a person who is to be or has been a director: s 612(1). For the meaning of 'company' see INCOME TAXATION vol 23(1) (Reissue) PARA 1.

741-746 General Principles

For provision as to consultation by employers in relation to occupational pension schemes see PARA 746A.

741 Meaning of 'occupational pension scheme' and 'retirement benefits scheme'

TEXT AND NOTES--As to the effect of bankruptcy on any rights under a retirement benefits scheme, see the Welfare Reform and Pensions Act 1999 s 11; and PARA 754A.

TEXT AND NOTES 1-3--'Occupational pension scheme' means a pension scheme (1) that (a) for the purpose of providing benefits to, or in respect of, people with service in employments of a description, or (b) for that purpose and also for the purpose of providing benefits to, or in respect of, other people, is established by, or by persons who include, a person to whom the Pension Schemes Act 1993 s 1(2) applies when the scheme is established or (as the case may be) to whom s 1(2) would have applied when the scheme was established had s 1(2) then been in force, and (2) that has its main administration in the United Kingdom or outside the member states, or a pension scheme that is prescribed or is of a prescribed description: s 1(1) (substituted by Pensions Act 2004 s 239(1)-(3)). Certain other pension schemes fall within heads (1), (2): see the Pension Scheme (Categories) Regulations 2005, SI 2005/2401 (amended by SI 2007/814).

The 1993 Act s 1(2) applies (i) where people in employments of the description concerned are employed by someone, to a person who employs such people, (ii) to a person in an employment of that description, and (iii) to a person representing interests of a description framed so as to include (A) interests of persons who employ people in employments of the description mentioned in head (i), or (B) interests of people in employments of that description: s 1(2) (added by the 2004 Act s 239(4)). For the purposes of the 1993 Act s 1(2), if a person is in an employment of the description concerned by reason of holding an office (including an elective office) and is entitled to remuneration for holding it, the person responsible for paying the remuneration will be taken to employ the office-holder: s 1(3) (as so added). In the definition in s 1(1) of 'occupational pension scheme', the reference to a description includes a description framed by reference to an employment being of any of two or more kinds: s 1(4). In s 1(1) 'pension scheme' (except in the phrases 'occupational pension scheme', 'personal pension scheme' and 'public service pension scheme') means a scheme or other arrangements, comprised in one or more instruments or agreements, having or capable of having effect so as to provide benefits to or in respect of people on retirement, on having reached a particular age, or on termination of service in an employment: s 1(5).

See Swansea City and County v Johnson [1999] 1 All ER 863 (scheme for industrial injury allowances could amount to an occupational pension scheme).

743. Construction of pension scheme documents.

No special rules of construction are applicable to pension scheme trusts; nevertheless the provisions of a pension scheme should wherever possible be construed to give reasonable and practical effect to the scheme. The approach of the court to construction should be practical and purposive rather than detached and literal. The background against which pension scheme documentation has to be construed includes four special factors:

- 1736 (1) the beneficiaries under a pension scheme are not volunteers; their rights have contractual and commercial origins and the benefits have been earned by the service of the members;
- 1737 (2) pension scheme documents have to be construed in light of the requirements of the Inland Revenue from time to time for their approval of the scheme under statutory requirements<sup>1</sup>;
- 1738 (3) common practice from time to time in the field of pensions generally; and
- 1739 (4) temporary and imprecise documents which have been brought into existence as a result of the practice of the Inland Revenue and the Occupational Pensions Regulatory Authority<sup>2</sup> should not be construed strictly so as to undermine their purpose<sup>3</sup>.

Subject to prescribed exceptions, membership of an occupational pension scheme is to be voluntary and any term of a contract of service<sup>1</sup> purporting to make membership of a particular scheme compulsory is void<sup>2</sup>. Any term of a contract of service or any rule of an occupational pension scheme to the effect that an employed earner<sup>3</sup> must be a member of a particular occupational pension scheme or one or other of a number of particular occupational pension schemes, is not, however, void<sup>4</sup> during any period when that scheme is, or those schemes are, so framed that in relation to that period:

- 1740 (1) the earner in question is not required to pay contributions to the scheme;
and
- 1741 (2) the scheme will provide benefit in respect of that earner only on his death<sup>5</sup>.

Similarly, there is no legal obligation on an employer to make pension arrangements<sup>6</sup>.

In certain circumstances the court may imply a term into the contract of employment<sup>1</sup> that the employer is under a duty to bring to the attention of an employee the existence of a valuable right in relation to his pension entitlements which is contingent on some action by the employee<sup>2</sup>. There are also statutory obligations to provide specified information<sup>3</sup>.

Such a term may be implied where the terms of the contract are negotiated with a representative body and are incorporated by reference in circumstances where the employee cannot reasonably be expected to know of the term unless it is drawn to his attention. There is no fiduciary obligation on a pension fund trustee to inform a member of his rights in relation to the scheme: see Hamar v Pensions Ombudsman [1996] PLR 1. #### 741-873 Occupational Pension Schemes

A new type of pension scheme, known as the stakeholder pension scheme, has been established: see the Welfare Reform and Pensions Act Pt I (ss 1-8); and PARA 873A.

The Income Tax (Earnings and Pensions) Act 2003 ss 580-608, 623-628 (which replaced those parts of the Income and Corporation Taxes Act 1988 and subsequent legislation dealing with approved retirement benefits schemes, former approved superannuation funds, approved personal pension schemes, and retirement annuity contracts) are repealed: Finance Act 2004 Sch 31 paras 7, 10, Sch 42 Pt 3. The 2004 Act introduces the concept of registered pension schemes: see Pt 4 (ss 149-284); and PARA 873B.

The Pensions Act 2008 Pt 1 Ch 5 (ss 67-78) makes provision for the establishment of a trust-based occupational pension scheme and for a trustee corporation; see para 873D.

Halsbury's Laws of England/SOCIAL SECURITY AND PENSIONS (VOLUME 44(2) (REISSUE))/18. OCCUPATIONAL PENSION SCHEMES/(2) APPROVAL AND TREATMENT FOR INCOME TAX PURPOSES/(i) Application for, and Granting of, Approval/747. Application for approval of a retirement benefits scheme.

(2) APPROVAL AND TREATMENT FOR INCOME TAX PURPOSES

(i) Application for, and Granting of, Approval

747. Application for approval of a retirement benefits scheme.

An application for the approval<sup>1</sup> of any retirement benefits scheme<sup>2</sup> must be made in writing by the administrator<sup>3</sup> of the scheme to the Board<sup>4</sup> before the end of the first year of assessment<sup>5</sup> for which approval is required, and must be accompanied by:

- 1742 (1) two copies of the instrument or other document constituting the scheme<sup>6</sup>; and
- 1743 (2) two copies of the rules of the scheme and, except where the application is being sought on the setting up of the scheme, two copies of the accounts of the scheme for the last year for which such accounts have been made up<sup>7</sup>; and
- 1744 (3) such other information and particulars including copies of any actuarial report or advice given to the administrator or employer<sup>8</sup> in connection with the setting up of the scheme as the Board may consider relevant<sup>9</sup>.

The form in which an application for approval is to be made, or in which any information is to be given, may be prescribed by the Board<sup>10</sup>.

A provision, however expressed, designed to preclude any amendment of a scheme which would have prejudiced its approval under previous legislation<sup>11</sup> does not prevent any amendment of a retirement benefits scheme proposed in connection with an application for the Board's approval which is needed in order to ensure that approval is so given, or designed to enhance the benefits under the scheme up to the limits suitable in a scheme for which approval is sought<sup>12</sup>. In the case of a scheme which contains no powers of amendment, the administrator of the scheme may, with the consent of all the members of the scheme, and of the employer (or of each of the employers), make any such proposed amendment<sup>13</sup>.

1    le an application for approval under the Income and Corporation Taxes Act 1988 Pt XIV Ch I (ss 590-612) (as amended): see PARA 748 et seq post.

2    For the meaning of 'retirement benefits scheme' see PARA 741 ante.

3    For these purposes, references to the administrator, in relation to a retirement benefits scheme, are to the person who is, or the persons who are, for the time being the administrator of the scheme by virtue of the following provisions: Income and Corporation Taxes Act 1988 s 611AA(1) (s 611AA added by the Finance Act 1994 s 103(1)). Where the scheme is a trust scheme, and at any time the trustee, or any of the trustees, is or are resident in the United Kingdom, the administrator of the scheme at that time is the trustee or trustees of the scheme: Income and Corporation Taxes Act 1988 s 611AA(2) (as so added). Where the scheme is a non-trust scheme, and at any time the scheme sponsor, or any of the scheme sponsors, is or are resident in the United Kingdom, the administrator of the scheme at that time is the scheme sponsor or scheme sponsors: s 611AA(3) (as so added). At any time when the trustee of a trust scheme is not resident in the United Kingdom or (if there is more than one trustee) none of the trustees is so resident, the trustee or trustees must ensure that there is a person, or there are persons resident in the United Kingdom, and appointed by the trustee or trustees to be responsible for the discharge of all duties relating to the scheme which are imposed on the administrator under Pt XIV Ch I (as amended): s 611AA(4) (as so added). For the meaning of 'United Kingdom' see PARA 15 note 4 ante; and as to residence for tax purposes see generally INCOME TAXATION vol 23(2) (Reissue) PARA 1260.

At any time when the scheme sponsor of a non-trust scheme is not resident in the United Kingdom or (if there is more than one scheme sponsor) none of the scheme sponsors is so resident, the scheme sponsor or scheme sponsors must ensure that there is a person, or there are persons resident in the United Kingdom and appointed by the scheme sponsor or scheme sponsors to be responsible for the discharge of all duties relating to the scheme which are imposed on the administrator under Pt XIV Ch I (as amended): s 611AA(5) (as so added). Without prejudice to s 611AA(4), (5) (as so added), the trustee or trustees of a trust scheme, or the scheme sponsor or scheme sponsors of a non-trust scheme, may at any time appoint a person who is, or persons who are, resident in the United Kingdom to be responsible for the discharge of all duties relating to the scheme which are so imposed: s 611AA(6) (as so added).

Where at any time there is or are a person or persons for the time being appointed under s 611AA(4), (5) or (6) (as so added) as regards a scheme, and resident in the United Kingdom, the administrator of the scheme at that time is that person or those persons (and no other person): s 611AA(7) (as so added). Any appointment under s 611AA(4), (5) or (6) (as so added) must be in writing, and, if made after the time when the scheme is established, constitutes an alteration of the scheme for the purposes of s 591B(2) (as added) (see PARA 752 post): s 611AA(8) (as so added). For the purposes of s 611AA (as so added), references to a trust scheme are to a retirement benefits scheme established under a trust or trusts; references to the trustee or trustees, in relation to a trust scheme and to a particular time, are to the person who is the trustee, or the persons who are the trustees, of the scheme at that time; references to a non-trust scheme are to a retirement benefits scheme not established under a trust or trusts, and references to the scheme sponsor or scheme sponsors, in relation to a retirement benefits scheme and to a particular time, are references to any person who established the scheme and is in existence at that time or, if more than one, all such persons: s 611AA(9) (as so added).

741-873 Occupational Pension Schemes

A new type of pension scheme, known as the stakeholder pension scheme, has been established: see the Welfare Reform and Pensions Act Pt I (ss 1-8); and PARA 873A.

The 2004 Act introduces the concept of registered pension schemes: see Pt 4 (ss 149-284); and PARA 873B.

The Pensions Act 2008 Pt 1 Ch 5 (ss 67-78) makes provision for the establishment of a trust-based occupational pension scheme and for a trustee corporation; see para 873D.

748. Conditions for approval of retirement benefit schemes.

Unless all the statutory conditions for approval are satisfied, the Board<sup>1</sup> must not approve<sup>2</sup> any retirement benefits scheme<sup>3</sup>, although discretionary approval may be granted in certain circumstances notwithstanding that all those conditions are not satisfied<sup>4</sup>. The statutory conditions are that:

- 1745 (1) the scheme is bona fide established for the sole purpose of providing relevant benefits<sup>5</sup> in respect of service as an employee<sup>6</sup>, being benefits payable to, or to the widow, widower, children or dependants or personal representatives of, the employee<sup>7</sup>;
- 1746 (2) the scheme is recognised by the employer<sup>8</sup> and employees to whom it relates, and every employee who is, or has a right to be, a member of the scheme has been given written particulars of all essential features of the scheme which concern him<sup>9</sup>;
- 1747 (3) there is a person resident in the United Kingdom<sup>10</sup> who will be responsible for the discharge of all duties imposed<sup>11</sup> on the administrator<sup>12</sup> of the scheme under the relevant legislation<sup>13</sup>;
- 1748 (4) the employer is a contributor to the scheme<sup>14</sup>;
- 1749 (5) the scheme is established in connection with some trade<sup>15</sup> or undertaking carried on in the United Kingdom by a person resident in the United Kingdom<sup>16</sup>;
- 1750 (6) in no circumstances, whether during the subsistence of the scheme or later, can any amount be paid by way of repayment of an employee's contributions under the scheme<sup>17</sup>.

The conditions set out in heads (1) to (6) above, and the conditions relating to relevant benefits<sup>18</sup>, are referred to as 'the prescribed conditions'<sup>19</sup>.

If it thinks fit, the Board may, subject to such conditions as it thinks proper to attach to the approval, approve a pilots' benefit fund<sup>20</sup> for these purposes as if it were a retirement benefits scheme and notwithstanding that it does not satisfy one or more of the prescribed conditions<sup>21</sup>.

Transitional provision is made in respect of (a) superannuation funds approved before 6 April 1980<sup>22</sup>; and (b) schemes approved before 23 July 1987<sup>23</sup>.

Where the Board is considering whether a retirement benefits scheme satisfies or continues to satisfy the prescribed conditions, then for the purposes of determining whether the scheme, so far as it relates to a particular class or description of employees, satisfies or continues to satisfy those conditions, that scheme must be considered in conjunction with (1) any other retirement benefits scheme or schemes which relates or relate to employees of that class or description and which is or are approved for these purposes; (2) any other retirement benefits scheme or schemes which relates or relate to employees of that class or description and which is or are at the same time before the Board in order for it to decide whether to give approval for these purposes; (3) any fund to which s 608 (see the text to note 22 infra) applies relating to employees of that class or description; and (4) any relevant statutory scheme or schemes relating to employees of that class or description: see s 590(7), (8), (11) (respectively substituted and added by the Finance Act 1989 s 75, Sch 6 paras 1, 3(4), 18(3)). If those conditions are satisfied in the case of both or all of those schemes taken together, they must be taken to be satisfied in the case of the retirement benefits scheme being considered by the Board, as well as the other scheme or schemes; and if they are not so satisfied, they are not to be taken to be satisfied in the case of that scheme: Income and Corporation Taxes Act 1988 s 590(9), (10) (as so added).
- 20 'Pilots' benefit fund' means a fund established under the Pilotage Act 1983 s 15(1)(i) (repealed) or any scheme supplementing or replacing any such fund: Income and Corporation Taxes Act 1988 s 607(4).
- 21 Ibid s 607(1). If a fund is so approved, ss 592, 597-600, 604-606 (as amended) have effect in relation to the fund with specified modifications (see s 607(3) (amended by the Finance Act 1994 s 104(2), (3)); and Pt XIV Ch III (ss 618-629) (as amended) (see PARA 677 et seq ante) has effect as if a member of the fund were the holder of a pensionable office or employment and his earnings as a pilot (estimated in accordance with the provisions of Case II of Schedule D) were remuneration from such an office or employment: s 607(2)(a), (c), (3). As to the charge to tax under Case II of Schedule D see INCOME TAXATION vol 23(1) (Reissue) PARA 134 et seq. For these purposes, 'remuneration' does not include (1) anything in respect of which tax is chargeable under Schedule E and which arises from the acquisition or disposal of shares or an interest in shares or from a right to acquire shares; or (2) anything in respect of which tax is chargeable by virtue of s 148 (payment on removal from office etc: see INCOME TAXATION vol 23(1) (Reissue) PARA 688): s 612(1).

749. Prescribed conditions with respect to relevant benefits.

The Board<sup>1</sup> must approve<sup>2</sup> a retirement benefits scheme<sup>3</sup> if the scheme satisfies the general statutory conditions for approval<sup>4</sup> and also satisfies the following prescribed conditions<sup>5</sup>:

- 1751 (1) that any benefit for an employee<sup>6</sup> is a pension on retirement at a specified age not earlier than 60 and not later than 75<sup>7</sup>, which does not exceed one-sixtieth of the employee's final remuneration for each year of service up to a maximum of 40<sup>8</sup>;
- 1752 (2) that any benefit for any widow or widower of an employee is a pension payable on his death after retirement such that the amount payable to the widow or widower by way of pension does not exceed two-thirds of any pension or pensions payable to the employee<sup>9</sup>;
- 1753 (3) that no other benefits are payable under the scheme<sup>10</sup>;
- 1754 (4) that no pension is capable in whole or in part of surrender, commutation or assignment, except in so far as the scheme allows an employee on retirement to obtain, by commutation of his pension, a lump sum or sums not exceeding in all three-eighths of his final remuneration for each year of service up to a maximum of 40<sup>11</sup>;
- 1755 (5) that, in the case of any employee who is a member of the scheme by virtue of two or more relevant associated employments<sup>12</sup>, the amount payable by way of pension in respect of service in any one of them may not, when aggregated with any amount payable by way of pension in respect of service in the other or others, exceed the relevant amount<sup>13</sup>;
- 1756 (6) that, in the case of any employee who is a member of the scheme by virtue of two or more relevant associated employments, the amount payable by way of commuted pension in respect of service in any one of them may not, when aggregated with any amount payable by way of commuted pension in respect of service in the other or others, exceed the relevant amount<sup>14</sup>;
- 1757 (7) that, in the case of any employee in relation to whom the scheme is connected<sup>15</sup> with another scheme which is, or other schemes each of which is, an approved scheme, the amount payable by way of pension under the scheme may not, when aggregated with any amount payable by way of pension under the other scheme or schemes, exceed the relevant amount<sup>16</sup>;
- 1758 (8) that, in the case of any employee in relation to whom the scheme is connected with another scheme which is, or other schemes each of which is, an approved scheme, the amount payable by way of commuted pension may not, when aggregated with any amount payable by way of commuted pension under the other scheme or schemes, exceed the relevant amount<sup>17</sup>.

10 Income and Corporation Taxes Act 1988 s 590(3)(c). For these purposes, 'benefits' does not include any benefits for whose payment the scheme makes provision in pursuance of any obligation imposed by legislation relating to social security: s 590(4A) (added by the Finance Act 1991 s 34(3), (4)).

11 Income and Corporation Taxes Act 1988 s 590(3)(d) (amended by the Finance Act 1989 ss 75, 187, Sch 6 paras 3, 18(2), Sch 17 Pt IV).

12 For the purposes of heads (5)-(6) in the text, two or more employments are relevant associated employments if they are employments in the case of which (1) there is a period during which the employee has held both or all of them; (2) the period counts under the scheme in the case of both or all of them as a period in respect of which benefits are payable, and (3) the period is one during which both or all of the employers in question are associated: ibid s 590A(1) (s 590A added by the Finance Act 1989 s 75, Sch 6 paras 4, 18(2)). Employers are associated if (directly or indirectly) one is controlled by the other or if both are controlled by a third person; and this reference to control, in relation to a body corporate, is to be construed (a) where the body corporate is a close company, in accordance with the Income and Corporation Taxes Act 1988 s 416 (as amended); and (b) where it is not, in accordance with s 840 (see INCOME TAXATION vol 23(2) (Reissue) PARA 1299; INCOME TAXATION vol 23(1) (Reissue) PARA 845 respectively): s 590A(3), (4) (as so added).

13 Ibid s 590(3)(e) (s 590(e)-(h) added by the Finance Act 1989 Sch 6 paras 3, 18(2)). The relevant amount for these purposes, in relation to an employee, is found by applying the formula  $A \times C$  divided by 60: Income and Corporation Taxes Act 1988 s 590B(1) (s 590B added by the Finance Act 1989 s 75, Sch 6 paras 4, 18(2)). For the purposes of the Income and Corporation Taxes Act 1988 s 590B (as so added): (1) 'A' is the aggregate number of years' service (expressing parts of a year as a fraction), subject to a maximum of 40, which, in the case of the employee, count for the purposes of the scheme at the time the benefits in respect of service in the employment become payable; but where the same year (or part of a year) counts for the purposes of the scheme by virtue of more than one of the relevant associated employments it must be counted only once in calculating the aggregate number of years' service for these purposes; (2) 'C' is the permitted maximum in relation to the year of assessment in which the benefits in question become payable, ie, for the years 1988-89 and 1989-90, £60,000, and for any subsequent year of assessment, the figure found for that year, for the purposes of s 590C (as added and amended) (earnings cap: see PARA 750 post), by virtue of s 590C(4)-(5A) (as added and amended): s 590B(5), (6), (9)-(11) (as so added; s 590B(11) (amended by the Finance Act 1993 s 107(6), (8))).

14 Ibid s 590(f) (as added: see note 13 supra). See also note 12 supra. For these purposes, the relevant amount, in relation to an employee, is found by applying the formula  $A \times C$  multiplied by 3 and divided by 80: s 590B(2) (as added: see note 13 supra). For the meaning of 'A' and 'C' for these purposes see note 13 supra.

15 For the purposes of heads (7)-(8) in the text, the scheme is connected with another scheme in relation to an employee if (1) there is a period during which he has been the employee of two persons who are associated employers; (2) the period counts under both schemes as a period in respect of which benefits are payable, and (3) the period counts under one scheme by virtue of service with one employer and under the other scheme by virtue of service with the other employer: Income and Corporation Taxes Act 1988 s 590A(2) (as added: see note 13 supra).

16 Ibid s 590(3)(g) (as added: see note 13 supra). For these purposes, the relevant amount in relation to an employee is found by applying the formula  $B \times C$  divided by 60: s 590B(3) (as added: see note 13 supra). For these purposes, 'B' is the aggregate number of years' service (expressing parts of a year as a fraction), subject to a maximum of 40, which, in the case of the employee, count for the purposes of any of the following: (a) the scheme; and (b) the other scheme or schemes with which the scheme is connected in relation to him, at the time the benefits become payable; but where the same year (or part of a year) counts for the purposes of more than one scheme it must be counted only once in calculating the aggregate number of years service for these purposes: s 590B(7), (8) (as so added). For the meaning of 'C' see note 13 supra.

17 Ibid s 590(3)(h) (as added: see note 13 supra). For these purposes, the relevant amount in relation to an employee is found by applying the formula  $B \times C$  multiplied by 3 and divided by 80: s 590B(4) (as added: see note 13 supra). For the meaning of 'B' see note 16 supra and for the meaning of 'C' see note 13 supra.

750. The earnings cap.

In arriving at an employee's<sup>1</sup> final remuneration for the purposes of assessing relevant benefits<sup>2</sup>, any excess of what would otherwise be his final remuneration over the permitted maximum<sup>3</sup> for the year of assessment in which his participation in the scheme ceases must be disregarded<sup>4</sup>.

2 See for the purposes of the Income and Corporation Taxes Act 1988 s 590(3)(a) or (d) (as amended): see PARA 749 ante.

3 'The permitted maximum', in relation to a year of assessment, means the figure found for that year as follows: ibid s 590C(2) (s 590C added by the Finance Act 1989 s 75, Sch 6 paras 1, 4, 18(2)). For the years 1988-89 and 1989-90 the figure is £60,000; and for any subsequent year of assessment the figure is also £60,000, subject as follows: (1) if the retail prices index for the month of September preceding such a year of assessment is higher than it was for the previous September, the figure for that year is an amount arrived at by (a) increasing the figure for the previous year of assessment by the same percentage as the percentage increase in the retail prices index; and (b) if the result is not a multiple of £600, rounding it up to the nearest amount which is such a multiple; (2) if the retail prices index for the month of September preceding such a year of assessment is not higher than it was for the previous September, the figure for that year is the same as the figure for the previous year of assessment: Income and Corporation Taxes Act 1988 s 590C(3)-(5A) (s 590C(3)-(5) as so added; s 590C(4), (5) amended, and s 590C(5A) added, by the Finance Act 1993 s 107(1), (4), (5), (8)). The Treasury must, in each year of assessment, make an order specifying the figure which is by virtue of these provisions the figure for the following year of assessment: Income and Corporation Taxes Act 1988 s 590C(6) (as so added)). For the year of assessment 1997-98, the specified figure is £84,000: see the Retirement Benefits Schemes (Indexation of Earnings Cap) Order 1996, SI 1996/2951, art 2.

741-873 Occupational Pension Schemes

A new type of pension scheme, known as the stakeholder pension scheme, has been established: see the Welfare Reform and Pensions Act Pt I (ss 1-8); and PARA 873A.

The Income Tax (Earnings and Pensions) Act 2003 ss 580-608, 623-628 (which replaced those parts of the Income and Corporation Taxes Act 1988 and subsequent legislation dealing with approved retirement benefits schemes, former approved superannuation funds, approved personal pension schemes, and retirement annuity contracts) are repealed: Finance Act 2004 Sch 31 paras 7, 10, Sch 42 Pt 3. The 2004 Act introduces the concept of registered pension schemes: see Pt 4 (ss 149-284); and PARA 873B.

The Pensions Act 2008 Pt 1 Ch 5 (ss 67-78) makes provision for the establishment of a trust-based occupational pension scheme and for a trustee corporation; see para 873D.

TEXT AND NOTES --Repealed: Finance Act 2004 Sch 42 Pt 3.

Halsbury's Laws of England/SOCIAL SECURITY AND PENSIONS (VOLUME 44(2) (REISSUE))/18. OCCUPATIONAL PENSION SCHEMES/(2) APPROVAL AND TREATMENT FOR INCOME TAX PURPOSES/(i) Application for, and Granting of, Approval/751. Discretionary approval.

751. Discretionary approval.

The Board<sup>1</sup> may, if it thinks fit having regard to the facts of a particular case, and subject to such conditions, if any, as it thinks proper to attach to the approval, approve<sup>2</sup> a retirement benefits scheme<sup>3</sup> notwithstanding that it does not satisfy one or more of the prescribed conditions<sup>4</sup>. The Board may in particular so approve a scheme:

- 1759 (1) which exceeds the limits imposed by the prescribed conditions as respects benefits for less than 40 years; or
- 1760 (2) which provides pensions for the widows of employees<sup>5</sup> on death in service<sup>6</sup>, or for the children<sup>7</sup> or dependants of employees; or
- 1761 (3) which provides on death in service a lump sum of up to four times the employee's final remuneration<sup>8</sup> (exclusive of any refunds of contributions); or
- 1762 (4) which allows benefits to be payable on retirement within ten years of the specified age, or on earlier incapacity; or
- 1763 (5) which provides for the return in certain contingencies of employees' contributions; or
- 1764 (6) which relates to a trade<sup>9</sup> or undertaking carried on only partly in the United Kingdom<sup>10</sup> and by a person not resident<sup>11</sup> in the United Kingdom; or
- 1765 (7) which provides in certain contingencies for securing certain relevant benefits<sup>12</sup> (but no other benefits) by means of an annuity contract made with an insurance company<sup>13</sup> of the employee's choice; or
- 1766 (8) to which the employer is not a contributor and which provides benefits additional to those provided by a scheme to which he is a contributor<sup>14</sup>.

The Board must not approve a scheme on this discretionary basis if to do so would be inconsistent with relevant regulations made by the Board<sup>15</sup>; and regulations made for these purposes may restrict the Board's discretion to approve a scheme by reference to the benefits provided by the scheme, the investments held for the purposes of the scheme, the manner in which the scheme is administered or any other circumstances whatever<sup>16</sup>.

The Board may not exercise its discretion to approve a scheme by virtue of these provisions in circumstances where the scheme is a small self-administered scheme<sup>17</sup> and:

- 1767 (a) the Board has previously approved such a scheme of which an employee of any employer<sup>18</sup> in relation to the scheme has at any time been a scheme member, and to which any such employer was entitled to pay contributions, and which has not been wound up; or
- 1768 (b) the governing instrument of the scheme does not contain provisions as to borrowing<sup>19</sup>, investments<sup>20</sup>, lending<sup>21</sup> and the acquisition of shares<sup>22</sup>, transactions with scheme members and others<sup>23</sup>, pensioner trustees<sup>24</sup> and the furnishing of information and documents<sup>25</sup> of a prescribed description<sup>26</sup>.

Nor may the Board exercise its discretion to approve a retirement benefits scheme:

- 1769 (i) which is a freestanding additional voluntary contributions scheme<sup>27</sup> unless the rules of the scheme provide that the administrator<sup>28</sup> of the scheme is to comply with the prescribed requirements<sup>29</sup> and, where the scheme is the leading scheme<sup>30</sup> in relation to an employee, with the specified requirements relating to the calculation of surplus funds<sup>31</sup> so far as they concern freestanding additional voluntary contributions schemes<sup>32</sup>;

- 1770 (ii) which is not a freestanding additional voluntary contributions scheme, unless the rules of the scheme provide that the administrator of the scheme is to comply with the prescribed requirements<sup>33</sup> and, where the scheme is the leading scheme in relation to an employee, with the specified requirements relating to the calculation of surplus funds<sup>34</sup> so far as they concern main schemes<sup>35</sup>.

5 For the meaning of 'employee' see PARA 741 note 8 ante.

6 'Service' means service as an employee of the employer in question and other expressions, including 'retirement' are to be construed accordingly: Income and Corporation Taxes Act 1988 s 612(1).

7 For the meaning of 'child' see INCOME TAXATION vol 23(1) (Reissue) PARA 556.

8 'Final remuneration' means the average annual remuneration of the last three years' service: Income and Corporation Taxes Act 1988 s 612(1).

12 Ie relevant benefits falling within the Income and Corporation Taxes Act 1988 s 591(2A) (added by the Finance Act 1994 s 107(3), (4)). Relevant benefits fall within that provision if they correspond with benefits that could be provided by an approved scheme, and for this purpose (1) a hypothetical scheme (rather than any particular scheme) is to be taken; and (2) benefits provided by a scheme directly (rather than by means of an annuity contract) are to be taken: Income and Corporation Taxes Act 1988 s 591(2A) (as so added).

13 For these purposes, 'insurance company' has the meaning given by ibid s 659B (added by the Finance Act 1995 ss 59(1), (5), 60(1)-(3)): Income and Corporation Taxes Act 1988 s 591(3) (substituted by the Finance Act 1995 ss 59(2), 60(1)).

16 Income and Corporation Taxes Act 1988 s 591(6) (as amended: see note 15 supra). In exercise of the power so conferred, the Board has made (1) the Retirement Benefits Schemes (Restriction on Discretion to Approve) (Small Self-administered Schemes) Regulations 1991, SI 1991/1614; and (2) the Retirement Benefits Schemes (Restriction on Discretion to Approve) (Additional Voluntary Contributions) Regulations 1993, SI 1993/3016.

Where on or after 17 April 1991 regulations are made for these purposes ('section 591 regulations') which contain provisions restricting the Board's discretion to approve a retirement benefits scheme by reference to any circumstances other than the benefits provided by the scheme ('relevant provisions'), any retirement benefits scheme approved by the Board by virtue of the Income and Corporation Taxes Act 1988 s 591 (as amended) before the day on which the section 591 regulations come into force ceases to be approved at the end of the period of 36 months beginning with that day if at the end of that period the scheme contains a provision of a prohibited description, or does not contain a provision of a required description, unless the description of provision is specified in regulations made by the Board for these purposes: s 591A(1), (2) (s 591A added by the Finance Act 1991 s 35). For these purposes, a provision contained in a scheme must not be treated as being of a prohibited description by reason only of the fact that it authorises the retention of an investment held immediately before the day on which the section 591 regulations are made; and in determining for these purposes whether any provision contained in a scheme is of a required description, the fact that it is framed so as not to require the disposal of an investment held immediately before the day on which the section 591 regulations are made must be disregarded: Income and Corporation Taxes Act 1988 s 591A(3), (4) (as so added). References to a provision of a prohibited description are to a provision of a description specified in the relevant provisions of the section 591 regulations as a description of provision which, if contained in a retirement benefits scheme, would prevent the Board from approving the scheme by virtue of s 591 (as amended); and references to a provision of a required description are to a provision of a description specified in the relevant provisions of the section 591 regulations as a description of provision which must be contained in a retirement benefits scheme before the Board may approve the scheme by virtue of s 591 (as amended): s 591A(5) (as so added). See the Retirement Benefits Schemes (Restriction of Discretion to Approve) (Excepted Schemes) Regulations 1996, SI 1996/1582, by virtue of which the provisions contained in the Retirement Benefits Schemes (Restriction on Discretion to Approve) (Additional Voluntary Contributions) Regulations 1993, SI 1993/3016 (see head (ii) in the text; and notes 33-35 infra) do not apply to existing approved schemes.

17 'Small self-administered scheme' means a retirement benefits scheme some or all of the income and other assets of which are invested otherwise than in insurance policies, and which, if a scheme member is connected with another scheme member, a trustee of the scheme, or a person who is an employer in relation to the scheme, has less than 12 members: Retirement Benefits Schemes (Restriction on Discretion to Approve) (Small Self-administered Schemes) Regulations 1991, SI 1991/1614, reg 2(1). 'Scheme member' in relation to a scheme means a member of the scheme to whom benefit is currently accruing as a result of service as an employee: reg 2(1). A person is connected with an individual if that person is the individual's husband or wife, or is a relative, or the husband or wife of a relative, of the individual or of the individual's husband or wife: reg 2(3), (4). Without prejudice to reg 2(4), a person, in his capacity as a scheme member, is connected with an employer in relation to a scheme if (1) where the employer is a partnership, he is connected with a partner in the partnership; or (2) where the employer is a company, he or a person connected with him is, or at any time during the preceding ten years has been, a controlling director of the company: reg 2(5). A company is connected with another company: (a) if the same person has control of both, or a person has control of one and persons connected with him, or he and persons connected with him, have control of the other; or (b) if a group of two or more persons has control of each company, and the groups either consist of the same persons or could be regarded as consisting of the same persons by treating (in one or more cases) a member of either group as replaced by a person with whom he is connected (reg 2(6)); and a company is connected with another person if that person has control of it or if that person and persons connected with him together have control of it (reg 2(7)). Any two or more persons acting together to secure or exercise control of a company are to be treated in relation to that company as connected one with another and with any person acting on the directions of any of them to secure or exercise control of the company: reg 2(8).

18 'Employer', in relation to a scheme, means an employer who, by virtue of the governing instrument, is entitled to pay contributions to the scheme; and 'governing instrument' in relation to a scheme means a trust deed, or other document by which the scheme is established, and any other document which contains provisions by which the administration of the scheme is governed: ibid reg 2(1).

19 Is a provision limiting the aggregate amount of the trustees' borrowing at any time to: (1) three times the ordinary annual contribution paid by employers; (2) three times the annual amount of contributions paid by scheme members as a condition of membership in the year of assessment ending immediately before that time; (3) 45% of the market value of the investments held for the purposes of the scheme: see ibid reg 4.

20 Is a provision to the effect that the trustees of the scheme in their capacity as such must not directly or indirectly hold as an investment (1) personal chattels other than choses in action; (2) residential property unless occupied by an employee who is not connected with his employer and who is required as a condition of his employment to occupy the property or property which is, or is to be, occupied by a person who is neither a scheme member nor connected with a scheme member in connection with the occupation by that person of business premises held by the trustees of the scheme in their capacity as such; (3) shares in an unlisted company which carry more than 30% of the voting power in the company or entitle the holder of them to more than 30% of any dividends declared by the company: see ibid reg 5.

21 Is a provision to the effect that the trustees of the scheme in their capacity as such must not directly or indirectly lend money to a member of the scheme or a person connected with him, other than an employer in relation to the scheme or any company associated with that employer, or to an employer in relation to the scheme, or any company associated with that employer, unless the lending is within the exception contained in ibid reg 6(2): see reg 6.

22 Is a provision to the effect that at the time that any money is lent, or any shares in an employer or any company associated with that employer are acquired, the aggregate of (1) the total amount outstanding of money lent to an employer and any company associated with him in accordance with ibid reg 6(2), (3); and (2)

the market value of shares in an employer and any company associated with him held by the trustees in their capacity as such, must not, where that time is during the period of two years from the date on which the scheme was established, exceed 25% of the market value of the assets of the scheme which are derived from contributions made by an employer and by employees since the scheme was established or, where that time is after the end of that two-year period, exceed 50% of the market value of all the assets of the scheme: see reg 7.

23    Ie a provision to the effect that the trustees of the scheme in their capacity as such must not directly or indirectly purchase, sell or lease any asset from or to a member of the scheme or a person connected with him, other than an employer in relation to the scheme or any company associated with that employer, or from or to an employer, or any company associated with that employer, unless the purchase, sale or lease is made after the trustees have obtained independent professional advice in writing, and in accordance with that advice: see ibid reg 8.

24    Ie a provision to the effect that one of the trustees of the scheme must be a pensioner trustee, and if a pensioner trustee ceases to be qualified to act as such or ceases to be a trustee, the trustees or the remaining trustee or trustees must (1) within 30 days after that cessation notify the Board in writing; (2) within 60 days after that cessation appoint a successor to him as a pensioner trustee; and (3) within 30 days after that appointment notify the Board in writing of the name of the successor: ibid reg 9. 'Pensioner trustee' [sic] means a trustee of a scheme who is approved by the Board to act as such, and is not connected with a scheme member, with any other trustee of the scheme or with a person who is an employer in relation to the scheme: reg 2(1).

25    Ie provisions to the effect that the administrator of a scheme must, within 90 days after any transaction by the trustees in their capacity as such as is specified in heads (1)-(6) infra, furnish to the Board such information and documents as may be specified on the relevant form to be supplied by the Board: ibid reg 10(1). The specified transactions are: (1) the acquisition or disposal of land; (2) the lending of money to an employer or any company associated with him; (3) the acquisition or disposal of shares in an employer or any company associated with him; (4) the acquisition or disposal of shares in an unlisted company; (5) the borrowing of money; (6) the purchase, sale or lease from or to an employer, or any company associated with him, of any asset other than one specified in heads (1), (3) or (4) supra: reg 10(2).

26    Ibid reg 3. For transitional provisions see reg 11.

27    'Freestanding additional voluntary contributions scheme' means a retirement benefits scheme to which a relevant employer of an employee who contributes to the scheme is not a contributor and which provides benefits additional to those provided by an approved retirement benefits scheme to which a relevant employer is a contributor or by a relevant statutory scheme: Retirement Benefits Schemes (Restriction on Discretion to Approve) (Additional Voluntary Contributions) Regulations 1993, SI 1993/3016, reg 2(1). 'Relevant employer', in relation to an employee, means: (1) the current employer of that employee or, where he has more than one current employer, any of those current employers who are associated; and (2) any of two or more associated employers successively of that employee of whom one is that current employer, or one of those associated current employers; and (3) either of two employers successively of that employee, where one is that current employer, or one of those associated current employers, and one has acquired the other, or has taken over the whole or part of the business of the other; and (4) any of two or more employers successively of that employee, where one is that current employer, or one of those associated current employers, and the Board has agreed that service with each of the employers may be regarded as continuous pensionable service: reg 2(1).

28    For the meaning of 'administrator of the scheme' see PARA 747 note 3 ante.

29    For the prescribed requirements in relation to notifying the administrator of the main scheme of contributions paid by an employee, the keeping of separate records, payment of benefits, and administrative matters see the Retirement Benefits Schemes (Restriction on Discretion to Approve) (Additional Voluntary Contributions) Regulations 1993, SI 1993/3016, reg 4. 'Main scheme', in relation to an employee who is a contributor to a freestanding additional voluntary contributions scheme in respect of service with a relevant employer, means (1) the retirement benefits scheme to which a relevant employer is a contributor and which provides benefits which are supplemented by those provided to the employee by the freestanding additional voluntary contributions scheme; or (2) where there is more than one such retirement benefits scheme, the scheme which provides benefits which are supplemented by those provided by the other schemes: reg 2(1).

30    'Leading scheme', in relation to an employee, means (1) where the employee has paid voluntary contributions to a main scheme or any other scheme established by a relevant employer of the employee or to which a relevant employer is a contributor, that main scheme; and (2) in all other cases, the freestanding additional voluntary contributions scheme from which the main scheme last received a notification in respect of the employee in accordance with ibid reg 4(2): reg 2(1).

31    As to the calculation of surplus funds see ibid reg 6.

32 See ibid regs 3, 4(1).

33 For the prescribed information and other requirements see ibid reg 5.

34 See note 31 supra.

35 See the Retirement Benefits Schemes (Restriction on Discretion to Approve) (Additional Voluntary Contributions) Regulations 1993, SI 1993/3016, regs 3, 5(1). The provisions of the Retirement Benefits Schemes (Restriction on Discretion to Approve) (Additional Voluntary Contributions) Regulations 1993, SI 1993/3016, are disapplied in certain transitional cases: see note 16 supra.

752. Cessation of approval.

If in the opinion of the Board<sup>1</sup> the facts concerning any approved scheme<sup>2</sup> or its administration cease to warrant the continuance of its approval of the scheme, the Board may at any time by notice to the administrator<sup>3</sup> withdraw its approval on such grounds, and from such date<sup>4</sup> as may be specified in the notice<sup>5</sup>.

- 1771 (1) the alteration has been approved by the Board<sup>7</sup>; or

UPDATE

741-873 Occupational Pension Schemes

A new type of pension scheme, known as the stakeholder pension scheme, has been established: see the Welfare Reform and Pensions Act Pt I (ss 1-8); and PARA 873A.

The Income Tax (Earnings and Pensions) Act 2003 ss 580-608, 623-628 (which replaced those parts of the Income and Corporation Taxes Act 1988 and subsequent legislation dealing with approved retirement benefits schemes, former approved superannuation funds, approved personal pension schemes, and retirement annuity contracts) are repealed: Finance Act 2004 Sch 31 paras 7, 10, Sch 42 Pt 3. The 2004

Act introduces the concept of registered pension schemes: see Pt 4 (ss 149-284); and PARA 873B.

The Pensions Act 2008 Pt 1 Ch 5 (ss 67-78) makes provision for the establishment of a trust-based occupational pension scheme and for a trustee corporation; see para 873D.

Halsbury's Laws of England/SOCIAL SECURITY AND PENSIONS (VOLUME 44(2) (REISSUE))/18. OCCUPATIONAL PENSION SCHEMES/(2) APPROVAL AND TREATMENT FOR INCOME TAX PURPOSES/(i) Application for, and Granting of, Approval/753. Consequences of cessation of approval for certain schemes.

753. Consequences of cessation of approval for certain schemes.

Where an approval<sup>1</sup> of a retirement benefits scheme<sup>2</sup> in respect of which either of the specified conditions is satisfied ceases to have effect<sup>3</sup>, tax must be charged under Case VI of Schedule D<sup>4</sup> at the rate of 40 per cent on an amount equal to the value of the assets<sup>5</sup> which immediately before the date of the cessation of the approval of the scheme are held for the purposes of the scheme, taking that value as it stands immediately before that date<sup>6</sup>.

The first specified condition is satisfied in respect of a scheme if, immediately before the date of the cessation of the approval of the scheme, less than 12 individuals are members of the scheme<sup>7</sup>; and the second such condition is satisfied in respect of a scheme if at any time within the period of one year ending with the date of the cessation of the approval of the scheme, a person who is or has been a controlling director of a company<sup>8</sup> which has contributed to the scheme is a member of the scheme<sup>9</sup>.

The person liable for the tax is the administrator<sup>10</sup> of the scheme in his capacity as such<sup>11</sup>; but where the administrator of the scheme is constituted by persons who include a person who is an approved independent trustee<sup>12</sup> in relation to a scheme, that person is not liable for tax so chargeable<sup>13</sup>.

1    Ie an approval under the Income and Corporation Taxes Act 1988 Pt XIV Ch I (ss 590-612) (as amended): see PARA 747 et seq ante, 754 et seq post.

2    For the meaning of 'retirement benefits scheme' see PARA 741 ante.

3    This reference to an approval of a scheme ceasing to have effect is a reference to (1) the scheme ceasing to be an approved scheme by virtue of the Income and Corporation Taxes Act 1988 s 591A(2) (as added) (see PARA 752 ante); (2) the approval of the scheme being withdrawn under s 591B(1) (as added: see PARA 752 ante); or (3) the approval of the scheme no longer applying by virtue of s 591B(2) (as added: see PARA 752 ante); and any reference for these purposes to the date of the cessation of the approval of the scheme is to be construed accordingly: s 591D(7) (ss 591C, 591D added by the Finance Act 1995 s 61(1), (3)). Arrangements made to transfer funds out of one pension scheme into a new one so as to avoid the restrictions on the ways pension benefits could be taken fell within the tax avoidance principles laid down in Ramsay (WT) Ltd v IRC [1982] AC 300, [1981] STC 174, HL, and justified the Board's decision to exercise its discretion to withdraw approval of the old scheme and to raise an assessment on the trustees: see R v IRC, ex p Roux Waterside Inn Ltd [1997] TLR 207, [1997] PLR 123.

4    As to the charge to income tax under Case VI of Schedule D see INCOME TAXATION vol 23(1) (Reissue) PARA 560 et seq.

5    The value of an asset is its market value, construing 'market value' in accordance with the Taxation of Chargeable Gains Act 1992 s 272 (see CAPITAL GAINS TAXATION vol 5(1) (2004 Reissue) PARA 44); but where an asset held for the purposes of a scheme is a right or interest in respect of any money lent (directly or indirectly) to any specified person, the value of the asset must be treated as being the amount owing (including any unpaid interest) on the money lent: Income and Corporation Taxes Act 1988 s 591D(1), (2) (as added: see note 3 supra); s 831(3). Halsbury's Laws of England/SOCIAL SECURITY AND PENSIONS (VOLUME 44(2) (REISSUE))/18. OCCUPATIONAL PENSION SCHEMES/(2) APPROVAL AND TREATMENT FOR INCOME TAX PURPOSES/ (ii) Tax Reliefs/754. Exempt approved schemes.

(ii) Tax Reliefs

754. Exempt approved schemes.

The following provisions have effect only as respects income arising or contributions paid at a time when the scheme in question is an exempt approved scheme, that is to say:

- 1773 (1) any approved scheme<sup>1</sup> which is shown to the satisfaction of the Board<sup>2</sup> to be established under irrevocable trusts; or
- 1774 (2) any other approved scheme as respects which the Board, having regard to any special circumstances, directs that these provisions are to apply<sup>3</sup>.

On a claim being made in that behalf, exemption from income tax must be allowed in respect of:

- 1775 (a) income derived from investments or deposits if, or to such extent as the Board is satisfied that, it is income from investments or deposits held for the purposes of the scheme<sup>4</sup>;
- 1776 (b) underwriting commissions if, or to such extent as the Board is satisfied that, the underwriting commissions are applied for the purposes of the scheme and would otherwise be chargeable to tax under Case VI of Schedule D<sup>5</sup>.

Any sum paid by an employer<sup>6</sup> by way of contribution under the scheme must be allowed<sup>7</sup> to be deducted as an expense, or expense of management, incurred in the chargeable period<sup>8</sup> in which the sum is paid but no other sum must be so allowed to be deducted as an expense, or expense of management, in respect of the making, or any provision for the making, of any contributions under the scheme<sup>9</sup>. The amount of an employer's contributions which may be deducted under this provision must not exceed the amount contributed by him under the scheme in respect of employees<sup>10</sup> in a trade<sup>11</sup> or undertaking in respect of the profits of which the employer is assessable to United Kingdom<sup>12</sup> income tax or corporation tax<sup>13</sup>; and a sum not paid by way of ordinary annual contribution must be treated for these purposes, as the Board may direct, either as an expense incurred in the chargeable period in which the sum is paid, or as an expense to be spread over such period of years as the Board thinks proper<sup>14</sup>.

Where any sum is paid to the trustees of the scheme in or towards the discharge of any liability of an employer under the statutory provisions relating to deficiencies in the assets of a scheme<sup>15</sup>, the payment of that sum:

- 1777 (i) must be treated for these purposes as an employer's contribution under the scheme; and
- 1778 (ii) notwithstanding (where it is the case) that the employer's trade, profession, vocation<sup>16</sup> or business is permanently discontinued before the making of the payment, must be allowed<sup>17</sup> to be deducted as such a contribution to the same extent as it would have been allowed but for the discontinuance and as if it had been made on the last day on which the trade, profession, vocation or business was carried on<sup>18</sup>.

Any contribution paid under the scheme by an employee must, in assessing tax under Schedule E<sup>19</sup>, be allowed to be deducted as an expense incurred in the year of assessment in which the contribution is paid<sup>20</sup>. The amount so allowed to be deducted in respect of contributions paid by an employee in a year of assessment (whether under a single scheme or under two or more schemes) must not exceed 15 per cent, or such higher percentage as the Board may in a particular case prescribe, of his remuneration<sup>21</sup> for that year<sup>22</sup>; and where an employee's remuneration for a year of assessment includes remuneration in respect of more than one employment, the amount so allowed to be deducted in respect of contributions paid by the employee in that year by virtue of any employment (whether under a single scheme or under two or more schemes) must not exceed 15 per cent, or such higher percentage as the Board may in a particular case prescribe, of his remuneration for the year in respect of that employment<sup>23</sup>. In arriving at an employee's remuneration for a year of assessment for these purposes, however, any excess of what would otherwise be his remuneration over the permitted maximum<sup>24</sup> for that year must be disregarded<sup>25</sup>.

Nothing in these provisions is to be construed as affording relief in respect of any sums to be brought into account under the provisions conferring tax exemption<sup>26</sup> on the income and gains of an insurance company's pension business<sup>27</sup>.

754A. Effect of bankruptcy on pension rights: approved arrangements.

Where a bankruptcy order is made against a person on a petition presented after the coming into force of this provision<sup>1</sup>, any rights of his under an approved pension arrangement<sup>2</sup> are excluded from his estate<sup>3</sup>. For these purposes, 'approved pension arrangement' means (1) a registered pension scheme<sup>4</sup>; (2) an occupational pension scheme<sup>5</sup> set up by a government outside the United Kingdom for the benefit, or primarily for the benefit, of its employees<sup>6</sup>; (3) an annuity purchased for the purpose of giving effect to rights under a scheme falling within head (1) above<sup>7</sup>; (4) any pension arrangements of any description which may be prescribed by regulations made by the Secretary of State<sup>8</sup>.

If (a) at the time when a bankruptcy order is made against a person an appeal against a decision not to register a pension scheme has been made<sup>9</sup>; and (b) the decision of the General or Special Commissioners is to uphold the decision of Her Majesty's Revenue and Customs not to register the scheme, any rights of that person under the scheme vest (without any conveyance, assignment or transfer) in his trustee in bankruptcy, as part of his estate, immediately on the General or Special Commissioners' decision being made or, if later, the trustee's appointment taking effect or, in the case of the official receiver, his becoming trustee<sup>10</sup>.

If, at any time after a bankruptcy order is made against a person, Her Majesty's Revenue and Customs (i) gives notice withdrawing registration of the pension scheme<sup>11</sup>; and (ii) the date specified as being that from which deregistration occurs<sup>12</sup> ('the deregistration date') is the date from which the scheme ceases to be a registered pension scheme, any rights of that person under the scheme or arising by virtue of the arrangements, and any rights of his under any related annuity<sup>13</sup>, vest (without any conveyance, assignment or transfer) in his trustee in bankruptcy, as part of his estate, immediately on the giving of the notice, or (if later) the trustee's appointment taking effect or, in the case of the official receiver, his becoming trustee<sup>14</sup>.

Where under either of the aforementioned rules<sup>15</sup>, any rights vest in a person's trustee in bankruptcy, the trustee's title to them has relation back to the commencement of the person's bankruptcy; but where any transaction is entered into by the trustees or managers of the scheme in question in good faith and without notice of the making of the decision mentioned in head (b) above or, as the case may be, the giving of the notice mentioned in heads (i), (ii) above, the trustee in bankruptcy is not in respect of that transaction entitled by virtue of this provision to any remedy against them or any person whose title to any property derives from them<sup>16</sup>.

13 As to making annual claims see the Occupational Pension Schemes (Additional Voluntary Contributions) Regulations 1987, SI 1987/1749, regs 6(2), 8, 9; and as to interim claims see regs 6(3), 7, 9. The Board is not under an obligation to make any payment earlier than the end of the month following the month in which the claim is received: reg 6(4). There is no appeal from the Board's decision on an interim claim but appeal lies to the Special Commissioners from the Board's decision on an annual claim: see reg 9(2), (3). Overpaid amounts may be recovered by assessment: see reg 11.

14 See ibid reg 12. If approval of a scheme is withdrawn, the scheme administrator must furnish to the Board, within 30 days, the following information: (1) the full name, address, national insurance number and tax office reference of each scheme member who has paid contributions after the date specified in the notice ('the relevant contributions'); (2) the amount of the relief obtained by means of the relevant contributions; (3) the amount of such relief actually due; and (4) the difference between the relief referred to head (2) supra and that referred to in head (3) supra: reg 12(2), (3). He must also pay the amount of that difference, if any, to the Board at that time, and if he fails to do so that amount is immediately recoverable by the Board in the same manner as tax charged by an assessment on the scheme administrator which has become final and conclusive: reg 10.

15 Income and Corporation Taxes Act 1988 s 593(4). At the date at which this volume states the law, no such regulations had been made but, by virtue of the Interpretation Act 1978 s 17(2)(b), the Occupational Pension Schemes (Additional Voluntary Contributions) Regulations 1987, SI 1987/1749 (as amended), have effect as if so made: see notes 6-7, 13-14 supra. Every scheme administrator to whom contributions have been paid must, whenever required so to do, make available for inspection by a person authorised by the Board for that purpose all books, documents and other records (including all particulars furnished under reg 5) in his possession or under his control relating to: (1) such contributions paid to him; (2) the scheme to which the contributions relate; and (3) the scheme member who paid the contributions: reg 13(1). Where records are maintained by computer the scheme administrator must provide the person making the inspection with all facilities necessary to obtain information from them: reg 13(2). All such books, documents and records must be preserved by the scheme administrator in such manner as may be approved by the Board so as to be available for inspection for a period of three years following the termination of the scheme to which they relate; and all particulars, declarations and undertakings furnished under reg 5 must be so preserved for a period of six years following the date on which the scheme member to whom they relate ceased to pay contributions to a scheme: reg 13(3), (4) (amended by SI 1990/585).

756. Exempt statutory schemes.

Any contribution paid by any officer or employee<sup>1</sup> under a relevant statutory scheme<sup>2</sup> established under a public general Act is, in assessing tax under Schedule E<sup>3</sup>, allowed to be deducted as an expense incurred in the year of assessment<sup>4</sup> in which the contribution is paid<sup>5</sup>. The amount allowed to be deducted by virtue of this provision in respect of contributions paid by a person in a year of assessment (whether under a single scheme or under two or more schemes) must not exceed 15 per cent, or such higher percentage as the Board may in a particular case prescribe<sup>6</sup>, of his remuneration<sup>7</sup> for that year<sup>8</sup>.

Where a person's remuneration for a year of assessment includes remuneration in respect of more than one office or employment, the amount allowed to be deducted by virtue of the above provisions in respect of contributions paid by the person in that year by virtue of any office or employment (whether under a single scheme or under two or more schemes) must not exceed 15 per cent, or such higher percentage as the Board may in a particular case prescribe, of his remuneration for the year in respect of that office or employment<sup>9</sup>.

In arriving at a person's remuneration for a year of assessment for these purposes, any excess of what would otherwise be his remuneration over the permitted maximum<sup>10</sup> for that year must be disregarded<sup>11</sup>.

1 For the meaning of 'employee' see PARA 741 note 8 ante.

2 For the purposes of the Income and Corporation Taxes Act 1988 Pt XIV Ch I (ss 590-612) (as amended), any reference to a relevant statutory scheme is a reference to a statutory scheme either (1) established before 14 March 1989 or (2) established on or after that date and entered in the register maintained by the Board for these purposes: s 611A(1) (s 611A added by the Finance Act 1989 s 75, Sch 6 paras 15, 18(1)). The Board must maintain a register for these purposes and must enter in it the relevant particulars of any statutory scheme established on or after 14 March 1989 which is reported to the Board by the authority responsible for establishing it as a scheme the provisions of which correspond with those of an approved scheme: Income and Corporation Taxes Act 1988 s 611A(2) (as so added). The reference to the relevant particulars, in relation to a scheme, is a reference to (a) the identity of the scheme; (b) the date on which it was established; (c) the authority responsible for establishing it; and (d) the date on which that authority reported the scheme to the Board: s 611A(3) (as so added). Where the Board enters the relevant particulars of a scheme in the register maintained by the Board for these purposes, it must inform the authority responsible for establishing the scheme of the date of the entry: s 611A(4) (as so added). For the meaning of 'the Board' see PARA 678 note 2 ante.

(iii) Charge to Tax in Certain Cases

757. Charge to tax in respect of certain sums paid by employer etc.

Where, pursuant to a retirement benefits scheme<sup>1</sup>, the employer<sup>2</sup> in any year of assessment<sup>3</sup> pays a sum with a view to the provision of any relevant benefits<sup>4</sup> for any employee<sup>5</sup> of that employer, then (whether or not the accrual of the benefits is dependent on any contingency):

- 1782 (1) the sum paid, if not otherwise chargeable to income tax as income of the employee, is deemed for all purposes of the Income Tax Acts<sup>6</sup> to be income of that employee for that year of assessment and assessable to tax under Schedule E<sup>7</sup>; and
- 1783 (2) where the payment is made under a specified type of life insurance or contract<sup>8</sup>, relief, if not otherwise allowable, must be given<sup>9</sup> to that employee in respect of the payment to the extent, if any, to which such relief would have been allowable to him if the payment had been made by him and the insurance or contract under which the payment is made had been made with him<sup>10</sup>.

Where the employer pays any such sum in relation to more than one employee, the sum so paid must, for the above purposes, be apportioned among those employees by reference to the separate sums which would have had to be paid to secure the separate benefits to be provided for them respectively, and the part of the sum apportioned to each of them is deemed for that purpose to have been paid separately in relation to that one of them<sup>11</sup>.

The provisions set out above do not apply:

- 1784 (a) where the retirement benefits scheme in question is an approved scheme<sup>12</sup> or a relevant statutory scheme<sup>13</sup> or where it is a scheme set up by a government outside the United Kingdom<sup>14</sup> for the benefit, or primarily for the benefit, of its employees<sup>15</sup>;
- 1785 (b) for any year of assessment where the employee performs the duties of his employment in such circumstances that no tax is chargeable under Case I or Case II of Schedule E<sup>16</sup> in respect of the emoluments<sup>17</sup> of his employment (or would be so chargeable were there such emoluments), or where the emoluments from the employment are foreign emoluments<sup>18</sup> and the Board is satisfied, on a claim made by the employee, that the retirement benefits scheme in question corresponds to any such scheme as is mentioned in head (a) above<sup>19</sup>.

Where, in respect of the provision for an employee of any relevant benefits, a sum has been deemed to be income of his<sup>20</sup> and subsequently the employee proves to the satisfaction of the Board that:

- 1786 (i) no payment in respect of, or in substitution for, the benefits has been made; and
- 1787 (ii) some event has occurred by reason of which no such payment will be made, and makes application for relief within six years from the time when that event occurred, the Board must give relief in respect of tax on that sum by repayment or otherwise as may be appropriate; and if the employee so satisfies the Board in relation to some particular part, but not the whole, of the benefits, the Board may give such relief as may seem to it to be just and reasonable<sup>21</sup>.

741-873 Occupational Pension Schemes

A new type of pension scheme, known as the stakeholder pension scheme, has been established: see the Welfare Reform and Pensions Act Pt I (ss 1-8); and PARA 873A.

The Income Tax (Earnings and Pensions) Act 2003 ss 580-608, 623-628 (which replaced those parts of the Income and Corporation Taxes Act 1988 and subsequent legislation dealing with approved retirement benefits schemes, former approved superannuation funds, approved personal pension schemes, and retirement annuity contracts) are repealed: Finance Act 2004 Sch 31 paras 7, 10, Sch 42 Pt 3. The 2004 Act introduces the concept of registered pension schemes: see Pt 4 (ss 149-284); and PARA 873B.

The Pensions Act 2008 Pt 1 Ch 5 (ss 67-78) makes provision for the establishment of a trust-based occupational pension scheme and for a trustee corporation; see para 873D.

Halsbury's Laws of England/SOCIAL SECURITY AND PENSIONS (VOLUME 44(2) (REISSUE))/18. OCCUPATIONAL PENSION SCHEMES/(2) APPROVAL AND TREATMENT FOR INCOME TAX PURPOSES/ (iii) Charge to Tax in Certain Cases/758. Benefits under non-approved schemes.

758. Benefits under non-approved schemes.

Where in any year of assessment<sup>1</sup> a person receives a benefit provided under a retirement benefits scheme<sup>2</sup> which is not of an approved description<sup>3</sup>, tax must be charged in accordance with the following provisions<sup>4</sup>.

Where the benefit is received by an individual, he must be charged to tax under Schedule E<sup>5</sup> for that year<sup>6</sup>. Where the benefit is received by a person other than an individual, the administrator<sup>7</sup> of the scheme must be charged to tax under Case VI of Schedule D<sup>8</sup> for that year<sup>9</sup>.

The amount to be charged to tax is in the case of a cash benefit, the amount received, and in the case of a benefit in kind, an amount equal to whatever is the cash equivalent<sup>10</sup> of the benefit<sup>11</sup>.

Tax must not be charged under these provisions in the case of (1) any pension or annuity which is chargeable to tax under the general provisions of Schedule E<sup>12</sup> or (2) any pension or other benefit chargeable to tax<sup>13</sup> as a foreign pension<sup>14</sup>; but where the amount chargeable to tax as mentioned in head (1) above is less than the amount which would be chargeable to tax under these provisions, head (1) above does not apply and the amount chargeable to tax under these provisions is reduced by the amount otherwise chargeable to tax by virtue of the general provisions of Schedule E<sup>15</sup>.

Tax must not be charged under these provisions, or under the general provisions of Schedule E or the provision for charging termination payments to tax<sup>16</sup> in the case of a lump sum where:

- 1788 (a) the employer has paid any sum or sums with a view to the provision of any relevant benefits under a retirement benefits scheme;
- 1789 (b) an employee has been assessed to tax in respect of the sum or sums<sup>17</sup>; and
- 1790 (c) the lump sum is provided under the scheme to the employee, any wife or widow, children, dependants or personal representatives of the employee<sup>18</sup> or any other individual designated by the employee<sup>19</sup>;

but where any of the income or gains accruing to the scheme under which the lump sum is provided is not brought into charge to tax, tax must be charged under these provisions on the amount of the lump sum received less any deduction applicable<sup>20</sup> for these purposes<sup>21</sup>. It must be assumed unless the contrary is shown that no sums have been paid, and the employee has not been assessed in respect of any sums paid, with a view to the provision of relevant benefits, that the income or gains accruing to a scheme under which the benefit is provided are not brought into charge to tax and that no deduction<sup>22</sup> is applicable<sup>23</sup>.

1 For the meaning of 'year of assessment' see PARA 680 note 1 ante.

2 For the meaning of 'retirement benefits scheme' see PARA 741 ante.

3 I.e. which is not of a description mentioned in the Income and Corporation Taxes Act 1988 s 596(1)(a), (b) or (c): see PARA 757 head (a) ante.

4 Ibid s 596A(1) (s 596A added by the Finance Act 1989 s 75, Sch 6 paras 9, 18(7)).

5 As to the charge to tax under Schedule E (PAYE) see INCOME TAXATION vol 23(1) (Reissue) PARA 605 et seq.

6 Income and Corporation Taxes Act 1988 s 596A(2)(as added: see note 4 supra).

7 For the meaning of 'administrator' see PARA 747 note 3 ante.

8 In the case of the charge under Case VI of Schedule D, the rate of tax is 40% or such other rate (whether higher or lower) as may for the time being be specified by the Treasury by order: Income and Corporation Taxes Act 1988 s 596A(5) (as added: see note 4 supra). As to the charge to tax under Case VI of Schedule D generally see INCOME TAXATION vol 23(1) (Reissue) PARA 560 et seq.

9 Ibid s 596A(3) (as added: see note 4 supra).

10 For these purposes, the cash equivalent of a benefit in kind is (1) in the case of a benefit other than living accommodation, the amount which would be the cash equivalent of the benefit under ibid Pt V Ch II (ss 153-168G) (as amended) (benefits in kind) if it were chargeable under the appropriate provision of that Chapter (treating any sum made good by the recipient as made good by the employee); and (2) in the case of living accommodation, an amount equal to the value of the accommodation to the recipient determined in accordance with the following provisions less so much of any sum made good by him to those at whose cost the accommodation is provided as is properly attributable to the provision of the accommodation: s 596B(1) (s 596B added by the Finance Act Sch 6 paras 9, 18(7)). Where the cost of providing the accommodation does not exceed £75,000, the value of the accommodation to the recipient in any period is the rent which would have been payable for the period if the premises had been let to him at an annual rent equal to their annual value as ascertained under the Income and Corporation Taxes Act 1988 s 837 (annual value of land: see INCOME TAXATION vol 23(1) (Reissue) PARA 664); but for a period in which those at whose cost the accommodation is provided pay rent at an annual rate greater than the annual value as so ascertained, the value of the accommodation to the recipient is an amount equal to the rent payable by them for the period: s 596B(2), (3) (as so added). Where the cost of providing the accommodation exceeds £75,000, the value of the accommodation to the recipient must be taken to be the aggregate of the value of the accommodation to him determined in accordance with s 596B(2), (3) (as so added) and the additional value of the accommodation to him determined as follows: (a) the additional value of the accommodation to the recipient in any period is the rent which would have been payable for that period if the premises had been let to him at an annual rent equal to the appropriate percentage of the amount by which the cost of providing the accommodation exceeds £75,000; and (b) where throughout the period of six years ending with the date when the recipient first occupied the property any estate or interest in the property was held by a relevant person (whether or not it was the same estate, interest or person throughout), the additional value must be calculated as if the amount referred to in head (i) infra were the market value of that property as at that date and the amount referred to in head (ii) infra did not include expenditure on improvements made before that date: s 596B(4)-(6) (as so added). For these purposes, the cost of providing any living accommodation must be taken to be the aggregate of (i) the amount of any expenditure incurred in acquiring the estate or interest in the property held by a relevant person; and (ii) the amount of any expenditure incurred by a relevant person before the year of assessment in question on improvements to the property; and that aggregate amount must be reduced by the amount of any payment made by the recipient to a relevant person, so far as that amount represents a reimbursement of any such expenditure as is mentioned in heads (i) or (ii) supra or represents consideration for the grant to the recipient of a tenancy of the property: s 596B(7), (8) (as so added). Any of the following persons is a relevant person for these purposes, ie the person providing the accommodation and any person, other than the recipient, who is connected with a person providing the accommodation; and s 839 (meaning of 'connected': see INCOME TAXATION vol 23(2) (Reissue) PARA 1258) applies: s 596B(9), (10) (as so added). 'The appropriate percentage' means the rate applicable for the purposes of s 160 (as amended) (beneficial loan arrangements: see INCOME TAXATION vol 23(1) (Reissue) PARA 723) as at the beginning of the year of assessment in question; 'market value', in relation to any property, means the price which that property might reasonably be expected to fetch on a sale in the open market with vacant possession, no reduction being made, in estimating the market value, on account of any option in respect of the property held by the recipient, or a person connected with him, or by any of the relevant persons; 'property', in relation to any living accommodation, means the property consisting of that living accommodation; and 'tenancy' includes a sub-tenancy: s 596B(10) (as so added).

11 Ibid s 596A(4) (as added: see note 4 supra).

18 le any person falling within ibid s 595(5) in relation to the employee: see PARA 757 ante.

19 Ibid s 596A(8) (s 596A(8), (9) substituted by the Finance Act 1994 s 108(5), (6)).

20 Subject as follows, the deduction applicable is the aggregate of (1) any sum or sums in respect of which the employee has been assessed as mentioned in head (b) in the text; and (2) any sum or sums paid by the employee, which in either case were paid by way of contribution to the provision of the lump sum: Income and Corporation Taxes Act 1988 s 596A(10) (s 596A(10)-(17) added by the Finance Act 1994 s 108(5), (6)). Where the lump sum is provided under the scheme on the disposal of a part of any asset or the surrender of any part of or share in any rights in any asset, and the employee, any person falling within the Income and Corporation Taxes Act 1988 s 595(5) in relation to the employee or any person connected with the employee has any right to receive or any expectation of receiving a further lump sum (or further lump sums) under the scheme on a further disposal of any part of the asset or a further surrender of any part of or share in any rights in the asset, the deduction applicable must be determined in accordance with the formula  $D = S \times (A \text{ divided by } B)$  where 'D' is the deduction applicable, 'S' is the aggregate amount of any sum or sums of a description mentioned in heads (1)-(2) supra, 'A' is the amount of the lump sum received in relation to which the deduction applicable falls to be determined, and 'B' is the market value of the asset in relation to which the disposal or surrender occurred, on the assumption that the valuation is made immediately before the disposal or surrender: s 596A(11)-(13) (as so added). An individual may not claim that a deduction is applicable in relation to a lump sum more than once: s 596A(14) (as so added). Section 839 (as amended) (meaning of 'connected': see INCOME TAXATION vol 23(2) (Reissue) PARA 1258) applies for these purposes; and 'market value' is to be construed in accordance with the Taxation of Chargeable Gains Act 1992 s 272 (see CAPITAL GAINS TAXATION vol 5(1) (2004 Reissue) PARA 44): Income and Corporation Taxes Act 1988 s 596A(16), (17) (as so added).

21 Ibid s 596A(9) (as substituted: see note 19 supra). For these purposes, income and gains accruing to a scheme must not be regarded as brought into charge to tax merely because tax is charged in relation to the scheme in accordance with s 591C (as added) (tax charge on cessation of approval of certain schemes: see PARA 753 ante): s 591D(6) (added by the Finance Act 1995 s 61(1), (3)).

758 Benefits under non-approved schemes

TEXT AND NOTES--1988 Act ss 596A-596C replaced by provisions of the Income Tax (Earnings and Pensions) Act 2003. For destination of replaced provisions, see table, INCOME TAXATION vol 23(2) (Reissue) PARA 1900A. The replaced provisions do not apply to a scheme established by an order under the Armed Forces (Pensions and Compensation) Act 2004: Income Tax (Earnings and Pensions) Act 2003 s 393(1) (amended by Finance Act 2005 s 19(2)).

If an amount consisting of, or including, an amount representing the benefit of a loan (a 'taxable amount') counts as employment income of an individual in a tax year under the Income Tax (Earnings and Pensions) Act 2003 s 394(1), or the person who is (or any of the persons who are) the responsible person in relation to a scheme is charged to tax on a taxable amount under Schedule D Case VI under s 394(2), the individual or that person is treated for all purposes of the Tax Acts (other than these provisions) as having paid interest on the loan in the tax year equal to the amount representing the cash equivalent of the loan: Income Tax (Earnings and Pensions) Act 2003 s 399(1), (2) (s 399(1) amended by 2004 Act s 249(9); 2003 Act s 399(2) amended by 2004 Act s 249(10)). The interest is to be treated as accruing during the period in the tax year during which the loan is outstanding, and as paid at the end of that period: Income Tax (Earnings and Pensions) Act 2003 s 399(3). It is not to be treated as income of the person making the loan or as relevant loan interest to which the Income and Corporation Taxes Act 1988 s 369 (see INCOME TAXATION vol 23(2) (Reissue) PARA 1052) applies: s 399(4). For the meaning of 'the Tax Acts' see INCOME TAXATION vol 23(1) (Reissue) PARA 21).

TEXT AND NOTES 1-4--The Income Tax (Earnings and Pensions) Act 2003 s 394(2) (which replaces the 1988 Act s 596A(1)) does not apply in relation to the benefit if the total amount of the benefits to which these provisions would otherwise apply which are received by the individual in the relevant tax year does not exceed £100: Income Tax (Earnings and Pensions) Act 2003 s 394(1A) (added by 2004 Act s 249(5)).

TEXT AND NOTE 2--These provisions now apply to an employer-financed retirement benefits scheme, ie a scheme for the provision of benefits consisting of or including relevant benefits to or in respect of employees or former employees of an employer; but neither a registered pension scheme (see PARA 873B) nor a section 615(3) scheme is an employer-financed retirement benefits scheme: Income Tax (Earnings and Pensions) Act 2003 ss 393, 393A(1), (2) (s 393, 393A, 393B substituted by 2004 Act s 249(3)). 'Section 615(3) scheme' means a superannuation fund to which the 1988 Act s 615(3) applies, and 'scheme' includes a deed, agreement, series of agreements or other arrangements: Income Tax (Earnings and Pensions) Act 2003 s 393A(3), (4). 'Relevant benefits' means any lump sum, gratuity or other benefit (including a non-cash benefit) provided (or to be provided) (1) on or in anticipation of the retirement of an employee or former employee; (2) on the death of an employee or former employee; (3) after the retirement or death of an employee or former employee in connection with past service; (4) on or in anticipation of, or in connection with, any change in the nature of service of any employee; or (5) to any person by virtue of a pension sharing order or provision relating to an employee or former employee: s 393B(1). Benefits charged to tax under the Income Tax (Earnings and Pensions) Act 2003 Pt 9 (ss 565-654), benefits chargeable to tax by virtue of the 2004 Act Sch 34 (see PARA 873B.23), and excluded benefits are not relevant benefits: Income Tax (Earnings and Pensions) Act 2003 s 393B(2). 'Excluded benefits' are benefits (a) in respect of ill-health or disablement of an employee during service; (b) in respect of the death by accident of an employee during service; (c) under a relevant life policy; and (d) of any description prescribed by regulations made by the Commissioners for Her Majesty's Revenue and Customs: s 393B(3) (amended by Commissioners for Revenue and Customs Act 2005 Sch 4 para 102(2)). See the Armed Forces and Reserve Forces (Compensation Scheme) (Excluded Benefits for Tax Purposes) Regulations 2006, SI 2006/132; the Employer-Financed Retirement Benefits (Excluded Benefits for Tax Purposes) Regulations 2006, SI 2006/210; and the Employer-Financed Retirement Benefits (Excluded Benefits for Tax Purposes) Regulations 2007, SI 2007/3537. 'Relevant life policy' means (i) an excepted group life policy as defined in the Income Tax (Trading and Other Income) Act 2005 s 480; (ii) a policy of life insurance the terms of which provide for the payment of benefits on the death of a single individual and with respect to which (A) condition A in s 481 would be met if paragraph (a) in that condition referred to the death, in any circumstances or except in specified circumstances, of that individual (rather than the death in any circumstances of each of the individuals insured under the policy) and if the condition did not include paragraph (b), and (B) conditions C and D in s 481 and conditions A and C in s 482 are met, or (iii) a policy of life insurance that would be within paragraph (a) or (b) but for the fact that it provides for a benefit which is an excluded benefit under or by virtue of s 482(3)(a), (b) or (d): Income Tax (Earnings and Pensions) Act 2003 s 393B(4). 'Pension sharing order or provision' means any such order or provision as is mentioned in the Welfare Reform and Pensions Act 1999 s 28(1) (see PARA 961A.2) or corresponding Northern Ireland legislation: Income Tax (Earnings and Pensions) Act 2003 s 393B(5); 2004 Act s 279(1).

TEXT AND NOTE 7--For 'administrator' read 'person who is (or persons who are) the responsible person in relation to': 2003 Act s 394(2) (amended by 2004 Act s 249(6)). The 'responsible person' in relation to an employer-financed retirement benefits scheme is (1) if there are one or more trustees of the scheme who are resident in the United Kingdom, that trustee or each of those trustees; (2) if there are one or more persons who control the management of the scheme, that person or each of those persons; (3) if alive or still in existence, the employer, or any of the employers, who established the scheme and any person by whom that employer, or any of those employers, has been directly or indirectly succeeded in relation to the provision of benefits under the scheme; (4) any employer of employees to or in respect of whom benefits are, or are to be, provided under the scheme; (5) if there are one or more trustees of the scheme who are not resident in the United Kingdom, that trustee or each of them: s 399A(1) (s 399A added by 2004 Act s 249(11)). If a person is, or persons are, the responsible person in relation to the scheme by virtue of being specified under any of heads (1)-(5), no-one is the responsible person in relation to the scheme by virtue of being specified under a later head: 2003 Act s 399A(2).

TEXT AND NOTES 16-23--Replaced. In the case of a relevant benefit under an employer-financed retirement benefits scheme in the form of a lump sum where, under the scheme, an employee has paid any sum or sums by way of contribution to the provision of that lump sum, the amount which, by virtue of ibid s 394, counts as employment income, or is chargeable to tax under Schedule D Case VI, is the amount of the lump sum reduced by the sum (or the aggregate of the sums) so paid by the employee: s 395(1), (2) (s 395 substituted by 2004 Act s 249(8)). A reduction under the 2003 Act s 395 may not be claimed in respect of the same contribution in relation to more than one lump sum: s 395(3) (as so substituted). It is to be assumed, unless the contrary is shown, that no reduction is applicable under s 395: s 395(4).

NOTE 21--1988 Act s 591D(6) repealed: 2003 Act Sch 6 para 71, Sch 8 Pt 1.

759. Pensions; the charge to tax.

Subject as follows, all pensions<sup>1</sup> paid under any scheme which is approved or is being considered for approval<sup>2</sup> must be charged to tax under Schedule E<sup>3</sup>, and the statutory provisions relating to PAYE<sup>4</sup> apply accordingly<sup>5</sup>. Without prejudice to these provisions, where funds held for the purposes of any scheme which is approved or is being considered for approval are used to acquire an annuity, the annuity must be charged to tax under Schedule E<sup>10</sup> and not under Case III of Schedule D<sup>11</sup>.

741-873 Occupational Pension Schemes

A new type of pension scheme, known as the stakeholder pension scheme, has been established: see the Welfare Reform and Pensions Act Pt I (ss 1-8); and PARA 873A.

The Income Tax (Earnings and Pensions) Act 2003 ss 580-608, 623-628 (which replaced those parts of the Income and Corporation Taxes Act 1988 and subsequent legislation dealing with approved retirement benefits schemes, former approved superannuation funds, approved personal pension schemes, and retirement annuity contracts) are repealed: Finance Act 2004 Sch 31 paras 7, 10, Sch 42 Pt 3. The 2004 Act introduces the concept of registered pension schemes: see Pt 4 (ss 149-284); and PARA 873B.

The Pensions Act 2008 Pt 1 Ch 5 (ss 67-78) makes provision for the establishment of a trust-based occupational pension scheme and for a trustee corporation; see para 873D.

Halsbury's Laws of England/SOCIAL SECURITY AND PENSIONS (VOLUME 44(2) (REISSUE))/18. OCCUPATIONAL PENSION SCHEMES/(2) APPROVAL AND TREATMENT FOR INCOME TAX PURPOSES/ (iii) Charge to Tax in Certain Cases/760. Repayment of employee's contributions.

760. Repayment of employee's contributions.

Subject as follows, tax must be charged on any repayment to an employee<sup>1</sup> during his lifetime of any contributions (including interest on contributions, if any) if the payment is made under a scheme which is or has at any time been an exempt approved scheme<sup>2</sup> or under a relevant statutory scheme<sup>3</sup> established under a public general Act<sup>4</sup>. Where any payment is so chargeable to tax, the administrator<sup>5</sup> of the scheme must be charged to income tax under Case VI of Schedule D<sup>6</sup>. The tax must be charged on the amount paid or, if the rules permit the administrator to deduct the tax before payment, on the amount before deduction of tax, and the amount so charged to tax is not treated as income for any other purpose of the Tax Acts<sup>7</sup>.

These provisions do not apply where the employee's employment was carried out outside the United Kingdom<sup>8</sup>; nor do they apply in relation to a contribution made after a scheme has ceased to be an exempt approved scheme, unless it again becomes such a scheme<sup>9</sup>.

1 In relation to a statutory scheme, 'employee' for these purposes includes any officer: Income and Corporation Taxes Act 1988 s 598(7). For the meaning of 'employee' generally see PARA 741 note 8 ante.

2 For the meaning of 'exempt approved scheme' see PARA 754 ante.

3 For the meaning of 'relevant statutory scheme' see PARA 756 note 2 ante.

4 Income and Corporation Taxes Act 1988 s 598(1) (amended by the Finance Act 1989 s 75, Sch 6 paras 10, 18(1)).

5 For the meaning of 'administrator' see PARA 747 note 3 ante.

6 Income and Corporation Taxes Act 1988 s 598(2). The rate of tax was originally specified in the legislation as 10% but was increased by Treasury order to 20% with effect from 6 April 1988. The Treasury may by order from time to time increase or decrease that rate of tax: s 598(2), (3). At the date at which this volume states the law, no such order had been made, but, by virtue of the Interpretation Act 1978 s 17(2)(b), the Occupational Pension Schemes (Rate of Tax under Paragraph 2(2) of Part II of Schedule 5 to the Finance Act 1970) Order 1988, SI 1988/504, which increased the rate of tax from 10% to 20%, has effect as if so made. ### 741-873 Occupational Pension Schemes

A new type of pension scheme, known as the stakeholder pension scheme, has been established: see the Welfare Reform and Pensions Act Pt I (ss 1-8); and PARA 873A.

The Income Tax (Earnings and Pensions) Act 2003 ss 580-608, 623-628 (which replaced those parts of the Income and Corporation Taxes Act 1988 and subsequent legislation dealing with approved retirement benefits schemes, former approved superannuation funds, approved personal pension schemes, and retirement annuity contracts) are repealed: Finance Act 2004 Sch 31 paras 7, 10, Sch 42 Pt 3. The 2004 Act introduces the concept of registered pension schemes: see Pt 4 (ss 149-284); and PARA 873B.

The Pensions Act 2008 Pt 1 Ch 5 (ss 67-78) makes provision for the establishment of a trust-based occupational pension scheme and for a trustee corporation; see para 873D.

Halsbury's Laws of England/SOCIAL SECURITY AND PENSIONS (VOLUME 44(2) (REISSUE))/18. OCCUPATIONAL PENSION SCHEMES/(2) APPROVAL AND TREATMENT FOR INCOME TAX PURPOSES/ (iii) Charge to Tax in Certain Cases/761. Commutation of entire pension in special circumstances.

761. Commutation of entire pension in special circumstances.

Where a scheme which is or has at any time been an approved scheme<sup>1</sup>, or a relevant statutory scheme<sup>2</sup> established under a public general Act contains a rule allowing, in special circumstances, a payment in commutation of an employee's<sup>3</sup> entire pension<sup>4</sup>, and any pension is commuted, whether wholly or not, under the rule, tax must be charged on the amount by which the sum receivable exceeds:

- 1791 (1) the largest sum which would have been receivable in commutation of any part of the pension if the scheme had secured that the aggregate value of the relevant benefits<sup>5</sup> payable to an employee on or after retirement, excluding any pension which was not commutable, could not exceed three-eightieths of his final remuneration<sup>6</sup> (disregarding any excess of that remuneration over the permitted maximum)<sup>7</sup> for each year of service up to a maximum of 40<sup>8</sup>; or
- 1792 (2) the largest sum which would have been receivable in commutation of any part of the pension under any rule of the scheme authorising the commutation of part (but not the whole) of the pension, or which would have been so receivable but for those special circumstances<sup>9</sup>, whichever gives the lesser amount chargeable to tax<sup>10</sup>. Where any amount is so chargeable to tax, the administrator<sup>11</sup> of the scheme must be charged to income tax under Case VI of Schedule D<sup>12</sup> on that amount<sup>13</sup>.

These provisions do not apply where the employee's employment was carried on outside the United Kingdom<sup>14</sup>.

1 For the meaning of 'approved scheme' see PARA 752 note 2 ante.

2 For the meaning of 'relevant statutory scheme' see PARA 756 note 2 ante.

3 In relation to a statutory scheme, 'employee' for these purposes includes officer: Income and Corporation Taxes Act 1988 s 599(5).

5 For the meaning of 'relevant benefits' see PARA 741 note 6 ante.

6 For the meaning of 'final remuneration' see PARA 751 note 8 ante.

7 'The permitted maximum' means, as regards a charge to tax arising under this provision in a particular year of assessment, the figure found for that year as follows, ie for the years 1988-89 and 1989-90 the figure is £60,000 and for any subsequent year of assessment the figure is the figure found for that year, for the purposes of the Income and Corporation Taxes Act 1988 s 590C (as added and amended), by virtue of s 590C(4)-(5A) (as added and amended) (see PARA 750 ante): s 599(10)-(12) (added by the Finance Act 1989 s 75, Sch 6 paras 11(3), (18)(8); the Income and Corporation Taxes Act 1988 s 599(12) amended by the Finance Act 1993 s 107(6), (8)).

8 Income and Corporation Taxes Act 1988 s 599(1)(a). For transitional provisions see s 599(9). In applying s 599(1)(a) or (b), the same considerations must be taken into account, including the provisions of any other relevant scheme, as would have been taken into account by the Board in applying s 590 (as amended)

(approval of scheme: see PARA 748 ante); and where the scheme has ceased to be an approved scheme, account must only be taken of the rules in force when the scheme was last an approved scheme: s 599(6).

9 Ibid s 599(1)(b); and see note 8 supra.

10 See ibid s 599(1), (2) (s 599(2) amended by the Finance Act 1989 Sch 6 paras 11(2), 18(1)).

11 Where the pension has been secured by means of an annuity contract with an insurance company and the sum receivable is payable under that contract by the insurance company, the references to the administrator of the scheme in this provision and in the Income and Corporation Taxes Act 1988 s 598(2), (4) (see PARA 760 ante) as applied by s 599(3) (see note 13 infra) are to be read as references to the insurance company; and 'insurance company' has the meaning given by s 659B (as added): s 599(7), (8) (s 599(8) substituted by the Finance (No 2) Act 1992 s 56, Sch 9 para 16). ### 741-873 Occupational Pension Schemes

A new type of pension scheme, known as the stakeholder pension scheme, has been established: see the Welfare Reform and Pensions Act Pt I (ss 1-8); and PARA 873A.

The Income Tax (Earnings and Pensions) Act 2003 ss 580-608, 623-628 (which replaced those parts of the Income and Corporation Taxes Act 1988 and subsequent legislation dealing with approved retirement benefits schemes, former approved superannuation funds, approved personal pension schemes, and retirement annuity contracts) are repealed: Finance Act 2004 Sch 31 paras 7, 10, Sch 42 Pt 3. The 2004 Act introduces the concept of registered pension schemes: see Pt 4 (ss 149-284); and PARA 873B.

The Pensions Act 2008 Pt 1 Ch 5 (ss 67-78) makes provision for the establishment of a trust-based occupational pension scheme and for a trustee corporation; see para 873D.

762. Payments out of surplus funds.

On the making of any payment<sup>1</sup> which is made to or for the benefit of an employee<sup>2</sup> or to his personal representatives out of funds which are or have been held for the purposes of a scheme which is or has at any time been an exempt approved scheme<sup>3</sup>, or a relevant statutory scheme established under a public general Act, and which is made in pursuance of a duty to return surplus funds<sup>4</sup>, the administrator<sup>5</sup> of the scheme must be charged to income tax under Case VI of Schedule D<sup>6</sup> at the relevant rate<sup>7</sup> on such amount as, after deduction of tax at that rate, would equal the amount of the payment<sup>8</sup>.

Where a payment made to or for the benefit of an employee is one to which the above provisions apply, it must be treated in computing the total income of the employee for the year in which it is made as income for that year which is received by him after deduction of income tax at the basic rate from a corresponding gross amount and chargeable to income tax under Case VI of Schedule D<sup>9</sup>, but no repayment of income tax must be made to the employee<sup>10</sup>. This applies whether or not the employee is the recipient of the payment<sup>11</sup>.

Any payment chargeable to tax under these provisions is not chargeable to tax under the statutory provisions relating to repayment of contributions<sup>12</sup>, commutation of the entire pension<sup>13</sup> or unauthorised payments to or for employees<sup>14</sup> or under the specified<sup>15</sup> regulations<sup>16</sup>.

1 For these purposes, references to any payment include references to any transfer of assets or other transfer of money's worth: Income and Corporation Taxes Act 1988 s 599A(10) (s 599A added by the Finance Act 1989 s 75, Sch 6 paras 12, 18(9)).

In relation to payments made on or after 6 April 1997, the rate is 33%: see the Income Tax (Charge to Tax) (Payments out of Surplus Funds) (Relevant Rate) Order 1997, SI 1997/369, art 2.

763. Unauthorised payments to or for employees.

If any payment<sup>1</sup> to or for the benefit of an employee<sup>2</sup>, otherwise than in course of payment of a pension<sup>3</sup>, being a payment made out of funds which are held for the purposes of a scheme which is approved for the statutory purposes<sup>4</sup>, is not expressly authorised by the rules of the scheme or by virtue of the relevant statutory provision<sup>5</sup>, the employee (whether or not he is the recipient of the payment) is chargeable to tax on the amount of the payment under Schedule E<sup>6</sup> for the year of assessment<sup>7</sup> in which the payment is made<sup>8</sup>.

Any payment so chargeable to tax is not chargeable to tax under the statutory provisions relating to repayment of contributions<sup>9</sup> or commutation of the entire pension<sup>10</sup> or under the specified<sup>11</sup> regulations<sup>12</sup>.

Where a pilots' benefit fund<sup>13</sup> is approved as if it were a retirement benefits scheme<sup>14</sup> notwithstanding that it does not satisfy one or more of the prescribed conditions<sup>15</sup>, pensions paid out of the fund and any sums chargeable to tax in connection with the fund under these provisions are treated for income tax purposes as earned income<sup>16</sup>.

741-873 Occupational Pension Schemes

A new type of pension scheme, known as the stakeholder pension scheme, has been established: see the Welfare Reform and Pensions Act Pt I (ss 1-8); and PARA 873A.

The Income Tax (Earnings and Pensions) Act 2003 ss 580-608, 623-628 (which replaced those parts of the Income and Corporation Taxes Act 1988 and subsequent legislation dealing with approved retirement benefits schemes, former approved superannuation funds, approved personal pension schemes, and retirement annuity contracts) are repealed: Finance Act 2004 Sch 31 paras 7, 10, Sch 42 Pt 3. The 2004 Act introduces the concept of registered pension schemes: see Pt 4 (ss 149-284); and PARA 873B.

The Pensions Act 2008 Pt 1 Ch 5 (ss 67-78) makes provision for the establishment of a trust-based occupational pension scheme and for a trustee corporation; see para 873D.

763 Unauthorised payments to or for employees

NOTE 8--A person who is both an employee and a director need not retire from both positions before he can be said to retire, becoming eligible to receive pension benefits: Venables v Hornby (Inspector of Taxes) [2003] UKHL 65, (2004) 75 TC 553 (pension payments to taxpayer retiring as executive director but continuing as non-executive director authorised by rules of pension scheme).

764. Payments to employers.

Where a payment<sup>1</sup> is made to an employer<sup>2</sup> out of funds which are or have been held for the purposes of a scheme which is or has at any time been an exempt approved scheme<sup>3</sup> and whether or not the payment is made in pursuance of the relevant statutory provisions<sup>4</sup>, an amount equal to 40 per cent of the payment is recoverable by the Board<sup>5</sup> from the employer<sup>6</sup>. This does not, however, apply to any payment:

- 1793 (1) to the extent that, if these provisions had not been enacted, the employer would have been exempt, or entitled to claim exemption, from income tax or corporation tax in respect of the payment; or
- 1794 (2) made before the scheme became an exempt approved scheme; or
- 1795 (3) of any prescribed description<sup>7</sup>; or
- 1796 (4) made in pursuance of the winding up of the scheme where the winding up commenced on or before 18 March 1986; or
- 1797 (5) made in pursuance of an application which was made to the Board on or before that date and was not withdrawn before the making of the payment, and which sought the Board's assurance that the payment would not lead to a withdrawal of approval<sup>8</sup>.

Nor does it apply where the employer is a charity<sup>9</sup>.

Where any payment is made or becomes due to an employer out of funds which are or have been held for the purposes of a scheme which is or has at any time been an exempt approved scheme then:

- 1798 (a) if the scheme relates to a trade<sup>10</sup>, profession or vocation<sup>11</sup> carried on by the employer, the payment must be treated for the purposes of the Tax Acts<sup>12</sup> as a receipt of that trade, profession or vocation receivable when the payment falls due or on the last day on which the trade, profession or vocation is carried on by the employer, whichever is the earlier;
- 1799 (b) if the scheme does not relate to such a trade, profession or vocation, the employer must be charged to tax on the amount of the payment under Case VI of Schedule D<sup>13</sup>;

but this does not apply to a payment which fell due before the scheme became an exempt approved scheme or to a payment which is subject to the 40 per cent charge<sup>14</sup> or would be so subject but for head (1) above, or but for the fact that the employer is a charity<sup>15</sup>.

The following descriptions of payment by the administrator are prescribed for these purposes: (1) any payment to the employer (a) by way of reimbursement of expenditure properly incurred by the employer in respect of an obligation of the administrator in respect of the scheme; (b) by way of interest on or repayment of a loan from the employer; (c) by way of loan or investment of scheme funds provided it is a loan or investment showing a reasonable commercial return; (d) which the administrator is obliged to make under the provisions of a scheme to enable the employer to obtain the discharge by a member of the scheme of some monetary obligation due to the employer which arises out of a criminal, negligent or fraudulent act or omission by the member concerned; (2) a reimbursement of a payment by the employer of a state scheme premium to which the Social Security Pensions Act 1975 s 42 or s 45 (both repealed) applies: Pension Scheme Surpluses (Administration) Regulations 1987, SI 1987/352, reg 4. ### 764 Payments to employers

NOTE 1--An unlawful transfer of funds to an employer which is subsequently repaid to the scheme is not a 'payment' for the purposes of the 1988 Act s 601: Hilldown Holdings plc v IRC (1999) Times, 13 May.

(iv) Pension Fund Surpluses

765. Power to make regulations.

In relation to an amount recoverable by the Board<sup>1</sup> from an employer<sup>2</sup> in the specified circumstances<sup>3</sup>, the Treasury may by regulations make any of the following provisions<sup>4</sup>, that is to say, provision:

- 1800 (1) requiring the administrator<sup>5</sup> of the scheme or the employer (or both) to furnish to the Board, in respect of the amount recoverable and of the payment concerned, information of a prescribed kind<sup>6</sup>;
- 1801 (2) Enabling the Board to serve a notice or notices requiring the administrator or employer (or both) to furnish to the Board, in respect of the amount and payment, particulars of a prescribed kind<sup>7</sup>;
- 1802 (3) requiring the administrator to deduct out of the payment the amount recoverable and to account to the Board for it<sup>8</sup>;
- 1803 (4) as to circumstances in which the employer may be assessed in respect of the amount recoverable<sup>9</sup>;
- 1804 (5) that, in a case where the employer has been assessed in respect of an amount recoverable but has not paid it (or part of it) within a prescribed period, the administrator may be assessed and charged (in the employer's name) in respect of the amount (or part unpaid)<sup>10</sup>;
- 1805 (6) that, in a case where the amount recoverable (or part of it) has been recovered from the administrator by virtue of an assessment in the employer's name, the administrator is entitled to recover from the employer a sum equal to the amount (or part)<sup>11</sup>;
- 1806 (7) Enabling the employer or administrator (as the case may be) to appeal against an assessment made on him in respect of the amount recoverable<sup>12</sup>;
- 1807 (8) as to when any sum in respect of the amount recoverable is payable to the Board by the administrator or employer and as to interest to be paid on any sum so payable<sup>13</sup>;
- 1808 (9) that an amount paid to the Board by the administrator must be treated as paid on account of the employer's liability<sup>14</sup> under the relevant statutory provision<sup>15</sup>;

and for this purpose the amount recoverable must be treated as if it were an amount of income tax chargeable on the employer under Case VI of Schedule D for the year of assessment<sup>16</sup> in which the payment is made<sup>17</sup> or, where the employer is a company<sup>18</sup>, an amount of corporation tax chargeable on the company for the accounting period<sup>19</sup> in which the payment is made<sup>20</sup>. For the purpose of giving effect to any provision mentioned in heads (3) to (9) above, such regulations may also include provision applying (with or without modifications) provisions of the enactments relating to income tax and corporation tax<sup>21</sup>.

Subject to any provision of such regulations, a payment of an amount recoverable as mentioned above must not be treated as a profit or gain brought into charge to income tax or corporation tax and must not be treated as part of the employer's income for any purpose of the Income and Corporation Taxes Act 1988 and the amount recoverable must not be subject to any exemption or reduction (by way of relief, set-off or otherwise) or be available for set-off against other tax<sup>22</sup>. If the employer is a company and such a payment is made at a time not otherwise within an accounting period of the company, an accounting period of the company is treated for these purposes as beginning immediately before the payment is made<sup>23</sup>.

1 For the meaning of 'the Board' see PARA 678 note 2 ante.

2 For the meaning of 'employer' see PARA 741 note 8 ante.

3 le recoverable as mentioned in the Income and Corporation Taxes Act 1988 s 601(2): see PARA 764 ante.

4 Ibid s 602(1). At the date at which this volume states the law, no such regulations had been made, but, by virtue of the Interpretation Act 1978 s 17(2)(b), the Pension Scheme Surpluses (Administration) Regulations 1987, SI 1987/352, have effect as if so made. See notes 6-11 infra.

5 For the meaning of 'administrator' see PARA 747 note 3 ante.

6 Income and Corporation Taxes Act 1988 s 602(2)(a). The administrator must, within 14 days after making the surplus payment, make a return to the Board containing the following particulars: (1) the full name or description and tax office reference of the scheme; (2) the name and address and tax office reference of the employer concerned; (3) details of the surplus payment including the date when it was made, and where the surplus payment (or part) is a transfer of an asset or of money's worth, the market value of the asset or money's worth concerned; (4) the amount of the tax payment: Pension Scheme Surpluses (Administration) Regulations 1987, SI 1987/352, reg 3(1)(b), (2).

7 Income and Corporation Taxes Act 1988 s 602(2)(b). Where the Board has reason to believe that a surplus payment has been made to an employer in respect of which no return or an incorrect return has been made under the Pension Scheme Surpluses (Administration) Regulations 1987, SI 1987/352, reg 3 (see note 6 supra), it may, by notice in writing, require the administrator or the employer concerned, within the time limited by the notice, to furnish to the Board a return (or further return) containing the particulars to which reg 3 refers: reg 7.

8 Income and Corporation Taxes Act 1988 s 602(2)(c). On making a surplus payment to an employer, the administrator must deduct out of it the relevant tax payment: Pension Scheme Surpluses (Administration) Regulations 1987, SI 1987/352, reg 3(1)(a). The tax payment is due at the time by which the return under reg 3 (see note 6 supra) is to be made and unless the Board otherwise authorises must be made with that return; and it is payable by the administrator without the making of any assessment: reg 5(1), (2).

9 Income and Corporation Taxes Act 1988 s 602(2)(d). Subject to the following, the amount of the tax payment to which the Pension Scheme Surpluses (Administration) Regulations 1987, SI 1987/352, reg 3(1) refers (see note 8 supra) must be assessed upon the employer under Case VI of Schedule D as an amount of income tax or corporation tax, as the case may be, for the chargeable period in which the surplus payment is made: reg 6(1). The amount of tax charged and due under the assessment must be reduced by the amount paid to the Board by the administrator in respect of the tax payment payable under reg 5 (see note 8 supra) and, subject to any appeal, the reduced amount must in all respects be treated as an amount of tax due and payable under an assessment to which the Taxes Management Act 1970 applies as if the assessment were an assessment specified in s 55(1) (recovery of tax not postponed) and s 86(2) (interest on tax) and s 86(3), (4) were omitted and 'the reckonable date' for the purposes of s 86 were 7 May 1987 or the fifteenth day after the date when a surplus payment is made (whichever is later), and which is final and conclusive: Pension Scheme Surpluses (Administration) Regulations 1987, SI 1987/352, reg 6(2), (6).

10 Income and Corporation Taxes Act 1988 s 602(2)(e). If, by the end of the sixtieth day after the date of the notice of the assessment, the full amount of the tax due and payable under the assessment, together with interest payable, has not been paid to the Board, the amount of tax and interest remaining unpaid may be assessed upon the administrator (under Case VI of Schedule D) in the name of the employer: Pension Scheme Surpluses (Administration) Regulations 1987, SI 1987/352, reg 6(3). The amount of the tax and interest so charged by an assessment upon the administrator is (subject to any appeal within that period) due and payable by the administrator within 14 days after the date of the notice of that further assessment as an amount of tax due and payable under an assessment which is final and conclusive: reg 6(4). As to the charge to tax under Case VI of Schedule D see INCOME TAXATION vol 23(1) (Reissue) PARA 560 et seq.

11 Income and Corporation Taxes Act 1988 s 602(2)(f). Where an amount due and payable under the Pension Scheme Surpluses (Administration) Regulations 1987, SI 1987/352, reg 6(3) (see note 10 supra) has been paid by the administrator he may recover a sum equal to that amount from the employer: reg 6(5).

Any amount recoverable by the Board from an administrator or employer under the Pension Scheme Surpluses (Administration) Regulations 1987, SI 1987/352, whether by assessment or otherwise, must be treated as an amount recoverable from the administrator or employer, as the case may be, in a separate capacity from other amounts which may be recoverable under the Tax Acts: Pension Scheme Surpluses (Administration) Regulations 1987, SI 1987/352, reg 8.

The 2004 Act introduces the concept of registered pension schemes: see Pt 4 (ss 149-284); and PARA 873B.

The Pensions Act 2008 Pt 1 Ch 5 (ss 67-78) makes provision for the establishment of a trust-based occupational pension scheme and for a trustee corporation; see para 873D.

Halsbury's Laws of England/SOCIAL SECURITY AND PENSIONS (VOLUME 44(2) (REISSUE))/18. OCCUPATIONAL PENSION SCHEMES/(2) APPROVAL AND TREATMENT FOR INCOME TAX PURPOSES/(iv) Pension Fund Surpluses/766. Reduction of surpluses.

766. Reduction of surpluses.

The Board<sup>1</sup> may make regulations providing for the following provisions to apply, as from a prescribed<sup>2</sup> date, in relation to any exempt approved scheme<sup>3</sup> which is of a prescribed kind<sup>4</sup> and for prescribed provisions<sup>5</sup> to apply, as from a prescribed date, in prescribed circumstances, and subject to any prescribed omissions or modifications, in relation to any exempt approved scheme of another prescribed kind<sup>6</sup>.

The administrator<sup>7</sup> of a scheme in relation to which these provisions apply must, in prescribed circumstances and at a prescribed time<sup>8</sup>, either produce to the Board a written valuation of the assets held for the purposes of the scheme and the liabilities of the scheme, determined in accordance with prescribed principles and fulfilling prescribed requirements, and signed by a person with qualifications of a prescribed kind, or give to the Board a certificate stating whether or not the value of the assets (as determined in accordance with prescribed principles) exceeds the value of the liabilities (as so determined) by a percentage which is more than a prescribed maximum<sup>9</sup>. The certificate must be in a prescribed form<sup>10</sup> and must be signed by a person with qualifications of a prescribed kind<sup>11</sup>. Where a valuation so produced shows, or a certificate so given states, that the value of the assets exceeds the value of the liabilities by a percentage which is more than the prescribed maximum, the administrator of the scheme must within a prescribed period<sup>12</sup> submit to the Board for its approval proposals for reducing or eliminating the excess in a way or ways set out in the proposals and falling within the permitted ways<sup>13</sup>. The proposals must be such as to secure that (1) by the end of a prescribed period<sup>14</sup> the percentage (if any) by which the value of the assets exceeds the value of the liabilities is no more than the prescribed maximum; and (2) if the way, or one of the ways, set out in the proposals is by way of making payments to an employer, there remains an excess which is of a level not less than the prescribed minimum<sup>15</sup>.

If the administrator of the scheme fails to submit proposals to the Board within the prescribed period, or if the proposals submitted to the Board within that period are not approved by the Board within a further prescribed period<sup>16</sup>, the Board may specify a percentage<sup>17</sup> equivalent to (a) its estimate of the value of the scheme's liabilities at the relevant time<sup>18</sup> increased by a prescribed percentage<sup>19</sup>, divided by (b) its estimate of the value of the assets held for the purposes of the scheme at that time<sup>20</sup>. Where it does so, certain tax reliefs<sup>21</sup> apply only to that specified percentage of any income derived in the relevant period from the assets held for the purposes of the scheme and of any underwriting commissions applied in the relevant period for the purposes of that scheme<sup>22</sup>, relief under Case VI of Schedule D is limited<sup>23</sup> and capital gains tax exemption<sup>24</sup> is also limited<sup>25</sup>.

Where a valuation has been produced under these provisions, the Board may serve on the administrator of the scheme a notice requiring him to furnish the Board, within a prescribed period<sup>26</sup>, with such particulars relating to the valuation as may be specified in the notice<sup>27</sup>; and where a certificate has been given under these provisions, the Board may serve on the administrator of the scheme a notice requiring him to produce to the Board, within a prescribed period<sup>28</sup>, a written valuation of the assets and liabilities of the scheme such as is mentioned above<sup>29</sup>. Where a valuation has been produced in compliance with a notice so served, the Board may serve on the administrator of the scheme a further notice requiring him to furnish the Board, within a prescribed period<sup>30</sup>, with such particulars relating to the valuation as may be specified in the notice<sup>31</sup>; and where particulars have been so furnished or such a valuation has been produced, the Board must, within a prescribed period<sup>32</sup>, serve on the administrator of the scheme a notice (i) stating that the Board accepts the valuation produced under the above requirements; or (ii) stating that the Board does not accept the valuation so produced, and specifying its estimate of the value of the liabilities of the scheme at the relevant time<sup>33</sup> and its estimate of the value of the assets held for the purposes of the scheme at that time<sup>34</sup>.

The administrator of the scheme must within a prescribed period<sup>35</sup> submit to the Board for approval proposals for reducing or eliminating the excess which fulfil the statutory requirements<sup>36</sup> where:

1809 (A) in a case falling within head (i) above, the valuation shows that the value of the assets exceeds the value of the liabilities by a percentage which is more than the prescribed maximum; or

1810 (B) in a case falling within head (ii) above, the value of the assets as estimated by the Board exceeds the value of the liabilities as so estimated by a percentage which is more than the prescribed maximum<sup>37</sup>.

If the administrator of the scheme fails to submit proposals to the Board within the prescribed period, or if proposals submitted within that period are not approved by the Board within a further prescribed period<sup>38</sup>, the Board may specify a percentage as described in heads (a) and (b) above<sup>39</sup>, with the tax consequences already discussed in relation to that percentage<sup>40</sup>.

Where proposals are submitted to the Board under the above provisions and the Board approves them within the further prescribed period applicable, the administrator of the scheme must carry out the proposals within the statutory period<sup>41</sup> and if he fails to carry them out within that period, the Board may specify a percentage as described in heads (a) and (b) above, with the tax consequences already discussed in relation to that percentage<sup>42</sup>.

1 For the meaning of 'the Board' see PARA 678 note 2 ante.

2 For these purposes, 'prescribed' means prescribed by regulations made by the Board: Income and Corporation Taxes Act 1988 s 603, Sch 22 para 1(3). At the date at which this volume states the law, no such regulations had been made, but, by virtue of the Interpretation Act 1978 s 17(2)(b), the Pension Scheme Surpluses (Valuation) Regulations 1987, SI 1987/412 (amended by SI 1989/992; SI 1989/2290) have effect as if so made.

3 For the meaning of 'exempt approved scheme' see PARA 754 ante.

4 Income and Corporation Taxes Act 1988 Sch 22 para 1(1). The prescribed kinds of schemes are (1) self-administered schemes, other than schemes which have less than 12 members and are simplified defined contribution schemes (or both); and (2) insured schemes, the policies in respect of which do not provide that levels of contributions require to take account of surpluses, other than schemes (a) the policies in respect of which provide only for lump sum benefits for members on death before normal retirement age; or (b) which are simplified defined contribution schemes: Pension Scheme Surpluses (Valuation) Regulations 1987, SI 1987/412, reg 3 (as amended: see note 2 supra). 'Self-administered scheme' means a scheme some or all of the income and other assets of which are invested otherwise than in insurance policies; and 'simplified defined contribution scheme' means a scheme approved by the Board under the Income and Corporation Taxes Act 1988 s 591 (as amended) (see PARA 751 ante) by reference to limitations on (i) the aggregate amount of the contributions which may be paid by a member and his employer; (ii) the maximum lump sum which may be provided under the scheme; and (iii) the benefits payable on death which may be provided under the scheme: Pension Scheme Surpluses (Valuation) Regulations 1987, SI 1987/412, reg 2 (the latter definition added by SI 1989/2290).

5 The prescribed provisions of the Income and Corporation Taxes Act 1988 Sch 22 (as amended): see the text and notes 6-42 infra.

6 Ibid Sch 22 para 1(2). Where a self-administered scheme or an insured scheme does not fulfil the conditions of the Pension Scheme Surpluses (Valuation) Regulations 1987, SI 1987/412, reg 3 (as amended) (see note 4 supra) and the administrator intends to make a payment to an employer out of funds held for the purposes of a scheme which is or has at any time been an exempt approved scheme, then unless such a scheme is being wound up and not replaced, (1) the Income and Corporation Taxes Act 1988 Sch 22 para 2(2) applies for the purposes of a valuation of assets and liabilities; and (2) where such a valuation shows that the value of the assets exceeds the value of the liabilities, Sch 22 paras 4, 5(1), (2), 7 and the Pension Scheme Surpluses (Valuation) Regulations 1987, SI 1987/412 (as amended) apply to the scheme: reg 12.

7 For the meaning of 'administrator' see PARA 747 note 3 ante.

8 For the prescribed circumstances and time see the Pension Scheme Surpluses (Valuation) Regulations 1987, SI 1987/412, reg 9.

9 Income and Corporation Taxes Act 1988 Sch 22 para 2(1)-(3). As to the principles and requirements in accordance with which valuations of assets and liabilities of a scheme are to be determined see the Pension Scheme Surpluses (Valuation) Regulations 1987, SI 1987/412, regs 4-8 (as amended: see note 2 supra). The prescribed maximum is 5%: see the Pension Scheme Surpluses (Valuation) Regulations 1987, SI 1987/412, reg 10(4) (amended by SI 1989/2290).

If the scheme is a non-trust scheme<sup>12</sup>, then if head (2) or head (3) above applies and at the time in question there is at least one scheme sponsor<sup>13</sup> who can be traced, who is resident in the United Kingdom, and who is not in default, the scheme sponsor or scheme sponsors is or are at that time responsible for the discharge of all duties imposed<sup>14</sup> on the administrator (whenever arising) and liable for any tax due from the administrator in the administrator's capacity as such (whenever falling due)<sup>15</sup>. If, however, head (1) above applies, or if head (2) or head (3) above applies and at the time in question there is no scheme sponsor who fulfills these conditions, the employer is at that time so responsible and liable<sup>16</sup>; and this applies to a person in his capacity as the employer even if he is also the administrator of the scheme, or a scheme sponsor<sup>17</sup>.

Where by virtue of these provisions a person becomes responsible for the discharge of any duties, or liable for any tax, the Board must, as soon as is reasonably practicable, notify him of that fact; but any failure to give such notification does not affect that person's being so responsible or liable<sup>18</sup>.

Where at any time head (2) or head (3) above applies in relation to a scheme, and a person is by virtue of these default provisions responsible for the discharge of any duties, or liable for any tax, in relation to the scheme, then at that time the person or persons mentioned in that head is not, by reason only of being the administrator of the scheme, responsible for the discharge of those duties or liable for that tax<sup>19</sup>.

No liability incurred<sup>20</sup> by the administrator of a scheme, or by a person by virtue of these provisions, is affected by the termination of a scheme or by its ceasing to be an approved scheme<sup>21</sup> or to be an exempt approved scheme<sup>22</sup>.

These provisions do not apply for the purposes of the relevant legislation<sup>23</sup> relating to pension fund surpluses<sup>24</sup>.

(3) EQUALITY

(i) European Community Law

771. The principle of equal treatment.

Article 119 of the EC Treaty<sup>1</sup> requires each member state to ensure and maintain the application of the principle that men and women should receive equal pay for equal work<sup>2</sup>. For these purposes, 'pay' means the ordinary basic or minimum wage or salary and any other consideration, whether in cash or in kind, which the worker receives, directly or indirectly, in respect of his employment from his employer<sup>3</sup>. Equal pay without discrimination based on sex means (1) that pay for the same work at piece rates is calculated on the basis of the same unit of measurement; and (2) that pay for work at time rates is the same for the same job<sup>4</sup>.

An individual can rely directly on this principle in a domestic court, in circumstances in which discrimination is identifiable solely by reference to the criterion of equal pay and equal work, without national or European Community measures being required to define them with greater precision in order to permit their application<sup>5</sup>.

In addition, the EC Council Directive on the implementation of the principle of equal treatment for men and women in occupational social security schemes<sup>6</sup> similarly provides for the principle of equal treatment within that specified field, as implying that there must be no discrimination on the basis of sex, either directly or indirectly, by reference in particular to marital or family status<sup>7</sup> for, inter alia, the fixing of different retirement ages<sup>8</sup> and the setting of different levels of benefit, except in so far as may be necessary to take account of actuarial calculation factors which differ according to sex<sup>9</sup>. This directive required member states to take all necessary steps to ensure that the provisions of occupational schemes contrary to the principle of equal treatment were revised by 1 January 1993<sup>10</sup>. This directive cannot, however, prevent a person from relying upon Article 119 of the EC Treaty directly and immediately before the national courts<sup>11</sup>.

EC Council Directive 86/378 (OJ L225, 12.8.86, p 40) applies to occupational schemes which provide protection against old age, including early retirement: see art 4. 'Occupational social security schemes' means schemes, not governed by EC Council Directive 79/7 (OJ L6, 10.1.79, p 24) (as to which see PARA 452 et seq ante), whose purpose is to provide workers, whether employees or self-employed, in an undertaking or group of undertakings, area of economic activity, occupational sector or group of sectors, with benefits intended to supplement the benefits provided by statutory social security schemes or to replace them, whether membership of such schemes is compulsory or optional: EC Council Directive 86/378 (OJ L225, 12.8.86, p 40) art 2(1) (substituted by EC Council Directive 96/97 (OJ L46, 17.2.97, p 20)).

741-873 Occupational Pension Schemes

A new type of pension scheme, known as the stakeholder pension scheme, has been established: see the Welfare Reform and Pensions Act Pt I (ss 1-8); and PARA 873A.

The Income Tax (Earnings and Pensions) Act 2003 ss 580-608, 623-628 (which replaced those parts of the Income and Corporation Taxes Act 1988 and subsequent legislation dealing with approved retirement benefits schemes, former approved superannuation funds, approved personal pension schemes, and retirement annuity contracts) are repealed: Finance Act 2004 Sch 31 paras 7, 10, Sch 42 Pt 3. The 2004 Act introduces the concept of registered pension schemes: see Pt 4 (ss 149-284); and PARA 873B.

The Pensions Act 2008 Pt 1 Ch 5 (ss 67-78) makes provision for the establishment of a trust-based occupational pension scheme and for a trustee corporation; see para 873D.

771 The principle of equal treatment

TEXT AND NOTES--EC Council Directive 86/378 repealed (from 15 August 2009) and replaced (member state implementation measures to be in place by 15 August 2008) by European Parliament and EC Council Directive 2006/54 (OJ L204 26.7.2006 p 23) on the implementation of the principle of equal treatment of men and women in matters of employment and occupation. The new directive also repeals three other equal treatment directives (75/117: equal pay; 76/207: equal treatment; 97/80: burden of proof in sex discrimination cases). It brings together in one text the main provisions of all four repealed directives and certain developments arising out of ECJ case law.

NOTE 4--A woman on maternity leave is in a special position such that, for the purposes of the EC Treaty art 119, her pay cannot be compared to that of other employees, male or female, absent from work for other reasons: Edwards v Derby CC [1999] ICR 114, EAT.

772. Pension schemes to which the principle of equal treatment applies.

The principle of equal treatment<sup>1</sup> applies to a private occupational pension scheme which results from an agreement between employees and employer or by a unilateral decision of the employer, which is a scheme governed by its own rules, and for which membership is not compulsory<sup>2</sup>. The principle applies not only to contracted-out occupational schemes but also to non-contracted-out schemes and there is no need to distinguish according to whether the contributions to the scheme are from the employer or the employees<sup>3</sup>.

In the event of the transfer of pension rights from one occupational scheme to another owing to a person's change of job, the second scheme is obliged, on the person reaching retirement age, to increase the benefits it undertook to pay him when accepting the transfer, so as to eliminate the effects contrary to the principle of equal pay suffered by him in consequence of the inadequacy of the capital transferred, this being due in turn to the discriminatory treatment suffered under the first scheme, and it must do so in relation to benefits payable in respect of periods of service subsequent to 17 May 1990<sup>4</sup>.

1    le the principle contained in the EC Treaty art 119: see PARA 771 ante.

The direct effect<sup>1</sup> of the principle of equal treatment<sup>2</sup> may be relied upon by both employees and their dependants against both the employer and the trustees of an occupational pension scheme<sup>3</sup>, who are bound, in the exercise of their powers and the performance of their obligations as laid down in the trust deed, to observe the principle of equal treatment<sup>4</sup>. The administrators of an occupational pension scheme must, like the employer, comply with the provisions and a person who is discriminated against may assert his rights directly against those administrators<sup>5</sup>.

775. Exclusions from the principle of equal treatment.

The use of actuarial factors varying according to sex in funded defined benefit occupational pension schemes<sup>1</sup> does not fall within the scope of the principle of equal treatment<sup>2</sup>; nor do inequalities in the amounts of the capital benefits or substitute benefits whose value can be determined only on the basis of the arrangements chosen for funding the scheme<sup>3</sup>. In addition, where an occupational pension scheme does no more than provide the membership with the necessary arrangements for management, additional benefits stemming from contributions paid by employees on a purely voluntary basis are not covered<sup>4</sup>. The principle of equal treatment is not applicable to schemes which have at all times had members of only one sex<sup>5</sup>. It is not contrary to the principle of equal treatment, when calculating the amount of bridging pensions paid by an employer to male or female employees who have taken early retirement on the grounds of ill health and which are intended to compensate, in particular, for loss of income resulting from the fact those persons have not yet reached the age required for payment of a state pension, to take account of the amount of state pension which they will subsequently receive and reduce the bridging pension accordingly<sup>6</sup>.

The trustees of an occupational pension scheme<sup>1</sup> are bound to observe the principle of equal treatment<sup>2</sup>, in the exercise of their powers and the performance of their obligations as laid down in the trust deed<sup>3</sup>. In so far as national law prohibits employers and trustees from acting beyond the scope of their respective powers or in disregard of the provisions of the trust deed, they are bound to use all the means available under domestic law, such as recourse to the national courts, in order to eliminate all discrimination in the matter of pay<sup>4</sup>. A new type of pension scheme, known as the stakeholder pension scheme, has been established: see the Welfare Reform and Pensions Act Pt I (ss 1-8); and PARA 873A.

The Income Tax (Earnings and Pensions) Act 2003 ss 580-608, 623-628 (which replaced those parts of the Income and Corporation Taxes Act 1988 and subsequent legislation dealing with approved retirement benefits schemes, former approved superannuation funds, approved personal pension schemes, and retirement annuity contracts) are repealed: Finance Act 2004 Sch 31 paras 7, 10, Sch 42 Pt 3. The 2004 Act introduces the concept of registered pension schemes: see Pt 4 (ss 149-284); and PARA 873B.

The Pensions Act 2008 Pt 1 Ch 5 (ss 67-78) makes provision for the establishment of a trust-based occupational pension scheme and for a trustee corporation; see para 873D.

777. Scheme membership.

The principle of equal treatment<sup>1</sup> applies to the right to join an occupational pension scheme<sup>2</sup>. The exclusion of part-time employees from an occupational pension scheme where the majority of employees excluded are women infringes the principle of equal treatment unless the employer can show that the policy was based on objectively justified factors unrelated to any discrimination on the ground of sex<sup>3</sup>.

The fact that a person can claim retrospectively to join an occupational pension scheme does not allow him to avoid paying the contributions relating to the period of membership concerned and previous limitations on the effects in time<sup>4</sup> do not apply to the right to join a scheme<sup>5</sup>.

778. Implementation of the principle of equal treatment.

In relation to periods of service completed after a court's finding of discrimination but before the entry into force of the measures designed to eliminate it, correct implementation of the principle of equal treatment<sup>1</sup> requires that the disadvantaged employees should be granted the same advantages as those previously enjoyed by the other employees. However, as regards periods of service subsequent to the entry into force of those measures, the equal pay principle does not preclude equal treatment from being achieved by reducing the advantages which the advantaged employees used to enjoy<sup>2</sup>. The national court is bound to ensure correct implementation of the equal treatment principle, taking due account of the respective liabilities of the employers and trustees under the rules of domestic law<sup>3</sup>. Any problems arising because the funds held by the trustees are insufficient to equalise benefits must be resolved on the basis of national law, in the light of the equal treatment principle<sup>4</sup>. The step of raising the retirement age for women to that for men which an employer decides to take in order to remove discrimination in relation to occupational pensions as regards benefits payable in respect of future periods of service cannot be accompanied by measures, even if only transitional, designed to limit the adverse consequences which such a step may have for women<sup>5</sup>. The principle of equal treatment precludes an occupational scheme relying on its own difficulties, or on those of the undertaking concerned, from retrospectively raising the retirement age for women in relation to periods of service completed between 17 May 1990 and the date of entry into force of the measures by which equality is achieved in the scheme in question<sup>6</sup>. It also does not allow a situation of equality to be achieved otherwise than by applying to male employees the same arrangements enjoyed by female employees<sup>7</sup>.

Halsbury's Laws of England/SOCIAL SECURITY AND PENSIONS (VOLUME 44(2) (REISSUE))/18. OCCUPATIONAL PENSION SCHEMES/ (3) EQUALITY/ (ii) Domestic Law/782. The equal treatment rule.

(ii) Domestic Law

782. The equal treatment rule.

An occupational pension scheme<sup>1</sup> which does not contain an equal treatment rule must be treated as including one<sup>2</sup>. An equal treatment rule<sup>3</sup> is a rule which relates to the terms on which (1) persons become members<sup>4</sup> of the scheme; and (2) members of the scheme are treated<sup>5</sup>. An equal treatment rule has the effect that where:

- 1821 (a) a woman is employed on like work with a man in the same employment<sup>6</sup>;
- 1822 (b) a woman is employed on work rated as equivalent with that of a man in the same employment; or
- 1823 (c) a woman is employed on work which, not being work in relation to which head (a) or head (b) above applies, is, in terms of the demands made on her (for instance under such headings as effort, skill and decision) of equal value to that of a man in the same employment;

but (apart from the rule) any of the terms so referred to is or becomes less favourable to the woman than it is to the man, the term must be treated as so modified<sup>7</sup> as not to be less favourable<sup>8</sup>.

1 For the meaning of 'occupational pension scheme' see PARA 741 ante.

2 Pensions Act 1995 s 62(1).

3 An equal treatment rule has effect subject to the Social Security Act 1989 s 23, Sch 5 paras 5, 6 (Sch 5 para 5 amended by the Social Security Act 1990 s 21(1), Sch 6 para 29) (employment-related benefit schemes: maternity and family leave provisions): Pensions Act 1995 s 63(3). The Social Security Act 1989 Sch 5 paras 1-3 impose general requirements on employment-related benefit schemes to comply with the principle of equal treatment; Sch 5 para 8 extends the voluntary membership principle in the Pension Schemes Act 1993 s 160(1) (see PARA 559 ante) to self-employed earners; and the Social Security Act 1989 Sch 5 para 9 confers jurisdiction on the High Court or a county court to determine any question arising as to whether any provision of an employment-related benefit scheme does or does not comply with the principle of equal treatment or, whether, and with what effect, any such provision is overridden by the statutory provision for compulsory levelling up in the case of non-compliance. 'Employment-related benefit scheme' means any scheme or arrangement which is comprised in one or more instruments or agreements and which has, or is capable of having, effect in relation to one or more descriptions or categories of employments so as to provide service-related benefits to or in respect of employed or self-employed earners (1) who have qualifying service in an employment of any such description or category; or (2) who have made arrangements with the trustees or managers of the scheme to enable them to become members of the scheme, but does not include a limited scheme; and 'limited scheme' means (a) any personal scheme for employed earners to which the employer does not contribute; (b) any scheme which has only one member, other than a personal scheme for an employed earner to which his employer contributes; (c) any contract of insurance which is made for the benefit of employed earners only and to which the employer is not a party: Sch 5 para 7(a), (b). 'Service-related benefits' means benefits, in the form of pensions or otherwise, payable in money or money's worth in respect of termination of service, retirement, old age or death, interruptions of service by means of sickness or invalidity, accidents, injuries or diseases connected with employment, unemployment or expenses incurred in connection with children or other dependants, and includes, in the case of a member who is an employed earner, any other benefit so payable to or in respect of the member in consequence of his employment: Sch 5 para 7(e). The provisions of Sch 5 (as amended) were not in force at the date at which this volume states the law, except in order to give effect to Sch 5 paras 5, 6 (as amended): see the Social Security Act 1989 (Commencement No 5) Order 1994, SI 1994/1661. For the meaning of 'employed earner' and 'self-employed earner' see PARA 32 ante.

4 For the meaning of 'member' see PARA 612 note 5 ante.

5 Pensions Act 1995 ss 62(2), 124(1). The reference in s 62(2) to the terms on which members of a scheme are treated includes those terms as they have effect for the benefit of dependants of members: see s 63(1). Where the effect of any of the terms referred to in s 62(2) on persons of the same sex differs according to their family or marital status, the effect of the term is to be compared for the purposes of s 62 with its effect on persons of the other sex who have the same status: s 63(2).

In so far as it relates to the terms on which members of a scheme are treated, s 62 is to be treated as having had effect in relation to any pensionable service on or after 17 May 1990: s 63(6). See also Case C-262/88 Barber v Guardian Royal Exchange Assurance Group [1990] ECR I-1889, [1990] 2 CMLR 513, ECJ. 'Pensionable service', in relation to a member of an occupational pension scheme, means service in any description or category of employment to which the scheme relates which qualifies the member, on the assumption that it continues for the appropriate period, for pension or other benefits under the scheme; and in determining what is pensionable service for these purposes, service notionally attributable for any purposes of the scheme is to be disregarded and no account is to be taken of any rules of the scheme by which a period of service can be treated for any purpose as being longer or shorter than it actually is: Pensions Act 1995 s 124(1), (3).

The effect on terms of employment and the procedural rules which apply to equal treatment claims are similar to claims under the Equal Pay Act 1970, with appropriate modifications: see the Pensions Act 1995 s 66.

6 For the meaning of 'employment' and 'employed' see PARA 560 note 5 ante (definition applied by ibid s 124(5)).

7 For the meaning of 'modifications' see PARA 664 note 10 ante (definition as applied: see note 6 supra).

8 Pensions Act 1995 s 62(3). This provision is subject to s 62(6) (see PARA 783 note 4 post): see s 62(3). Section 62 must be construed as one with the Equal Pay Act 1970 s 1 (as amended) (requirement of equal treatment for men and women in the same employment); and ss 2, 2A (as amended and added) (disputes and enforcement) have effect for the purposes of the Pensions Act 1995 s 62 with appropriate modifications: see s 63(4). Regulations may make provision for the Equal Pay Act 1970 to have effect, in relation to an equal treatment rule, with prescribed modifications; and the Pensions Act 1995 s 63(4) has effect subject to any such regulations made: see s 63(5). As to the exercise of this power see the Occupational Pension Schemes (Equal Treatment) Regulations 1995, SI 1995/3183; and PARA 784 post.

783. The genuine material factor defence.

An equal treatment rule<sup>1</sup> does not operate in relation to any difference as between a woman and a man in the operation of any of the terms on which persons become members of an occupational pension scheme and on which members of the scheme are treated<sup>2</sup>, if the trustees or managers<sup>3</sup> of the scheme prove that the difference is genuinely due to a material factor which is not the difference of sex, but is a material difference between the woman's case and the man's case<sup>4</sup>.

2 I.e. the terms referred to in the Pensions Act 1995 s 62(2): see PARA 782 ante.

3 For the meaning of 'trustees or managers' see PARA 612 note 10 ante.

4 Pensions Act 1995 s 62(4). References in s 62(4) and ss 63-65 to the terms referred to in s 62(2), or the effect of any of those terms, include (1) a term which confers on the trustees or managers of an occupational pension scheme, or any other person, a discretion which, in a case within s 62(3)(a)-(c) (see PARA 782 ante) may be exercised so as to affect the way in which persons become members of the scheme, or members of the scheme are treated, and may (apart from the equal treatment rule) be so exercised in a way less favourable to the woman than to the man; and (2) the effect of any exercise of such a discretion; and references to the terms on which members of the scheme are treated are to be read accordingly: s 62(5). In the case of a term within head (1) supra, the effect of an equal treatment rule is that the term must be treated as so modified as not to permit the discretion to be exercised in a way less favourable to the woman than to the man: s 62(6). For the meaning of 'member' see PARA 612 note 5 ante.

785A. Treatment of overseas residents.

The following provisions apply where an occupational pension scheme contains provisions contravening the two rules set out below<sup>1</sup>. Except so far as regulations otherwise provide, provisions of an occupational pension scheme contravene the first rule to the extent that they would (apart from these provisions) have an effect with respect to (1) the entitlement of any person to benefits under the scheme; or (2) the payment to any person of benefits under the scheme, which would be different according to whether or not a place outside the United Kingdom is specified by that person as the place to which he requires payments of benefits under the scheme to be made to him<sup>2</sup>. Except so far as regulations otherwise provide, provisions of an occupational pension scheme contravene the second rule to the extent that they would (apart from these provisions) have an effect with respect to (a) the entitlement of any person to remain a member of the scheme; (b) the eligibility of any person to remain a person by or in respect of whom contributions are made towards or under the scheme; or (c) the making by or in respect of any person who is a member of the scheme of any contributions towards or under the scheme, which would be different according to whether that person works wholly in the United Kingdom or wholly or partly outside the United Kingdom<sup>3</sup>. Provisions contravening the first rule have effect, in relation to all times after a specified date<sup>4</sup>, as if they made the same provision in relation to a person who requires payments of benefits to be made to a place outside the United Kingdom as they make in relation to a person in whose case all payments of benefits fall to be made to a place in the United Kingdom<sup>5</sup>. Provisions contravening the second rule have effect, in relation to all times after that date, as if they made the same provision in relation to persons working wholly or partly outside the United Kingdom as they make in relation to persons working wholly in the United Kingdom<sup>6</sup>. The above provisions are without prejudice to any enactment under which any amount is to be or may be deducted, or treated as deducted, from amounts payable by way of benefits under the scheme or treated as so payable; and do not apply in relation to so much of any provision of a scheme as is required for securing compliance with the conditions of any registration, exemption or relief given or available under the Tax Acts<sup>7</sup>.

787. Trustee not to be auditor or actuary of the scheme.

A trustee of a trust scheme<sup>1</sup>, and any person who is connected with, or an associate of, such a trustee, is ineligible to act as an auditor or actuary<sup>2</sup> of the scheme<sup>3</sup>. A person who is a director, partner or employee<sup>4</sup> of a firm<sup>5</sup> of actuaries is not, however, ineligible to act as an actuary of a trust scheme merely because another director, partner or employee of the firm is a trustee of the scheme<sup>6</sup>; nor is a person who falls within a prescribed<sup>7</sup> class or description ineligible to act as an auditor or actuary of a trust scheme<sup>8</sup>.

A person must not act as an auditor or actuary of a trust scheme if he is ineligible to do so<sup>9</sup> and any person who so acts while ineligible to do so is guilty of an offence and liable on summary conviction to a fine not exceeding the statutory maximum<sup>10</sup>, and on conviction on indictment to imprisonment or a fine, or to both<sup>11</sup>. Such an offence may be charged by reference to any day or longer period of time; and a person may be convicted of a second or subsequent offence by reference to any period of time following the preceding conviction of the offence<sup>12</sup>.

Acts done as an auditor or actuary of a trust scheme by a person who is ineligible to do so are not invalid merely because of that fact<sup>13</sup>.

Where a trustee of a trust scheme acts as auditor or actuary of the scheme, or a person acts as auditor or actuary of a trust scheme when he is ineligible to do so by reason of being connected with, or an associate of, a trustee of the scheme, the provisions relating to prohibition orders<sup>14</sup> apply to the trustee<sup>15</sup>.

1 For the meaning of 'trust scheme' see PARA 604 note 2 ante.

2 For every occupational pension scheme there must be (1) an individual, or a firm (see note 5 infra), appointed by the trustees or managers as auditor ('the auditor'); and (2) an individual appointed by the trustees or managers as actuary ('the actuary'): Pensions Act 1995 s 47(1). For the meaning of 'occupational pension scheme' see PARA 741 ante (definition applied by s 176). See also PARA 598 note 7 ante.

3 Ibid s 27(1).

4 For the meaning of 'employee' see PARA 598 note 5 ante.

5 'Firm' means a body corporate or a partnership: Pensions Act 1995 s 124(1).

6 Ibid s 27(2). References to a trustee of a trust scheme do not include a trustee, or a trustee of a scheme, falling within a prescribed class or description: s 27(5). For these purposes, the prescribed class or description is any pensioner trustee: Occupational Pension Schemes (Scheme Administration) Regulations 1996, SI 1996/1715, reg 8. For the meaning of 'pensioner trustee' [sic] see PARA 751 note 24 ante (definition applied by reg 1(2)).

7 For the meaning of 'prescribed' see PARA 555 note 1 ante.

8 Pensions Act 1995 s 27(3). The prescribed class or description for these purposes is (1) any person who is a director, partner or employee of a firm which provides, amongst other services, actuarial services and who would be ineligible under s 27(1) to be the actuary merely because another director, partner or employee of that firm is a trustee of the scheme; (2) any person who is a director, partner or employee of a firm which provides, amongst other services, actuarial services and who is not a director of the company which is a trustee of the scheme, and who would be ineligible under s 27(1) to be the actuary merely because he is an associate of the company which is the trustee of the scheme by virtue of the Insolvency Act 1986 s 435(4), (6), (7); (3) any person who would be ineligible under the Pensions Act 1995 s 27(1) to act as the auditor or the actuary merely because he falls within the description of associate as specified in the Insolvency Act 1986 s 435(3): Occupational Pension Schemes (Scheme Administration) Regulations 1996, SI 1996/1715, reg 7.

Halsbury's Laws of England/SOCIAL SECURITY AND PENSIONS (VOLUME 44(2) (REISSUE))/18. OCCUPATIONAL PENSION SCHEMES/ (4) PENSION FUND TRUSTEES/(i) In general/788. Persons disqualified for being trustees.

788. Persons disqualified for being trustees.

Subject to certain exceptions<sup>1</sup>, a person is disqualified for being a trustee of any trust scheme<sup>2</sup>:

- 1826 (1) if he has been convicted of any offence involving dishonesty or deception<sup>3</sup>;
- 1827 (2) if he has been adjudged bankrupt or sequestration of his estate has been awarded and (in either case) he has not been discharged<sup>4</sup>;
- 1828 (3) where the person is a company, if any director of the company is disqualified under these provisions<sup>5</sup>;
- 1829 (4) where the person is a Scottish partnership<sup>6</sup>, if any partner is disqualified under these provisions<sup>7</sup>;
- 1830 (5) if he has made a composition contract or an arrangement with, or granted a trust deed for the behoof of, his creditors and has not been discharged in respect of it<sup>8</sup>; or
- 1831 (6) if he is subject to a disqualification order under the Company Directors Disqualification Act 1986<sup>9</sup> or to an order made under specified provisions of the Insolvency Act 1986<sup>10</sup>.

Where a person:

- 1832 (a) is prohibited from being a trustee of a trust scheme by a prohibition order<sup>11</sup>; or
- 1833 (b) has been removed as a trustee of a trust scheme by an order<sup>12</sup> made by the High Court or the Court of Session on the grounds of misconduct or mismanagement in the administration of the scheme for which he was responsible or to which he was privy, or which he by his conduct contributed to or facilitated, the Occupational Pensions Regulatory Authority<sup>13</sup> may, if in its opinion it is not desirable for him to be a trustee of any trust scheme, by order disqualify him for being a trustee of any trust scheme<sup>14</sup>.

The authority may by order disqualify a person for being a trustee of any trust scheme where in its opinion he is incapable of acting as such a trustee by reason of mental disorder<sup>15</sup> or where the person is a company which has gone into liquidation<sup>16</sup>. The authority may:

- 1834 (i) on the application of any person disqualified, give notice in writing to him waiving his disqualification<sup>17</sup>;
- 1835 (ii) in the case of a person disqualified by an order of the authority under the above provisions, revoke the order disqualifying him by a subsequent order<sup>18</sup>, either generally or in relation to a particular scheme or particular class of schemes<sup>19</sup>. Such a notice given or revocation made at any time does not affect anything done before that time<sup>20</sup>.

A trustee of a trust scheme who becomes so disqualified must, while he is so disqualified, cease to be a trustee<sup>21</sup>. Where a trustee of a trust scheme becomes so disqualified, or in the case of a trustee of a trust scheme who has become so disqualified, his disqualification is waived or the order disqualifying him is revoked or he otherwise ceases to be disqualified, the authority may exercise the same jurisdiction and powers as are exercisable by the High Court or, in relation to a trust scheme subject to the law of Scotland, the Court of Session for vesting any property in, or transferring any property to, the trustees<sup>22</sup>.

A person who purports to act as a trustee of a trust scheme while he is so disqualified is guilty of an offence and liable on summary conviction to a fine not exceeding the statutory maximum<sup>23</sup>, and on conviction on indictment to a fine or imprisonment, or to both<sup>24</sup>. Such an offence may be charged by reference to any day or longer period of time; and a person may be convicted of a second or subsequent offence by reference to any period of time following the preceding conviction of the offence<sup>25</sup>.

Things done by a person so disqualified while purporting to act as trustee of a trust scheme are not invalid merely because of that disqualification<sup>26</sup>; and nothing in these provisions affects the liability of any person for things done, or omitted to be done, by him while purporting to act as trustee of a trust scheme<sup>27</sup>.

The authority must keep, in such manner as it thinks fit, a register of all persons who are so disqualified; and the authority must, if requested to do so, disclose whether the name of a person specified in the request is included in the register in respect of a scheme so specified<sup>28</sup>.

789 Trustees not to be indemnified for fines or civil penalties

See Pensions Act 2004 s 256 (no indemnification for fines or civil penalties).

No amount may be paid out of the assets of an occupational or personal pension scheme for the purpose of reimbursing, or providing for the reimbursement of, any trustee or manager<sup>1</sup> of the scheme in respect of (1) a fine imposed by way of penalty for an offence of which he is convicted, or (2) a penalty which he is required to pay<sup>2</sup>. For these purposes<sup>3</sup>, providing for the reimbursement of a trustee or manager in respect of a fine or penalty includes (among other things) providing for the payment of premiums in respect of a policy of insurance where the risk is or includes the imposition of such a fine or the requirement to pay such a penalty<sup>4</sup>. Where any amount is paid out of the assets of an occupational or personal pension scheme in contravention<sup>5</sup> of these provisions, the civil penalty provisions in the Pensions Act 1995<sup>6</sup> apply to any trustee or manager who fails to take all reasonable steps to secure compliance<sup>7</sup>. Where a trustee or manager of an occupational or personal pension scheme (a) is reimbursed, out of the assets of the scheme or in consequence of provision for his reimbursement made out of those assets, in respect of any of the matters mentioned in head (1) or (2) above, and (b) knows, or has reasonable grounds to believe, that he has been reimbursed as mentioned in head (a) above, then, unless he has taken all reasonable steps to secure that he is not so reimbursed, he is guilty of an offence<sup>8</sup>.

A person guilty of an offence under s 256(4) is liable (1) on summary conviction, to a fine not exceeding the statutory maximum, and (2) on conviction on indictment, to imprisonment for a term not exceeding two years, or a fine, or both: s 256(5). ### 790. Decisions of pension fund trustees to be taken by majority.

Decisions of the trustees of a trust scheme<sup>1</sup> may, unless the scheme provides otherwise, be taken by agreement of a majority of the trustees<sup>2</sup>. Where decisions of the trustees of a trust scheme may be taken by agreement of a majority of the trustees:

- 1836 (1) the trustees may, unless the scheme provides otherwise, by a determination require not less than the number of trustees specified in the determination to be present when any decision is so taken<sup>3</sup>; and
- 1837 (2) notice of any occasions at which decisions may be so taken must, unless the occasion falls within a prescribed<sup>4</sup> class or description, be given to each trustee to whom it is reasonably practicable to give such notice<sup>5</sup>.

Notice under head (2) above must be given in a prescribed manner and not later than the beginning of a prescribed period<sup>6</sup>. If the notice requirements are not complied with, the provisions in relation to prohibition orders<sup>7</sup> and civil penalties<sup>8</sup> apply to any trustee who has failed to take all such steps as are reasonable to secure compliance<sup>9</sup>.

6 Pensions Act 1995 s 32(3). The prescribed manner and period are that the notice of the occasion must, unless the trustees agree otherwise, specify the date, time and place of the occasion and be sent to the last known address of each trustee no later than ten business days before the occasion: Occupational Pension Schemes (Scheme Administration) Regulations 1996, SI 1996/1715, reg 10.

(ii) Member-nominated Trustees and Directors

791. Requirement for member-nominated trustees.

The trustees of a trust scheme<sup>1</sup> must, subject to certain exceptions<sup>2</sup>, secure that such arrangements for persons selected by members<sup>3</sup> of the scheme to be trustees<sup>4</sup> of the scheme as are required are made<sup>5</sup>, and that those arrangements, and the appropriate rules, are implemented<sup>6</sup>. The arrangements must provide for any person who has been nominated and selected in accordance with the appropriate rules to become a trustee by virtue of his selection<sup>7</sup>, and for the removal of such a person to require the agreement of all the other trustees<sup>8</sup>. Where a vacancy for a member-nominated trustee is not filled because insufficient nominations are received, the arrangements must provide for the filling of the vacancy, or for the vacancy to remain, until the expiry of the next period in which persons may be nominated and selected in accordance with the appropriate rules<sup>9</sup>.

The arrangements must provide:

- 1838 (1) for the selection of a person as a member-nominated trustee to have effect for a period of not less than three nor more than six years<sup>10</sup>;
- 1839 (2) for the number of member-nominated trustees to be at least two or (if the scheme comprises less than 100 members) at least one, and at least one-third of the total number of trustees<sup>11</sup>;
- 1840 (3) that, if a member-nominated trustee who was a member of the scheme when he was appointed ceases to be a member of the scheme, he ceases to be a trustee by virtue of that fact<sup>12</sup>.

The arrangements must not provide for the functions of member-nominated trustees to differ from those of any other trustee<sup>13</sup>.

These statutory requirements for member-nominated trustees do not apply to a trust scheme if:

- 1841 (a) a proposal has been made by the employer for the continuation of existing arrangements, or the adoption of new arrangements, for selecting the trustees of the scheme<sup>14</sup>;
- 1842 (b) the arrangements referred to in the proposal are for the time being approved under the statutory consultation procedure<sup>15</sup>; and
- 1843 (c) such other requirements as may be prescribed are satisfied<sup>16</sup>.

Nor do they apply to a trust scheme if the trustees of the scheme consist of all the members, or it falls within a prescribed class<sup>17</sup>. Where the statutory requirements do not apply to a trust scheme, and the employer's proposal was for the adoption of new arrangements which, in consequence of head (b) above, are adopted, the trustees must secure that the proposed arrangements are made and implemented<sup>18</sup>.

The provisions relating to civil penalties<sup>19</sup> apply to any employer who makes such a proposal as is referred to in head (a) above, but fails to give effect to the statutory consultation procedure<sup>20</sup>.

Where a trust scheme to which the statutory requirements for member-nominated trustees apply provides for a maximum total number of trustees (or a maximum which applies in certain circumstances), the trustees may by resolution modify the scheme with a view to increasing that maximum by not more than the number of member-nominated trustees for which provision must be made<sup>21</sup> on the assumption that the total number of trustees is increased in accordance with the resolution<sup>22</sup>.

Subject to any provision of a trust scheme, the fact that the requirement for member-nominated trustees has ceased to apply to the scheme does not terminate the trusteeship of any member-nominated trustee of the scheme but, if he is a member of the scheme, he ceases to be a trustee if he ceases to be a member<sup>23</sup>.

1 For the meaning of 'trust scheme' see PARA 604 note 2 ante.

2 I.e. the exceptions contained in the Pensions Act 1995 s 17: see the text and notes 14-20 infra.

3 For the meaning of 'member' see PARA 612 note 5 ante.

4 Persons who become trustees under such arrangements are referred to in the Pensions Act 1995 Pt I (ss 1-25) as 'member-nominated trustees': s 16(2).

5 Ibid s 16(1)(a).

6 Ibid s 16(1)(b). As to implementation of the general requirements as to member-nominated trustees see the Occupational Pension Schemes (Member-nominated Trustees and Directors) Regulations 1996, SI 1996/1216, reg 7.

For the purposes of the Pensions Act 1995 ss 16-21, the appropriate rules are rules which make the provision required or authorised by s 20 and no other provision and are for the time being approved under the statutory consultation procedure or, if no rules are for the time being so approved, are prescribed rules; and the arrangements required by s 16 or s 18 (see PARA 792 post) to be made must not make any provision which is required or authorised to be made by the rules: s 20(1). The appropriate rules: (1) must determine the procedure for the nomination and selection of a person to fill a vacancy as a member-nominated trustee; and (2) may determine, or provide for the determination of, the conditions required of a person for filling such a vacancy: s 20(2). They must provide for a member-nominated trustee to be eligible for re-selection at the end of his period of service: s 20(3). Where a vacancy for a member-nominated trustee is not filled because insufficient nominations are received, the appropriate rules must provide for determining the next period in which persons may be nominated and selected in accordance with the rules, being a period ending at a prescribed time: s 20(4). The next period must end at the time when, if there had been sufficient nominations for a person to be selected by nomination, his selection would have ceased to have effect in accordance with arrangements made under s 16(5) or, as the case may be, s 18(5) (see PARA 792 post): Occupational Pension Schemes (Member-nominated Trustees and Directors) Regulations 1996, SI 1996/1216, reg 21.

The appropriate rules must provide that, where the employer so requires, a person who is not a member of the scheme must have the employer's approval to qualify for selection as a member-nominated trustee: Pensions Act 1995 s 20(5). Where s 18 applies to a trust scheme, references in s 20 to a member-nominated trustee include a member-nominated director: s 20(6). For the meaning of 'trust scheme' see PARA 604 note 2 ante; and for the meaning of 'member-nominated director' see PARA 792 note 6 post.

The trustees of a scheme to which s 16 applies, or to which it would apply apart from the statutory exceptions, may at any time propose appropriate rules in respect of the scheme, and the statutory consultation procedure for such rules is set out in the Occupational Pension Schemes (Member-nominated Trustees and Directors) Regulations 1996, SI 1996/1216, reg 8(2), Sch 1 (as amended), which also sets out the conditions which must be satisfied for the approval of such rules; and for those purposes 'the proposer', in relation to such rules, means the trustees of the scheme: reg 8(1)-(3). The prescribed rules for the purposes of the Pensions Act 1995 s 20(1)(b) (which are the appropriate rules for a scheme to which s 16 applies, if no other rules are for the time being approved) are the rules set out in the Occupational Pension Schemes (Member-nominated Trustees and Directors) Regulations 1996, SI 1996/1216, reg 8(4), Sch 2 Pt I (as amended): reg 8(4).

8 Ibid s 16(3)(b).

9 Ibid s 16(4).

10 Ibid s 16(5).

11 Ibid s 16(6). The arrangements must not, however, provide for a greater number of member-nominated trustees than that required to satisfy that minimum unless the employer has given his approval to the greater number: see s 16(6). In determining at any time after the first scheme year, for the purposes of ss 16-21 in relation to the number of members which a scheme comprises or to the statutory consultation procedure, whether or not a person is a member or whether he is a member of a specified description, a person is treated as becoming or ceasing to be a member or, as the case may be, a member of that description at the beginning of the scheme year following that in which he actually becomes or ceases to be a member or, as the case may be, a member of that description: see the Occupational Pension Schemes (Member-nominated Trustees and Directors) Regulations 1996, SI 1996/1216, reg 3(1) (reg 3 substituted by SI 1997/786). The trustees may determine that the Occupational Pension Schemes (Member-nominated Trustees and Directors) Regulations 1996, SI 1996/1216, reg 3(1) (as so substituted) is not to apply in relation to the scheme at any time on or after the date of the determination: see reg 3(4)(a) (as so substituted). Such a determination may apply as respects all the provisions of the Pensions Act 1995 ss 16-21 or only to provisions specified in the determination, and may be revoked or amended by a further determination: Occupational Pension Schemes (Member-nominated Trustees and Directors) Regulations 1996, SI 1996/1216, reg 3(5) (as so substituted). For these purposes, 'member' in relation to a scheme, does not include any person whose service is only pensionable service by virtue of qualifying him for death benefits, unless by virtue of any other provision of reg 3 (as so substituted) he is at any time treated as a member by virtue of previous membership: reg 3(7) (as so substituted).

12 Pensions Act 1995 s 16(8).

13 Ibid s 16(7). For these purposes, any provision made by an order under s 8(4) (see PARA 609 ante) and s 25(2) (see PARA 795 post) must be disregarded: s 16(7).

14 For these purposes, the arrangements for selecting the trustees of a scheme include all matters relating to the continuation in office of the existing trustees, the selection or appointment of new trustees and the terms of their appointments and any special rules for decisions to be made by particular trustees: ibid s 17(3).

15 'The statutory consultation procedure' means the prescribed procedure for obtaining the views of members of schemes: see ibid s 21(7). Section 17(1) only applies if (1) the employer gives notice in writing to the trustees of the scheme at a permitted notice time that he intends to propose alternative arrangements; and (2) before the expiry of the approval period alternative arrangements are approved and the employer gives notice in writing to the trustees of the scheme of their approval, stating in the notice what those arrangements are and specifying all such matters relating to them as are required to be specified in a notice under the Occupational Pension Schemes (Member-nominated Trustees and Directors) Regulations 1996, SI 1996/1216, Sch 1 para 5(3): reg 9(1). As to the permitted notice time see reg 9(2), (4) (amended by SI 1997/786); and as to the approval period see the Occupational Pension Schemes (Member-nominated Trustees and Directors) Regulations 1996, SI 1996/1216, reg 9(3), (4). For the prescribed procedure for giving notice see reg 21 (amended by SI 1997/786). For the meaning of 'prescribed' see PARA 555 note 1 ante.

The statutory consultation procedure in respect of proposals under the Pensions Act 1995 s 17(1) for the continuation of existing or adoption of new alternative arrangements is set out in the Occupational Pension Schemes (Member-nominated Trustees and Directors) Regulations 1996, SI 1996/1216, Sch 1 (as amended) (which also sets out the conditions which must be satisfied for the approval of such arrangements); and in Sch 1 (as amended) 'the proposer', in relation to such arrangements, means the employer: reg 9(5), (6). Where, by virtue of the Pensions Act 1995 s 17(1), s 16 does not apply to a trust scheme, the trustees must secure that the alternative arrangements are made no later than is necessary to secure that trustees can be selected immediately in pursuance of the arrangements to fill any vacancy arising after the appropriate time: Occupational Pension Schemes (Member-nominated Trustees and Directors) Regulations 1996, SI 1996/1216, reg 10(1). As to the appropriate time see reg 10(2).

17 Ibid s 17(4). Section 16 does not apply to any trust scheme (1) each trustee of which is a company; (2) which is a relevant scheme in relation to a company in respect of which alternative arrangements under s 19(1) (see PARA 792 post) are for the time being approved; (3) which has less than two members; (4) the only benefits provided by which are death benefits; (5) to which s 22 (circumstances for application of requirement for an independent trustee: see PARA 795 post) applies; (6) which is an occupational pension scheme which provides relevant benefits, but is neither an approved scheme nor a relevant statutory scheme; (7) which is a relevant self-administered scheme; (8) which is a relevant approved centralised scheme; (9) which is a direct payment, paid-up insured scheme; (10) which is a former old code scheme (ie an approved scheme which was formerly approved under the Income and Corporation Taxes Act 1970 s 208 (repealed) and in respect of which certain conditions are satisfied: (see the Occupational Pension Schemes (Member-nominated Trustees and Directors) Regulations 1996, SI 1996/1216, reg 2(1)); (11) which is a scheme with such a superannuation fund as is mentioned in the Income and Corporation Taxes Act 1988 s 615(6) (certain overseas pensions); (12) which is made under the Parliamentary and other Pensions Act 1987 s 2 (as amended) (power to provide for pensions for Members of the House of Commons etc: see PARLIAMENT vol 78 (2010) PARA 926); or (13) which has been modified under the Coal Industry Act 1994 Sch 5 (see MINES, MINERALS AND QUARRIES): Occupational Pension Schemes (Member-nominated Trustees and Directors) Regulations 1996, SI 1996/1216, reg 4(1).

UPDATE

741-873 Occupational Pension Schemes

A new type of pension scheme, known as the stakeholder pension scheme, has been established: see the Welfare Reform and Pensions Act Pt I (ss 1-8); and PARA 873A.

The Income Tax (Earnings and Pensions) Act 2003 ss 580-608, 623-628 (which replaced those parts of the Income and Corporation Taxes Act 1988 and subsequent legislation dealing with approved retirement benefits schemes, former approved superannuation funds, approved personal pension schemes, and retirement annuity contracts) are repealed: Finance Act 2004 Sch 31 paras 7, 10, Sch 42 Pt 3. The 2004 Act introduces the concept of registered pension schemes: see Pt 4 (ss 149-284); and PARA 873B.

791-794 Member-nominated Trustees and Directors

Pensions Act 1995 ss 16-21 replaced: see Pensions Act 2004 ss 241-243; and PARA 794A. The Child Support, Pensions and Social Security Act 2000 ss 43-46, which were not commenced, are also repealed: Pensions Act 2004 Sch 13 Pt 1. SI 1996/1216 replaced: Occupational Pension Schemes (Member-nominated Trustees and Directors) Regulations 2006, SI 2006/714 (amended by SI 2007/814, SI 2009/615).

792. Corporate trustees; member-nominated directors.

Where a company is a trustee of a trust scheme<sup>1</sup> and the employer<sup>2</sup> is connected with the company or prescribed<sup>3</sup> conditions are satisfied, the company must, subject to certain exceptions<sup>4</sup>, secure that such arrangements for persons selected by the members<sup>5</sup> of the scheme to be directors<sup>6</sup> of the company as are required by these provisions are made, and that those arrangements, and the appropriate rules<sup>7</sup>, are implemented<sup>8</sup>. The arrangements must provide for any person who has been nominated and selected in accordance with the appropriate rules to become a director by virtue of his selection, and for the removal of such a person to require the agreement of all the other directors<sup>9</sup>.

Where a vacancy for a member-nominated director is not filled because insufficient nominations are received, the arrangements must provide for the filling of the vacancy, or for the vacancy to remain, until the expiry of the next period in which persons may be nominated and selected in accordance with the appropriate rules<sup>10</sup>.

The arrangements must provide:

- 1844 (1) for the selection of a person as a member-nominated director to have effect for a period of not less than three nor more than six years<sup>11</sup>;
- 1845 (2) for the number of member-nominated directors to be at least two or (if the scheme comprises less than 100 members) at least one, and at least one-third of the total number of directors, but must not provide for a greater number of member-nominated directors than that required to satisfy that minimum unless the employer has given his approval to the greater number<sup>12</sup>.

The arrangements must also provide that, if a member-nominated director who was a member of the scheme when he was appointed ceases to be a member of the scheme, he ceases to be a director by virtue of that fact<sup>13</sup>. Where the above provisions apply to a company which is a trustee of two or more trust schemes, and a wholly-owned subsidiary<sup>14</sup> of a company which is the employer in relation to those schemes, the above provisions together with other specified provisions<sup>15</sup> apply as if those schemes were a single scheme and the members of each of the schemes were members of that scheme<sup>16</sup>.

The statutory requirements for member-nominated directors do not apply to a company which is a trustee of a trust scheme if:

- 1846 (a) a proposal has been made by the employer for the continuation of existing arrangements, or the adoption of new arrangements, for selecting the directors of the company<sup>17</sup>;
- 1847 (b) the arrangements referred to in the proposal are for the time being approved under the statutory consultation procedure<sup>18</sup>; and
- 1848 (c) such other requirements as may be prescribed are satisfied<sup>19</sup>.

Nor do they apply to a company which is a trustee of a trust scheme if the scheme falls within a prescribed class<sup>20</sup>. Where those requirements do not apply to a company which is a trustee of a trust scheme, and the employer's proposal was for the adoption of new arrangements which, in consequence of head (b) above, are adopted, the company must secure that the proposed arrangements are made and implemented<sup>21</sup>.

The provisions relating to civil penalties<sup>22</sup> apply to any employer who makes such a proposal as is referred to in head (a) above, but fails to give effect to the statutory consultation procedure<sup>23</sup>.

Subject to any provision made by the articles of association of a company, the fact that the requirement for member-nominated directors has ceased to apply to the company does not terminate the directorship of any member-nominated director of the company but, if he is a member of the scheme, he ceases to be a director if he ceases to be a member<sup>24</sup>.

1 For the meaning of 'trust scheme' see PARA 604 note 2 ante.

2 For the meaning of 'employer' see PARA 598 note 4 ante.

3 For the meaning of 'prescribed' see PARA 555 note 1 ante.

4 Ie the exceptions contained in the Pensions Act 1995 s 19: see the text and notes 17-23 infra.

5 For the meaning of 'member' see PARA 612 note 5 ante.

6 Persons who become directors under such arrangements are referred to in the Pensions Act 1995 Pt I (ss 1-125) as 'member-nominated directors': s 18(2).

7 For the meaning of 'the appropriate rules' see PARA 791 note 6 ante. A company to which ibid s 18 applies or to which it would apply apart from s 19(1) or the Occupational Pension Schemes (Member-nominated Trustees and Directors) Regulations 1996, SI 1996/1216, reg 6 (as amended) may at any time propose appropriate rules in respect of the company; the statutory consultation procedure for such rules is set out in reg 14(2), Sch 1 (as amended) (which also sets out the conditions which must be satisfied for the approval of such rules), and 'the proposer', in relation to such rules, means the company: reg 14(1)-(3). The prescribed rules for the purposes of the Pensions Act 1995 s 20(1)(b) (see PARA 791 note 6 ante) (which are the appropriate rules for a company to which s 18 applies, if no other rules are for the time being approved) are the rules applicable by virtue of the Occupational Pension Schemes (Member-nominated Trustees and Directors) Regulations 1996, SI 1996/1216, reg 14(4), Sch 2 Pt II: reg 14(4).

8 Pensions Act 1995 s 18(1). As to implementation of the general requirements as to member-nominated directors see the Occupational Pension Schemes (Member-nominated Trustees and Directors) Regulations 1996, SI 1996/1216, reg 13 (amended by SI 1997/786). In addition to the case specified in the Pensions Act 1995 s 18(1), s 18 also applies where a company is a trustee of a trust scheme and either it is the sole trustee of the scheme or all the other trustees are companies, unless s 18 is disappplied by s 19 or the Occupational Pension Schemes (Member-nominated Trustees and Directors) Regulations 1996, SI 1996/1216, reg 6 (as amended) (see note 20 infra): reg 5(1).

15 Ie the provisions of the Pensions Act 1995 s 20 (see PARA 791 note 6 ante) and s 21(8) (see PARA 793 post).

16 Ibid s 18(8). Where a company is a trustee of two or more schemes which are treated as a single scheme by virtue of s 18(8), the Occupational Pension Schemes (Member-nominated Trustees and Directors) Regulations 1996, SI 1996/1216 as amended, as they have effect in relation to such a company and such schemes (except regs 4-6) (as amended) apply as if those schemes were a single scheme and the members of each of the schemes were members of that scheme: reg 18.

17 For these purposes, the arrangements for selecting the directors of a company include all matters relating to the continuation in office of the existing directors, the selection or appointment of new directors and the terms of their appointments and any special rules for decisions to be made by particular directors: Pensions Act 1995 s 19(3).

18 The statutory consultation procedure in respect of proposals under ibid s 19(1) for the continuation of existing or adoption of new alternative arrangements is set out in the Occupational Pension Schemes (Member-nominated Trustees and Directors) Regulations 1996, SI 1996/1216, Sch 1 (as amended) (which also sets out the conditions which must be satisfied for the approval of such arrangements); and in Sch 1 (as amended) 'the proposer', in relation to such arrangements, means the employer: reg 15(5), (6). Where, by virtue of the Pensions Act 1995 s 19(1), s 18 does not apply to a company, the company must secure that the alternative arrangements are made no later than is necessary to secure that directors can be selected immediately in pursuance of the arrangements to fill any vacancy arising after the appropriate time: Occupational Pension Schemes (Member-nominated Trustees and Directors) Regulations 1996, SI 1996/1216, reg 16(1). As to the appropriate time see reg 16(2).

19 Pensions Act 1995 s 19(1). Section 19(1) only applies if (1) the employer gives notice in writing to the company at a permitted notice time that he intends to propose alternative arrangements; and (2) before the expiry of the approval period alternative arrangements are approved and the employer gives notice in writing to the company of their approval, stating in the notice what those arrangements are and specifying all such matters relating to them as are required to be specified in a notice under the Occupational Pension Schemes (Member-nominated Trustees and Directors) Regulations 1996, SI 1996/1216, Sch 1 para 5(3); reg 15(1). As to the permitted notice time see reg 15(2), (4) (amended by SI 1997/786) and as to the approval period see the Occupational Pension Schemes (Member-nominated Trustees and Directors) Regulations 1996, SI 1996/1216, reg 15(3), (4). For the prescribed procedure for giving notice see reg 21 (amended by SI 1997/786).

20 Pensions Act 1995 s 19(4). Section 18 does not apply to any company by virtue of its being a trustee of a trust scheme (1) which has another trustee who is not a company; (2) in respect of which alternative arrangements under s 17(1) are for the time being approved; (3) which has less than two members; (4) the only benefits provided by which are death benefits; (5) to which s 22 (circumstances for application of requirement for an independent trustee: see PARA 795 post) applies; (6) which is an occupational pension scheme which provides relevant benefits, but is neither an approved scheme nor a relevant statutory scheme; (7) which is a relevant self-administered scheme; (8) which is a relevant approved centralised scheme; (9) which is a relevant executive pension scheme in relation to the company; (10) which is a direct payment, paid-up insured scheme; (11) which is a relevant wholly-insured scheme; (12) which is a former old code scheme (as to which see PARA 791 note 17 ante); (13) which is a scheme with such a superannuation fund as is mentioned in the Income and Corporation Taxes Act 1988 s 615(6) (certain overseas pensions); (14) which is made under the Parliamentary and other Pensions Act 1987 s 2 (as amended) (power to provide for pensions for Members of the House of Commons etc: see PARLIAMENT vol 78 (2010) PARA 926); or (15) which has been modified under the Coal Industry Act 1994 Sch 5 (see MINES): Occupational Pension Schemes (Member-nominated Trustees and Directors) Regulations 1996, SI 1996/1216, reg 6(1) (amended by SI 1997/786).

If, in the case of a trust scheme<sup>1</sup> or of a company which is a trustee of a trust scheme:

- 1849 (1) such arrangements in relation to member-nominated trustees and directors as are required<sup>2</sup> to be made have not been made; or
- 1850 (2) such arrangements in relation to member-nominated trustees and directors as are required to be implemented are not being implemented; or
- 1851 (3) the appropriate rules<sup>3</sup> are not being implemented, the provisions relating to prohibition orders<sup>4</sup> and civil penalties<sup>5</sup> apply to any trustee who has failed to take all such steps as are reasonable to secure compliance and also to the company<sup>6</sup>. No such arrangements or rules as are so required to be made or implemented are treated as effecting an alteration to the scheme in question for the purposes of cessation of approval<sup>7</sup> under the Income and Corporation Taxes Act 1988<sup>8</sup>.

Regulations may make provision for determining the time by which such arrangements (or further arrangements) are required to be made and trustees or directors are required to be selected in pursuance of the appropriate rules<sup>9</sup>, and for determining when any approval under the statutory consultation procedure<sup>10</sup> of the appropriate rules, or of arrangements for selecting the trustees of a scheme, or the directors of a company, given on a proposal by the employer<sup>11</sup>, is to cease to have effect<sup>12</sup>.

Approval of the appropriate rules, or of arrangements<sup>18</sup>, under the statutory consultation procedure must be given by the active<sup>19</sup> and pensioner<sup>20</sup> members of the scheme, and if the trustees so determine, such deferred members<sup>21</sup> of the scheme as the trustees may determine, taken as a whole<sup>22</sup>.

794A. Requirements for Member-nominated Trustees and Directors.

The Pensions Act 2004 ss 241-243 replace the Pensions Act 1995 ss 16-21.

For general and supplementary provision relating to the Pensions Act 2004 see PARA 636A.

The trustees of an occupational trust scheme<sup>1</sup> must secure (1) that, within a reasonable period of the commencement date<sup>2</sup>, arrangements are in place which provide for at least one-third of the total number of trustees to be member-nominated trustees<sup>3</sup>, and (2) that those arrangements are implemented<sup>4</sup>. The arrangements may provide for a greater number of member-nominated trustees than that required to satisfy the one-third minimum mentioned in head (1) above only if the employer<sup>5</sup> has approved the greater number<sup>6</sup>. The arrangements (a) must provide for the nomination and selection process to take place within a reasonable period of any requirement arising under the arrangements to appoint a member-nominated trustee, (b) must provide, where a vacancy is not filled because insufficient nominations are received, for the nomination and selection process to be repeated at reasonable intervals until the vacancy is filled, (c) must provide that where the employer so requires, a person who is not a member of the scheme must have the employer's approval to qualify for selection as a member-nominated trustee, and (d) subject to head (c), may provide that, where the number of nominations received is equal to or less than the number of appointments required, the nominees are deemed to be selected<sup>7</sup>. The arrangements must provide that the removal of a member-nominated trustee requires the agreement of all the other trustees<sup>8</sup>. Nothing in the arrangements or in the provisions of the scheme may exclude member-nominated trustees from the exercise of functions exercisable by other trustees by reason only of the fact that they are member-nominated trustees<sup>9</sup>.

The above provisions do not apply in relation to an occupational trust scheme if (i) every member of the scheme is a trustee of the scheme and no other person is such a trustee, (ii) every trustee of the scheme is a company<sup>10</sup>, or (iii) the scheme is of a prescribed description<sup>11</sup>.

1 In the Pensions Act 2004 ss 241 and s 242 (see PARA 794A.2) 'occupational trust scheme' means an occupational pension scheme established under a trust: s 243(3). For the meaning of 'occupational pension scheme' see PARA 636A.3.

2 The 'commencement date', in relation to a scheme, is (1) the date upon which ibid s 241 first applies in relation to the scheme, or (2) in the case of a scheme to which s 241 has ceased to apply and then reapplies, the date on which s 241 reapplies to it: s 241(3).

3 'Member-nominated trustees' are trustees of an occupational trust scheme who (1) are nominated as the result of a process in which at least the following are eligible to participate (a) all the active members of the scheme or an organisation which adequately represents the active members, and (b) all the pensioner members of the scheme or an organisation which adequately represents the pensioner members, and (2) are selected as a result of a process which involves some or all of the members of the scheme: ibid s 241(2). For the meaning of 'active member' see PARA 659C.20. For the meaning of 'member' see PARA 636A.3.

4 Ibid s 241(1). If, in the case of an occupational trust scheme, the arrangements required by s 241(1) (1) are not in place as required by head (1) in the text, or (2) are not being implemented, the Pensions Act 1995 s 10 (civil penalties: see PARA 611) applies to any trustee who has failed to take all reasonable steps to secure compliance: Pensions Act 2004 s 241(9). See further NOTE 6.

5 For the meaning of 'employer' see PARA 636A.15.

6 Pensions Act 2004 s 241(4). The Secretary of State may, by order, amend head (1) in the text and s 241(4) by substituting, in each of those provisions, 'one-half' for 'one-third': s 243(1). Regulations may modify s 241 (including any of the provisions mentioned in s 243(1)) in its application to prescribed cases: s 243(2). For the meaning of 'prescribed' see PARA 636A.3. As to orders and regulations under the Pensions Act 2004 see ss 314-317 (s 316 amended by Pensions Act 2008 ss 124(7)-(10), 125(3), Sch 9 paras 5, 12).

7 Pensions Act 2004 s 241(5).

8 Ibid s 241(6).

9 Ibid s 241(7).

10 In ibid ss 241 and s 242 (see PARA 794A.2) 'company' means a company as defined in the Companies Act 2006 s 1(1) or a company which may be wound up under the Insolvency Act 1986 Pt 5 (unregistered companies): Pensions Act 2004 s 243(3) (amended by SI 2009/1941).

11 Pensions Act 2004 s 241(8). As to schemes which are of a prescribed description see the Occupational Pension Schemes (Member-nominated Trustees and Directors) Regulations 2006, SI 2006/714, reg 2 (amended by SI 2007/814).

2. Requirement for member-nominated directors of corporate trustees

Where a company is a trustee of an occupational trust scheme and every trustee of the scheme is a company, the company must secure (1) that, within a reasonable period of the commencement date<sup>1</sup>, arrangements are in place which provide for at least one-third of the total number of directors of the company to be member-nominated directors<sup>2</sup>, and (2) that those arrangements are implemented<sup>3</sup>. The arrangements may provide for a greater number of member-nominated directors than that required to satisfy the one-third minimum mentioned in head (1) above only if the employer has approved the greater number<sup>4</sup>. The arrangements (a) must provide for the nomination and selection process to take place within a reasonable period of any requirement arising under the arrangements to appoint a member-nominated director, (b) must provide, where a vacancy is not filled because insufficient nominations are received, for the nomination and selection process to be repeated at reasonable intervals until the vacancy is filled, (c) must provide that where the employer so requires, a person who is not a member of the scheme must have the employer's approval to qualify for selection as a member-nominated director, and (d) subject to head (c) above, may provide that, where the number of nominations received is equal to or less than the number of appointments required, the nominees are deemed to be selected<sup>5</sup>. The arrangements must provide that the removal of a member-nominated director requires the agreement of all the other directors<sup>6</sup>. Nothing in the arrangements may exclude member-nominated directors from the exercise of functions exercisable by other directors by reason only of the fact that they are member-nominated directors<sup>7</sup>. Where the same company is a trustee of two or more occupational trust schemes by reference to each of which these provisions<sup>8</sup> apply to the company, then<sup>9</sup> the preceding provisions have effect as if (i) the schemes were a single scheme, (ii) the members of each of the schemes were members of that single scheme, and (iii) the references to 'the employer' were references to all the employers in relation to the schemes<sup>10</sup>.

The above provisions do not apply in relation to an occupational trust scheme if the scheme is of a prescribed description<sup>11</sup>.

1 The 'commencement date', in relation to a company, is (1) the date upon which the Pensions Act 2004 s 242 first applies in relation to the company, or (2) in the case of a company to which s 242 has ceased to apply and then reapplies, the date on which s 242 reapplies to it: s 242(3).

2 'Member-nominated directors' are directors of the company in question who (1) are nominated as the result of a process in which at least the following are eligible to participate (a) all the active members of the occupational trust scheme or an organisation which adequately represents the active members, and (b) all the pensioner members of the occupational trust scheme or an organisation which adequately represents the pensioner members, and (2) are selected as a result of a process which involves some or all of the members of that scheme: s 242(2).

3 Ibid s 242(1). If, in the case of a company which is a trustee of an occupational trust scheme, the arrangements required by s 242(1) (1) are not in place as required by head (1) in the text, or (2) are not being implemented, the Pensions Act 1995 s 10 (civil penalties: see PARA 611) applies to the company: Pensions Act 2004 s 242(11). See further NOTE 4.

4 Ibid s 242(4). The Secretary of State may, by order, amend head (1) in the text and s 242(4) by substituting, in each of those provisions, 'one-half' for 'one-third': s 243(1). Regulations may modify s 242 (including any of the provisions mentioned in s 243(1)) in its application to prescribed cases: s 243(2). As to orders and regulations under the Pensions Act 2004 see ss 314-317 (s 316 amended by Pensions Act 2008 ss 124(7)-(10), 125(3), Sch 9 paras 5, 12). The Treasury may by order vary the rate of charge; and such an order may make provision for there to be different rates in different circumstances: s 242(5), (6) (added by Finance Act 2009 Sch 2 para 17).

9 Subject to ibid s 242(9).

10 Ibid s 242(8). Where, apart from s 242(9), s 242(8) would apply in relation to a company, the company may elect that s 242(8) (1) is not to apply as mentioned in s 242(8), or (2) is to apply but only in relation to some of the schemes to which it would otherwise apply: s 242(9).

11 Ibid s 242(10). As to schemes which are of a prescribed description see the Occupational Pension Schemes (Member-nominated Trustees and Directors) Regulations 2006, SI 2006/714, reg 3 (amended by SI 2007/814, SI 2009/615).

(iii) Independent Trustees

795. Requirement for independent trustee.

The statutory requirement for an independent trustee<sup>1</sup> applies in relation to a trust scheme<sup>2</sup>:

- 1852 (1) if a person ('the practitioner') begins to act as an insolvency practitioner<sup>3</sup> in relation to a company<sup>4</sup> which, or an individual who, is the employer<sup>5</sup> in relation to the scheme<sup>6</sup>; or
- 1853 (2) if the official receiver becomes the liquidator or provisional liquidator of a company which is the employer in relation to the scheme, or the receiver and the manager, or the trustee, of the estate of a bankrupt<sup>7</sup> who is the employer in relation to the scheme<sup>8</sup>.

The requirement to have an independent trustee ceases to apply if some person other than the employer mentioned above becomes the employer, or if at any time neither the practitioner nor the official receiver is acting in relation to the employer, but the independent trustee requirement will apply in relation to the scheme on any subsequent occasion when the conditions specified in head (1) or head (2) above are satisfied in relation to it<sup>9</sup>.

While the independent trustee requirement applies in relation to a scheme, the practitioner or official receiver must:

- 1854 (a) satisfy himself that at all times at least one of the trustees of the scheme is an independent person<sup>10</sup>; and
- 1855 (b) if at any time he is not so satisfied, appoint, or secure the appointment of, an independent person as a trustee of the scheme<sup>11</sup>, and the duty under head (b) above must be performed as soon as reasonably practicable and, if a period is prescribed<sup>12</sup> for those purposes, within that period<sup>13</sup>.

Where the above duties imposed in relation to a scheme would fall to be discharged at the same time by two or more persons acting in different capacities, those duties must be discharged:

- 1856 (i) if the employer is a company, by the person or persons acting as the company's liquidator, provisional liquidator or administrator<sup>14</sup>; or
- 1857 (ii) if the employer is an individual<sup>15</sup>, by the person or persons acting as his trustee in bankruptcy or interim receiver of his property or as permanent or interim trustee in the sequestration of his estate<sup>16</sup>.

If the above provisions apply in relation to a trust scheme, but the practitioner or official receiver neglects or refuses to discharge any duty so imposed on him in relation to the scheme, any member of the scheme may apply to the appropriate court<sup>17</sup> for an order requiring him to discharge his duties<sup>18</sup>. If, immediately before the appointment of an independent trustee, there is no trustee of the scheme other than the employer, the employer must cease to be a trustee upon the appointment of the independent trustee<sup>19</sup>.

While the independent trustee requirement applies in relation to a scheme:

- 1858 (A) any power vested in the trustees of the scheme and exercisable at their discretion may be exercised only by the independent trustee<sup>20</sup>; and 1859 (B) any power which the scheme confers on the employer (otherwise than as trustee of the scheme), and which is exercisable by him at his discretion but only as trustee of the power, may be exercised only by the independent trustee<sup>21</sup>, but if, in either case, there is more than one independent trustee, the power may also be exercised with the consent of at least half of those trustees by any person who could exercise it apart from this provision<sup>22</sup>.

While the independent trustee requirement applies in relation to a scheme, no independent trustee of the scheme may be removed from being a trustee by virtue only of any provision of the scheme<sup>23</sup>.

If a trustee so appointed ceases to be an independent person, then he must immediately give written notice of that fact to the practitioner or official receiver by whom the duties under that provision fall to be discharged<sup>24</sup>, and he must cease to be a trustee of the scheme<sup>25</sup>. A trustee so appointed is entitled to be paid out of the scheme's resources<sup>26</sup> his reasonable fees for acting in that capacity and any expenses reasonably incurred by him in doing so, and to be so paid in priority to all other claims falling to be met out of the scheme's resources<sup>27</sup>.

While the independent trustee requirement applies in relation to a scheme, the practitioner or official receiver must<sup>28</sup> provide the trustees of the scheme, as soon as practicable after the receipt of a request, with any information which the trustees may reasonably require for the purposes of the scheme<sup>29</sup>. Any expenses incurred by the practitioner or official receiver in complying with such a request are recoverable by him as part of the expenses incurred by him in discharge of his duties<sup>30</sup>. The practitioner or official receiver is not required to take any action which involves expenses that cannot be so recovered, unless the trustees of the scheme undertake to meet them<sup>31</sup>.

Regulations under s 23(4) may provide (A) for copies of the register or of extracts from it to be provided to prescribed persons in prescribed circumstances; (B) for the inspection of the register by prescribed persons in prescribed circumstances: s 23(5). The circumstances which may be prescribed

Such an order may also provide that an amount equal to the amount (if any) paid out of the resources of the scheme by virtue of head (2) or (3) is to be treated for all purposes as a debt due from the employer to the trustees of the scheme: 1995 Act s 25(7) (added by 2004 Act s 36(4)(c)). Where, by virtue of head (2) or (3), an order makes provision for any fees or expenses of the trustee appointed under the order to be paid out of the resources of the scheme, the trustee is entitled to be so paid in priority to all other claims falling to be met out of the scheme's resources: 1995 Act s 25(8).

When a copy of a document is furnished in accordance with these provisions, it must be accompanied by a written statement that further information about the scheme is available, giving the address to which inquiries about it should be sent: reg 6(7).

Subject as follows, the trustees of any scheme must make provision in the manner specified below for the disclosure of: (A) the latest actuarial valuation where required by regulations made under the Pensions Act 1995 s 41(1), (2)(c); (B) where s 56 (see PARA 811 post) applies to the scheme, the latest actuarial valuation required under s 57(1)(a); (C) the schedule of contributions or payment schedule (in either case whether or not revised) where required under s 58 or s 87 (see PARAS 817, 864 post); and (D) the latest statement of the principles governing decisions about investments where required under s 35 (see PARA 804 post), to persons and trade unions in the categories specified below, but these requirements do not apply to a public service pension scheme such as is referred to in heads (a)-(b) supra: Occupational Pension Schemes (Disclosure of Information) Regulations 1996, SI 1996/1655, reg 7(1), (2). A copy of any such document, being the latest such document, must, within two months of a request being made by a person or a trade union in the specified categories, be made available free of charge for inspection at a place which is reasonable having regard to the circumstances of the request and of the person who or trade union which made it; or, at their option, be furnished to such person or trade union, and where a charge is levied it must not exceed the expense incurred in copying, posting and packing such copy: reg 7(3). The specified categories of persons and trade unions for these purposes are identical to those in reg 6(6) (see heads (i)-(iv) supra): see reg 7(4). When a copy of a document is furnished in accordance with this requirement, it must be accompanied by a written statement that further information about the scheme is available, giving the address to which inquiries about it should be sent: reg 7(5).

Any information or document which the Occupational Pension Schemes (Disclosure of Information) Regulations 1996, SI 1996/1655 (as amended) require the trustees of a scheme to give or furnish, any request for information or for a document to be given or furnished in pursuance of those regulations or any information to be given to the trustees of a scheme in relation to requirements imposed by those regulations, may be furnished, made or given by post; and any information or document which those regulations require the trustees of a scheme to give or furnish as of course to a beneficiary or a member who is not employed in relevant employment is deemed to have been given or furnished if it was sent to him by post to his last address known to the trustees: reg 10(1), (2).

There is no fiduciary obligation on a pension fund trustee to inform a member of his rights in relation to the scheme: see Hamar v Pensions Ombudsman [1996] PLR 1. However, where information is provided regarding the scheme by either the employer or the trustees it may give rise to a contractual obligation or an estoppel: see Dorrell v May & Baker Ltd [1991] PLR 31; Icarus (Hertford) Ltd v Driscoll [1990] PLR 1; Mettoy Pension Trustees Ltd v Evans [1991] 2 All ER 513, [1990] 1 WLR 1587; ITN v Ward [1997] PLR 131.

For the meaning of 'United Kingdom' see PARA 15 note 4 ante.

20 Any document of which disclosure is required which is not in the English language must be accompanied by a translation in that language: Occupational Pension Schemes (Disclosure of Information) Regulations 1996, SI 1996/1655, reg 3(4). Nothing in these provisions requires the disclosure of any matter in relation to a member, beneficiary or prospective member that is not relevant to that person's rights or prospective rights under the scheme, or, where disclosure is made to a trade union, of any matter which is not relevant to the rights or prospective rights of members or prospective members who are of a class of employee in relation to which the trade union is a recognised trade union for the purposes of collective bargaining: reg 4(5). Where any provision of an Act or statutory instrument has been set out in a document which is required to be disclosed, or has been incorporated in such a document by reference, that provision must be disclosed either by giving a reference to it and the Act or statutory instrument in which it is contained or by setting out its text: reg 4(6).

21 The persons and trade unions specified for these purposes are identical to those specified in ibid reg 6(6): see note 6 heads (i)-(v) supra. The Occupational Pension Schemes (Disclosure of Information) Regulations 1996, SI 1996/1655 (as amended) do not impose on the trustees of a scheme any duty in relation to (1) any member or prospective member if no person who employs him in relevant employment has informed the trustees that he is a member or prospective member; or (2) an independent trade union recognised to any extent for the purposes of collective bargaining in relation to members and prospective members of the scheme if no person who employs any such member or prospective member in relevant employment has informed the trustees that the trade union is so recognised: reg 2(4).

22 Disclosure must be made of (1) the contents of the trust deed constituting the scheme, if it is constituted by such a deed, or of any document constituting the scheme, if it is not constituted by a trust deed, and, if the rules of the scheme are not set out in a trust deed or other document the contents of which so fall to be disclosed, the contents of the rules; (2) the contents of any document which amends or supplements or wholly or partly supersedes a document the contents of which so fall to be disclosed; and (3) if the name and address of every person who employs any member of the scheme in relevant employment is not set out in any trust deed or other document the contents of which so fall to be disclosed, the contents of a document setting out the name and address of every such person: ibid reg 3(1). A copy of any of the documents referred to in heads (1)-(3) supra must, within two months of a request being made by a person or a trade union in the specified categories, (a) be made available free of charge for inspection at a place which is reasonable having regard to the circumstances of the request and of the person who or trade union which made it; or, at their option; (b) be furnished to such person or trade union, and where a charge is levied it must not exceed the expense incurred in copying, posting and packing such copy, so however that in the case of a document copies of which are publicly available, the trustees may, instead of furnishing a copy, advise the person who or trade union which has requested it where copies may be obtained: reg 3(2).

23 The basic information is that specified in ibid reg 4(1), Sch 1 (as amended) and comprises: (1) the categories of persons who are eligible to be members of the scheme; (2) whether persons who are eligible to be members of the scheme are admitted to it only on their own application or automatically unless the person in question makes an election not to be admitted or subject to the consent of their employer; (3) the conditions of eligibility for membership; (4) the period of notice (if any) which a member of the scheme must give to terminate his pensionable service; (5) whether, and if so upon what conditions (if any), a member of the scheme, whose pensionable service has terminated before normal pension age, may re-enter pensionable service; (6) how employers' contributions are determined; (7) how members' normal contributions, if any, are calculated; (8) what arrangements are made for the payment by members of additional voluntary contributions; (9) whether the scheme is a tax approved scheme, and if not whether an application for the scheme to become a tax approved scheme is under consideration by the Commissioners of Inland Revenue; (10) which of the relevant employments are, and which are not, contracted-out employments within the meaning of the Pension Schemes Act 1993 s 8 (as amended) (see PARA 878 post) and whether the scheme is contracted-out in relation to those employments by virtue of satisfying s 9(2) (as substituted) or s 9(3) (as amended) (see PARA 882 post) or by virtue of being one to which regulations made under the Pensions Act 1995 s 149 apply (mixed benefit contracted-out schemes: see PARA 930 post); (11) except in the case of a simplified defined contribution scheme, normal pension age under the scheme; (12) what benefits are payable under the scheme and how they are calculated (including how pensionable earnings are defined under the scheme and the rate at which rights to benefits accrue); (13) without prejudice to head (12) supra, where (a) the scheme is a money purchase contracted-out scheme, or a mixed benefit contracted-out scheme, but is not an insured scheme (as defined in the Occupational Pension Schemes (Contracting-out) Regulations 1996, SI 1996/1172) (as amended)); (b) the amount of assets allocated for the provision of benefits to or in respect of a member which are payable by virtue of his protected rights under the scheme or, in the case of a mixed benefit contracted-out scheme, under the money purchase part of the scheme, is periodically increased by an amount which is not calculated directly by reference to the investment gain actually derived from the investment of those assets by the trustees of the scheme (whether over the period to which the increase relates or a longer period); and (c) if the increase is calculated by reference to the investment gain from investments in which those assets could be invested, they are not actually so invested or are only so invested to an extent which would not materially affect the actual investment gain from the assets as a whole, the following information, ie that the assets mentioned in head (b) supra are increased in the way there mentioned, the method used to calculate that increase and the reason why that method is used; and for the purposes of head (b) supra, a mixed benefit contracted-out scheme is to be treated as if the pensions falling within the Pensions Act 1995 s 149(1)(b) were provided by a separate part of the scheme ('the money purchase part') and for the purposes of heads (b)-(c) supra references to the investment gain from investments are to both the income and capital gain derived from investing in those investments; (14) whether there is a power under the scheme rules to increase pensions after they have become payable, otherwise than in accordance with statutory requirements, and if so what it is, who may exercise it, and whether and to what extent it is discretionary; (15) where the scheme is one to which regulations made under s 149 apply, the circumstances, if any, in which the nature of a member's accrued rights, or the basis upon which a member accrues rights under the scheme, may alter as a result of the scheme being one to which those regulations apply, and a statement that the trustees will give notice to a member in circumstances where his rights are affected; (16) whether, and if so when and upon what conditions, survivors' benefits are payable under the scheme; (17) the conditions on which benefits, other than survivors' benefits, are payable under the scheme; (18) which benefits, if any, are payable only at some person's discretion; (19) the short title of the enactment (if any) which provides for both the setting up of the scheme, and the determination of the rate or amount of the benefits under the scheme; (20) what arrangements are made, and in what circumstances, for estimates of entitlement to a cash equivalent, statements of entitlement to a guaranteed cash equivalent, refunds of contributions, and preservation or transfer of accrued rights in relation to a member whose relevant employment or pensionable service in relevant employment terminates before he reaches normal pension age; (21) whether, and the circumstances in which, the trustees will accept cash equivalents and provide transfer credits within the meaning of the Pension Schemes Act 1993 Pt IV Ch III (ss 93-101) (as amended) (transfer values: see PARA 951 et seq post) and whether such acceptance is subject to the discretion of the trustees; (22) if the trustees have directed that any cash equivalent must not take into account any such additional benefits as might accrue to the member in question resulting from the exercise of any discretion vested in the trustees or the employer, a statement to this effect; (23) a statement summarising the way in which transfer values are calculated; (24) except in the case of a public service pension scheme such as is referred to in the Occupational Pension Schemes (Disclosure of Information) Regulations 1996, SI 1996/1655, reg 6(2) (see note 6 supra), a statement that a scheme annual report is available on request; (25) whether information about the scheme has been given to the Registrar of Occupational and Personal Pension Schemes (as to whom see PARA 661 ante); (26) what procedures the scheme has for the internal resolution of disputes (unless it is an exempt scheme by virtue of regulations made under the Pensions Act 1995 s 50(7): see PARA 839 post) and the address and job title of the person to be contacted in order to have recourse to these; (27) a statement that OPAS (The Pensions Advisory Service) is available to assist members and beneficiaries of the scheme in connection with difficulties which they have failed to resolve with the trustees or administrators of the scheme and the address at which it may be contacted; (28) a statement that the Pensions Ombudsman (as to whom see PARA 663 et seq ante) may investigate and determine any complaint or dispute of fact or law in relation to an occupational pension scheme made or referred in accordance with the Pension Schemes Act 1993 and the address at which he may be contacted; (29) a statement that the Occupational Pensions Regulatory Authority (as to which see PARA 598 et seq ante) is able to intervene in the running of schemes where trustees, employers or professional advisers have failed in their duties, giving the address at which it may be contacted; and (30) the address to which inquiries about the scheme generally or about an individual's entitlement to benefit should be sent: see the Occupational Pension Schemes (Disclosure of Information) Regulations 1996, SI 1996/1655, reg 4(1), Sch 1 (amended by SI 1997/786).

The information specified in heads (1)-(30) supra must be given as of course, where practicable, to every prospective member and where it has not been practicable so to do, such information must be given to a person within two months of his becoming a member of the scheme, and to the extent that any information so specified has not previously been given to a person who was an active or pensioner member of the scheme on 5 April 1997, such information must be given to that person by 5 April 1998: Occupational Pension Schemes (Disclosure of Information) Regulations 1996, SI 1996/1655, reg 4(2) (as so amended). That information must also be given on request to any member or prospective member of, or beneficiary under, the scheme, the spouse of any member or prospective member or any independent trade union recognised to any extent for the purposes of collective bargaining in relation to members and prospective members of the scheme, (except where the same information was furnished to that person or trade union in the 12 months prior to the request being made), as soon as practicable and in any event within two months of the request being made: reg 4(3). Where different information is applicable to different members, prospective members and beneficiaries, nothing in this provision must be construed as requiring the trustees to disclose information in relation to a member, prospective member or beneficiary that is not relevant to that person's rights or prospective rights under the scheme, or, where disclosure is made to a trade union, of any matter which is not relevant to the rights or prospective rights of members or prospective members who are of a class of employee in relation to which the trade union is a recognised trade union for the purposes of collective bargaining: reg 4(4). The trustees must notify all members and beneficiaries (except excluded persons) of any change in relation to the scheme which will result in a material alteration in the information referred to in heads (1)-(26), (30) supra before that change takes effect, where it is practicable so to do, and in any event not later than three months after that change has taken effect: reg 4(5). When any information specified in heads (1)-(30) supra is provided, it must be accompanied by a written statement that further information about the scheme is available, giving the address to which inquiries about it should be sent: reg 4(6).

The trustees or managers of an occupational pension scheme must establish and operate internal controls<sup>1</sup> which are adequate for the purpose of securing that the scheme is administered and managed in accordance with the scheme rules, and in accordance with the requirements of the law<sup>2</sup>. The above requirement does not apply in relation to (1) a scheme which is established by or under an enactment (including a local Act), and is guaranteed by a public authority<sup>3</sup>; (2) a pay-as-you-go scheme<sup>4</sup>; (3) a pensions scheme for members of the House of Commons<sup>5</sup>.

1 'Internal controls' means (1) arrangements and procedures to be followed in the administration and management of the scheme; (2) systems and arrangements for monitoring that administration and management; and (3) arrangements and procedures to be followed for the safe custody and security of the assets of the scheme: Pensions Act 2004 s 249A(5) (s 249A added by SI 2005/3379).

Halsbury's Laws of England/SOCIAL SECURITY AND PENSIONS (VOLUME 44(2) (REISSUE))/18. OCCUPATIONAL PENSION SCHEMES/(5) INVESTMENTS/803. General investment powers; duty of care and delegation.

803. General investment powers; duty of care and delegation.

Liability for breach of an obligation under any rule of law to take care or exercise skill in the performance of any investment functions, where the function is exercisable by a trustee of a trust scheme<sup>1</sup>, or by a person to whom the function has been delegated, cannot be excluded or restricted<sup>2</sup> by any instrument or agreement<sup>3</sup>; but this does not apply to a scheme falling within any prescribed<sup>4</sup> class or description, or to any prescribed description of exclusion or restriction<sup>5</sup>.

The trustees of a trust scheme have, subject to any restriction imposed by the scheme, the same power to make an investment of any kind as if they were absolutely entitled to the assets of the scheme<sup>6</sup>. Any discretion of the trustees of a trust scheme to make any decision about investments:

- 1887 (1) may be delegated by or on behalf of the trustees to a fund manager<sup>7</sup> to be exercised in accordance with the provisions relating to the choosing of investments<sup>8</sup>; but
- 1888 (2) may not otherwise be delegated except under specified provisions of the Trustee Act 1925<sup>9</sup> or the provisions set out below<sup>10</sup>.

The trustees are not responsible for the act or default of any fund manager in the exercise of any discretion delegated to him under head (1) above if they have taken all such steps as are reasonable to satisfy themselves, or the person who made the delegation on their behalf has taken all such steps as are reasonable to satisfy himself:

- 1889 (a) that the fund manager has the appropriate knowledge and experience for managing the investments of the scheme; and
- 1890 (b) that he is carrying out his work competently and complying with the provisions relating to the choosing of investments<sup>11</sup>.

Subject to any restriction imposed by a trust scheme:

- 1891 (i) the trustees may authorise two or more of their number to exercise on their behalf any discretion to make any decision about investments; and
- 1892 (ii) any such discretion may, where giving effect to the decision would not constitute carrying on investment business in the United Kingdom<sup>12</sup>, be delegated by or on behalf of the trustees to a fund manager<sup>13</sup> to be exercised in accordance with the provisions relating to the choosing of investments<sup>14</sup>, but in either case the trustees are liable for any acts or defaults in the exercise of the discretion if they would be so liable if they were the acts or defaults of the trustees as a whole<sup>15</sup>.

The above provisions relating to the duty of care do not prevent the exclusion or restriction of any liability of the trustees of a trust scheme for the acts or defaults of a fund manager in the exercise of a discretion delegated to him under head (ii) above where the trustees have taken all such steps as are reasonable to satisfy themselves, or the person who made the delegation on their behalf has taken all such steps as are reasonable to satisfy himself, that the fund manager has the appropriate knowledge and experience for managing the investments of the scheme, and that he is carrying out his work competently and complying with the provisions relating to the choosing of investments<sup>16</sup>.

The above provisions override any restriction inconsistent with the provisions imposed by any rule of law or by or under any enactment<sup>17</sup>, other than an enactment contained in, or made under, Part I of the Pensions Act 1995<sup>18</sup> or the Pension Schemes Act 1993<sup>19</sup>.

1 For the meaning of 'trust scheme' see PARA 604 note 2 ante.

2 For these purposes, references to excluding or restricting liability include: (1) making the liability or its enforcement subject to restrictive or onerous conditions; (2) excluding or restricting any right or remedy in respect of the liability, or subjecting a person to any prejudice in consequence of his pursuing any such right or remedy; or (3) excluding or restricting rules of evidence or procedure: Pensions Act 1995 s 33(2).

3 Ibid s 33(1).

4 For the meaning of 'prescribed' see PARA 555 note 1 ante.

5 Pensions Act 1995 s 33(3).

6 Ibid s 34(1).

7 'Fund manager', in relation to an occupational pension scheme means a person who manages the investments held for the purposes of the scheme: ibid s 124(1). Section 34(3) applies to a fund manager who, in relation to the decisions in question, falls, or is treated as falling, within the Financial Services Act 1986 s 191(2) (a)-(c) (occupational pension schemes: exemptions where decisions taken by authorised and other persons): Pensions Act 1995 s 34(3). Halsbury's Laws of England/SOCIAL SECURITY AND PENSIONS (VOLUME 44(2) (REISSUE))/18. OCCUPATIONAL PENSION SCHEMES/(5) INVESTMENTS/804. Investment principles.

804. Investment principles.

The trustees of a trust scheme<sup>1</sup> must secure that there is prepared, maintained and from time to time revised a written statement of the principles governing decisions about investments for the purposes of the scheme<sup>2</sup>. The statement must cover, among other things, the trustees' policy for securing compliance with the provisions relating to choosing investments<sup>3</sup> and minimum funding requirements<sup>4</sup>, and their policy about the following matters<sup>5</sup>. Those matters are:

- 1893 (1) the kinds of investments to be held;
- 1894 (2) the balance between different kinds of investments;
- 1895 (3) risk;
- 1896 (4) the expected return on investments;
- 1897 (5) the realisation of investments; and
- 1898 (6) such other matters as may be prescribed<sup>6</sup>.

Neither the trust scheme nor the statement may impose restrictions (however expressed) on any power to make investments by reference to the consent of the employer<sup>7</sup>. The trustees of a trust scheme must, before such a statement is prepared or revised:

- 1899 (a) obtain and consider the written advice of a person who is reasonably believed by the trustees to be qualified by his ability in and practical experience of financial matters and to have the appropriate knowledge and experience of the management of the investments of such schemes; and
- 1900 (b) consult the employer<sup>8</sup>.

If, in the case of any trust scheme, such a statement has not been prepared or is not being maintained, or the trustees have not obtained and considered such advice, the provisions relating to prohibition orders<sup>9</sup> and civil penalties<sup>10</sup> apply to any trustee who has failed to take all such steps as are reasonable to secure compliance<sup>11</sup>.

The above provisions do not apply to any scheme which falls within a prescribed class or description<sup>12</sup>. They do not apply to a trust scheme which is:

- 1901 (i) neither approved for the purposes of the provisions relating to the taxation of retirement benefit schemes<sup>13</sup> nor the subject of an application for such approval which has not been determined;
- 1902 (ii) a superannuation fund falling within certain statutory provisions relating to taxation<sup>14</sup>;
- 1903 (iii) a scheme which has fewer than 12 members each of whom is a trustee of the scheme and the rules of which provide that before any investment of the resources of the scheme is made each of the members<sup>15</sup> must agree in writing to the making of that investment;
- 1904 (iv) a scheme in respect of which any Minister of the Crown has given a guarantee or made any other arrangements for the purposes of securing that the assets of the scheme are sufficient to meet its liabilities; or
- 1905 (v) a wholly insured scheme<sup>16</sup> in respect of which the prescribed requirements<sup>17</sup> are satisfied<sup>18</sup>.

For the meaning of 'employer' generally see PARA 598 note 4 ante; and for the meaning of 'active member' see PARA 612 note 5 ante.
- 8 Pensions Act 1995 s 35(5). In the application of s 35 to a scheme in relation to which there is more than one employer, the requirement imposed by s 35(5)(b) (see head (b) in the text) is, where a person has been nominated by all the employers to act as their representative for those purposes, to consult that person: Occupational Pension Schemes (Investment) Regulations 1996, SI 1996/3127, reg 11(1)(a). Where no person has been so nominated but the employers have not all notified the trustees that they need not be consulted, the requirement is to consult all the employers; but where the trustees specify a reasonable period (not being less than 28 days) within which they must receive representations from the employers, they are not required to consider any representations received after the end of that period: reg 11(1)(b), (2). Where no person has been so nominated and the employers have all notified the trustees that they need not be consulted, the requirement imposed by head (b) in the text does not apply: reg 11(1)(c).

- 15 For the meaning of 'member' see PARA 612 note 5 ante (definition applied by the Occupational Pension Schemes (Investment) Regulations 1996, SI 1996/3127, reg 1(2)).
- 16 'Wholly insured scheme' means a trust scheme which has no investments other than policies of insurance the effecting of which constitutes the carrying on of long term business falling within the Insurance Companies Act 1982 s 1, Sch 1 Class I or Class III: Occupational Pension Schemes (Investment) Regulations 1996, SI 1996/3127, reg 10(1). For these purposes, 'investments' do not include: (1) cash held on deposit by the trustees or managers pending payment to the insurance company or to members of the scheme; or (2) cash held on deposit by the trustees or managers to meet accrued liabilities or administrative expenses; or (3) any investments arising from voluntary contributions: reg 10(5). In relation to a trust scheme which has policies of insurance with more than one insurance company, a reference for the purposes of reg 10 to an insurance company is to any of the insurance companies with which a policy of insurance is taken out: reg 10(2).
- 17 The prescribed requirements are that:
  - 182 (1) the policies of insurance constituting the investments of the scheme are taken out with an insurance company which is (a) authorised under the Insurance Companies Act 1982 s 3 or s 4 (authorisation to carry on insurance business in the United Kingdom) to carry on ordinary long term insurance business as defined in that Act; or (b) an EC company as defined in s 2(6) (restriction on carrying on insurance business) which carries on ordinary long term insurance business (as defined in the Insurance Companies Act 1982) in the United Kingdom through a branch in respect of which such of the requirements of Sch 2F Pt I (as added) (recognition in the United Kingdom of EC and EFTA companies: EC companies carrying on business etc in the United Kingdom) as are applicable have been complied with or which provides ordinary long term insurance (within the meaning of that Act) in the United Kingdom and such of the requirements of Sch 2F Pt I (as added) as are applicable have been complied with in respect of the insurance; or (c) a friendly society which is authorised under the Friendly Societies Act 1992 s 32 (grant of authorisation by Commission: general) to carry on long term business under any of the Classes specified in Sch 2 Head A (activities of a friendly society: long term business) (see the Occupational Pension Schemes (Investment) Regulations 1996, SI 1996/3127, reg 10(4)(a), applying reg 6(2)(b)(i)-(iii));

- 183 (2) the terms of the policies of insurance and the rules of the scheme, taken together, are such that the trustees have no discretion as to how any of the moneys held by the insurance company for the benefit of the trustees, members or any other beneficiaries under the scheme (except moneys held solely in order to provide benefits arising from voluntary contributions) are invested nor as to whether any assets purchased with such moneys (except moneys held solely in order to provide benefits arising from voluntary contributions) are retained or disposed of by the insurance company (reg 10(4)(b)).

The requirement in head (2) supra is deemed to be satisfied where the trustees may choose in which of a number of investment funds held by the insurance company moneys held for the benefit of the trustees, members or other beneficiaries are invested provided that: (i) the trustees have no other discretion as to how those moneys (except moneys held solely in order to provide benefits arising from voluntary contributions) are invested nor as to whether any assets purchased with such moneys (except moneys held solely in order to provide benefits arising from voluntary contributions) are retained or disposed of by the insurance company; and (ii) moneys held by the insurance company for the benefit of the trustees, members or any other beneficiaries of more than one scheme are held in each such investment fund (and for these purposes if the employer in relation to one scheme is connected with or an associate of the employer in relation to another scheme those schemes must be treated as one scheme); and (iii) the investment management in relation to each such investment fund is undertaken by the insurance company without direction or influence by the trustees; and (iv) no individual asset held in any such fund is attributed to moneys invested for the benefit of the trustees, members or any other beneficiaries of any particular scheme: reg 10(6).

804 Investment principles

TEXT AND NOTES--SI 1996/3127 replaced: Occupational Pension Schemes (Investment) Regulations 2005, SI 2005/3378 (amended by SI 2007/814, SI 2009/615).

TEXT AND NOTES 1-12--Pensions Act 1995 s 35 substituted: Pensions Act 2004 s 244.

The trustees of a trust scheme must secure (1) that a statement of investment principles is prepared and maintained for the scheme, and (2) that the statement is reviewed at such intervals, and on such occasions, as may be prescribed and, if necessary, revised: Pensions Act 1995 s 35(1). In s 35 'statement of investment principles', in relation to a trust scheme, means a written statement of the investment principles governing decisions about investments for the purposes of the scheme: s 35(2). Before preparing or revising a statement of investment principles, the trustees of a trust scheme must comply with any prescribed requirements: s 35(3). A statement of investment principles must be in the prescribed form and cover, amongst other things, the prescribed matters: s 35(4). Neither a trust scheme nor a statement of investment principles may impose restrictions (however expressed) on any power to make investments by reference to the consent of the employer: s 35(5). If in the case of a trust scheme (a) a statement of investment principles has not been prepared, is not being maintained or has not been reviewed or revised, as required by s 35, or (b) the trustees have not complied with the obligation imposed on them by s 35(3), s 10 (see PARA 611) applies to any trustee who has failed to take all reasonable steps to secure compliance: s 35(6). Regulations may provide that s 35 is not to apply to any scheme which is of a prescribed description: s 35(7). The trustees of a trust scheme must secure that a statement of investment principles is reviewed at least every three years, and without delay after any significant change in investment policy: Occupational Pension Schemes (Investment) Regulations 2005, SI 2005/3378, reg 2(1) (reg 2 modified in respect of wholly-insured schemes (see reg 8)). As to the prescribed requirements and form of the statement of investment principles and the matter which it must cover, see reg 2(2), (3). As to the application of reg 2 to multi-employer schemes, see reg 3.

The Pensions Act 1995 s 35 does not apply to occupational pension schemes which (i) have fewer than 100 members; or (ii) are established by or under an enactment (including a local Act), and are guaranteed by a public authority: see SI 2005/3378 reg 6.

805. Choosing investments.

The trustees of a trust scheme<sup>1</sup> must exercise their powers of investment in accordance with the following provisions and any fund manager<sup>2</sup> to whom any discretion has been delegated<sup>3</sup> must exercise the discretion as follows<sup>4</sup>. The trustees or fund manager must have regard:

- 1906 (1) to the need for diversification of investments, in so far as appropriate to the circumstances of the scheme; and
- 1907 (2) to the suitability to the scheme of investments of the description of investment proposed and of the investment proposed as an investment of that description<sup>5</sup>.

Before investing in any manner<sup>6</sup> the trustees must obtain and consider proper advice<sup>7</sup> on the question whether the investment is satisfactory having regard to the matters mentioned in heads (1) and (2) above and the principles contained in the statement of principles governing decisions about investments<sup>8</sup>. Trustees retaining any investment must determine at what intervals the circumstances, and in particular the nature of the investment, make it desirable to obtain such advice, and obtain and consider such advice accordingly<sup>9</sup>.

The trustees, or the fund manager to whom any discretion has been delegated<sup>10</sup>, must exercise their powers of investment with a view to giving effect to the principles contained in the statement of principles<sup>11</sup> so far as reasonably practicable<sup>12</sup>. Trustees must not be treated as having complied with the above requirements to obtain proper advice<sup>13</sup> unless the advice was given or has subsequently been confirmed in writing<sup>14</sup>. If the trustees of a trust scheme do not obtain and consider advice in accordance with these provisions, the provisions relating to prohibition orders<sup>15</sup> and civil penalties<sup>16</sup> apply to any trustee who has failed to take all such steps as are reasonable to secure compliance<sup>17</sup>.

805 Choosing investments

TEXT AND NOTES--Regulations may exclude the application of any of the provisions of the Pensions Act 1995 s 36(1)-(8) to any scheme which is of a prescribed description: s 36(9) (added by Pensions Act 2004 s 245(6)).

TEXT AND NOTE 4--The trustees of a trust scheme must exercise their powers of investment in accordance with regulations and in accordance with the Pensions Act 1995 s 36(3) and (4), and any fund manager to whom any discretion has been delegated under s 34 must exercise the discretion in accordance with regulations: s 36(1) (substituted by Pensions Act 2004 s 245(2)). Regulations under the Pensions Act 1995 s 36(1) may, in particular (1) specify criteria to be applied in choosing investments, and (2) require diversification of investments: s 36(1A) (added by Pensions Act 2004 s 245(2)). As to obligations imposed on trustees of a trust scheme in relation to the exercise of their powers of investment see the Occupational Pension Schemes (Investment) Regulations 2005, SI 2005/3378, regs 4, 7, 9.

Halsbury's Laws of England/SOCIAL SECURITY AND PENSIONS (VOLUME 44(2) (REISSUE))/18. OCCUPATIONAL PENSION SCHEMES/(5) INVESTMENTS/806. Restrictions on employer-related investments.

806. Restrictions on employer-related investments.

The trustees or managers<sup>1</sup> of an occupational pension scheme<sup>2</sup> must secure that the scheme complies with any prescribed<sup>3</sup> restrictions with respect to the proportion of its resources<sup>4</sup> that may at any time be invested in, or in any description of, employer-related investments<sup>5</sup>. The prescribed restrictions are that, subject to certain exceptions<sup>6</sup>, not more than five per cent of the current market value of the resources of a scheme may at any time be invested in employer-related investments and none of the resources of a scheme may at any time be invested in any employer-related loan<sup>7</sup>. Nor may any of the resources of a scheme at any time be invested in any employer-related investment the making of which involves the entering by the trustees or managers into a transaction at an undervalue where the agreement to enter into that transaction is made on or after 6 April 1997<sup>8</sup>.

If in the case of a trust scheme the above provision is not complied with, the provisions relating to prohibition orders<sup>9</sup> and civil penalties<sup>10</sup> apply to any trustee who fails to take all such steps as are reasonable to secure compliance<sup>11</sup>. If any resources of an occupational pension scheme are invested in contravention<sup>12</sup> of the above provision, any trustee or manager who agreed in the determination to make the investment is guilty of an offence and liable on summary conviction to a fine not exceeding the statutory maximum<sup>13</sup>, and on conviction on indictment to a fine or imprisonment, or to both<sup>14</sup>.

To the extent (if any) that sums due and payable by a person to the trustees or managers of an occupational pension scheme remain unpaid:

- 1908 (1) they must be regarded for these purposes as loans made to that person by the trustees or managers<sup>15</sup>; and
- 1909 (2) resources of the scheme must be regarded as invested accordingly<sup>16</sup>.

1 For the meaning of 'trustees or managers' see PARA 612 note 10 ante.

2 For the meaning of 'occupational pension scheme' see PARA 741 ante (definition applied by the Pensions Act 1995 s 176). See also PARA 598 note 7 ante.

3 For the meaning of 'prescribed' see PARA 555 note 1 ante. The prescribed restrictions apply to schemes: (1) which are either approved for the purposes of the Income and Corporation Taxes Act 1988 Pt XIV Ch I (ss 590-612 (as amended)) (retirement benefit schemes: see PARA 747 et seq ante) or are the subject of an application for such approval which has not been determined, or which are exempt from income tax by virtue of s 608 (exemption for superannuation funds approved before 6 April 1980); and (2) which have at least one member in the United Kingdom and either are established in the United Kingdom or have one or more trustees resident in the United Kingdom: Occupational Pension Schemes (Investment) Regulations 1996, SI 1996/3127, reg 2(1). They do not apply to schemes which have fewer than 12 members each of whom is a trustee of the scheme and the rules of which provide that, before any investment of the resources of the scheme is made in employer-related investments, each member shall agree in writing to the making of that investment: reg 2(2). For the meaning of 'employer-related investments' see note 5 infra.

4 For the meaning of 'resources' see PARA 609 note 2 ante.

5 Pensions Act 1995 s 40(1). For these purposes 'employer-related investments' means: (1) shares or other securities issued by the employer or by any person who is connected with, or an associate of, the employer; (2) land which is occupied or used by, or subject to a lease in favour of, the employer or any such person; (3) property (other than land) which is used for the purposes of any business carried on by the employer or any such person; (4) loans to the employer or any such person; and (5) other prescribed investments: s 40(2). For the meaning of 'employer' for these purposes see PARA 805 note 7 ante. 'Securities' means any asset, right or interest falling within the Financial Services Act 1986 Sch 1 paras 1, 2, 4 or 5.

For these purposes, the following are prescribed as employer-related investments:

- 184 (a) the proportion attributable to the scheme's resources (whether directly or through any intervening collective investment scheme) of any investments which (i) have been made by the operator of any collective investment scheme, and which (ii) would have been employer-related investments if they had been made by the scheme (Occupational Pension Schemes (Investment) Regulations 1996, SI 1996/3127, reg 4(a));
- 185 (b) any guarantee of, or security given to secure, obligations of the employer or of any person who is connected with, or an associate of, the employer; and for these purposes a guarantee or security given by the trustees or managers is regarded as an investment of resources of the scheme equal to the amount of the obligations guaranteed or secured (reg 4(b));
- 186 (c) any loan arrangement entered into with any person whereby the trustees' or managers' right to or expectation of repayment depends on the employer's actions or situation unless it was not the trustees' or managers' purpose in entering into the arrangement to provide financial assistance to the employer (reg 4(c));
- 187 (d) where any of a scheme's resources are invested in a policy of insurance the terms of which permit the premiums or other consideration for the rights acquired under the policy, or any moneys otherwise credited to or for the benefit of the trustees or managers or the members, to be invested in a fund created only for the purposes of that policy, the proportion of the scheme's resources invested in that policy which is the same proportion as B is of A where 'A' represents all the assets of the insurer held in the fund and 'B' represents that part of A which would, if invested by the scheme, be employer-related investments (reg 4(d)); and
- 188 (e) where any of a scheme's resources are invested in a policy of insurance (not being resources invested in a fund created only for the purposes of that policy) the terms of which permit the trustees or managers or the employer to direct that some or all of the premiums or other consideration for the rights acquired under the policy, or any moneys otherwise credited to or for the benefit of the trustees or managers or the members, are invested in employer-related investments, any investments made by the insurer from those premiums or other consideration or moneys, which would have been employer-related investments if they had been made by the scheme (reg 4(e)).

7 Occupational Pension Schemes (Investment) Regulations 1996, SI 1996/3127, reg 5(1). For these purposes, 'employer-related loan' means: (1) a loan mentioned in the Pensions Act 1995 s 40(2)(d) (including, for these purposes only, one which falls within section 40(2)(d) by virtue of section 40(3)); (2) a security mentioned in section 40(2)(a) which falls within the Financial Services Act 1986 Sch 1 para 2 (investments and investment business), except any such security which is listed on a recognised stock exchange; and (3) an employer-related investment prescribed as such by the Occupational Pension Schemes (Investment) Regulations 1996, SI 1996/3127, reg 4(b) or (c) (see note 5 heads (b), (c) supra): reg 5(3). If, however, either a loan or a security falling within the Financial Services Act 1986 Sch 1 para 2 becomes an employer-related loan on or after 6 April 1997 as a result of a change in the ownership of the employer or the person to whom the loan was made, the loan or security may be retained until whichever is the latest of (a) the date falling two years after the date on which it became an employer-related loan; (b) 6 April 2002; or (c) where repayment cannot by virtue of contractual or other legal obligations be required or, in the case of securities, disinvestment effected before the latest of the dates mentioned in heads (a)-(b) supra, the earliest date on which repayment can be enforced, or disinvestment effected: reg 8(1). For the purposes of reg 8(1), 'loan' does not include any sum regarded as a loan under the Pensions Act 1995 s 40(3); and 'retained' means left undischarged: Occupational Pension Schemes (Investment) Regulations 1996, SI 1996/3127, reg 8(2).

807. Investments to which restrictions do not apply.

The prescribed restrictions on employer-related investments<sup>1</sup> do not restrict or prohibit the following investments<sup>2</sup>:

- 173
- 1910 (1) certain investments prescribed as employer-related investments<sup>3</sup> where:
234. (a) the effecting of the policy of insurance constitutes the carrying on of a specified class of long term business<sup>4</sup>; and
235. (b) the policy of insurance is issued by an insurance company which is the employer and is either an insurance company which is authorised<sup>5</sup> to carry on ordinary long term insurance business<sup>6</sup> or an EC company<sup>7</sup> or a friendly society which is authorised<sup>8</sup> to carry on long term business under any of the specified classes<sup>9</sup>;
- 174
- 1911 (2) any employer-related investment of resources in an account (including a current, deposit or share account) with a building society<sup>10</sup> or an institution authorised under Part I of the Banking Act 1987<sup>11</sup>;
- 1912 (3) any employer-related investment of resources which derives from a member's<sup>12</sup> voluntary contributions and is invested in employer-related investments with the written agreement of the member who paid those contributions<sup>13</sup>;
- 1913 (4) sums due from the employer to the trustees by virtue of a provision in an order appointing trustees<sup>14</sup> such as is permitted by the provision allowing certain sums to be treated as a debt due from the employer to the trustees<sup>15</sup>;
- 1914 (5) sums which fall or fell to be treated as debts due from the employer to the trustees or managers by virtue of certain specified statutory provisions<sup>16</sup> and sums which would fall to be so treated were they not already debts due from the employer to the trustees or managers<sup>17</sup>;
- 1915 (6) a loan to the employer or a company associated with the employer if:
- 175
236. (a) the scheme provides benefits for directors of a company which is the employer, or such directors and others;
237. (b) there is a policy of insurance taken out under the scheme which is specifically allocated to the provision of benefits under the scheme and the directors' interests under which are used as security for the loan;
238. (c) the policy is effected with an insurance company such as is mentioned in head (1)(b) above;
239. (d) Inland Revenue requirements concerning the loan have been satisfied; and
240. (e) the directors agreeing to their interests under the policy concerned being used as security for the loan have so agreed in writing<sup>18</sup>.

The investments made by the operator of any collective investment scheme<sup>19</sup> are not taken into account<sup>20</sup> in certain circumstances<sup>21</sup>.

Where the disposal of assets on the winding up of a scheme would otherwise result in a contravention of the restrictions on employer-related investments, any employer-related investments held before the commencement of the winding up may be retained while the scheme is being wound up, but there must be no new investment in employer-related investments while the resources so retained exceed five per cent of the current market value of the resources of the scheme<sup>22</sup>. This does not, however, apply to permit the retention of employer-related investments which were, prior to the commencement of the winding up, held in contravention of the statutory restrictions, or employer-related loans to which certain transitional provisions<sup>23</sup> apply<sup>24</sup>.

808. Transitional provisions.

Where on 6 April 1997 the resources of an occupational pension scheme were invested in (1) certain employer-related loans<sup>1</sup> which were in being on 18 December 1996 and which are not excepted from the prescribed restrictions on employer-related investments<sup>2</sup>; or (2) certain other employer-related investments<sup>3</sup> to the extent that they exceed five per cent of the current market value of the resources of the scheme, those investments may be retained in accordance with the following provisions<sup>4</sup>. To the extent that those employer-related investments consist of:

- 1916 (a) certain employer-related loans<sup>5</sup> they may, where by virtue of contractual or other legal obligations repayment cannot be required immediately, be retained until the earliest date on which repayment can be enforced<sup>6</sup>;
- 1917 (b) certain securities of a prescribed type<sup>7</sup> which, immediately before 6 April 1997, were employer-related investments which could be retained without limit of time under the previous legislation<sup>8</sup> or which could not be so retained but which did not contravene that legislation, they may be held until 6 April 2002, or, if by virtue of contractual or other legal obligations, disinvestment cannot be effected by that date, until the earliest date on which disinvestment may be effected<sup>9</sup>;
- 1918 (c) an employer-related loan the terms of which have, before 1 January 1996, been specifically approved by a court having jurisdiction in relation to the scheme as being in the interests of the members of the scheme, then, provided that the terms of the loan as so approved are not changed, such part of the loan, repayment of which cannot be required other than on the commencement of the winding up of the scheme, may be retained until the winding up of the scheme commences<sup>10</sup>;
- 1919 (d) any employer-related loans which do not contravene the previous legislation and to which heads (a) to (c) above do not apply, they may be retained until 6 April 2002 or, if by virtue of contractual or other legal obligations repayment cannot be required by that date, be retained until the earliest date on which repayment can be enforced<sup>11</sup>;
- 1920 (e) other investments mentioned in head (2) above (excluding, for the avoidance of doubt, investments in a collective investment scheme<sup>12</sup>), they may be retained without limit of time<sup>13</sup>.

If any investment referred to in heads (a) to (e) above is listed on a recognised stock exchange<sup>14</sup> it may be retained for a period of no more than six calendar months beginning with the date on which it was listed, if that date is on or after 6 April 1997<sup>15</sup>.

There must be no new investment in employer-related investments while the resources of a scheme retained in employer-related investments (other than investments to which the statutory restrictions do not apply<sup>16</sup>) exceed five per cent of the current market value of the resources of the scheme<sup>17</sup>.

<sup>1</sup> ie including such loans as are mentioned in the Occupational Pension Schemes (Investment of Scheme's Resources) Regulations 1992, SI 1992/246, reg 5(2)(a) (revoked) (loans which were in being on 17 February 1992 and which were authorised to be retained until 8 March 1994 or, where repayment could not be required before that date, until the earliest date on which repayment could be enforced): Occupational Pension Schemes (Investment) Regulations 1996, SI 1996/3127, reg 7(1)(a). Halsbury's Laws of England/SOCIAL SECURITY AND PENSIONS (VOLUME 44(2) (REISSUE))/18. OCCUPATIONAL PENSION SCHEMES/(5) INVESTMENTS/809. Multi-employer schemes.

809. Multi-employer schemes.

Where an occupational pension scheme in relation to which there is more than one employer is divided into two or more sections and the provisions of the scheme are such that:

- 1921 (1) different sections of the scheme apply to different employers or groups of employers (whether or not more than one section applies to any particular employer or groups including any particular employer); and
- 1922 (2) contributions payable to the scheme by an employer, or by a member in employment under that employer, are allocated to that employer's section (or, if more than one section applies to the employer, to the section which is appropriate in respect of the employment in question); and
- 1923 (3) a specified part or proportion of the assets of the scheme is attributable to each section and cannot be used for the purposes of any other section, then the prescribed restrictions on employer-related investments<sup>1</sup> apply as if each section of the scheme were a separate scheme<sup>2</sup>. Furthermore, where:

- 1924 (a) a scheme which has been such a scheme as is mentioned above is divided into two or more sections some or all of which apply only to members who are not in pensionable service under the section; and
- 1925 (b) the provisions of the scheme have not been amended so as to prevent the conditions mentioned in heads (1) to (3) above being satisfied in relation to two or more sections; but
- 1926 (c) those conditions have ceased to be satisfied in relation to one or more sections (whether before or after 6 April 1997) by reason only of there being no members in pensionable service under the section and no contributions which are to be allocated to it, then those restrictions apply as if the section in relation to which those conditions have ceased to be satisfied were a separate scheme<sup>3</sup>.

Where there is more than one employer in relation to a scheme, other than a scheme to which the above provisions apply, and at least two of those employers are persons who are neither a company and a person connected with that company nor associates of each other, the statutory restrictions on employer-related investments apply with certain other prescribed modifications<sup>4</sup>.

<sup>3</sup> Ibid reg 9(2). For the purposes of reg 9(1), (2) there must be disregarded any provisions of the scheme by which contributions or transfers of assets may be made to make provision for death benefits; and where reg 9(1) or (2) applies and contributions or transfers are so made to a section ('the death benefits section') the assets of which may only be applied for the provision of death benefits, the death benefits section must also be treated as if it were a separate scheme for the purposes of regs 2-8 (as amended): reg 9(2A) (added by SI 1997/786). For the purposes of the Occupational Pension Schemes (Investment) Regulations 1996, SI 1996/3127, reg 9(1)-(2A) (reg 9(2A) as so added), there must be disregarded any provisions of the scheme by virtue of which on the winding up of the scheme assets attributable to one section may be used for the purposes of another section: reg 9(2B) (as so added).

4 Ibid reg 9(3). The modifications are prescribed by reg 9(3) and are that (1): reg 5(1)(a) (see PARA 806 ante) applies with the substitution for the words 'employer-related investments' of the words 'investments which are employer-related investments in relation to a particular employer and not more than 20% overall of that value may be invested in employer-related investments'; and (2) for reg 7(4) there is to be substituted:

189 '(4) There shall be no new investment in employer-related investments while: (a) the resources of a scheme retained in investments which are employer-related investments in relation to a particular employer (other than investments authorised by regulation 6) exceed 5% of the current market value of the resources of the scheme; or (b) more than 20% overall of the current market value of the resources of the scheme is retained under this regulation in employer-related investments.'

(6) FUNDING

811. Minimum funding requirement.

Every occupational pension scheme<sup>1</sup> other than a money purchase scheme<sup>2</sup>, or a scheme falling within a prescribed<sup>3</sup> class or description<sup>4</sup>, is subject to a requirement ('the minimum funding requirement') that the value of the assets of the scheme is not less than the amount of the liabilities of the scheme<sup>5</sup>. For these purposes, the liabilities and assets to be taken into account, and their amount or value, must be determined, calculated and verified by a prescribed person and in the prescribed manner<sup>6</sup>. In calculating the value of any liabilities for those purposes, a provision of the scheme which limits the amount of its liabilities by reference to the amount of its assets is to be disregarded<sup>7</sup>.

1 For the meaning of 'occupational pension scheme' see PARA 741 ante (definition applied by the Pensions Act 1995 s 176). See also PARA 598 note 7 ante.

2 'Money purchase scheme' means a pension scheme under which all the benefits that may be provided are money purchase benefits; and 'money purchase benefits', in relation to a member of a personal or occupational pension scheme or the widow or widower of a member of such a scheme, means benefits the rate or amount of which is calculated by reference to a payment or payments made by the member or by any other person in respect of the member and which are not average salary benefits: Pension Schemes Act 1993 s 181(1) (definition applied by the Pensions Act 1995 s 124(5)).

3 For the meaning of 'prescribed' see PARA 555 note 1 ante.

4 The minimum funding requirement does not apply:

190 (1) to a public service pension scheme (as to which see PARA 874 ante): (a) under the provisions of which there is no requirement for assets related to the intended rate or amount of benefit under the scheme to be set aside in advance (disregarding requirements relating to additional voluntary contributions); or (b) which is made under the Superannuation Act 1972 s 7 (superannuation of persons employed in local government service etc) or the Parliamentary and other Pensions Act 1987 s 2 (as amended) (power to provide for pensions for members of the House of Commons etc);

191 (2) to any occupational pension scheme in respect of which any Minister of the Crown has given a guarantee or made any other arrangements for the purpose of securing that the assets of the scheme are sufficient to meet its liabilities;

192 (3) to an occupational pension scheme which provides relevant benefits, but is neither an approved scheme nor a relevant statutory scheme;

193 (4) to a scheme with such a superannuation fund as is mentioned in the Income and Corporation Taxes Act 1988 s 615(6);

194 (5) to a scheme with less than two members;

195 (6) to a scheme: (a) the only benefits provided by which (other than money purchase benefits) are death benefits; and (b) under the provisions of which no member has accrued rights (other than rights to money purchase benefits);

196 (7) to a relevant lump sum retirement benefits scheme; or

and for these purposes, 'approved scheme' means a scheme which is approved or was formerly approved under the Income and Corporation Taxes Act 1988 s 590 or s 591 (as amended) or in respect of which an application for such approval has been duly made but has not been determined; 'lump sum benefits' does not include benefits paid by way of commuted retirement pension; 'relevant benefits' has the meaning given in s 612(1); 'relevant lump sum retirement benefits scheme' means an approved scheme: (i) which has been categorised by the Commissioners of Inland Revenue for the purposes of its approval as a centralised scheme for non-associated employers; (ii) which is not contracted-out; and (iii) under the provisions of which the only benefits which may be provided on or after retirement (other than money purchase benefits derived from the payment of additional contributions by any person) are lump sum benefits which are not calculated by reference to any member's salary; and 'relevant statutory scheme' has the meaning given in s 611A (as added) (see PARA 756 note 2 ante): Occupational Pension Schemes (Minimum Funding Requirement and Actuarial Valuations) Regulations 1996, SI 1996/1536, reg 28(1), (2).

Where a debt under the Pensions Act 1995 s 75 arises, in the case of a scheme to which s 56 applies, at an applicable time (as defined in s 75(3)) immediately before an insolvency event occurs in relation to a person who is at that time the sole employer in relation to the scheme, or to persons who are at that time the only employers in relation to the scheme, ss 57-60 do not apply to the scheme, but this does not affect any rights or obligations arising under ss 56-61 before that time and, if s 60(2) (see PARA 821 post) has applied in relation to the scheme and the employer has secured the increase required by s 60 by a method specified in the Occupational Pension Schemes (Minimum Funding Requirement and Actuarial Valuations) Regulations 1996, SI 1996/1536, reg 22, Sch 4 (see PARA 821 post), this provision does not affect the operation of Sch 4 or anything done under it: reg 28(3), (5) (amended by SI 1997/786).

5 Pensions Act 1995 s 56(1), (2). In ss 57-61, in relation to any occupational pension scheme to which s 56 applies, the amount of the liabilities referred to in s 56(1) is referred to as 'the amount of the scheme liabilities' and the value of the assets referred to in that subsection is referred to as 'the value of the scheme assets': s 56(5)(a), (b).

6 Ibid s 56(3). Regulations made by virtue of s 56(3) may provide for the values of the assets and the amounts of the liabilities to be calculated and verified in accordance with guidance prepared and from time to time revised by a prescribed body, and approved by the Secretary of State: s 119. For the meaning of 'regulations' see PARA 555 note 1 ante. In exercise of the power so conferred, the Secretary of State has made the Occupational Pension Schemes (Minimum Funding Requirement and Actuarial Valuations) Regulations 1996, SI 1996/1536 (amended by SI 1996/3127; and SI 1997/786): see notes 4 supra, 7 infra; and PARA 812 et seq post.

7 Pensions Act 1995 s 56(4). Regulations may modify s 56 as it applies in prescribed circumstances: s 61. Section 56 is modified in relation to (1) multi-employer schemes; (2) schemes which have no active members; (3) schemes covering both United Kingdom and foreign employment; and (4) schemes with a partial government guarantee: see the Occupational Pension Schemes (Minimum Funding Requirement and Actuarial Valuations) Regulations 1996, SI 1996/1536, reg 29, Sch 5 paras 1, 3-6.

812. Valuation and certification of assets and liabilities.

- 1927 (1) obtain, within a prescribed period<sup>4</sup>, an actuarial valuation<sup>5</sup> and afterwards obtain such a valuation before the end of prescribed intervals<sup>6</sup>; and
- 1928 (2) on prescribed occasions or within prescribed periods, obtain a certificate prepared by the actuary<sup>7</sup> of the scheme:
- 177 241. (a) stating whether or not in his opinion the contributions payable towards the scheme are adequate for the purpose of securing that the minimum funding requirement will continue to be met throughout the prescribed period or, if it appears to him that it is not met, will be met by the end of that period; and
- 242. (b) indicating any relevant changes that have occurred since the last actuarial valuation was prepared<sup>8</sup>.

The trustees or managers must:

- 1929 (i) if the actuary states in such a certificate that in his opinion the contributions payable towards the scheme are not adequate for the purpose of securing that the minimum funding requirement will continue to be met throughout the prescribed period or, if it appears to him that it is not met, will be met by the end of that period; or
- 1930 (ii) in prescribed circumstances, obtain an actuarial valuation within the period set out below<sup>9</sup>.

The trustees or managers must secure that any valuation or certificate so obtained is made available to the employer<sup>10</sup> within seven days of their receiving it<sup>11</sup>. Where, in the case of an occupational pension scheme to which the minimum funding requirement applies, the above provisions are not complied with: the provisions relating to prohibition orders<sup>12</sup> apply to any trustee who has failed to take all such steps as are reasonable to secure compliance<sup>13</sup>; and the provisions relating to civil penalties<sup>14</sup> apply to any trustee or manager who has failed to take all such steps<sup>15</sup>.

In a case within head (a) above the trustees or managers are not required to obtain an actuarial valuation if:

- 1931 (A) in the opinion of the actuary of the scheme, the value of the scheme assets<sup>16</sup> is not less than 90 per cent of the amount of the scheme liabilities<sup>17</sup>; and
- 1932 (B) since the date on which the actuary signed the certificate referred to in head (a) above, the schedule of contributions<sup>18</sup> for the scheme has been revised<sup>19</sup>.

If the trustees or managers obtain such a valuation they must do so in the case of a valuation required by head (i) above, within the period of six months beginning with the date on which the certificate was signed, and in any other case, within a prescribed period<sup>20</sup>. A valuation or certificate so obtained must be prepared in such manner, give such information and contain such statements as may be prescribed<sup>21</sup>.

811-824 Funding

Pensions Act 1995 ss 56-61 repealed: Pensions Act 2004 Sch 13 Pt 1. SI 1996/1536 revoked, subject to savings: SI 2005/3377.

The Pensions Act 2004 Pt 3 (ss 221-233) sets out the statutory framework for the scheme funding requirements which replace the minimum funding requirement; see PARA 824A.

Halsbury's Laws of England/SOCIAL SECURITY AND PENSIONS (VOLUME 44(2) (REISSUE))/18. OCCUPATIONAL PENSION SCHEMES/ (6) FUNDING/813. Method of valuation of assets and liabilities.

813. Method of valuation of assets and liabilities.

The liabilities and assets of an occupational pension scheme<sup>1</sup> which are to be taken into account for the purposes of the minimum funding requirement<sup>2</sup> and their amount and value must be determined, calculated and verified by the actuary in the specified manner<sup>3</sup>, in accordance with the mandatory guidelines<sup>4</sup> and, in the case of any valuation for the purpose of forming an opinion as to whether the minimum funding requirement is met on a relevant date, on the following general assumptions<sup>5</sup>:

- 1933 (1) that no contributions will become due to the scheme from the employer or the members on or after the relevant date<sup>6</sup>;
- 1934 (2) that all pensionable service under the scheme ceased immediately before that date;
- 1935 (3) that liabilities in respect of members will be so secured that the benefits of pensioner members will be equal in value to those under the scheme and the benefits of active members and deferred members will be reasonably likely to be equal in value to those payable in respect of their accrued rights under the scheme; and
- 1936 (4) that liabilities in respect of members will include such amounts in respect of the expenses involved in meeting them as are indicated by the mandatory guidelines<sup>7</sup>.

Where arrangements are being made by the scheme for the transfer to or from it of accrued rights, until such time as the trustees or managers of the scheme to which the transfer is being made ('the receiving scheme') have received assets of the full amount agreed by them as consideration for the transfer, it must be assumed:

- 1937 (a) that the rights have not been transferred; and
- 1938 (b) that any assets transferred in respect of the transfer of those rights are assets of the scheme making the transfer and not of the receiving scheme and have such a value as is determined in accordance with the mandatory guidelines<sup>8</sup>.

1 'Scheme', in the cases mentioned in the Occupational Pension Schemes (Minimum Funding Requirement and Actuarial Valuations) Regulations 1996, SI 1996/1536, reg 29, Sch 5 paras 1, 4-6 (sectionalised and partly approved or guaranteed schemes) must be construed in accordance with those paragraphs (and 'employer' and 'member' must be construed accordingly): reg 2(1).

2 I.e. for the purposes of the Pensions Act 1995 ss 56-61: see PARAS 811-812 ante, 817 et seq post.

3 I.e. in the manner specified in the Occupational Pension Schemes (Minimum Funding Requirement and Actuarial Valuations) Regulations 1996, SI 1996/1536, regs 4-9 (as amended). For detailed rules as to determination and valuation of assets see reg 4; as to valuation of insurance contracts see reg 5; and for detailed rules as to the determination and valuation of liabilities see reg 7 (amended by SI 1997/786). There must be excluded from the value of the scheme assets: (1) any resources invested (or treated as invested by or under the Pensions Act 1995 s 40) in contravention of s 40(1) (employer-related investments: see PARA 806 ante); (2) any amounts treated as a debt due to the trustees or managers under s 59(2), s 60(5) or s 75(1), or under the Pension Schemes Act 1993 s 144(1) (repealed), which are unlikely to be recovered without disproportionate cost or within a reasonable time; (3) except for the purposes of the Pensions Act 1995 s 60(2)-(7) (see PARA 821 post), any increase in value to which the Occupational Pension Schemes (Minimum Funding Requirement and Actuarial Valuations) Regulations 1996, SI 1996/1536, Sch 4 applies: reg 6(1) (amended by SI 1996/3127; and SI 1997/786). At any time after the transitional period, there must also be excluded any resources which would fall into head (1) supra if their retention were not permitted by the Occupational Pension Schemes (Investment) Regulations 1996, SI 1996/3127, reg 7 or reg 8 or if reg 9(3) were omitted; and in determining at any such time whether any resources fall within head (1) supra or within this provision, the current market value of the resources of the scheme for the purposes of reg 5(1)(a) (see PARA 806 ante) is to be taken not to include the value of any investment (a) which is prohibited by reg 5(1)(b) or (2); (b) the retention of which is permitted by reg 7 or reg 8; or (c) which falls within head (2) or (3) supra: Occupational Pension Schemes (Minimum Funding Requirement and Actuarial Valuations) Regulations 1996, SI 1996/1536, reg 6(2), (3) (substituted by SI 1996/3127).

The assets and liabilities of the scheme must be valued by reference to the same date: Occupational Pension Schemes (Minimum Funding Requirement and Actuarial Valuations) Regulations 1996, SI 1996/1536, reg 8(1). In calculating the amount of any liability by reference to any date for the purpose of forming an opinion as to whether the minimum funding requirement is met on a relevant date, the actuary must, in such manner as is indicated in the mandatory guidelines, apply such demographic assumptions as are specified by that guidance for the scheme by reference to the members of the scheme, in the case of any scheme where in accordance with reg 7(4), (5), any liabilities in respect of the pensions payable to or in respect of members who are pensioner members on that date may be assumed to be met from investments in equities, and in accordance with that guidance it is appropriate to do so: reg 8(2)(a). In the case of any other scheme, he must apply such demographic assumptions as are specified for the scheme in question by reference to such tables as are specified by that guidance for the scheme: reg 8(2)(b). In calculating the value of any asset or the amount of any liability as at any future time, in order to form an opinion as to the adequacy of rates of contributions to a scheme for the purpose of securing that the minimum funding requirement will continue to be met by the scheme throughout any period, or will be met by the scheme by the end of any period, the actuary must take into account (in addition to the matters mentioned in regs 3-8 (as amended) so far as they are relevant) such assumptions as are specified by the mandatory guidelines as appropriate for the purposes of such a calculation: reg 9(1). In forming an opinion as to the adequacy of rates of contributions shown in a schedule of contributions for a scheme for the purpose of securing that the minimum funding requirement will continue to be met throughout or, as the case may be, will be met by the end of the schedule period, the actuary may make such adjustments to the value of the assets of the scheme and the amount of the liabilities of the scheme, as shown in the last minimum funding valuation for the scheme, as are in his opinion, in accordance with the mandatory guidelines, appropriate to reflect changes in the assets and liabilities of the scheme after the relevant date of that valuation: reg 9(2). As to the mandatory guidance see note 4 infra.

4 References to the guidance in GN 27 are to the mandatory guidelines on minimum funding requirement (GN 27), prepared and published by the Institute of Actuaries and the Faculty of Actuaries and approved for these purposes by the Secretary of State, with such revisions as have been so approved (1) in the case of guidance applicable in relation to a minimum funding valuation, as at the date of signing of the valuation; and (2) in the case of guidance applicable to a certificate under the Pensions Act 1995 s 57(1)(b) or a certificate under s 58 of the rates of contributions shown in a schedule of contributions, as at the relevant date: Occupational Pension Schemes (Minimum Funding Requirement and Actuarial Valuations) Regulations 1996, SI 1996/1536, reg 2(3). Where in the 1996 Regulations there is a reference to the value of any asset or the amount of any liability being calculated or verified in accordance with the opinion of the actuary or as he thinks appropriate, he must comply with any relevant provisions in that guidance in making that calculation or verification: reg 3(1). 'The transitional period' means the period of five years beginning with 6 April 1997: reg 2(1).

6 'The relevant date' means, in relation to a minimum funding valuation, the effective date; and in relation to a certificate under the Pensions Act 1995 s 57(1)(b) or a certificate under s 58 of the rates of contributions shown in a schedule of contributions, the date the certificate is signed; and 'minimum funding valuation' means an actuarial valuation required by s 57(1)(a) or s 57(2): Occupational Pension Schemes (Minimum Funding Requirement and Actuarial Valuations) Regulations 1996, SI 1996/1536, reg 2(1). 'The effective date', (1) in relation to a minimum funding valuation, has the meaning given in the Pensions Act 1995 s 56(5) (ie the date on which the assets and liabilities are valued); (2) in relation to a valuation obtained under the Occupational Pension Schemes (Minimum Funding Requirement and Actuarial Valuations) Regulations 1996, SI 1996/1536, reg 30, means the date as at which the assets and liabilities are valued; (3) in relation to a disclosure valuation, means the date as at which the valuation was made: reg 2(1). For the meaning of 'disclosure valuation' see PARA 814 note 2 post.

7 Ibid reg 3(2).

8 Ibid reg 3(3).

In the case of an occupational pension scheme<sup>1</sup> which commences on or after 6 April 1997, in relation to which there was no disclosure valuation<sup>2</sup> before that date or to which the minimum funding requirement<sup>3</sup> first applies after that date, the first minimum funding valuation<sup>4</sup> to be obtained in relation to the scheme must be by reference to an effective date<sup>5</sup> no later than the first anniversary of the date on which the scheme commences or, as the case may be, the minimum funding requirement first applies to it and must be obtained by the trustees or managers before the end of the period of one year beginning with its effective date<sup>6</sup>.

In the case of any other scheme the first minimum funding valuation to be obtained in relation to the scheme must be by reference to an effective date no later than the third anniversary of the effective date of the last disclosure valuation in relation to the scheme before 6 April 1997 and must be obtained by the trustees or managers before the end of the period of one year beginning with its effective date<sup>7</sup>.

Any subsequent minimum funding valuation in relation to the scheme<sup>8</sup> must be obtained by the trustees or managers:

UPDATE

741-873 Occupational Pension Schemes

A new type of pension scheme, known as the stakeholder pension scheme, has been established: see the Welfare Reform and Pensions Act Pt I (ss 1-8); and PARA 873A.

The Income Tax (Earnings and Pensions) Act 2003 ss 580-608, 623-628 (which replaced those parts of the Income and Corporation Taxes Act 1988 and subsequent legislation dealing with approved retirement benefits schemes, former approved superannuation funds, approved personal pension schemes, and retirement annuity contracts) are repealed: Finance Act 2004 Sch 31 paras 7, 10, Sch 42 Pt 3. The 2004 Act introduces the concept of registered pension schemes: see Pt 4 (ss 149-284); and PARA 873B.

The Pensions Act 2008 Pt 1 Ch 5 (ss 67-78) makes provision for the establishment of a trust-based occupational pension scheme and for a trustee corporation; see para 873D.

811-824 Funding

Pensions Act 1995 ss 56-61 repealed: Pensions Act 2004 Sch 13 Pt 1. SI 1996/1536 revoked, subject to savings: SI 2005/3377.

The Pensions Act 2004 Pt 3 (ss 221-233) sets out the statutory framework for the scheme funding requirements which replace the minimum funding requirement; see PARA 824A.

Halsbury's Laws of England/SOCIAL SECURITY AND PENSIONS (VOLUME 44(2) (REISSUE))/18. OCCUPATIONAL PENSION SCHEMES/ (6) FUNDING/816. Duty to obtain minimum funding valuations in certain circumstances.

816. Duty to obtain minimum funding valuations in certain circumstances.

If during any schedule period<sup>1</sup> it appears to the trustees or managers of an occupational pension scheme<sup>2</sup>, having consulted the actuary and obtained his opinion, that, by reason of any event which has had a significant effect on the value of the scheme's assets or the amount of its liabilities, or of a series of events which together have had such an effect, there is a serious risk that the minimum funding requirement<sup>3</sup> will not continue to be met throughout the schedule period or, in a case where the last minimum funding valuation<sup>4</sup> for the scheme showed that on the effective date<sup>5</sup> of that valuation that requirement was not met, that it will not be met by the end of that period, then they must obtain a minimum funding valuation before the end of the period of six months beginning with the date on which the actuary gives his opinion<sup>6</sup>. This obligation does not, however, apply if before the end of that period of six months the schedule of contributions has been revised<sup>7</sup> and the revision certified<sup>8</sup> by the actuary, or in the case of an opinion given by an actuary during the transitional period<sup>9</sup>.

If, when the actuary is giving a certificate under the statutory provisions relating to occasional and periodic certification of the adequacy of contributions<sup>10</sup> in relation to a scheme, in a case where the latest certificate<sup>11</sup> of the rates of contributions shown in the scheme's schedule of contributions was given:

- 1941 (1) in a case when the minimum funding requirement appeared to be met<sup>12</sup>; or
- 1942 (2) in a case when the minimum funding requirement appeared not to be met<sup>13</sup>, but in respect of rates calculated to secure that the scheme would meet the minimum funding requirement on or before the relevant date of the certificate, the actuary is of the opinion that a minimum funding valuation for the scheme as at that date would be a serious shortfall valuation<sup>14</sup>, then he must include a statement of that opinion in the certificate<sup>15</sup>. If the actuary does state in such a certificate that he is of that opinion, the trustees or managers must obtain a minimum funding valuation before the end of the period of six months beginning with the relevant date of the certificate<sup>16</sup>, except where the relevant date of the certificate falls in the transitional period<sup>17</sup>.

If, in the case of a scheme in relation to which there is more than one employer, an event occurs in relation to one or more, but not all, of the employers, by virtue of which a debt may be treated as having arisen<sup>18</sup> from that employer, or those employers, to the trustees or managers of the scheme, and:

- 1943 (a) the last minimum funding valuation for the scheme before the applicable time<sup>19</sup> showed that on the effective date of that valuation the minimum funding requirement was not met; or
- 1944 (b) the last certificate<sup>20</sup> before the applicable time of the rates of contributions shown in the scheme's schedule of contributions was given in a case when the minimum funding requirement appeared not to be met<sup>21</sup> in respect of rates which were not calculated to secure that the scheme would meet the minimum funding requirement on or before that time; or
- 1945 (c) the last certificate<sup>22</sup> before the applicable time was a certificate that the contributions were inadequate contributions<sup>23</sup>, the trustees or managers must obtain a minimum funding valuation<sup>24</sup>. The valuation must be obtained before the end of the period of six months beginning with the applicable time, in a case where the effective date of the valuation coincides with that time, and otherwise, before the end of the period of three months beginning with that time<sup>25</sup>.

741-873 Occupational Pension Schemes

A new type of pension scheme, known as the stakeholder pension scheme, has been established: see the Welfare Reform and Pensions Act Pt I (ss 1-8); and PARA 873A.

The Income Tax (Earnings and Pensions) Act 2003 ss 580-608, 623-628 (which replaced those parts of the Income and Corporation Taxes Act 1988 and subsequent legislation dealing with approved retirement benefits schemes, former approved superannuation funds, approved personal pension schemes, and retirement annuity contracts) are repealed: Finance Act 2004 Sch 31 paras 7, 10, Sch 42 Pt 3. The 2004 Act introduces the concept of registered pension schemes: see Pt 4 (ss 149-284); and PARA 873B.

The Pensions Act 2008 Pt 1 Ch 5 (ss 67-78) makes provision for the establishment of a trust-based occupational pension scheme and for a trustee corporation; see para 873D.

811-824 Funding

Pensions Act 1995 ss 56-61 repealed: Pensions Act 2004 Sch 13 Pt 1. SI 1996/1536 revoked, subject to savings: SI 2005/3377.

The Pensions Act 2004 Pt 3 (ss 221-233) sets out the statutory framework for the scheme funding requirements which replace the minimum funding requirement; see PARA 824A.

Halsbury's Laws of England/SOCIAL SECURITY AND PENSIONS (VOLUME 44(2) (REISSUE))/18. OCCUPATIONAL PENSION SCHEMES/ (6) FUNDING/817. Schedules of contributions.

817. Schedules of contributions.

The trustees or managers<sup>1</sup> of an occupational pension scheme<sup>2</sup> to which the minimum funding requirement<sup>3</sup> applies must secure that there is prepared, maintained and from time to time revised a schedule (referred to as a 'schedule of contributions') showing the rates of contributions payable towards the scheme by or on behalf of the employer<sup>4</sup> and the active members<sup>5</sup> of the scheme, and the dates on or before which such contributions are to be paid<sup>6</sup>. The schedule of contributions for a scheme must satisfy prescribed<sup>7</sup> requirements<sup>8</sup>.

The schedule of contributions for a scheme:

- 1946 (1) must be prepared before the end of a prescribed period beginning with the signing of the first actuarial valuation<sup>9</sup> for the scheme<sup>10</sup>;
- 1947 (2) may be revised from time to time where the revisions are previously agreed by the trustees or managers and the employer and any revision in the rates of contributions is certified by the actuary<sup>11</sup> of the scheme<sup>12</sup>; and
- 1948 (3) must be revised before the end of a prescribed period beginning with the signing of each subsequent actuarial valuation<sup>13</sup>.

The matters shown in the schedule of contributions for a scheme:

- 1949 (a) must be matters previously agreed by the trustees or managers and the employer<sup>14</sup>; or
- 1950 (b) if no such agreement has been made as to all the matters shown in the schedule, must be:
  - 179 243. (i) rates of contributions determined by the trustees or managers, being such rates as in their opinion are adequate for the purpose of securing that the minimum funding requirement will continue to be met throughout the prescribed period or, if it appears to them that it is not met, will be met by the end of that period; and
  - 244. (ii) other matters determined by the trustees or managers; and the rates of contributions shown in the schedule must be certified by the actuary of the scheme<sup>15</sup>.

The actuary may not certify the rates of contributions shown in the schedule of contributions:

- 1951 (A) in a case where on the date he signs the certificate it appears to him that the minimum funding requirement is met, unless he is of the opinion that the rates are adequate for the purpose of securing that the requirement will continue to be met throughout the prescribed period<sup>16</sup>; and
- 1952 (B) in any other case, unless he is of the opinion that the rates are adequate for the purpose of securing that the requirement will be met by the end of that period<sup>17</sup>.

The Occupational Pensions Regulatory Authority<sup>18</sup> may in prescribed circumstances extend (or further extend) the period referred to above<sup>19</sup>. Where, in the case of any occupational pension scheme to which the minimum funding requirement applies, the above requirements are not complied with, the provisions relating to prohibition orders<sup>20</sup> apply to any trustee who has failed to take all such steps as are reasonable to secure compliance, and those relating to civil penalties<sup>21</sup> apply to any trustee or manager who has failed to take all such steps<sup>22</sup>.

Except in prescribed<sup>1</sup> circumstances, the trustees or managers<sup>2</sup> of an occupational pension scheme<sup>3</sup> to which the minimum funding requirement<sup>4</sup> applies must, where any amounts payable by or on behalf of the employer<sup>5</sup> or the active members<sup>6</sup> of the scheme in accordance with the schedule of contributions<sup>7</sup> have not been paid on or before the due date, give notice of that fact, within the prescribed period, to the Occupational Pensions Regulatory Authority<sup>8</sup> and to the members<sup>9</sup> of the scheme<sup>10</sup>. Any such amounts which for the time being remain unpaid after that date (whether payable by the employer or not) must, if not a debt due from the employer to the trustees or managers apart from this provision, be treated as such a debt<sup>11</sup>. If, in the case of an occupational pension scheme to which the minimum funding requirement applies, it appears to the trustees or managers at the end of any prescribed period that the minimum funding requirement is not met, they must prepare a report giving the prescribed information about the failure to meet that requirement<sup>12</sup>; and if in the case of any such scheme the above provisions are not complied with, the provisions relating to prohibition orders<sup>13</sup> apply to any trustee who has failed to take all such steps as are reasonable to secure compliance<sup>14</sup>, and those relating to civil penalties<sup>15</sup> apply to any trustee or manager who has failed to take all such steps<sup>16</sup>.

UPDATE

741-873 Occupational Pension Schemes

A new type of pension scheme, known as the stakeholder pension scheme, has been established: see the Welfare Reform and Pensions Act Pt I (ss 1-8); and PARA 873A.

The Income Tax (Earnings and Pensions) Act 2003 ss 580-608, 623-628 (which replaced those parts of the Income and Corporation Taxes Act 1988 and subsequent legislation dealing with approved retirement benefits schemes, former approved superannuation funds, approved personal pension schemes, and retirement annuity contracts) are repealed: Finance Act 2004 Sch 31 paras 7, 10, Sch 42 Pt 3. The 2004 Act introduces the concept of registered pension schemes: see Pt 4 (ss 149-284); and PARA 873B.

The Pensions Act 2008 Pt 1 Ch 5 (ss 67-78) makes provision for the establishment of a trust-based occupational pension scheme and for a trustee corporation; see para 873D.

811-824 Funding

Pensions Act 1995 ss 56-61 repealed: Pensions Act 2004 Sch 13 Pt 1. SI 1996/1536 revoked, subject to savings: SI 2005/3377.

The Pensions Act 2004 Pt 3 (ss 221-233) sets out the statutory framework for the scheme funding requirements which replace the minimum funding requirement; see PARA 824A.

Halsbury's Laws of England/SOCIAL SECURITY AND PENSIONS (VOLUME 44(2) (REISSUE))/18. OCCUPATIONAL PENSION SCHEMES/ (6) FUNDING/821. Serious underprovision.

821. Serious underprovision.

Where, in the case of an occupational pension scheme<sup>1</sup> to which the minimum funding requirement<sup>2</sup> applies, an actuarial valuation<sup>3</sup> shows that, on the effective date<sup>4</sup> of the valuation, the value of the scheme assets<sup>5</sup> is less than 90 per cent of the amount of the scheme liabilities<sup>6</sup> (the difference shown in the valuation being referred to as 'the shortfall') the employer<sup>7</sup> must:

- 1960 (1) by making an appropriate payment to the trustees or managers<sup>8</sup>; or secure an increase in the value of the scheme assets which, taken with any contributions paid, is not less than the shortfall<sup>10</sup>.
- 1961 (2) by a prescribed<sup>9</sup> method,

The required increase in that value must be secured before the end of a prescribed period beginning with the signing of the valuation, or if the actuarial valuation was obtained by reason of such a statement in a specified certificate<sup>11</sup>, before the end of a prescribed period beginning with the signing of the certificate<sup>12</sup>. The Occupational Pensions Regulatory Authority<sup>13</sup> may in prescribed circumstances extend (or further extend) the period so applicable<sup>14</sup>. Except in prescribed circumstances, if the employer fails to secure the required increase in value before the end of the period so applicable, the trustees or managers must, within the period of 14 days (or such longer period as is prescribed) beginning with the end of that period, give written notice of that fact to the authority and to the members<sup>15</sup> of the scheme<sup>16</sup>. If this requirement is not complied with, the provisions relating to prohibition orders<sup>17</sup> apply to any trustee who has failed to take all such steps as are reasonable to secure compliance<sup>18</sup>, and those relating to civil penalties<sup>19</sup> apply to any trustee or manager who has failed to take all such steps<sup>20</sup>.

If the employer fails to secure the required increase in value before the end of the period so applicable, then so much of the shortfall as, at any subsequent time, has not been met by such an increase in value made:

- 1962 (a) by making an appropriate payment to the trustees or managers;
- 1963 (b) by a prescribed method; or
- 1964 (c) by contributions made before the end of that period, must, if not a debt due from the employer to the trustees or managers apart from this provision, be treated at that time as such a debt<sup>21</sup>.

In any case where there has been a valuation by virtue of which the requirements to secure an increase in the value of scheme assets<sup>22</sup> have applied in relation to a scheme, but the actuary of the scheme certifies at the time when he certifies the rates of contributions shown in the schedule of contributions for the scheme which is prepared or revised<sup>23</sup> following the valuation that in his opinion on the date he signs the certificate:

- 1965 (i) the value of the scheme assets is no longer less than 90 per cent of the amount of the scheme liabilities; or
- 1966 (ii) the amount by which that value is less than 90 per cent of the amount of those liabilities ('the difference') has decreased, those requirements cease to apply or, as the case may be, both they and the requirement to treat the shortfall as a due debt<sup>24</sup> apply as if the shortfall were the difference on that date<sup>25</sup>.

Where an increase in value is secured by a prescribed method, the increase is to be treated for these purposes as being of an amount determined in accordance with regulations<sup>26</sup>.

1 For the meaning of 'occupational pension scheme' see PARA 741 ante (definition applied by the Pensions Act 1995 s 176). See also PARA 598 note 7 ante.

2 I.e. the provisions of ibid s 56: see PARA 811 ante.

3 For the meaning of 'actuarial valuation' see PARA 812 note 5 ante.

4 The 'effective date' of an actuarial valuation is the date by reference to which the assets and liabilities are valued: Pensions Act 1995 s 56(5)(d).

5 As to 'the value of the scheme assets' see PARA 811 note 5 ante.

6 As to 'the amount of the scheme liabilities' see PARA 811 note 5 ante.

7 For the meaning of 'employer' see PARA 598 note 4 ante.

8 For the meaning of 'trustees or managers' see PARA 612 note 10 ante.

9 For the meaning of 'prescribed' see PARA 555 note 1 ante. Instead of or in addition to making an appropriate payment to the trustees or managers, the employer may secure the required increase in the value of the scheme assets by (1) arranging for an appropriate letter of credit to be given to the trustees or managers which satisfies the prescribed requirements; (2) arranging, with the agreement of the trustees or managers of the scheme, for the payment of a sum into a deposit account with a relevant institution on the prescribed terms; (3) arranging, with the agreement of the trustees or managers of the scheme, for the trustees or managers to be given a charge over assets, which are otherwise free from incumbrances, being a charge in respect of which the prescribed requirements are satisfied: see the Occupational Pension Schemes (Minimum Funding Requirement and Actuarial Valuations) Regulations 1996, SI 1996/1536, reg 22, Sch 4 paras 2-4. 'Relevant institution' means an institution authorised under the Banking Act 1987, a building society incorporated under the Building Societies Act 1986 or a European deposit-taker within the meaning of the Banking Co-ordination (Second Council Directive) Regulations 1992, SI 1992/3218, reg 82(3): Occupational Pension Schemes (Minimum Funding Requirement and Actuarial Valuations) Regulations 1996, SI 1996/1536, Sch 4 para 1(1). Expenses incurred by the trustees or managers in connection with securing any arrangement under Sch 4 may not be paid out of the assets of the scheme: Sch 4 para 5. An increase in value secured by the method specified: (a) in head (1) supra must at any time be treated for the purposes of the Pensions Act 1995 s 60 as being of an amount equal to the amount specified in the appropriate letter of credit as the maximum amount the institution guarantees, or the section 60 shortfall at that time, whichever is less; (b) in head (2) supra must at any time be treated for those purposes as being of an amount equal to the amount standing to the credit of the account at that time or the section 60 shortfall at that time, whichever is less; (c) in head (3) supra must at any time be treated for those purposes as being of an amount equal to the amount specified in the charge as the maximum amount to be secured by it or the section 60 shortfall at that time, whichever is less: Occupational Pension Schemes (Minimum Funding Requirement and Actuarial Valuations) Regulations 1996, SI 1996/1536, Sch 4 para 6(1)-(3). 'The section 60 shortfall', in relation to a scheme, means the increase in the value of the scheme assets required by the Pensions Act 1995 s 60(2) as a result of a serious shortfall valuation (after taking s 60(7A) (as added) into account in any case where it applies), less any payment made to the trustees or managers by or on behalf of the employer since the valuation (or, in a case where s 60(7A) (as added) applies, the date the actuary signed the certificate) to secure the whole or part of that increase: Occupational Pension Schemes (Minimum Funding Requirement and Actuarial Valuations) Regulations 1996, SI 1996/1536, Sch 4 para 1(1) (amended by SI 1997/786). For the meaning of 'serious shortfall valuation' see PARA 816 note 14 ante.

10 Pensions Act 1995 s 60(1), (2). Where there has been a serious shortfall valuation for a scheme, the period before the end of which the employer must secure the increase in the value of the scheme assets mentioned in s 60(2) is: (1) subject to the Occupational Pension Schemes (Minimum Funding Requirement and Actuarial Valuations) Regulations 1996, SI 1996/1536, reg 20(3), in so far as the increase is secured as mentioned in the Pensions Act 1995 s 60(2)(a) (payments to trustees or managers), the period of one year beginning with the appropriate date; and (2) in so far as the increase is secured as mentioned in s 60(2)(b) by a method specified in the Occupational Pension Schemes (Minimum Funding Requirement and Actuarial Valuations) Regulations 1996, SI 1996/1536, reg 22, Sch 4, the period of 12 weeks beginning with the date on which that valuation was signed: reg 20(1). In head (1) supra, 'the appropriate date' means: (a) if the serious shortfall valuation was obtained under the Pensions Act 1995 s 57(2) (see PARA 812 ante), the date with which the period within which the valuation was required to be obtained began (being the period specified by or under s 57(4)); and (b) otherwise, the date on which that valuation was signed: Occupational Pension Schemes (Minimum Funding Requirement and Actuarial Valuations) Regulations 1996, SI 1996/1536, reg 20(2).

If a minimum funding valuation shows that on its effective date, being a date falling in the transitional period, there was such a difference between the value of the scheme assets and the amount of its liabilities as is mentioned in the Pensions Act 1995 s 60(1) (serious underprovision), the period of one year mentioned in head (1) supra is extended so as to end with the expiry of the period of six years beginning with 6 April 1997; and s 60(4), (5), (7) applies accordingly: Occupational Pension Schemes (Minimum Funding Requirement and Actuarial Valuations) Regulations 1996, SI 1996/1536, reg 20(3). Where the increase in the value of the scheme assets required to be secured by the Pensions Act 1995 s 60(2) is secured as mentioned in s 60(2)(b) within the period mentioned in head (2) supra, nothing in head (1) supra is to be taken as preventing the employer from making a payment to the trustees or managers at any time to secure the whole or part of the required increase: Occupational Pension Schemes (Minimum Funding Requirement and Actuarial Valuations) Regulations 1996, SI 1996/1536, reg 20(4). 16    Pensions Act 1995 s 60(4). See also notes 10, 14 supra. ### 823. Modification of shared cost schemes.

The trustees of a shared cost scheme<sup>1</sup> to which the minimum funding requirement<sup>2</sup> applies may by resolution modify the scheme with a view to making such provision that, if there is a serious shortfall valuation<sup>3</sup> for the scheme, then the cost of any payments which the employer is obliged to make<sup>4</sup> as a result of that valuation is borne by the employer and the members in the appropriate proportions (in the case of the members, either by provision for them to make payments or for their rights to benefits under the scheme to be modified or both), unless the employer and the trustees or managers agree:

- 1971 (1) that the cost of the payments resulting from that valuation is to be borne by the employer alone; or 1972 (2) that he should bear a greater proportion of it than would otherwise fall to be borne by him<sup>5</sup>.

1 For these purposes, 'shared cost scheme' means a scheme under the provisions of which: (1) the level of benefits expected to be provided is defined; (2) contributions are payable by the employer and the active members in specified proportions; and (3) if it appears to the trustees or managers, or an actuarial valuation shows, that otherwise the assets of the scheme will (or are likely to) fall short of the liabilities of the scheme, the rates of contributions payable by both the active members and the employer may be increased in those specified proportions; and 'the appropriate proportions' means those specified proportions: Occupational Pension Schemes (Minimum Funding Requirement and Actuarial Valuations) Regulations 1996, SI 1996/1536, reg 24(2). Voluntary contributions by members and any associated contributions by the employer must be disregarded for these purposes, as must any temporary suspension of the liability to make contributions or alteration in the proportions in which the contributions are payable under any provision of the scheme allowing such a suspension or alteration in any circumstances: reg 24(3).

824. Ongoing actuarial valuations and statements.

The trustees or managers of any occupational pension scheme<sup>1</sup> to which the minimum funding requirement<sup>2</sup> applies (other than a scheme which is being wound up) must obtain a valuation prepared and signed by the actuary of the assets and liabilities of the scheme as at a date ('the effective date') specified in the valuation<sup>3</sup>. Such a valuation must:

- 1973 (1) be so expressed as to enable the expected future course of the scheme's contribution rates and funding level to be understood;
- 1974 (2) state whether it has been prepared in accordance with the guidelines published by the Institute of Actuaries and the Faculty of Actuaries and current on the date of signature of the valuation<sup>4</sup>; and
- 1975 (3) if it has not been so prepared, indicate where there are any material departures from those guidelines<sup>5</sup>.

In the case of a scheme:

- 1976 (a) which commences on or after 6 April 1997;
- 1977 (b) in relation to which there was no disclosure valuation<sup>6</sup> before that date; or
- 1978 (c) to which the minimum funding requirement first applies after that date, the first such valuation to be obtained in relation to the scheme under these provisions must be by reference to an effective date no later than the first anniversary of the date on which the scheme commences or, as the case may be, the minimum funding requirement first applies to it, and must be obtained by the trustees or managers before the end of the period of one year beginning with its effective date<sup>7</sup>. In the case of any other scheme the first such valuation to be obtained in relation to the scheme under these provisions must be by reference to an effective date no later than the third anniversary of the effective date of the last disclosure valuation in relation to the scheme before 6 April 1997 and must be obtained by the trustees or managers before the end of the period of one year beginning with its effective date<sup>8</sup>.

Any subsequent valuation under these provisions must be obtained by the trustees or managers:

- 1979 (i) in a case where the effective date of the valuation is not later than the third anniversary of the effective date of the last such valuation, before the end of the period of four years beginning with the effective date of the last such valuation; and
- 1980 (ii) otherwise, before the end of the period of three years beginning with the date on which the last such valuation was signed<sup>9</sup>.

Each such valuation must be signed before the end of the period of one year beginning with its effective date<sup>10</sup> and must be accompanied by a statement made by the actuary<sup>11</sup>. He may issue a revised statement at any time before the next such valuation is made<sup>12</sup>.

824A. Scheme Funding.

The Pensions Act 2004 Pt 3 (ss 221-233) sets out the statutory framework for the scheme funding requirements which replace the minimum funding requirement. Regulations may modify the provisions of Pt 3 as they apply in prescribed circumstances: s 232 (see the Occupational Pension Schemes (Regulatory Own Funds) Regulations 2005, SI 2005/3380, reg 5). Part 3 is to be construed as one with the Pensions Act 1995 Pt 1: Pensions Act 2004 s 233. For modifications to Pt 3 see the Occupational Pension Schemes (Scheme Funding) Regulations 2005, SI 2005/3377, reg 19, Sch 2; and PARA 824A.1.

For general and supplementary provision relating to the Pensions Act 2004 see PARA 636A.

1. Application

The provisions of Part 3 of the Pensions Act 2004<sup>1</sup> apply to every occupational pension scheme<sup>2</sup> other than (1) a money purchase scheme<sup>3</sup>, or (2) a prescribed<sup>4</sup> scheme or a scheme of a prescribed description<sup>5</sup>. Regulations under head (2) above may provide for exemptions from all or any of the provisions of Part 3 of the Pensions Act 2004<sup>6</sup>.

2    For the meaning of 'occupational pension scheme' see PARA 636A.3.

3    For the meaning of 'money purchase scheme' see PARA 636A.19.

4    For the meaning of 'prescribed' see PARA 636A.3.

6    Pensions Act 2004 s 221(2). As to regulations under the Pensions Act 2004 see ss 314-317 (s 316 amended by Pensions Act 2008 ss 124(7)-(10), 125(3), Sch 9 paras 5, 12). See SI 2005/3377 regs 17, 18 (modified by SI 2005/3380; SI 2005/3377 reg 17 amended by SI 2006/1733, SI 2007/814, SI 2009/615).

2. The statutory funding objective

Every scheme is subject to a requirement ('the statutory funding objective') that it must have sufficient and appropriate assets to cover its technical provisions<sup>1</sup>. For the purposes of Part 3 of the Pensions Act 2004<sup>2</sup> (1) the assets to be taken into account and their value must be determined, calculated and verified in a prescribed manner, and (2) the liabilities to be taken into account must be determined in a prescribed manner and the scheme's technical provisions must be calculated in accordance with any prescribed methods and assumptions<sup>3</sup>. Regulations may (a) provide for alternative prescribed methods and assumptions, (b) provide that it is for the trustees or managers<sup>4</sup> to determine which methods and assumptions are to be used in calculating a scheme's technical provisions, and (c) require the trustees or managers, in making their determination, to take into account prescribed matters and follow prescribed principles<sup>5</sup>. Any provision of the scheme rules<sup>6</sup> that limits the amount of the scheme's liabilities by reference to the value of its assets must be disregarded<sup>7</sup>.

1 Pensions Act 2004 s 222(1). A scheme's 'technical provisions' means the amount required, on an actuarial calculation, to make provision for the scheme's liabilities: s 222(2). Where an occupational pension scheme and not any employer in relation to that scheme (1) underwrites any liability to cover against liability risks linked to death, disability and longevity, (2) guarantees an investment performance, or (3) guarantees a level of benefits, that scheme must hold on a permanent basis specified additional assets above the aggregate of the scheme's technical provisions, in order to absorb discrepancies between the anticipated and actual expenses and profits of the scheme: see the Occupational Pension Schemes (Regulatory Own Funds) Regulations 2005, SI 2005/3380 (amended by SI 2007/814).

2 I.e. the Pensions Act 2004 ss 221-233.

4 For the meaning of 'managers' see PARA 636A.11.

5 Pensions Act 2004 s 222(4). As to regulations under the Pensions Act 2004 see ss 314-317 (s 316 amended by Pensions Act 2008 ss 124(7)-(10), 125(3), Sch 9 paras 5, 12), and NOTE 3.

6 As to the scheme rules see PARA 636A.19.

7 Pensions Act 2004 s 222(5).

3. Statement of funding principles

The trustees or managers must prepare, and from time to time review and if necessary revise, a written statement of (1) their policy for securing that the statutory funding objective is met, and (2) such other matters as may be prescribed<sup>1</sup>. This is referred to in Part 3 of the Pensions Act 2004<sup>2</sup> as a 'statement of funding principles'<sup>3</sup>. The statement must, in particular, record any decisions by the trustees or managers as to (a) the methods and assumptions to be used in calculating the scheme's technical provisions, and (b) the period within which, and manner in which, any failure to meet the statutory funding objective is to be remedied<sup>4</sup>. Provision may be made by regulations (i) as to the period within which a statement of funding principles must be prepared, and (ii) requiring it to be reviewed, and if necessary revised, at such intervals, and on such occasions, as may be prescribed<sup>5</sup>. Where any requirement of these provisions is not complied with, the civil penalty provisions in the Pensions Act 1995<sup>6</sup> apply to a trustee or manager who has failed to take all reasonable steps to secure compliance<sup>7</sup>.

4. Actuarial valuations and reports

The trustees or managers must obtain actuarial valuations<sup>1</sup> (1) at intervals of not more than one year or, if they obtain actuarial reports<sup>2</sup> for the intervening years, at intervals of not more than three years, and (2) in such circumstances and on such other occasions as may be prescribed<sup>3</sup>. The intervals referred to in head (1) above are between effective dates of the valuations, and (a) the effective date of the first actuarial valuation<sup>4</sup> must be not more than one year after the establishment of the scheme, and (b) the effective date of any actuarial report<sup>5</sup> must be not more than one year after the effective date of the last actuarial valuation, or, if more recent, the last actuarial report<sup>6</sup>. The trustees or managers must ensure that a valuation or report obtained by them is received by them within the prescribed period after its effective date<sup>7</sup>. Nothing in these provisions affects any power or duty of the trustees or managers to obtain actuarial valuations or reports at more frequent intervals or in other circumstances or on other occasions<sup>8</sup>. An actuarial valuation or report (whether obtained under these provisions or in pursuance of any other power or duty) must be prepared in such a manner, give such information, contain such statements and satisfy such other requirements as may be prescribed<sup>9</sup>. The trustees or managers must secure that any actuarial valuation or report obtained by them (whether obtained under these provisions or in pursuance of any other power or duty) is made available to the employer<sup>10</sup> within seven days of their receiving it<sup>11</sup>.

1 In the Pensions Act 2004 Pt 3 (ss 221-233) an 'actuarial valuation' means a written report, prepared and signed by the actuary, valuing the scheme's assets and calculating its technical provisions: s 224(2)(a).

2 In ibid Pt 3 an 'actuarial report' means a written report, prepared and signed by the actuary, on developments affecting the scheme's technical provisions since the last actuarial valuation was prepared: s 224(2)(c).

3 Ibid s 224(1). See NOTE 11.

4 In ibid Pt 3 the effective date of an actuarial valuation is the date by reference to which the assets are valued and the technical provisions calculated: s 224(2)(b).

5 In ibid Pt 3 the effective date of an actuarial report is the date by reference to which the information in the report is stated: s 224(2)(d).

6 Ibid s 224(3).

7 Ibid s 224(4). See NOTE 11.

8 Ibid s 224(5).

9 Ibid s 224(6).

10 For the meaning of 'employer' see PARA 636A.15.

11 Pensions Act 2004 s 224(7). Where s 224(1), (4) or (7) is not complied with, the Pensions Act 1995 s 10 (see PARA 611) applies to a trustee or manager who has failed to take all reasonable steps to secure compliance: Pensions Act 2004 s 224(8). As to the prescribed actuarial valuations and reports, see the Occupational Pension Schemes (Scheme Funding) Regulations 2005, SI 2005/3377, reg 7, Sch 1 (reg 7 modified by SI 2005/3380).

5. Certification of technical provisions

When an actuarial valuation is carried out, the calculation of the technical provisions must be certified by the actuary<sup>1</sup>. The certificate must state that in the opinion of the actuary the calculation is made in accordance with regulations<sup>2</sup>. If the actuary cannot give the certificate required by the above provision<sup>3</sup> he must report the matter in writing to the Regulator<sup>4</sup> within a reasonable period after the end of the period within which the valuation must be received by the trustees or managers<sup>5</sup>.

2 In accordance with regulations under ibid s 222 (see PARA 824A.2): s 225(2). As to regulations under the Pensions Act 2004 see ss 314-317 (s 316 amended by Pensions Act 2008 ss 124(7)-(10), 125(3), Sch 9 paras 5, 12).

3 Ie required by Pensions Act 2004 s 225(2).

4 As to the Regulator see PARA 636A.2.

5 Pensions Act 2004 s 225(3). The Pensions Act 1995 s 10 (see PARA 611) applies to the actuary if he fails without reasonable excuse to comply with the Pensions Act 2004 s 225(3): s 225(3).

6. Recovery plan

If having obtained an actuarial valuation it appears to the trustees or managers of a scheme that the statutory funding objective was not met on the effective date of the valuation, they must, within the prescribed time (1) if there is no existing recovery plan in force, prepare a recovery plan; (2) if there is an existing recovery plan in force, review and if necessary revise it<sup>1</sup>. A recovery plan must set out (a) the steps to be taken to meet the statutory funding objective, and (b) the period within which that is to be achieved<sup>2</sup>. A recovery plan must comply with any prescribed requirements and must be appropriate having regard to the nature and circumstances of the scheme<sup>3</sup>. In preparing or revising a recovery plan the trustees or managers must take account of prescribed matters<sup>4</sup>. Provision may be made by regulations as to other circumstances in which a recovery plan may or must be reviewed and if necessary revised<sup>5</sup>. The trustees or managers must, except in prescribed circumstances, send a copy of any recovery plan to the Regulator within a reasonable period after it is prepared or, as the case may be, revised<sup>6</sup>. Where any requirement of the above provisions is not complied with, the civil penalty provisions in the Pensions Act 1995<sup>7</sup> apply to a trustee or manager who has failed to take all reasonable steps to secure compliance<sup>8</sup>.

1 Pensions Act 2004 s 226(1). As to recovery plans, see the Occupational Pension Schemes (Scheme Funding) Regulations 2005, SI 2005/3377, reg 8 (amended by SI 2006/1733).

6 Pensions Act 2004 s 226(6). The copy of any recovery plan sent to the Regulator must be accompanied by the prescribed information: s 226(6).

7 Ie the Pensions Act 1995 s 10: see PARA 611.

8 Pensions Act 2004 s 226(7).

7. Schedule of contributions

The trustees or managers must prepare, and from time to time review and if necessary revise, a schedule of contributions<sup>1</sup>. Provision may be made by regulations (1) as to the period within which, after the establishment of a scheme, a schedule of contributions must be prepared, (2) requiring the schedule of contributions to be reviewed, and if necessary revised, at such intervals, and on such occasions, as may be prescribed, and (3) as to the period for which a schedule of contributions is to be in force<sup>2</sup>. The schedule of contributions must satisfy prescribed requirements<sup>3</sup>. The schedule of contributions must be certified by the actuary and (a) the duty to prepare or revise the schedule is not fulfilled, and (b) the schedule will not come into force, until it has been so certified<sup>4</sup>. The certificate must state that, in the opinion of the actuary (i) the schedule of contributions is consistent with the statement of funding principles, and (ii) the rates shown in the schedule are such that (A) where the statutory funding objective was not met on the effective date of the last actuarial valuation, the statutory funding objective can be expected to be met by the end of the period specified in the recovery plan, or (B) where the statutory funding objective was met on the effective date of the last actuarial valuation, the statutory funding objective can be expected to continue to be met for the period for which the schedule is to be in force<sup>5</sup>. Where the statutory funding objective was not met on the effective date of the last actuarial valuation, the trustees or managers must send a copy of the schedule of contributions to the Regulator within a reasonable period after it is prepared or, as the case may be, revised<sup>6</sup>. Where any requirement of the preceding provisions is not complied with, the civil penalty provisions in the Pensions Act 1995<sup>7</sup> apply to a trustee or manager who has failed to take all reasonable steps to secure compliance<sup>8</sup>.

1 Pensions Act 2004 s 227(1). A 'schedule of contributions' means a statement showing (1) the rates of contributions payable towards the scheme by or on behalf of the employer and the active members of the scheme, and (2) the dates on or before which such contributions are to be paid: s 227(2). For the meaning of 'active member' see PARA 659C.20. For the meaning of 'member' see PARA 636A.3.

2 Ibid s 227(3). As to regulations under the Pensions Act 2004 see ss 314-317 (s 316 amended by Pensions Act 2008 ss 124(7)-(10), 125(3), Sch 9 paras 5, 12). As to schedules of contributions, and the requirement to keep records of contributions, see the Occupational Pension Schemes (Scheme Funding) Regulations 2005, SI 2005/3377, regs 9-11, Sch 1 (regs 9, 10 modified by SI 2005/3380).

3 Pensions Act 2004 s 227(4).

4 Ibid s 227(5).

5 Ibid s 227(6). If the actuary is unable to give the certificate required by s 227(6), he must report the matter in writing to the Regulator within a reasonable period after the end of the period within which the schedule is required to be prepared or, as the case may be, revised: s 227(9). The Pensions Act 1995 s 10 (see PARA 611) applies to the actuary if he fails without reasonable excuse to comply with s 227(9): s 227(9). The Treasury may by order vary the rate of charge; and such an order may make provision for there to be different rates in different circumstances: s 227(5A), (5B) added by Finance Act 2009 Sch 2 para 15). As to the making of such orders see PARA 873B.1.

The provisions of s 227(1), (3), (5)-(9) do not apply in relation to a schedule of contributions imposed by the Regulator under s 231 (see PARA 824A.11) or, as the case may be, where such a schedule of contributions is in force: s 227(10).

8. Failure to make payments

The following provisions<sup>1</sup> apply where an amount payable in accordance with the schedule of contributions by or on behalf of the employer or an active member of a scheme is not paid on or before the due date<sup>2</sup>. If the trustees or managers have reasonable cause to believe that the failure is likely to be of material significance in the exercise by the Regulator of any of its functions, they must, except in prescribed circumstances, give notice of the failure to the Regulator and to the members within a reasonable period<sup>3</sup>. The amount unpaid (whether payable by the employer or not), if not a debt due from the employer to the trustees or managers apart from this provision<sup>4</sup>, must be treated as such a debt<sup>5</sup>.

The above provisions apply in relation to a schedule of contributions imposed by the Regulator<sup>6</sup> as in relation to one agreed between the trustees or managers and the employer<sup>7</sup>.

5 Ibid s 228(3).

The Pensions Act 1995 s 10 (see PARA 611) applies (1) where s 228(2) is not complied with, to a trustee or manager who has failed to take all reasonable steps to secure compliance with s 228(2); (2) to the employer if he fails without reasonable excuse to make a payment required of him (a) in accordance with the schedule of contributions, or (b) by virtue of s 228(3): s 228(4).

6 Ie under ibid s 231: see PARA 824A.11.

9. Matters requiring agreement of the employer

The trustees or managers must obtain the agreement of the employer to (1) any decision as to the methods and assumptions to be used in calculating the scheme's technical provisions<sup>1</sup>; (2) any matter to be included in the statement of funding principles<sup>2</sup>; (3) any provisions of a recovery plan<sup>3</sup>; (4) any matter to be included in the schedule of contributions<sup>4</sup>. If it appears to the trustees or managers that it is not otherwise possible to obtain the employer's agreement within the prescribed time to any such matter, they may (if the employer agrees) by resolution modify the scheme as regards the future accrual of benefits<sup>5</sup>. No modification<sup>6</sup> may be made<sup>7</sup> that on taking effect would or might adversely affect any subsisting right<sup>8</sup> of (a) any member of the scheme, or (b) any survivor<sup>9</sup> of a member of the scheme<sup>10</sup>. Any such modification must be (i) recorded in writing by the trustees or managers, and (ii) notified to the active members within one month of the modification taking effect<sup>11</sup>.

3 See ibid s 226; and PARA 824A.6.

4 See ibid s 227; and PARA 824A.7: s 229(1). If the trustees or managers are unable to reach agreement with the employer within the prescribed time on any such matter as is mentioned in s 229(1), they must report the failure in writing to the Regulator within a reasonable period: s 229(5). See further NOTE 11. The prescribed time is within 15 months after the effective date of the actuarial valuation: Occupational Pension Schemes (Scheme Funding) Regulations 2005, SI 2005/3377, reg 13 (modified by SI 2005/3380).

Where s 229(1), (4) or (5) is not complied with, the Pensions Act 1995 s 10 (civil penalties: see PARA 611) applies to a trustee or manager who has failed to take all reasonable steps to secure compliance: Pensions Act 2004 s 229(6).

10. Matters on which advice of actuary must be obtained

The trustees or managers must obtain the advice of the actuary before doing any of the following (1) making any decision as to the methods and assumptions to be used in calculating the scheme's technical provisions<sup>1</sup>; (2) preparing or revising the statement of funding principles<sup>2</sup>; (3) preparing or revising a recovery plan<sup>3</sup>; (4) preparing or revising the schedule of contributions<sup>4</sup>; (5) modifying the scheme as regards the future accrual of benefits<sup>5</sup>. Regulations may require the actuary to comply with any prescribed requirements when advising the trustees or managers of a scheme on any such matter<sup>6</sup>. The regulations may require the actuary to have regard to prescribed guidance<sup>7</sup>.

'Prescribed guidance' means guidance that is prepared and from time to time revised by a prescribed body: s 230(3) (amended by Pensions Act 2007 Sch 5 para 9, Sch 7 Pt 8). The actuary must have regard to the guidance note Occupational Pension Schemes--scheme funding matters on which advice of actuary must be obtained (GN49) (with such revisions as have been approved by the Secretary of State): Occupational Pension Schemes (Scheme Funding) Regulations 2005, SI 2005/3377, reg 15 (amended by SI 2007/60, SI 2008/2301).

11. Powers of the Regulator

The powers conferred by the following provisions<sup>1</sup> are exercisable where it appears to the Regulator with respect to a scheme (as a result of a report made to it or otherwise) (1) that the trustees or managers, when determining the methods and assumptions to be used in calculating the scheme's technical provisions, have failed to comply with a requirement<sup>2</sup>; (2) that the trustees or managers have failed to comply with requirements<sup>3</sup> with respect to the preparation or revision of a statement of funding principles; (3) that the trustees or managers have failed to obtain an actuarial valuation<sup>4</sup>; (4) that the actuary is unable, on an actuarial valuation<sup>5</sup>, to certify the calculation of the scheme's technical provisions; (5) that the trustees or managers have failed to comply with requirements<sup>6</sup> with respect to the preparation or revision of a recovery plan; (6) that the trustees or managers have failed to comply with requirements<sup>7</sup> with respect to the preparation or revision of a schedule of contributions; (7) that the actuary is unable to certify a schedule of contributions<sup>8</sup>; (8) that the employer has failed to make payments in accordance with the schedule of contributions, or that are required of him<sup>9</sup>, and the failure is of material significance; (9) that the trustees or managers have been unable to reach agreement with the employer within the prescribed time as to a matter in relation to which such agreement is required<sup>10</sup>. In any of those circumstances the Regulator may by order exercise all or any of the following powers (a) it may modify the scheme as regards the future accrual of benefits; (b) it may give directions as to (i) the manner in which the scheme's technical provisions are to be calculated, including the methods and assumptions to be used in calculating the scheme's technical provisions, or (ii) the period within which, and manner in which, any failure to meet the statutory funding objective is to be remedied; (c) it may impose a schedule of contributions specifying (A) the rates of contributions payable towards the scheme by or on behalf of the employer and the active members of the scheme, and (B) the dates on or before which such contributions are to be paid<sup>11</sup>.

In exercising any of the powers conferred by the above provisions the Regulator must comply with any prescribed requirements<sup>12</sup>. The powers conferred by the above provisions are in addition to any other powers exercisable by the Regulator under the Pensions Act 2004 or the Pensions Act 1995<sup>13</sup>.

12. Requirements for winding up procedure

Where an occupational pension scheme in respect of which a recovery plan has been prepared<sup>1</sup> begins to wind up during the recovery period<sup>2</sup>, the trustees or managers of the scheme must as soon as reasonably practicable prepare a winding up procedure<sup>3</sup>. A winding up procedure must (1) set out the action to be taken to establish the liabilities to or in respect of the members of the scheme, in respect of pensions or other benefits, and to recover any assets of the scheme; (2) give an estimate of the amount of time it will take to establish those liabilities and to recover any such assets; (3) give an indication of which of the accrued rights or benefits (if any), to which a person is entitled under the scheme, are likely to be affected by a reduction in actuarial value; (4) specify which one or more of the ways mentioned in the Pensions Act 1995<sup>4</sup> will be used to discharge the liabilities to or in respect of the members of the scheme in respect of pensions or other benefits; (5) give an estimate of the amount of time it will take to discharge those liabilities<sup>5</sup>. A winding up procedure must be appropriate having regard to the nature and circumstances of the scheme<sup>6</sup>. A winding up procedure may be reviewed, and if necessary revised, where the trustees or managers consider that there are reasons that may justify a variation to it<sup>7</sup>. The trustees or managers must send a copy of any winding up procedure to the Regulator as soon as reasonably practicable after it has been prepared or, as the case may be, revised<sup>8</sup>.

Where any requirement of the above provisions is not complied with, the civil penalty provisions in the Pensions Act 1995<sup>9</sup> apply to a trustee or manager who has failed to take all reasonable steps to secure compliance<sup>10</sup>.

(7) PROFESSIONAL ADVISERS

825. In general.

An auditor and actuary must be appointed for every occupational pension scheme<sup>1</sup>; and where the assets of such a scheme consist of or include investments<sup>2</sup> there must be an individual or a firm<sup>3</sup> appointed by or on behalf of the trustees or managers<sup>4</sup> as fund manager<sup>5</sup>. If in the case of an occupational pension scheme any person:

1981 (1) is appointed otherwise than by the trustees or managers as legal adviser or to exercise any prescribed functions<sup>6</sup> in relation to the scheme; or the provisions relating to prohibition orders<sup>7</sup> and civil penalties<sup>8</sup> apply to any trustee, and the provisions relating to civil penalties apply to any manager, who in exercising any of his functions places reliance on the skill or judgment of that person<sup>9</sup>.

These provisions do not apply to an occupational pension scheme falling within a prescribed class or description<sup>10</sup>; and regulations<sup>11</sup> may make exceptions to them and specify the qualifications and experience, or approval, required for appointment as a professional adviser<sup>12</sup>. Regulations may also make provision as to the manner in which professional advisers may be appointed and removed<sup>13</sup>, and the terms on which professional advisers may be appointed (including the manner in which the professional advisers may resign)<sup>14</sup>.

Subject to regulations so made, professional advisers must be appointed on such terms as the trustees or managers may determine<sup>15</sup>. If in the case of an occupational pension scheme an auditor<sup>16</sup>, actuary<sup>17</sup> or fund manager<sup>18</sup> is required under these provisions to be appointed but the appointment has not been made, or not been made in accordance with any requirements imposed under them, the provisions relating to prohibition orders and civil penalties apply to any trustee, and the provisions relating to civil penalties apply to any manager, who has failed to take all such steps as are reasonable to secure compliance<sup>19</sup>.

Regulations may, in the case of occupational pension schemes:

1983 (a) impose duties on any person who is or has been the employer<sup>20</sup>, and on any person who acts as auditor or actuary to such a person, to disclose information to the trustees or managers and to the scheme's professional advisers<sup>21</sup>;

1984 (b) impose duties on the trustees or managers to disclose information to, and make documents available to, the scheme's professional advisers<sup>22</sup>.

If in the case of an occupational pension scheme a person fails to comply with any duty imposed under head (a) above, the provisions relating to civil penalties apply to him<sup>23</sup>. If in the case of an occupational pension scheme any duty imposed under head (b) above is not complied with, the provisions relating to prohibition orders and civil penalties apply to any trustee, and the provisions relating to civil penalties apply to any manager, who has failed to take all such steps as are reasonable to secure compliance<sup>24</sup>.

NOTE 5--SI 1996/1715 reg 3(2) amended: SI 2006/778.

Halsbury's Laws of England/SOCIAL SECURITY AND PENSIONS (VOLUME 44(2) (REISSUE))/18. OCCUPATIONAL PENSION SCHEMES/(7) PROFESSIONAL ADVISERS/828. Manner and terms of appointment and removal of professional advisers.

828. Manner and terms of appointment and removal of professional advisers.

An appointment of a professional adviser<sup>1</sup> must be made in writing ('the notice of appointment') and must specify the date the appointment is due to take effect, to whom the professional adviser is to report and from whom the professional adviser is to take instructions<sup>2</sup>. A person appointed as a professional adviser must acknowledge in writing receipt of the notice of appointment within one month of receipt and must confirm in writing:

- 2003 (1) in the case of a fund manager<sup>3</sup>, or a person carrying out functions in relation to the custody of cash, securities and other documents of title to scheme assets<sup>4</sup>, who is a member of a self-regulating organisation<sup>5</sup> which imposes requirements in relation to conflicts of interest or who holds a certificate issued<sup>6</sup> by a recognised professional body which imposes such requirements, that he will notify the trustees or managers<sup>7</sup> of any conflict of interest to which he is or may be subject in relation to the scheme in accordance with those requirements; and
- 2004 (2) in the case of any other professional adviser, that he will notify the trustees or managers of any conflict of interest to which he is subject immediately he becomes aware of its existence<sup>8</sup>.

The resignation of a professional adviser must be made by serving on the trustees or managers a notice of resignation in writing<sup>9</sup> which must, in the case of the auditor or actuary, contain either a statement by the auditor or actuary specifying any circumstances connected with the resignation which, in his opinion, significantly affect the interests of the members or prospective members of, or beneficiaries under, the scheme, or a declaration by the auditor or actuary that he knows of no such circumstances<sup>10</sup>. The resignation is effective from the date (if any) specified in the notice by the professional adviser as the date from which he wishes his resignation to be effective or, if no date is specified, the date on which the trustees or managers receive the notice<sup>11</sup>.

Trustees or managers wishing to remove a professional adviser must do so by serving on him a notice in writing stating the date with effect from which his appointment terminates<sup>12</sup>. Where the auditor or actuary is so removed he must, within 14 days of receipt of the removal notice, provide the trustees or managers with either a statement specifying any circumstances connected with the removal which, in his opinion, significantly affect the interests of the members or prospective members of, or beneficiaries under, the scheme, or a declaration that he knows of no such circumstances<sup>13</sup>.

Where the auditor or actuary is removed by the trustees or managers, or resigns, or dies, the trustees or managers must appoint a replacement auditor or actuary (as the case may be) within three months from the date of the removal, resignation or death<sup>14</sup>.

These provisions do not apply in the case of an appointment of a person as a professional adviser to a scheme which falls within a specified description<sup>15</sup> of exempt scheme<sup>16</sup>.

The requirement to obtain accounts in accordance with head (1) above does not, however, apply to the trustees or managers of an ear-marked scheme<sup>8</sup>.

Halsbury's Laws of England/SOCIAL SECURITY AND PENSIONS (VOLUME 44(2) (REISSUE))/18. OCCUPATIONAL PENSION SCHEMES/(7) PROFESSIONAL ADVISERS/831. 'Blowing the whistle'; in general.

831. 'Blowing the whistle'; in general.

If the auditor<sup>1</sup> or actuary<sup>2</sup> of any occupational pension scheme<sup>3</sup> has reasonable cause to believe that:

- 2011 (1) any duty relevant to the administration of the scheme imposed by any enactment<sup>4</sup> or rule of law on the trustees or managers<sup>5</sup>, the employer<sup>6</sup>, any professional adviser<sup>7</sup> or any prescribed<sup>8</sup> person acting in connection with the scheme has not been or is not being complied with; and
- 2012 (2) the failure to comply is likely to be of material significance in the exercise by the Occupational Pensions Regulatory Authority<sup>9</sup> of any of its functions, he must immediately give a written report of the matter to the authority<sup>10</sup>. The auditor or actuary of any occupational pension scheme must, in any prescribed circumstances, immediately give a written report of any prescribed matter to the authority<sup>11</sup>. The provisions relating to civil penalties<sup>12</sup> apply to any auditor or actuary who fails to comply with the above provisions<sup>13</sup>. If it appears to the authority that an auditor or actuary has failed to comply with the above provisions the authority may by order disqualify him for being the auditor or, as the case may be, actuary of any occupational pension scheme specified in the order<sup>14</sup>. Such an order may specify the scheme to which the failure relates, all schemes falling within any class or description of occupational pension scheme or all occupational pension schemes<sup>15</sup>.

No duty to which the auditor or actuary of any occupational pension scheme is subject may be regarded as contravened<sup>16</sup> merely because of any information or opinion contained in a written report under these provisions<sup>17</sup>. If in the case of any occupational pension scheme any professional adviser (other than the auditor or actuary), any trustee or manager or any person involved in the administration of the scheme has reasonable cause to believe as mentioned in heads (1) and (2) above he may give a report of the matter to the authority<sup>18</sup>. In the case of any such scheme, no duty to which any such adviser, trustee or manager or other person is subject may be regarded as contravened merely because of any information or opinion contained in a report under these provisions; but this provision does not apply to any information disclosed in such a report by the legal adviser of an occupational pension scheme if he would be entitled to refuse to produce a document containing the information in any proceedings in any court on the grounds that it was the subject of legal professional privilege or, in Scotland, that it contained a confidential communication made by or to an advocate or solicitor in that capacity<sup>19</sup>.

The authority may, on the application of any person disqualified under these provisions who satisfies the authority that he will in future comply with the above requirements, by order revoke the order disqualifying him; but a revocation made at any time cannot affect anything done before that time<sup>20</sup>. An auditor or actuary of an occupational pension scheme who becomes so disqualified must, while he is so disqualified, cease to be auditor or, as the case may be, actuary of any scheme specified in the order disqualifying him<sup>21</sup>. A person who, while he is so disqualified, purports to act as auditor or actuary of an occupational pension scheme specified in the order disqualifying him is guilty of an offence and liable on summary conviction to a fine not exceeding the statutory maximum<sup>22</sup> and on conviction on indictment to a fine or imprisonment, or both<sup>23</sup>. Such an offence may be charged by reference to any day or longer period of time; and a person may be convicted of a second or subsequent offence by reference to any period of time following the preceding conviction of the offence<sup>24</sup>.

833. Restriction on powers to alter schemes.

These provisions apply to any power conferred on any person by an occupational pension scheme<sup>1</sup> (other than a public service pension scheme<sup>2</sup>) to modify<sup>3</sup> the scheme<sup>4</sup>. The power cannot be exercised on any occasion in a manner which would or might affect any entitlement or accrued right<sup>5</sup> of any member<sup>6</sup> of the scheme acquired before the power is exercised unless the following requirements are satisfied<sup>7</sup>. Those requirements are that, in respect of the exercise of the power in that manner on that occasion, the trustees have satisfied themselves that the certification requirements<sup>8</sup> or the requirements for consent<sup>9</sup> are met in respect of that member, and where the power is exercised by a person other than the trustees, the trustees have approved the exercise of the power in that manner on that occasion<sup>10</sup>. Where a power to which these provisions apply may not otherwise be exercised without the consent of any person, regulations<sup>11</sup> may make provision for treating such consent as given in prescribed circumstances<sup>12</sup>.

Where any person fails to comply with certain prescribed certification or consent requirements<sup>13</sup>, the Occupational Pensions Regulatory Authority<sup>14</sup> may require that person to pay within 28 days a penalty which, in the case of an individual, may not exceed £5,000, and in any other case, may not exceed £50,000<sup>15</sup>.

In a case where a member has died, that meaning of 'member' is extended for these purposes to include the widow or widower or, in the case where there is no widow or widower, any other person who has an entitlement to a payment under the scheme in respect of the deceased member: Occupational Pension Schemes (Modification of Schemes) Regulations 1996, SI 1996/2517, reg 2.

7 Pensions Act 1995 s 67(2). Section 67(2) does not apply to the exercise of a power in a prescribed manner: s 67(5). The prescribed manner is, in the case of an occupational pension scheme which is not a trust scheme, the exercise of the power by the managers with the member's consent: Occupational Pension Schemes (Modification of Schemes) Regulations 1996, SI 1996/2517, reg 6.

8 'The certification requirements' means prescribed requirements for the purpose of securing that no power to which the Pensions Act 1995 s 67 applies is exercised in any manner which, in the opinion of an actuary, would adversely affect any member of the scheme (without his consent) in respect of his entitlement or accrued rights acquired before the power is exercised: s 67(4)(a). The prescribed requirement is that an actuary must certify to the trustees of the scheme that, in his opinion, the exercise of the power in the proposed manner to modify the scheme would not adversely affect any member of the scheme (without his consent) in respect of his entitlement or accrued rights acquired before that power is exercised: Occupational Pension Schemes (Modification of Schemes) Regulations 1996, SI 1996/2517, reg 3(1). This reference to an actuary means (1) in a case where the requirement of the Pensions Act 1995 s 47(1)(b) (appointment of professional advisers) applies (see PARA 747 note 2 ante), the individual appointed by the trustees or managers as actuary in accordance with the requirements of s 47; and (2) in any other case, a Fellow of the Institute of Actuaries, a Fellow of the Faculty of Actuaries, or a person with actuarial qualifications who is approved by the Secretary of State: Occupational Pension Schemes (Modification of Schemes) Regulations 1996, SI 1996/2517, reg 3(2). As to the Secretary of State see PARA 1 ante.

9 'The consent requirements' means prescribed requirements for the purpose of obtaining the consent of members of a scheme to the exercise of a power to which the Pensions Act 1995 s 67 applies: s 67(4)(b). The prescribed requirement is that the consent of the member of a scheme to the proposed exercise of the power to modify is to be in writing: Occupational Pension Schemes (Modification of Schemes) Regulations 1996, SI 1996/2517, reg 4.

10 Pensions Act 1995 s 67(3).

11 For the meaning of 'regulations' see PARA 600 note 2 ante.

12 Pensions Act 1995 s 67(6). For the meaning of 'prescribed' see PARA 555 note 1 ante. Such consent may be treated as given where: (1) the trustees have sent written notification ('the first notification') to the member's last known address of the proposed exercise of the power to modify the scheme; (2) a further written notification ('the second notification') was sent by the trustees at least two months after the date the first notification was sent; and (3) no response was received from the member in respect of both the first notification and second notification before the end of a period of one month from the date the second notification was sent: Occupational Pension Schemes (Modification of Schemes) Regulations 1996, SI 1996/2517, reg 5.

13 Ie the requirements in a case where ibid reg 3 or reg 4 applies: see notes 8-9 supra.

833A. Modification of pension rights.

The following provisions come into force on 1 November 2005 for the purpose only of conferring power to make regulations and 6 April 2006 for all other purposes: SI 2005/2447. As to prescribed requirements which must be met where an occupational pension scheme is modified using a power conferred on any person by a scheme and where the subsisting rights provisions apply, see the Occupational Pension Schemes (Modification of Schemes) Regulations 2006, SI 2006/759.

1. The subsisting rights provisions

The subsisting rights provisions<sup>1</sup> apply to any power conferred on any person by an occupational pension scheme to modify the scheme, other than a power conferred by (1) a public service pension scheme, or (2) a prescribed scheme or a scheme of a prescribed description<sup>2</sup>. Any exercise of such a power to make a regulated modification<sup>3</sup> is voidable<sup>4</sup> unless the following are satisfied in respect of the modification (a) in the case of each affected member<sup>5</sup> (i) if the modification is a protected modification<sup>6</sup>, the consent requirements<sup>7</sup>, (ii) if it is not, either the consent requirements or the actuarial equivalence requirements<sup>8</sup>, (b) the trustee approval requirement<sup>9</sup>, and (c) the reporting requirement<sup>10</sup>. The subsisting rights provisions do not apply in relation to the exercise of a power (A) for a purpose connected with debits<sup>11</sup>, or (B) in a prescribed manner<sup>12</sup>.

1 References in the Pensions Act 1995 s 67 and ss 67A-67I (see infra and PARAS 833A.2-833A.8) to 'the subsisting rights provisions' are to s 67 and ss 67A-67I: Pensions Act 1995 s 67(4) (substituted by Pensions Act 2004 s 262).

'Subsisting right' means (1) in relation to a member of an occupational pension scheme, at any time (a) any right which at that time has accrued to or in respect of him to future benefits under the scheme rules, or (b) any entitlement to the present payment of a pension or other benefit which he has at that time, under the scheme rules, and (2) in relation to the survivor of a member of an occupational pension scheme, at any time, any entitlement to benefits, or right to future benefits, which he has at that time under the scheme rules in respect of the member: Pensions Act 1995 s 67A(1), (6) (added by Pensions Act 2004 s 262). For this purpose, 'right' includes a pension credit right: Pensions Act 1995 s 67A(6). For the meaning of 'scheme rules' see s 67A(1), (8), and for the meaning of 'survivor' see s 67A(10). For further interpretation provisions see s 67A.

3 For the meaning of 'regulated modification' see ibid s 67A(1), (2) (added by Pensions Act 2004 s 262).

4 In accordance with the Pensions Act 1995 s 67G (see PARA 833A.6).

5 For the meaning of 'affected member' see ibid s 67A(1), (5).

6 For the meaning of 'protected modification' see ibid s 67A(1), (3).

7 See ibid s 67B and PARA 833A.2.

8 See ibid s 67C and PARA 833A.3.

9 See ibid s 67E and PARA 833A.4.

10 See ibid s 67F and PARA 833A.5: s 67(2).

Section 67(6) applies in relation to the exercise of a power to which the subsisting rights provisions apply to make a regulated modification where a member of the scheme dies before the requirements mentioned in s 67(2), so far as they apply in his case, have been complied with in respect of the modification if (1) before he died he had given his consent to the modification in accordance with s 67B(4)(b) (see PARA 833A.2), or (2) before he died, or before the trustees of the scheme had become aware that he had died, the trustees had complied with s 67C(4)(a), (b) and (d) (see PARA 833A.3) in respect of the modification in his case: s 67(5). Any of the requirements mentioned in s 67(2), as it applies in respect of the modification (a) which is satisfied in the case of the member, or (b) which would have been satisfied in his case had he not died before it was satisfied, is to be taken to be satisfied in the case of any survivor of the member in respect of the modification: s 67(6).

11 Under the Welfare Reform and Pensions Act 1999 s 29(1) (see PARA 961A).

2. The consent requirements

References in the subsisting rights provisions to the consent requirements, in respect of a regulated modification, are to be read in accordance with the following provisions<sup>1</sup>. The consent requirements apply in the case of an affected member (1) if the modification is a protected modification; (2) if it is not a protected modification, unless the actuarial equivalence requirements apply in his case<sup>2</sup>. The consent requirements consist of the informed consent requirement<sup>3</sup>, and the timing requirement<sup>4</sup>. The informed consent requirement is satisfied in the case of an affected member if before the modification is made (a) the trustees have (i) given him information in writing adequate to explain the nature of the modification and its effect on him, (ii) notified him in writing that he may make representations to the trustees about the modification, (iii) afforded him a reasonable opportunity to make such representations, and (iv) notified him in writing that the consent requirements apply in his case in respect of the modification, and (b) after the trustees have complied with head (i), (ii) and (iv) above, the affected member has given his consent in writing to the modification<sup>5</sup>. The timing requirement is satisfied in the case of an affected member if the modification takes effect within a reasonable period after the member has given his consent to the modification in accordance with head (b) above<sup>6</sup>.

1 In accordance with the Pensions Act 1995 s 67B: s 67B(1) (added by Pensions Act 2004 s 262).

3 See ibid s 67B(4).

4 See ibid s 67B(6): s 67B(3).

5 Ibid s 67B(4). If (1) the modification is not a protected modification, and (2) before the modification is made the trustees notify an affected member in writing that (a) if he gives his consent to the modification for the purposes of the consent requirements, those requirements apply in his case in respect of the modification, but (b) otherwise, the actuarial equivalence requirements apply in his case in respect of the modification, the trustees are to be taken to have complied with head (iv) in the text in respect of him: s 67B(5).

6 Ibid s 67B(6).

3. The actuarial equivalence requirements

References in the subsisting rights provisions to the actuarial equivalence requirements, in respect of a detrimental modification<sup>1</sup> which is not a protected modification, are to be read in accordance with the following provisions<sup>2</sup>. The actuarial equivalence requirements apply in the case of an affected member only if (1) the modification is not a protected modification, and (2) the trustees of the scheme determine that they are to apply in his case<sup>3</sup>. The actuarial equivalence requirements consist of (a) the information requirement<sup>4</sup>, (b) the actuarial value requirement<sup>5</sup>, and (c) the actuarial equivalence statement requirement<sup>6</sup>. The information requirement is satisfied in the case of an affected member if before the modification is made the trustees have taken all reasonable steps to (i) give him information in writing adequate to explain the nature of the modification and its effect on him, (ii) notify him in writing that he may make representations to the trustees about the modification, (iii) afford him a reasonable opportunity to make such representations, and (iv) notify him in writing that the actuarial equivalence requirements apply in his case in respect of the modification<sup>7</sup>. The actuarial value requirement is satisfied in the case of an affected member if before the modification is made the trustees have made such arrangements, or taken such steps, as are adequate to secure that actuarial value will be maintained<sup>8</sup>. The actuarial equivalence statement requirement is satisfied in the case of an affected member if the trustees have, within a reasonable period beginning with the date on which the modification takes effect, obtained an actuarial equivalence statement relating to the affected member in respect of the modification<sup>9</sup>.

Further provision relating to the actuarial equivalence requirements is made<sup>10</sup>.

1 For the meaning of 'detrimental modification' see Pensions Act 1995 s 67A(1), (4) (added by Pensions Act 2004 s 262).

7 Ibid s 67C(4).

8 Ibid s 67C(5). See further NOTE 9.

9 Ibid s 67C(6). For the purposes of s 67C(6) 'actuarial equivalence statement' means a statement in writing which (1) is given by (a) the actuary appointed in relation to the scheme under s 47(1)(b) (see PARA 825), or (b) a person with prescribed qualifications or experience or who is approved by the Secretary of State, and (2) certifies that actuarial value has been maintained: s 67C(7).

For the purposes of s 67C(5) and (7) as they apply in relation to an affected member, actuarial value is maintained if the actuarial value, immediately after the time at which the modification takes effect, of the affected member's subsisting rights is equal to or greater than the actuarial value of his subsisting rights immediately before that time: s 67C(8).

10 See ibid s 67D (amended by Pensions Act 2007 Sch 5 para 7).

4. The trustee approval requirement

The trustee approval requirement is satisfied<sup>1</sup> in relation to the exercise of a power to make a regulated modification if (1) the trustees of the scheme have determined to exercise the power to make the modification, or (2) if the power is exercised by another person, the trustees have consented to the exercise of the power to make the modification, and the making of the determination, or giving of consent, complies with the provisions below<sup>2</sup>. The trustees must not make a determination, or give their consent<sup>3</sup> unless, in the case of each affected member (a) if the modification is a protected modification, the informed consent requirement is satisfied<sup>4</sup>, or (b) if it is not a protected modification (i) the informed consent requirement is satisfied, or (ii) the information and actuarial value requirements are satisfied<sup>5</sup>, in respect of the modification<sup>6</sup>. The trustees must not make a determination, or give their consent<sup>7</sup> more than a reasonable period after the first consent given by an affected member<sup>8</sup> in respect of the modification was given<sup>9</sup>.

9    Ibid s 67E(3).

5. The reporting requirement

The reporting requirement is satisfied<sup>1</sup> in relation to the exercise of a power to which the subsisting rights provisions apply to make a regulated modification if the trustees have<sup>2</sup> (1) notified each affected member in whose case the consent requirements apply in respect of the modification, and (2) taken all reasonable steps to notify each affected member in whose case the actuarial equivalence requirements apply in respect of the modification, that they have made a determination, or given their consent<sup>3</sup> in relation to the exercise of the power to make the modification<sup>4</sup>. The trustees must give (or, where the actuarial equivalence requirements apply, take all reasonable steps to give) the notification (a) within a reasonable period beginning with the date of the determination or giving of consent<sup>5</sup>, and (b) before the date on which the modification takes effect<sup>6</sup>.

1    Ie for the purposes of the Pensions Act 1995 s 67(2)(c) (see PARA 833A.1).

6    Ibid s 67F(2).

6. Powers of the Authority: voidable modifications

The Authority may make an order declaring that the provision below<sup>1</sup> applies in relation to the regulated modification<sup>2</sup>. Where the Authority make an order declaring that this provision applies in relation to a modification of a scheme, or the grant of any rights under the scheme, the modification or grant is void to the extent specified in the order, and in respect of the specified persons, as from the time when it would, disregarding the order, have taken effect<sup>3</sup>.

1    Ie the Pensions Act 1995 s 67G(6).

2    Ibid s 67G(2) (added by Pensions Act 2004 s 262). The Pensions Act 1995 s 67G(2) applies in relation to a regulated modification made in exercise of a power to which the subsisting rights provisions apply which is voidable by virtue of (1) s 67(2) (see PARA 833A.1), or (2) s 67H(3) (see PARA 833A.7): s 67G(1).

An order under s 67G(2) relating to a regulated modification may also declare that s 67G(6) applies in relation to (1) any other modification of the scheme made by the exercise of the power mentioned in s 67G(1), or (2) the grant of any rights under the scheme (whether by virtue of the attribution of notional periods as pensionable service or otherwise) in connection with the regulated modification: s 67G(3). An order under s 67G(2) relating to a regulated modification must specify the affected member or affected members or description of affected members in respect of whom s 67G(6) applies ('the specified persons'): s 67G(4). An order under s 67G(2) relating to a regulated modification may also (a) require the trustees to take, within the time specified in the order, such steps as are so specified for the purpose of giving effect to the order; (b) declare that s 67G(7) applies in relation to anything done by the trustees after the time at which the modification would, disregarding the order, have taken effect which (i) would not have contravened any provision of the scheme rules if the modification had taken effect at that time, but (ii) as a result of the modification being void to any extent by virtue of the order, would (but for s 67G(7)) contravene such a provision: s 67G(5). This is without prejudice to s 174(3): s 67G(5). Where, by virtue of head (b), the Authority make an order under s 67G(2) declaring that s 67G(7) applies in relation to anything done by the trustees, that thing is to be taken, for such purposes as are specified in the order, not to have contravened any provision of the trust deed or scheme rules: s 67G(7). An order under s 67G(2) relating to a regulated modification, or other modification, of a scheme or the grant of any rights under the scheme may be made before or after the time at which the modification or grant would, disregarding the order, have taken effect: s 67G(8).

3 Ibid s 67G(6).

7. Powers of the Authority to intervene

The following provision<sup>1</sup> applies where the Authority have reasonable grounds to believe that a power to which the subsisting rights provisions apply (1) will be exercised, or (2) has been exercised, to make a regulated modification in circumstances where the modification will be voidable<sup>2</sup>. The Authority may by order (a) in a case within head (1) above, direct the person on whom the power is conferred not to exercise the power to make the regulated modification; (b) require the trustees to take, within the time specified in the order, such steps as are so specified for the purpose of securing that any of the specified requirements<sup>3</sup> is satisfied<sup>4</sup>. A regulated modification made in exercise of a power to which the subsisting rights provisions apply is voidable<sup>5</sup> if (i) the exercise of the power contravened an order under head (a) above, or (ii) the trustees fail to comply with a requirement imposed by an order under head (b) above relating to any exercise of the power to make the modification<sup>6</sup>.

1 Ie the Pensions Act 1995 s 67H(2).

2 By virtue of ibid s 67(2) (see PARA 833A.1): s 67H(1) (added by Pensions Act 2004 s 262).

3 Ie any of the requirements mentioned in the Pensions Act 1995 s 67(2).

4 Ibid s 67H(2).

5 In accordance with ibid s 67G (see PARA 833A.6).

6 Ibid s 67H(3).

8. Civil penalties

The circumstances where the Regulator may impose a civil penalty for a failure to comply with the subsisting rights provisions are set out<sup>1</sup>.

1 See Pensions Act 1995 s 67I (added by Pensions Act 2004 s 262).

NOTES 9, 10--See the Occupational Pension Scheme (Revaluation) Regulations 1991, SI 1991/168, reg 13A (added by SI 2009/615); and the Occupational Pension Schemes (Indexation) Regulations 1996, SI 1996/1679, reg 5 (added by SI 2009/615), which prescribe purposes for which the trustees of a trust scheme may by resolution modify the scheme.

Halsbury's Laws of England/SOCIAL SECURITY AND PENSIONS (VOLUME 44(2) (REISSUE))/18. OCCUPATIONAL PENSION SCHEMES/(8) MODIFICATION AND AMENDMENT/835. Grounds for applying modifications.

835. Grounds for applying modifications.

The Occupational Pensions Regulatory Authority<sup>1</sup> may, on an application made to it by persons competent to do so<sup>2</sup>, make an order in respect of an occupational pension scheme<sup>3</sup> (other than a public service pension scheme<sup>4</sup>):

- 2018 (1) authorising the modification<sup>5</sup> of the scheme with a view to achieving any specified purpose<sup>6</sup>; or
- 2019 (2) modifying the scheme with a view to achieving any such purpose<sup>7</sup>.

Regulations<sup>8</sup> may make provision about the manner of dealing with such applications<sup>9</sup> and may provide that in prescribed<sup>10</sup> circumstances these provisions do not apply to occupational pension schemes falling within a prescribed class or description or apply to them with prescribed modifications<sup>11</sup>.

The authority may not make such an order unless it is satisfied that the purposes for which the application for the order was made cannot be achieved otherwise than by means of such an order, or can only be achieved in accordance with a procedure which is liable to be unduly complex or protracted, or involves the obtaining of consents which cannot be obtained, or can only be obtained with undue delay or difficulty<sup>12</sup>. The extent of the authority's powers to make such an order is not limited, in relation to any purposes for which they are exercisable, to the minimum necessary to achieve those purposes<sup>13</sup>. The authority may not make such an order with a view to achieving the specified purpose<sup>14</sup> unless it is satisfied that it is reasonable in all the circumstances to make it<sup>15</sup>.

An order under head (1) above may enable those exercising any power conferred by the order to exercise it retrospectively<sup>16</sup> (whether or not the power could otherwise be so exercised) and an order under head (2) above may modify a scheme retrospectively<sup>17</sup>. Any modification of a scheme made in pursuance of an order of the authority is as effective in law as if it had been made under powers conferred by or under the scheme<sup>18</sup>.

Such an order may be made and complied with in relation to a scheme:

- 2020 (a) in spite of any enactment<sup>19</sup> or rule of law, or any rule of the scheme, which would otherwise operate to prevent the modification being made; or
- 2021 (b) without regard to any such enactment, rule of law or rule of the scheme as would otherwise require, or might otherwise be taken to require, the implementation of any procedure or the obtaining of any consent, with a view to the making of the modification<sup>20</sup>.

1 As to the Occupational Pensions Regulatory Authority see PARA 598 ante.

2 The persons competent to make such an application are (1) the trustees of the scheme, in the case of the purposes referred to in the Pensions Act 1995 s 69(3)(a), (b) (see note 7 infra); and (2) the trustees or managers of the scheme, the employer or any person other than the trustees or managers who has power to alter the rules of the scheme, in the case of the purposes referred to in s 69(3)(c): s 69(4).

3 For the meaning of 'occupational pension scheme' see PARA 741 ante (definition applied by ibid s 176). See also PARA 598 note 7 ante.

4 For the meaning of 'public service pension scheme' see PARA 874 post (definition applied by ibid s 124(1)).

5 For the meaning of 'modification' see PARA 664 note 10 ante (definition applied by ibid s 124(5)).

6 Ibid s 69(1)(a). The purposes are those referred to in s 69(3): see note 7 infra. An order under s 69(1)(a) must be framed: (1) if made with a view to achieving either of the purposes referred to in s 69(3)(a) or s 69(3)(b), so as to confer the power of modification on the trustees; and (2) if made with a view to achieving the purposes referred to in s 69(3)(c), so as to confer the power of modification on such persons (who may include persons who were not parties to the application made to the authority) as the authority thinks appropriate: s 69(5).

7 Ibid s 69(1)(b). The purposes referred to in s 69(1) are: (1) in the case of a scheme to which the Income and Corporation Taxes Act 1988 s 603, Sch 22 (as amended) (reduction of pension fund surpluses in certain exempt approved schemes: see PARA 766 ante) applies, to reduce or eliminate on any particular occasion any excess in accordance with any proposal submitted under Sch 22 para 3(1), where any requirements mentioned in the Pensions Act 1995 s 37(4) (see PARA 860 post), and any other prescribed requirements, will be satisfied in relation to the reduction or elimination; (2) in the case of an exempt approved scheme (within the meaning given by the Income and Corporation Taxes Act 1988 s 592(1): see PARA 754 ante) which is being wound up, to enable assets remaining after the liabilities of the scheme have been fully discharged to be distributed to the employer, where prescribed requirements in relation to the distribution are satisfied; or (3) to enable the scheme to be so treated during a prescribed period that an employment to which the scheme applies may be contracted-out employment by reference to it: Pensions Act 1995 s 69(3). For the purposes of head (3) supra, the prescribed period is the period of two years beginning with 6 April 1997: Occupational Pension Schemes (Modification of Schemes) Regulations 1996, SI 1996/2517, reg 2A (added by SI 1997/786). For the meaning of 'contracted-out employment' see the Pension Schemes Act 1993 s 8(1) (as amended); and PARA 878 post (definition applied by the Pensions Act 1995 s 124(5)).

A further requirement prescribed for the purposes of head (1) supra is that the second notice referred to in the Occupational Pension Schemes (Payments to Employers) Regulations 1996, SI 1996/2156, reg 4 (notice of proposed payment from surplus: see PARA 860 post) also advises the member of the requirement for an order under the Pensions Act 1995 s 69; and the prescribed requirements referred to in head (2) supra are (a) any requirements under s 76(3) or s 76(4) (see PARA 851 post) or the Occupational Pension Schemes (Payments to Employers) Regulations 1996, SI 1996/2156, reg 7 (see PARA 851 post) which must be satisfied before a power to distribute assets to the employer on a winding up can be exercised; (b) a requirement that the trustees are satisfied that any proposal to distribute excess assets to the employer is in the interests of the members; and (c) a requirement that the second notice referred to in reg 7 also advises the member of the requirement for an order under the Pensions Act 1995 s 69(3)(b), and both the first and second notice referred to in the Occupational Pension Schemes (Payments to Employers) Regulations 1996, SI 1996/2156, reg 7 also advise the member of the requirement referred to in head (b) supra: reg 11.

The appropriate authority<sup>1</sup> may make such provision for the modification<sup>2</sup> of a public service pension scheme<sup>3</sup> as could be made in respect of a scheme other than a public service pension scheme by an order of the Occupational Pensions Regulatory Authority<sup>4</sup> modifying the scheme<sup>5</sup>.

The powers of the appropriate authority are exercisable by means of an order directly modifying the scheme (without regard, in the case of a scheme contained in or made under powers conferred by an enactment<sup>6</sup>, to the terms of the enactment or any of its restrictions), or modifying an enactment under which the scheme was made or by virtue of which it has effect<sup>7</sup>. Any such order may adapt, amend or repeal any such enactment as is referred to above as that authority thinks appropriate<sup>8</sup>.

(9) DISPUTE RESOLUTION

839. Resolution of disputes.

The trustees or managers<sup>1</sup> of an occupational pension scheme<sup>2</sup> must secure that such arrangements as are required by or under these provisions for the resolution of disagreements between prescribed<sup>3</sup> persons about matters in relation to the scheme are made and implemented<sup>4</sup>. Such arrangements must, in the case of existing schemes, have effect as from 6 April 1997<sup>5</sup>. The arrangements must provide for a person, on the application of a complainant of a prescribed description<sup>6</sup>, to give a decision on such a disagreement; and require the trustees or managers, on the application of such a complainant following such a decision, to reconsider the matter in question and confirm the decision or give a new decision in its place<sup>7</sup>. Such applications and decisions must be in writing<sup>8</sup>.

Regulations<sup>9</sup> may make provision about applications for decisions under such arrangements, and the procedure for reaching and giving such decisions, including the times by which applications are to be made and decisions given<sup>10</sup>. If, in the case of any occupational pension scheme, such arrangements as are required by these provisions to be made have not been made, or are not being implemented, the provisions relating to civil penalties<sup>11</sup> apply to any of the trustees or managers who have failed to take all such steps as are reasonable to secure that such arrangements are made or implemented<sup>12</sup>.

Where these requirements apply, the jurisdiction of the Pensions Ombudsman is subject to certain restrictions<sup>13</sup>.

1 For the meaning of 'trustees or managers' see PARA 612 note 10 ante.

2 For the meaning of 'occupational pension scheme' see PARA 741 ante (definition applied by the Pensions Act 1995 s 176). See also PARA 598 note 7 ante.

3 For the meaning of 'prescribed' see PARA 555 note 1 ante. The prescribed persons are, on the one hand, the trustees or managers of the scheme; and, on the other hand (1) the active, deferred and pensioner members of the scheme; (2) a widow, widower or surviving dependant of a deceased member of the scheme; (3) prospective members of the scheme; (4) persons who ceased to be within any of the categories of persons referred to in heads (1)-(3) supra within the six months immediately preceding the date of an application under the Occupational Pension Schemes (Internal Dispute Resolution Procedures) Regulations 1996, SI 1996/1270, reg 4 (see PARA 840 post); and (5) where there is a disagreement which relates to a question whether a person who claims to be such a person as is mentioned in heads (1)-(4) supra is such a person, the person so claiming: reg 2(1). 'Scheme' means an occupational pension scheme within the meaning of the Pension Schemes Act 1993 s 1 (see PARA 741 ante); and 'prospective member' means any person who, under the terms of his contract of service or the scheme rules (a) is able, at his own option, to become a member of the scheme; (b) will become so able if he continues in the same employment for a sufficiently long period; (c) will be admitted to it automatically unless he makes an election not to become a member; or (d) may be admitted to it subject to the consent of his employer: Occupational Pension Schemes (Internal Dispute Resolution Procedures) Regulations 1996, SI 1996/1270, reg 1(2).

4 Pensions Act 1995 s 50(1). Section 50 does not apply to a scheme of a prescribed description and s 50(1) does not apply to prescribed matters in relation to the scheme: s 50(7). The requirements of s 50 do not apply to schemes in which all the members are trustees and schemes with no more than one member; nor do they apply to a disagreement if, in respect of that disagreement, (1) proceedings have been begun in any court or tribunal; (2) the Pensions Ombudsman has commenced an investigation into a complaint made or dispute referred to him; or (3) a notice of appeal has been issued by the complainant under the Firemen's Pension Scheme Order 1992, SI 1992/129, reg H2 or the Police Pensions Regulations 1987, SI 1987/257, reg H2: Occupational Pension Schemes (Internal Dispute Resolution Procedures) Regulations 1996, SI 1996/1270, regs 8, 9.

5 Pensions Act 1995 s 50(5), which refers to the commencement of s 50. Section 50 was brought into force on 6 April 1996 for the purpose only of authorising the making of regulations (see the Pensions Act 1995 (Commencement No 3) Order 1996, SI 1996/778); and on 6 April 1997 for all other purposes (see the Pensions Act 1995 (Commencement No 10) Order 1997, SI 1997/664). The latter date is the relevant date for these purposes.

6 For these purposes, a complainant of a prescribed description is a person referred to in the Occupational Pension Schemes (Internal Dispute Resolution Procedures) Regulations 1996, SI 1996/1270, reg 2(1)(a)-(e) (see note 3 heads (1)-(5) supra): reg 2(2).

The Pensions Act 2008 Pt 1 Ch 5 (ss 67-78) makes provision for the establishment of a trust-based occupational pension scheme and for a trustee corporation; see para 873D.

839 Resolution of disputes

TEXT AND NOTES--Replaced.

The trustees or managers of an occupational pension scheme must secure that dispute resolution arrangements complying with the requirements of these provisions are made and implemented<sup>1</sup>. Dispute resolution arrangements are arrangements for the resolution of pension disputes<sup>2</sup>. The dispute resolution arrangements must provide a procedure (1) for any of the parties to the dispute<sup>3</sup> to make an application for a decision to be taken on the matters in dispute ('an application for the resolution of a pension dispute'), and (2) for the trustees or managers to take that decision<sup>4</sup>. Where an application for the resolution of a pension dispute is made in accordance with the dispute resolution arrangements, the trustees or managers must (a) take the decision required on the matters in dispute within a reasonable period of the receipt of the application by them, and (b) notify the applicant of the decision within a reasonable period of it having been taken<sup>5</sup>. The above provisions do not apply in relation to an occupational pension scheme if (i) every member of the scheme is a trustee of the scheme, (ii) the scheme has no more than one member, or (iii) the scheme is of a prescribed description<sup>6</sup>. If, in the case of an occupational pension scheme, the dispute resolution arrangements required by the above provisions to be made (A) have not been made, or (B) are not being implemented, the civil penalty provisions<sup>7</sup> apply to any of the trustees or managers who have failed to take all reasonable steps to secure that such arrangements are made or implemented<sup>8</sup>.

1 Pensions Act 1995 s 50(1) (ss 50, 50A, 50B substituted by the Pensions Act 2004 s 273; 1995 Act s 50 amended by the Pensions Act 2007 s 16(1)-(6)). Dispute resolution arrangements under the 1995 Act s 50(1) must, in the case of existing schemes, have effect on and after the date of commencement of s 50 (ie 6 April 2008: see SI 2008/627) in relation to applications made on or after that date: 1995 Act s 50(7).

2 Ibid s 50(2). For this purpose a pension dispute is a dispute which (1) is between (a) the trustees or managers of a scheme, and (b) one or more persons with an interest in the scheme (see s 50A (amended by the Civil Partnership (Pensions and Benefit Payments) (Consequential, etc Provisions) Order 2005, SI 2005/2053)), (2) is about matters relating to the scheme, and (3) is not an exempted dispute (see 1995 Act s 50(9)): s 50(3). For the purposes of s 50 a dispute is an exempted dispute if (i) proceedings in respect of it have been commenced in any court or tribunal, (ii) the Pensions Ombudsman has commenced an investigation in respect of it as a result of a complaint made or a dispute referred to him, or (iii) it is of a prescribed description: s 50(9). As to the disputes so prescribed, see the Occupational Pension Schemes (Internal Dispute Resolution Procedures Consequential and Miscellaneous Amendments) Regulations 2008, SI 2008/649, reg 4 (exempted disputes).

3 Ie mentioned in the 1995 Act s 50(3)(a)(ii): see NOTE 2 head (b).

4 Ibid s 50(4). The procedure provided for by the dispute resolution arrangements in pursuance of s 50(4) must include the provision required by s 50B (amended by the 2007 Act s 16(7)-(10)): 1995 Act s 50(6).

The dispute resolution arrangements may make provision for securing that an application for the resolution of a pension dispute may not be made to the trustees or managers unless (1) the matters in dispute have been previously referred to a person of a description specified in the arrangements ('the specified person') in order for him to consider those matters, and (2) the specified person has given his decision on those matters, and for enabling the specified person's decision to be confirmed or replaced by the decision taken by the trustees or managers on the application, after reconsidering those matters: s 50(4A) (s 50(4A) added by the 2007 Act s 16(4)).

5 1995 Act s 50(5). In a case where a reference is made to the specified person in accordance with provision made under s 50(4A) (see NOTE 4), s 50(5) applies in relation to the specified person as it applies in relation to the trustees or managers in a case where an application for the resolution of a pension dispute is made to them: s 50(5A) (s 50(5A) added by the 2007 Act s 16(5)).

6 1995 Act s 50(8). Head (iii) Ie a scheme in relation to which the sole trustee of the scheme is a company and all members of the scheme are directors of that company: SI 2008/649 reg 3.

7 Ie the provisions of the 1995 Act s 10: see PARA 611.

UPDATE

741-873 Occupational Pension Schemes

A new type of pension scheme, known as the stakeholder pension scheme, has been established: see the Welfare Reform and Pensions Act Pt I (ss 1-8); and PARA 873A.

The Income Tax (Earnings and Pensions) Act 2003 ss 580-608, 623-628 (which replaced those parts of the Income and Corporation Taxes Act 1988 and subsequent legislation dealing with approved retirement benefits schemes, former approved superannuation funds, approved personal pension schemes, and retirement annuity contracts) are repealed: Finance Act 2004 Sch 31 paras 7, 10, Sch 42 Pt 3. The Pensions Act 2008 Pt 1 Ch 5 (ss 67-78) makes provision for the establishment of a trust-based occupational pension scheme and for a trustee corporation; see para 873D.

842-852 Winding Up

Provision has been made for the supervision of the winding up: see the Pensions Act 1995 ss 72A-72C (added by the Child Support, Pensions and Social Security Act 2000 ss 49, 51; and amended by the Pensions Act 2004 Sch 12 paras 59, 60, Sch 13 Pt 1).

Halsbury's Laws of England/SOCIAL SECURITY AND PENSIONS (VOLUME 44(2) (REISSUE))/18. OCCUPATIONAL PENSION SCHEMES/ (10) WINDING UP/843. Power of trustees to defer winding up.

843. Power of trustees to defer winding up.

If, apart from these provisions, the rules of a trust scheme<sup>1</sup> would require the scheme to be wound up, the trustees may determine that the scheme is not for the time being to be wound up but that no new members<sup>2</sup> are to be admitted to the scheme<sup>3</sup>. Where the trustees make such a determination, they may also determine:

- 2031 (1) that no further contributions are to be paid towards the scheme<sup>4</sup>; or
- 2032 (2) that no new benefits are to accrue to, or in respect of, members of the scheme<sup>5</sup>, but this does not authorise the trustees to determine, where there are accrued rights<sup>6</sup> to any benefit, that the benefit is not to be increased<sup>7</sup>. The above provisions do not apply to a money purchase scheme<sup>8</sup>, or a scheme falling within a prescribed<sup>9</sup> class or description<sup>10</sup>, and thus do not apply to:

- 2033 (a) any scheme in relation to which no relevant employer debt event<sup>11</sup> has occurred;
- 2034 (b) a scheme in respect of which any Minister of the Crown has given a guarantee or made any other arrangements for the purpose of securing that the assets of the scheme are sufficient to meet its liabilities;
- 2035 (c) a scheme which provides relevant benefits<sup>12</sup>, but is neither an approved scheme<sup>13</sup> nor a relevant statutory scheme<sup>14</sup>;
- 2036 (d) a scheme with a specified type of superannuation fund<sup>15</sup>;
- 2037 (e) a scheme with less than two members;
- 2038 (f) a small self-administered scheme<sup>16</sup> which is an approved scheme;
- 2039 (g) a scheme the only benefits provided by which (other than money purchase benefits) are death benefits; or
- 2040 (h) a relevant lump sum retirement benefits scheme<sup>17</sup>.

Where any determination to defer winding up is made, before the expiry of the period of one month beginning with the date on which it is made, the person who has made it must inform in writing the members of the scheme, and any other persons whose entitlement to payment of a pension or any other benefit under the scheme has arisen, that it has been made<sup>18</sup>. If any person fails to comply with this requirement, the Occupational Pensions Regulatory Authority<sup>19</sup> may require him by notice in writing to pay a penalty:

- 2041 (i) in the case of a contravention by an individual, not exceeding £1,000; and
- 2042 (ii) otherwise, not exceeding £10,000, before the expiry of the period of 28 days beginning with the date on which the notice is given<sup>20</sup>.

3 Pensions Act 1995 s 38(1). The trustees of any trust scheme or any other persons with power in respect of any such scheme to make a determination to defer winding up the scheme must keep a written record of any such determination made by them: Occupational Pensions (Winding Up) Regulations 1996, SI 1996/3126, reg 11(1)(a).

9 For the meaning of 'prescribed' see PARA 555 note 1 ante.

10 Pensions Act 1995 s 38(3)(b).

11 For the purposes of head (a) in the text, a relevant employer debt event has only occurred in relation to a scheme if (apart from ibid s 38 or any other power to defer winding up the scheme) the rules of the scheme require the scheme to be wound up as a result of a relevant insolvency event having occurred in relation to any person who immediately before the event occurred was an employer in relation to the scheme; and for these purposes s 75(4) (definition of relevant insolvency events: see PARA 850 post) applies as it applies for the purposes of s 75 (disregarding any modifications of that section); and, in the case of a scheme which has no active members, the reference to an employer is to the person who was the employer immediately before the occurrence of the event after which the scheme ceased to have any active members: Occupational Pensions (Winding Up) Regulations 1996, SI 1996/3126, reg 10(2).

12 'Relevant benefits' has the meaning given in the Income and Corporation Taxes Act 1988 s 612(1) (see PARA 741 note 6 ante): Occupational Pensions (Winding Up) Regulations 1996, SI 1996/3126, reg 10(3).

13 'Approved scheme' means a scheme which is approved or was formerly approved under the Income and Corporation Taxes Act 1988 s 590 or s 591 (as amended) (see PARAS 747-751 ante) or in respect of which an application for such approval has been duly made which has not been determined: Occupational Pensions (Winding Up) Regulations 1996, SI 1996/3126, reg 10(3).

14 'Relevant statutory scheme' has the meaning given in the Income and Corporation Taxes Act 1988 s 611A (as added) (see PARA 756 note 2 ante): Occupational Pensions (Winding Up) Regulations 1996, SI 1996/3126, reg 10(3).

16 'Small self-administered scheme' has the meaning given in the Retirement Benefits Schemes (Restriction on Discretion to Approve) (Small Self-administered Schemes) Regulations 1991, SI 1991/1614, reg 2(1) (see PARA 751 note 17 ante): Occupational Pensions (Winding Up) Regulations 1996, SI 1996/3126, reg 10(3).

17 Ibid reg 10(1). 'Relevant lump sum retirement benefits scheme' means an approved scheme (1) which has been categorised by the Commissioners of Inland Revenue for the purposes of its approval as a centralised scheme for non-associated employers; (2) which is not contracted-out; and (3) under the provisions of which the only benefits which may be provided on or after retirement (other than money purchase benefits derived from the payment of additional contributions by any person) are lump sum benefits which are not calculated by reference to any member's salary; and 'lump sum benefits' do not include benefits paid by way of commuted retirement pension: reg 10(3).

Halsbury's Laws of England/SOCIAL SECURITY AND PENSIONS (VOLUME 44(2) (REISSUE))/18. OCCUPATIONAL PENSION SCHEMES/ (10) WINDING UP/844. Time at which winding up commences.

844. Time at which winding up commences.

The time when a scheme<sup>1</sup> begins to be wound up is determined<sup>2</sup> as follows<sup>3</sup>. Where the rules of the scheme require or permit the scheme to be wound up and the scheme is wound up under those rules, the scheme begins to be wound up (1) either at such time as the rules provide that it does so, or if the rules make no provision as to that time, at such time as the trustees determine that the scheme must begin to be wound up; or (2) as soon as there are no members who are in pensionable service<sup>4</sup> under the scheme, whichever is the later<sup>5</sup>. Where the rules of the scheme require or permit the scheme to be wound up, but the trustees determine<sup>6</sup> that the scheme is not for the time being to be wound up, then for these purposes, in so far as any provision made by the rules of the scheme as to the time when it begins to be wound up is inconsistent with the trustees' determination, that provision must be disregarded<sup>7</sup>.

Where a scheme is wound up in pursuance of an order<sup>8</sup> of the Occupational Pensions Regulatory Authority<sup>9</sup> or of an order of a court, and the order makes provision as to the time at which the scheme is to begin to be wound up, the scheme begins to be wound up at the time specified in the order or, if none is so specified, the date on which the order takes effect<sup>10</sup>.

1 As to the schemes to which these provisions apply see PARA 843 ante.

7 Ibid reg 2(3). Where under the rules of the scheme any person other than the trustees may determine that the scheme is to be wound up, or is not to be wound up for the time being, then the references in reg 2(2)(a)(ii) (see head (1) in the text), reg 2(3) to the trustees' determination must be taken, in a case where the winding up begins or is deferred by virtue of that other person's determination, as a reference to his determination; and this provision applies where such a power is vested in the trustees jointly with another person, or in some but not all of the trustees, as it applies where such a power is vested only in a person other than the trustees: reg 2(4).

Halsbury's Laws of England/SOCIAL SECURITY AND PENSIONS (VOLUME 44(2) (REISSUE))/18. OCCUPATIONAL PENSION SCHEMES/ (10) WINDING UP/845. Preferential liabilities on winding up.

845. Preferential liabilities on winding up.

The following provisions apply, where a salary-related occupational pension scheme to which the minimum funding requirement applies<sup>1</sup> is being wound up, to determine the order in which the assets of the scheme are to be applied towards satisfying the liabilities in respect of pensions and other benefits (including increases in pensions)<sup>2</sup>. The assets of the scheme must be applied first towards satisfying the amounts of the liabilities mentioned in heads (a) to (e) below and, if the assets are insufficient to satisfy those amounts in full, then:

- 2043 (1) the assets must be applied towards satisfying the amounts of the liabilities in the order listed in heads (a) to (e) below; and
- 2044 (2) where the amounts of the liabilities mentioned in one head cannot be satisfied in full, those amounts must be satisfied in the same proportions<sup>3</sup>.

The liabilities so referred to are:

- 2045 (a) any liability for pensions or other benefits which, in the opinion of the trustees, are derived from the payment by any member<sup>4</sup> of the scheme of voluntary contributions<sup>5</sup>;
- 2046 (b) where the trustees or managers<sup>6</sup> of the scheme are entitled to benefits under a contract of insurance which was entered into before 6 April 1997 with a view to securing the whole or part of the scheme's liability for any pension or other benefit payable in respect of one particular person whose entitlement to payment of a pension or other benefit has arisen and for any benefit which will be payable in respect of that person on his death, and either that contract may not be surrendered or the amount payable on surrender does not exceed the liability secured by the contract (but excluding liability for increases to pensions), the liability so secured<sup>7</sup>;
- 2047 (c) in a case not falling within head (b) above, where a person's entitlement to payment of pension or other benefit has arisen, liability for that pension or benefit and for any pension or other benefit which will be payable in respect of that person on his death (but excluding increases to pensions)<sup>8</sup>;
- 2048 (d) any liability for pensions or other benefits which have accrued to or in respect of any members of the scheme (but excluding increases to pensions) or, in respect of members with less than two years pensionable service, the return of contributions<sup>9</sup>;
- 2049 (e) any liability for increases to pensions referred to in heads (c) and (d) above<sup>10</sup>, and, for these purposes, the amounts of the liabilities mentioned in heads (b) to (d) above are to be taken to be the amounts calculated and verified in the prescribed<sup>11</sup> manner<sup>12</sup>.

To the extent that any liabilities, as calculated in accordance with the rules of the scheme, have not been so satisfied, any remaining assets of the scheme must then be applied towards satisfying those liabilities (as so calculated) in the order provided for in the rules of the scheme<sup>13</sup>. If the scheme confers power on any person other than the trustees or managers to apply the assets of the scheme in respect of pensions or other benefits (including increases in pensions), it cannot be exercised by that person but may be exercised instead by the trustees or managers<sup>14</sup>.

If these requirements are not complied with, the provisions relating to prohibition orders<sup>15</sup> apply to any trustee who has failed to take all such steps as are reasonable to secure compliance, and the provisions relating to civil penalties<sup>16</sup> apply to any trustee or manager who has failed to take all such steps<sup>17</sup>.

These provisions do not apply to an occupational pension scheme falling within a prescribed class or description<sup>18</sup> and have effect with prescribed modifications<sup>19</sup> in cases where part of a salary-related occupational pension scheme to which the minimum funding requirement applies is being wound up<sup>20</sup>.

9     Pensions Act 1995 s 73(3)(c). For the meaning of 'pensionable service' see PARA 782 note 5 ante. Section 73(3)(c) is substituted in the case of a scheme which begins to be wound up before the expiry of the transitional period: see the Occupational Pensions (Winding Up) Regulations 1996, SI 1996/3126, reg 3(1)(b), (5). For these purposes, the transitional period is either the period of ten years beginning with 6 April 1997 or, in the case of a scheme to which the Occupational Pension Schemes (Minimum Funding Requirement and Actuarial Valuations) Regulations 1996, SI 1996/1536, reg 16(2) applies (see PARA 817 ante) and the schedule period in relation to which has been extended under reg 25 (as amended) or reg 27 (see PARA 817 ante), that extended schedule period: Occupational Pensions (Winding Up) Regulations 1996, SI 1996/3126, regs 1(4), 3(2). 'The schedule period' has the same meaning as in the Occupational Pension Schemes (Minimum Funding Requirement and Actuarial Valuations) Regulations 1996, SI 1996/1536 (as amended) (see PARA 817 note 10 ante): Occupational Pensions (Winding Up) Regulations 1996, SI 1996/3126, reg 3(2).

Regulations may provide for the values of the assets and the amounts of the liabilities to be calculated and verified in accordance with guidance prepared and from time to time revised by a prescribed body, and approved by the Secretary of State: Pensions Act 1995 s 119. As to the Secretary of State see PARA 1 ante. For the prescribed manner of calculating and verifying the liabilities see the Occupational Pensions (Winding Up) Regulations 1996, SI 1996/3126, reg 4.

The trustees of a trust scheme may by resolution modify the scheme with a view to fixing or providing for the fixing of the time when the paragraph of the Pensions Act 1995 s 73(3) (see heads (a)-(e) in the text) into which the liability in respect of any person falls is to be determined for the purposes of s 73(2) or s 73(3) or of any priority rule of the scheme, in the event of a determination (whether in pursuance of s 38 (see PARA 843 ante) or otherwise that the scheme is not for the time being to be wound up, despite rules otherwise requiring it to be so: Occupational Pensions (Winding Up) Regulations 1996, SI 1996/3126, reg 5(1); and see PARA 838 ante. That time must be on or after the date of the resolution and of any such determination to defer winding up and before the date on which the scheme begins to be wound up: reg 5(2). In reg 5(1), 'priority rule' means a rule of the scheme requiring the trustees to apply the assets of the scheme on a winding up in satisfying the amounts of certain liabilities to or in respect of members before other such liabilities: reg 5(3).

The trustees of any trust scheme or any other persons with power in respect of any such scheme to make a determination as to the time when the paragraph of the Pensions Act 1995 s 73(3) (see heads (a)-(e) in the text) into which the liability in respect of any person falls is fixed must keep a written record of any such determination made by them: Occupational Pensions (Winding Up) Regulations 1996, SI 1996/3126, reg 11(1) (b). ## UPDATE

A new type of pension scheme, known as the stakeholder pension scheme, has been established: see the Welfare Reform and Pensions Act Pt I (ss 1-8); and PARA 873A.

The Income Tax (Earnings and Pensions) Act 2003 ss 580-608, 623-628 (which replaced those parts of the Income and Corporation Taxes Act 1988 and subsequent legislation dealing with approved retirement benefits schemes, former approved superannuation funds, approved personal pension schemes, and retirement annuity contracts) are repealed: Finance Act 2004 Sch 31 paras 7, 10, Sch 42 Pt 3. The 2004 Act introduces the concept of registered pension schemes: see Pt 4 (ss 149-284); and PARA 873B.

The Pensions Act 2008 Pt 1 Ch 5 (ss 67-78) makes provision for the establishment of a trust-based occupational pension scheme and for a trustee corporation; see para 873D.

842-852 Winding Up

Provision has been made for the supervision of the winding up: see the Pensions Act 1995 ss 72A-72C (added by the Child Support, Pensions and Social Security Act 2000 ss 49, 51; and amended by the Pensions Act 2004 Sch 12 paras 59, 60, Sch 13 Pt 1).

845 Preferential liabilities on winding up

TEXT AND NOTES--Pensions Act 1995 s 73 now ss 73-73B: see PARA 845A.

NOTES--In the case of an occupational pension scheme which is not a scheme to which the Welfare Reform and Pensions Act 1999 s 38 applies, rights attributable (directly or indirectly) to a pension credit are to be accorded in a winding up the same treatment (1) if they have come into payment, as the rights of a pensioner member; and (2) if they have not come into payment, as the rights of a deferred member: s 38(2) (s 38(2)-(4) (s 38(2) amended by Pensions Act 2004 Sch 12 para 75), 46(1). The 1999 Act s 38 applies to an occupational pension scheme other than (a) a money purchase scheme, or (b) a prescribed scheme or a scheme of a prescribed description: s 38(2A) (added by Pensions Act 2004 Sch 12 para 75). The 1999 Act s 38(2) overrides the provisions of a scheme to the extent that it conflicts with them, and the scheme has effect with such modifications as may be required in consequence: s 38(3). 'Deferred member' and 'pensioner member' have the same meanings as in the 1995 Act Pt I (ss 1-125) (see PARA 612): 1999 Act s 38(4)(a). 'Pension credit' means a credit under s 29(1)(b) (see PARA 961A.3) and includes a credit under the corresponding Northern Ireland provision: ss 38(4)(b), 46(1). References to rights attributable to a pension credit having come into payment are to the person to whom the rights belong having become entitled by virtue of the rights to the present payment of pension or other benefits: s 38(4)(c).

As to multi-employer schemes (see PARA 809), see the Occupational Pension Scheme (Winding Up) (Modification for Multi-employer Schemes and Miscellaneous Amendments) Regulations 2005, SI 2005/2159 (amended by SI 2007/814).

NOTES 7-12--SI 1996/3126 reg 3 is amended in relation to occupational pension schemes which begin to be wound up on or after 10 May 2004 and before the end of the transitional period by SI 2004/1140.

SI 1997/3126 reg 3 further amended: SI 2005/706.

SI 1996/3126 reg 4B (calculation of liabilities where employer not insolvent and where winding up commences on or after 11 June 2003) added: SI 2004/403. Halsbury's Laws of England/SOCIAL SECURITY AND PENSIONS (VOLUME 44(2) (REISSUE))/18. OCCUPATIONAL PENSION SCHEMES/ (10) WINDING UP/845A. Preferential liabilities.

845A. Preferential liabilities.

1. Preferential liabilities on winding up

The following provisions<sup>1</sup> apply where an occupational pension scheme to which these provisions apply is being wound up to determine the order in which the assets<sup>2</sup> of the scheme are to be applied towards satisfying the liabilities<sup>3</sup> of the scheme in respect of pensions and other benefits<sup>4</sup>. The following provisions apply to an occupational pension scheme other than a scheme which is (1) a money purchase scheme, or (2) a prescribed scheme or a scheme of a prescribed description<sup>5</sup>. The assets of the scheme must be applied first towards satisfying the amounts of the liabilities mentioned below<sup>6</sup> and, if the assets are insufficient to satisfy those amounts in full, then (a) the assets must be applied first towards satisfying the amounts of the liabilities mentioned in earlier heads of the provision below before the amounts of the liabilities mentioned in later heads, and (b) where the amounts of the liabilities mentioned in one of those heads cannot be satisfied in full, those amounts must be satisfied in the same proportions<sup>7</sup>. The liabilities referred to above<sup>8</sup> are (i) where (A) the trustees or managers of the scheme are entitled to benefits under a relevant pre-1997 contract of insurance<sup>9</sup> entered into in relation to the scheme, and (B) either that contract may not be surrendered or the amount payable on surrender does not exceed the liability secured by the contract, the liability so secured; (ii) any liability for pensions or other benefits to the extent that the amount of the liability does not exceed the corresponding PPF liability<sup>10</sup>, other than a liability within head (i) above; (iii) any liability for pensions or other benefits which, in the opinion of the trustees or managers, are derived from the payment by any member of voluntary contributions, other than a liability within head (i) or (ii) above; (iv) any other liability in respect of pensions or other benefits<sup>11</sup>. Where, on the commencement of the winding up period<sup>12</sup>, a member becomes a person to whom Chapter 5 of Part 4 of the Pension Schemes Act 1993 (early leavers: cash transfer sums and contribution refunds)<sup>13</sup> applies, that Chapter applies in relation to him with such modifications as may be prescribed<sup>14</sup>.

1    Ie the Pensions Act 1995 s 73.

2    For the purposes of ibid s 73 'assets' of a scheme to which s 73 applies do not include any assets representing the value of any rights in respect of money purchase benefits under the scheme rules: s 73(10) (ss 73, 73A, 73B substituted by the Pensions Act 2004 s 270(1)). 'Scheme rules' has the same meaning as in the Pensions Act 2004 (see s 318; and PARA 636A.19): 1995 Act s 73(10).

3    For the purposes of ibid s 73 'liabilities' of such a scheme do not include any liabilities in respect of money purchase benefits under the scheme rules: s 73(10).

4    Ibid s 73(1). As to the schemes to which s 73 does not apply see the Occupational Pension Schemes (Winding up etc) Regulations 2005, SI 2005/706, reg 3 (amended by SI 2006/467, SI 2007/814).

5    1995 Act s 73(2).

6    Ie mentioned in ibid s 73(4).

7    Ibid s 73(3). See Cripps v Trustee Solutions Ltd [2007] EWCA Civ 771, [2007] All ER (D) 416 (Jul); applied in Alexander Forbes Trustee Services Ltd v Clarke [2008] EWHC 153 (Ch), [2008] All ER (D) 41 (Feb).

8    Ie in the 1995 Act s 73(3).

9 For these purposes 'relevant pre-1997 contract of insurance' means a contract of insurance which was entered into before 6 April 1997 with a view to securing the whole or part of the scheme's liability for (1) any pension or other benefit payable to or in respect of one particular person whose entitlement to payment of a pension or other benefit has arisen, and (2) any benefit which will be payable in respect of that person on his death: ibid s 73(5).

10 For these purposes 'corresponding PPF liability' in relation to any liability for pensions or other benefits means (1) where the liability is to a member of the scheme, the cost of securing benefits for or in respect of the member corresponding to the compensation which would be payable to or in respect of the member in accordance with the pension compensation provisions if the Board of the Pension Protection Fund assumed responsibility for the scheme in accordance with the 2004 Act Pt 2 Ch 3 (ss 126-181) (see PARA 659C), and (2) where the liability is to another person in respect of a member of the scheme, the cost of securing benefits for that person corresponding to the compensation which would be payable to that person in respect of the member in accordance with the pension compensation provisions if the Board assumed responsibility for the scheme in accordance with Pt 2 Ch 3: 1995 Act s 73(5). 'The pension compensation provisions' has the same meaning as in the 2004 Act Pt 2 (ss 107-220) (see s 162; and PARA 659C.26): 1995 Act s 73(10). For the purposes of s 73, when determining the corresponding PPF liability in relation to any liability of a scheme to, or in respect of, a member for pensions or other benefits, the pension compensation provisions apply with such modifications as may be prescribed: s 73(6).

11 Ibid s 73(4). Regulations may modify s 73(4): s 73(7). For the purposes of s 73(4) (1) regulations may prescribe how it is to be determined whether a liability for pensions or other benefits which, in the opinion of the trustees or managers of the scheme, are derived from the payment by any member of voluntary contributions falls within head (i) or (ii) in the text; (2) no pension or other benefit which is attributable (directly or indirectly) to a pension credit is to be regarded for the purposes of head (iii) in the text as derived from the payment of voluntary contributions: s 73(8).

12 For the purposes of ibid s 73 'winding up period', in relation to an occupational pension scheme to which s 73 applies, means the period which (1) begins with the day on which the time immediately after the beginning of the winding up of the scheme falls, and (2) ends when the winding up of the scheme is completed: s 73(10).

14 1995 Act s 73(9).

15 See ibid s 73B.

2. Operation of scheme during winding up period

The following provisions<sup>1</sup> apply where an occupational pension scheme<sup>2</sup> is being wound up<sup>3</sup>. During the winding up period, the trustees or managers of the scheme (1) must secure that any pensions or other benefits (other than money purchase benefits) paid to or in respect of a member are reduced, so far as necessary, to reflect the liabilities<sup>4</sup> of the scheme to or in respect of the member, and (2) may, for the purposes of head (1) above, take such steps as they consider appropriate (including steps adjusting future payments) to recover any overpayment or pay any shortfall<sup>5</sup>. During the winding up period (a) no benefits may accrue under the scheme rules to, or in respect of, members of the scheme, and (b) no new members of any class may be admitted to the scheme<sup>6</sup>. Regulations may require the trustees or managers of the scheme, in prescribed circumstances (i) to adjust the entitlement of a person to a pension or other benefit under the scheme rules where the entitlement arises as a result of a discretionary award<sup>7</sup> which takes effect during the winding up period; (ii) to adjust the entitlement of a person ('the survivor') to a pension or other benefit under the scheme rules where (A) a member of the scheme, or a person who was (or might have become) entitled to a pension or other benefit in respect of a member, dies during the winding up period, and (B) the survivor's entitlement is to a pension or other benefit in respect of the member (whether arising on the date of that death or subsequently)<sup>8</sup>. If the scheme confers power on any person other than the trustees or managers of the scheme to apply the assets of the scheme in respect of pensions or other benefits (including increases in pensions or benefits), it cannot be exercised by that person but may<sup>9</sup> be exercised instead by the trustees or managers<sup>10</sup>.

Supplementary provision is made<sup>11</sup>.

- 1 le the Pensions Act 1995 s 73A.
  - 2 le to which ibid s 73 (see PARA 845A.1) applies.
  - 3 1995 Act s 73A(1) (ss 73, 73A, 73B substituted by the Pensions Act 2004 s 270(1)).
  - 4 These will be satisfied in accordance with the 1995 Act s 73.
  - 5 Ibid s 73A(2).
  - 6 Ibid s 73A(3). Section 73A(3) does not prevent any increase, in a benefit, which would otherwise accrue in accordance with the scheme or any enactment: s 73A(4). Section 73A(3) does not prevent the accrual of money purchase benefits to the extent that they are derived from income or capital gains arising from the investment of payments which are made by, or in respect of, a member of the scheme: s 73A(5). Where a person is entitled to a pension credit derived from another person's shareable rights under the scheme, s 73A(3) does not prevent the trustees or managers of the scheme discharging their liability in respect of the credit under the Welfare Reform and Pensions Act 1999 Pt 4 Ch 1 (sharing of rights under pension arrangements) by conferring appropriate rights under the scheme on that person: Pensions Act 1995 s 73A(6). For the purposes of s 73A 'shareable rights' has the same meaning as in the Welfare Reform and Pensions Act 1999 Pt 4 Ch 1; and 'appropriate rights' has the same meaning as in the Welfare Reform and Pensions Act 1999 Sch 5 para 5 (pension credits: mode of discharge): Pensions Act 1995 s 73A(10).
  - 7 For the purposes of ibid s 73A 'discretionary award' means an award of a prescribed description: s 73A(10).
  - 8 Ibid s 73A(7). Regulations under s 73A(7) may, in particular (1) prescribe how the required adjustments to entitlement are to be determined and the manner in which they are to be made; (2) in a case where the commencement of the winding up of the scheme is backdated (whether in accordance with the Pensions Act 2004 s 154 (requirement to wind up schemes with sufficient assets to meet protected liabilities: see PARA 659C.23) or otherwise), require any adjustment to a person's entitlement to be made with effect from the time the award takes effect; (3) without prejudice to the Pensions Act 1995 ss 10(3)-(9), 73B(2) and 116, make provision about the consequences of breaching the requirements of the regulations: s 73A(8).
  - 9 Subject to the provisions made by or by virtue of ibid s 73A and ss 73 and 73B.
  - 10 Ibid s 73A(9).
- The Pensions Act 1995 s 73(10) (see PARA 845A.1) applies as it applies for the purposes of s 73: s 73A(10).
- 11 See ibid s 73B.

UPDATE

741-873 Occupational Pension Schemes

A new type of pension scheme, known as the stakeholder pension scheme, has been established: see the Welfare Reform and Pensions Act Pt I (ss 1-8); and PARA 873A.

The Income Tax (Earnings and Pensions) Act 2003 ss 580-608, 623-628 (which replaced those parts of the Income and Corporation Taxes Act 1988 and subsequent legislation dealing with approved retirement benefits schemes, former approved superannuation funds, approved personal pension schemes, and retirement annuity contracts) are repealed: Finance Act 2004 Sch 31 paras 7, 10, Sch 42 Pt 3. The 2004 Act introduces the concept of registered pension schemes: see Pt 4 (ss 149-284); and PARA 873B.

The Pensions Act 2008 Pt 1 Ch 5 (ss 67-78) makes provision for the establishment of a trust-based occupational pension scheme and for a trustee corporation; see para 873D.

842-852 Winding Up

Provision has been made for the supervision of the winding up: see the Pensions Act 1995 ss 72A-72C (added by the Child Support, Pensions and Social Security Act 2000 ss 49, 51; and amended by the Pensions Act 2004 Sch 12 paras 59, 60, Sch 13 Pt 1).

846. Preferential liabilities on winding up of hybrid schemes.

In relation to any scheme<sup>1</sup> which is not a money purchase scheme<sup>2</sup>, but where some of the benefits that may be provided are relevant money purchase benefits<sup>3</sup>, the statutory provisions relating to priority of liabilities in a winding up<sup>4</sup> apply as if the liabilities of the scheme did not include liabilities in respect of those benefits, and the assets of the scheme did not include the assets by reference to which the rate or amount of those benefits is calculated<sup>5</sup>.

1 As to the schemes to which these provisions apply see PARA 843 ante.

2 For the meaning of 'money purchase scheme' see PARA 811 note 2 ante.

3 For these purposes, 'relevant money purchase benefits' means money purchase benefits other than benefits derived from the payment by any member of voluntary contributions, or underpin benefits: Occupational Pensions (Winding Up) Regulations 1996, SI 1996/3126, reg 13(2). 'Underpin benefits' means money purchase benefits which under the provisions of the scheme will only be provided in respect of a member if their value exceeds the value of other benefits in respect of him under the scheme which are not money purchase benefits: reg 13(3). Where a scheme which is not a money purchase scheme may provide underpin benefits, the amount of the liability for those benefits must be calculated in accordance with reg 4 (but omitting reg 4(1)(c), (3)-(5)): reg 13(4).

847. Discharge of liabilities by insurance etc; in general.

The following provisions apply where a salary-related occupational pension scheme to which the minimum funding requirement applies<sup>1</sup>, other than a scheme falling within a prescribed<sup>2</sup> class or description, is being wound up<sup>3</sup>. A liability to or in respect of a member<sup>4</sup> of the scheme in respect of pensions or other benefits (including increases in pensions) is to be treated as discharged (to the extent that it would not be so treated apart from these provisions) if the trustees or managers<sup>5</sup> of the scheme have, in accordance with prescribed arrangements, provided for the discharge of the liability in one or more of the ways mentioned in heads (1) to (4) below<sup>6</sup>.

The ways so referred to are:

- 2050 (1) by acquiring transfer credits<sup>7</sup> allowed under the rules of another occupational pension scheme which satisfies prescribed requirements and the trustees or managers of which are able and willing to accept payment in respect of the member<sup>8</sup>;
- 2051 (2) by acquiring rights allowed under the rules of a personal pension scheme which satisfies prescribed requirements and the trustees or managers of which are able and willing to accept payment in respect of the member's accrued rights<sup>9</sup>;
- 2052 (3) by purchasing one or more annuities which satisfy prescribed requirements<sup>10</sup> from one or more insurance companies willing to accept payment in respect of the member from the trustees or managers<sup>11</sup>;
- 2053 (4) by subscribing to other pension arrangements which satisfy prescribed requirements<sup>12</sup>.

Regulations<sup>13</sup> may provide for these provisions to have effect in relation to so much of any liability as may be determined in accordance with the regulations, or to have effect with prescribed modifications<sup>14</sup> in relation to schemes falling within a prescribed class or description<sup>15</sup>.

The arrangements with which the trustees or managers of a scheme must comply in providing for the discharge of a liability are as follows: (1) where the trustees or managers of a scheme propose to discharge a liability of the scheme to or in respect of a member (a) they must give him, or, if he has died, each beneficiary who is entitled to benefits in respect of him, notice in writing of that fact; and (b) if they propose to discharge the liability wholly or partly in the way mentioned in s 74(3)(a) or s 74(3)(b) (as modified) or in the way mentioned in the Occupational Pensions (Winding Up) Regulations 1996, SI 1996/3126, reg 8(5) in a case where reg 8(5)(a) applies (payment to Secretary of State of amount required for restoring the member's state scheme rights), then, subject to reg 6(4), they must obtain the written consent of the member or, as the case may be, the beneficiary to discharging the liability in that way; and (c) in the case of discharge in the way mentioned in reg 8(5), any other requirements which apply to the making of a payment so mentioned must have been met; (2) a notice under head (1)(a) supra (a 'discharge notice') must comply with the requirements of reg 7; (3) in a case where the Occupational Pension Schemes (Preservation of Benefit) Regulations 1991, SI 1991/167, reg 12 (as amended) (transfer of member's accrued rights without consent: see PARA 934 post) applies, no consent need be obtained to a discharge of liability in the way mentioned in the Pensions Act 1995 s 74(3)(a) (see head (1) in the text); and (4) where the trustees or managers have complied with heads (1)-(2) supra and an election has been made under the Occupational Pensions (Winding Up) Regulations 1996, SI 1996/3126, reg 7(3)(a), they may discharge the liability in pursuance of the election without complying with those heads again: reg 6(1)-(5).

Halsbury's Laws of England/SOCIAL SECURITY AND PENSIONS (VOLUME 44(2) (REISSUE))/18. OCCUPATIONAL PENSION SCHEMES/ (10) WINDING UP/848. Notice of discharge.

848. Notice of discharge.

Where the trustees or managers<sup>1</sup> of a scheme propose to discharge a liability of the scheme to or in respect of a member they must give him, or, if he has died, each beneficiary who is entitled to benefits in respect of him, notice in writing of that fact<sup>2</sup>. A discharge notice must specify the sum which is available to be used to discharge the liability of the scheme to the member or, as the case may be, the beneficiary in respect of his rights under the scheme and, if the full amount of that liability<sup>3</sup> is greater than that sum, that amount and the reason for the difference<sup>4</sup>. A discharge notice must also:

- 2054 (1) specify the way or ways in which it is proposed to discharge the liability;
- 2055 (2) if the proposed way or any of the proposed ways requires the consent of the member or, as the case may be, the beneficiary, state that his consent is so required, the period within which his consent must be given<sup>5</sup> and the way or ways in which it is proposed to discharge the liability if he does not give his consent; and
- 2056 (3) if the proposed way is by a payment to the Secretary of State<sup>6</sup>, state any further requirements which must be met before discharge may be made in that way<sup>7</sup>.

If there are any options available to the member or beneficiary, the discharge notice must specify them and state:

- 2057 (a) that if he wishes to elect that, instead of the liability being discharged in the proposed way, it should be discharged in one or more of the other ways<sup>8</sup> which are available in his case (or partly in the proposed way and partly in another such way), then he must give notice to that effect in writing to the trustees or managers, specifying the way or ways in which he wishes the liability to be discharged, and the name of the relevant provider<sup>9</sup>;
- 2058 (b) that such a notice must be given by him before the expiry of the period of three months beginning with the date on which the discharge notice is given to him; and
- 2059 (c) that it would be advisable for him to obtain independent financial advice before deciding whether to make such an election<sup>10</sup>.

Discharge notices are not required to be given to a person if the trustees or managers know no address for him or if correspondence sent to the address at which he was last known by them to be living has been returned<sup>11</sup>.

1 For the meaning of 'trustees or managers' see PARA 612 note 10 ante.

2 See the Occupational Pensions (Winding Up) Regulations 1996, SI 1996/3126, reg 6(2)(a).

3 ie as calculated in accordance with ibid reg 4.

4 Ibid reg 7(1).

5 The period must be at least three months beginning with the date on which the notice is given: ibid reg 7(2)(ii).

6 le the way mentioned in ibid reg 8(5) (amount required for restoring the member's state scheme rights where the Pension Schemes Act 1993 s 39, Sch 2 para 5(3B) (as added) applies).

7 Occupational Pensions (Winding Up) Regulations 1996, SI 1996/3126, reg 7(2).

8 le the ways mentioned in the Pensions Act 1995 s 74(3): see PARA 847 ante.

9 'The relevant provider' means (1) in the case of the acquisition of transfer credits under another occupational pension scheme, the trustees or managers of the scheme; (2) in the case of the acquisition of rights under a personal pension scheme, the person who is responsible for the provision of pensions and other benefits under the scheme; and (3) in the case of the purchase or transfer of the benefit of an annuity, the insurance company or companies from which the annuity is to be or, as the case may be, has been purchased: Occupational Pensions (Winding Up) Regulations 1996, SI 1996/3126, reg 7(8).

10 Ibid reg 7(3). The statement mentioned in head (c) in the text must also be included in any case where the consent of the member or the beneficiary is required: reg 7(4). Where it is proposed to discharge the liability (1) in the way mentioned in the Pensions Act 1995 s 74(3)(a) (see PARA 847 head (1) ante), the discharge notice must specify the name of the relevant provider and the scheme address; (2) in the way mentioned in s 74(3)(b) (see PARA 847 head (2) ante), the discharge notice must specify the name of the relevant provider and (if different) of the person who is the scheme administrator and the scheme address; (3) in the way mentioned in s 74(3)(c) (see PARA 847 head (3) ante) or in the Occupational Pensions (Winding Up) Regulations 1996, SI 1996/3126, reg 8(4), the discharge notice must specify (a) the name and address of the relevant provider; (b) if different, the name and address of the person from whom information about the terms of the contract for the provision of the annuity which is to be purchased or, as the case may be, the benefit of which is to be transferred can be obtained; and (c) in a case where the contract for the provision of the annuity has not been made at the time the notice is given, whether information about its terms will be given on the assumption that they will coincide with the terms of a quotation: reg 7(5)-(7). For these purposes, 'the scheme address', in relation to a scheme, means the place in the United Kingdom where the management of the scheme is conducted or, if there is more than one such place, the principal place; and 'scheme administrator' has the meaning given in the Income and Corporation Taxes Act 1988 s 630(1) (see PARA 714 note 5 ante): Occupational Pensions (Winding Up) Regulations 1996, SI 1996/3126, reg 7(8). A discharge notice and any notice under reg 7(3) is treated as having been given to a person if it has been sent to him by post at the address at which he was last known by the trustees or managers of the scheme to be living: reg 7(9).

11 Ibid reg 7(10).

849 Discharge of protected rights on winding up by insurance etc

TEXT AND NOTES 1-8--The following provisions come into force on the abolition date: see Pensions Act 2007 s 15; and PARA 880. For savings see Sch 4 Pt 3. Where an occupational pension scheme is being wound up, effect may not be given to the protected rights of a member of the scheme by taking out a policy of insurance (or a number of such policies) under which the member is the beneficiary unless the policy (or each such policy) satisfies the requirement in the 1993 Act s 32A(2): s 32A(1) (s 32A substituted by the Pensions Act 2007 Sch 4 para 12). The requirement is that the policy of insurance makes such provision in relation to giving effect to the protected rights of the beneficiary as a scheme to which the 1993 Act s 25A (see PARA 898A) applies is required to make under or by virtue of s 27A (see PARA 899A) in relation to giving effect to the protected rights of a member of the scheme: s 32A(2).

NOTE 6--Pension Schemes Act 1993 s 32A(2) amended, SI 1996/775 reg 3 substituted: SI 2001/3649. SI 1996/775 reg 5 substituted by SI 2006/744 and amended by SI 2007/849, SI 2009/2930. SI 1996/775 reg 6 amended: SI 2006/744.

Halsbury's Laws of England/SOCIAL SECURITY AND PENSIONS (VOLUME 44(2) (REISSUE))/18. OCCUPATIONAL PENSION SCHEMES/ (10) WINDING UP/850. Deficiencies in the assets.

850. Deficiencies in the assets.

If, in the case of an occupational pension scheme<sup>1</sup> which is not a money purchase scheme<sup>2</sup>, the value at the applicable time<sup>3</sup> of the assets of the scheme is less than the amount at that time of the liabilities of the scheme, an amount equal to the difference must be treated as a debt<sup>4</sup> due from the employer to the trustees or managers<sup>5</sup> of the scheme<sup>6</sup>. For these purposes, the liabilities and assets to be taken into account, and their amount or value, must be determined, calculated and verified by a prescribed person and in the prescribed manner<sup>7</sup>. In calculating the value of any liabilities, a provision of the scheme which limits the amount of its liabilities by reference to the amount of its assets is to be disregarded<sup>8</sup>.

If, in the case of an occupational pension scheme which is not a money purchase scheme, a relevant insolvency event occurs in relation to the employer, and a debt so due from the employer has not been discharged at the time that event occurs, the debt in question must be taken, for the purposes of the law relating to winding up, bankruptcy or sequestration as it applies in relation to the employer, to arise immediately before that time<sup>9</sup>.

These provisions do not prejudice any other right or remedy which the trustees or managers may have in respect of a deficiency in the scheme's assets<sup>10</sup> and they do not apply to an occupational pension scheme falling within a prescribed class or description<sup>11</sup> and thus do not apply to:

- 2065 (1) a public service pension scheme<sup>12</sup> under the provisions of which there is no requirement for assets related to the intended rate or amount of benefit under the scheme to be set aside in advance (disregarding requirements relating to additional voluntary contributions) or which is made under the statutory provisions relating to the superannuation of persons employed in local government service<sup>13</sup> or to parliamentary pensions<sup>14</sup>;
- 2066 (2) any occupational pension scheme in respect of which any Minister of the Crown has given a guarantee or made any other arrangements for the purpose of securing that the assets of the scheme are sufficient to meet its liabilities;
- 2067 (3) an occupational pension scheme which provides relevant benefits<sup>15</sup> but is neither an approved scheme<sup>16</sup> nor a relevant statutory scheme<sup>17</sup>;
- 2068 (4) a scheme with a specified type of superannuation fund<sup>18</sup>;
- 2069 (5) a scheme with less than two members;
- 2070 (6) a scheme the only benefits provided by which are death benefits and under the provisions of which no member has accrued rights;
- 2071 (7) a relevant lump sum retirement benefits scheme<sup>19</sup>; or
- 2072 (8) the scheme established by the Salvation Army Act 1963<sup>20</sup>.

In addition, regulations may modify<sup>21</sup> these provisions as they apply in prescribed circumstances<sup>22</sup>.

1 For the meaning of 'occupational pension scheme' see PARA 741 ante (definition applied by the Pensions Act 1995 s 176). See also PARA 598 note 7 ante.

2 For the meaning of 'money purchase scheme' see PARA 811 note 2 ante (definition applied by ibid s 176).

3 'The applicable time' means (1) if the scheme is being wound up before a relevant insolvency event occurs in relation to the employer, any time when it is being wound up before such an event occurs; and (2) otherwise, immediately before the relevant insolvency event occurs: ibid s 75(3). A relevant insolvency event occurs in relation to the employer (in England and Wales) where the employer is a company, when it goes into liquidation, within the meaning of the Insolvency Act 1986 s 247(2) (see COMPANY AND PARTNERSHIP INSOLVENCY vol 7(3) (2004 Reissue) PARA 9), or where the employer is an individual, at the commencement of his bankruptcy, within the meaning of s 278 (see BANKRUPTCY AND INDIVIDUAL INSOLVENCY vol 3(2) (2002 Reissue) PARA 213): Pensions Act 1995 s 75(4).

In the application of s 75 and the Occupational Pension Schemes (Deficiency on Winding Up etc) Regulations 1996, SI 1996/3128 (as amended) to a scheme which has no active members, 'the employer' includes every person who employed persons in the description or category of employment to which the scheme relates immediately before the occurrence of the event after which the scheme ceased to have any active members: reg 5(1). In the application of those provisions to a scheme, 'the employer' includes any person who has ceased on or after 6 April 1997 and before the applicable time to be a person employing persons in the description or category of employment to which the scheme relates, unless when he so ceased the scheme was not being wound up and continued to have active members, and one of the prescribed conditions is met, ie that (a) no debt was treated as becoming due from him under the Pensions Act 1995 s 75(1) by virtue of his so ceasing; (b) such a debt was treated as becoming due from him and has been paid before the applicable time; (c) such a debt was treated as becoming due from him but at the applicable time it is excluded from the value of the assets of the scheme by virtue of the Occupational Pension Schemes (Minimum Funding Requirement and Actuarial Valuations) Regulations 1996, SI 1996/1536, reg 6(1)(b) (exclusion of debts unlikely to be recovered: see PARA 813 ante); Occupational Pension Schemes (Deficiency on Winding Up etc) Regulations 1996, SI 1996/3128, reg 5(2), (3). For the meaning of 'employer' generally see PARA 598 note 4 ante. For transitional provisions where a person who was an employer ceased to participate see reg 6. Regulations 5, 6 do not apply to a money purchase scheme, but in the application of the Pensions Act 1995 s 75 and the Occupational Pension Schemes (Deficiency on Winding Up etc) Regulations 1996, SI 1996/3128 (as amended) to such a scheme which has no active members at the applicable time, 'the employer' includes every person who employed persons in the description or category of employment to which the scheme relates immediately before the occurrence of the event after which the scheme ceased to have any active members: reg 9.

4 A debt so due must not be regarded as a preferential debt for the purposes of the Insolvency Act 1986 (see BANKRUPTCY AND INDIVIDUAL INSOLVENCY; COMPANY AND PARTNERSHIP INSOLVENCY), or as a preferred debt for the purposes of the Bankruptcy (Scotland) Act 1985: Pensions Act 1995 s 75(8).

5 For the meaning of 'trustees or managers' see PARA 612 note 10 ante.

6 Pensions Act 1995 s 75(1). Regulations made by virtue of s 75 may provide for the values of the assets and the amounts of the liabilities to be calculated and verified in accordance with guidance prepared and from time to time revised by a prescribed body, and approved by the Secretary of State: s 119. As to the Secretary of State see PARA 1 ante. 20 See ibid reg 10(1).

21 For the meaning of 'modifications' see PARA 664 note 10 ante (definition applied by the Pensions Act 1995 s 124(5)).

22 Ibid s 75(10). Section 75 is modified in relation to (1) multi-employer schemes (see the Occupational Pension Schemes (Deficiency on Winding Up etc) Regulations 1996, SI 1996/3128, reg 4 (amended by SI 1997/786), which adds the Pensions Act 1995 s 75(1A)-(1E) for those purposes only); (2) money purchase schemes and multi-employer money purchase schemes (see the Occupational Pension Schemes (Deficiency on Winding Up etc) Regulations 1996, SI 1996/3128, regs 7, 8); (3) schemes covering United Kingdom and foreign employment (see reg 11, Sch 2 paras 1, 2); and (4) schemes with partial government guarantee (see Sch 2 para 3).

In the case of money purchase schemes, the Pensions Act 1995 s 75 is further modified (by the Occupational and Personal Pension Schemes (Levy) Regulations 1997, SI 1997/666, reg 11) as follows:

198 (a) the Pensions Act 1995 s 75(2), (4), (6), (9), (10) are omitted;

199 (b) s 75(1) is substituted as follows: 'If, in the case of a scheme which is a money purchase scheme, the value at the applicable time of the unallocated assets of the scheme is less than an amount payable by way of levy under the Pension Schemes Act 1993 s 175 [(as substituted) (see PARA 974 post)], then an amount equal to the difference is to be treated as a debt due from the employer to the trustees or managers of the scheme';

200 (c) the definitions in the Pensions Act 1995 s 75(3) are substituted as follows: 'applicable time', in relation to an amount payable by way of levy, means the time when the levy first becomes payable to the Secretary of State or, as the case may be, the Pensions Compensation Board (see PARA 637 ante) or such later time as the trustees or managers may agree with the employer; 'employer' means, in relation to an occupational pension scheme in which there are members in pensionable service, the employer of persons in the description or category of employment to which the scheme relates, and, in relation to an occupational pension scheme which is a frozen scheme, the person who was the employer of persons in the description or category of employment to which the scheme related immediately before the occurrence of the event after which the scheme became a frozen scheme; 'frozen scheme' means a registrable scheme under which benefits continue to be payable to existing members and to which no new members may be admitted, no further contributions are payable by or in respect of existing members and no further benefits accrue to existing members although benefits which have already accrued to them may be increased; 'registrable scheme' means an occupational or a personal pension scheme (i) which is established in the United Kingdom or has a place at which its management is conducted in the United Kingdom and has a representative appointed to carry out the functions of a trustee in the United Kingdom; and (ii) which is a scheme in respect of which a person has applied for, or received, the approval of the Board of Inland Revenue for the purposes of the Income and Corporation Taxes Act 1988 s 590 or s 591 (as amended) (other than s 591(2)(g) (as amended)) (conditions for approval of retirement benefit schemes and discretionary approval: see PARAS 747-752 ante), or for the purposes of Pt XIV Ch IV (ss 630-655) (as amended) (personal pension schemes: see PARA 711 et seq ante), or is a scheme which is a public service pension scheme (as to which see PARA 874 ante); and (iii) which has more than one member and provides benefits which are not solely payable on the death of a member, and, for this purpose, an occupational pension scheme which is a retirement benefits scheme approved under s 591(2)(h) (discretionary approval: see PARA 752 ante) is to be treated as a personal pension scheme; and 'unallocated assets', in the case of a money purchase scheme, means any assets of the scheme which have not been specifically allocated for the provision of benefits to or in respect of members (whether generally or individually); and 201 (d) the Pensions Act 1995 s 75(5) is substituted as follows: 'The value at the applicable time of the unallocated assets is to be taken to be the value as certified in a statement by the scheme auditor'.

850A. Financial assistance for members of certain pension schemes.

1. General

The Secretary of State must make provision, by regulations, for a scheme for making payments to, or in respect of, qualifying members<sup>1</sup> of qualifying pension schemes ('the financial assistance scheme')<sup>2</sup>. Such regulations may, in particular, make provision (1) for the financial assistance scheme to be managed by the Secretary of State, a body established by or for the purposes of the regulations or such other person as may be prescribed; (2) for the person who manages the financial assistance scheme ('the scheme manager') to hold (whether on trust or otherwise), manage and apply a fund in accordance with the regulations or, where the fund is held on trust, the deed of trust; (3) for the property, rights and liabilities of qualifying pension schemes to be transferred to the scheme manager in prescribed circumstances and for the trustees or managers<sup>3</sup> of a qualifying pension scheme in respect of which such a transfer has occurred to be discharged from prescribed liabilities; (4) prescribing the circumstances in which payments are to be made by the scheme manager to, or in respect of, qualifying members of qualifying pension schemes and the manner in which the amount of any payment is to be determined, and, where the fund is held by the fund manager on trust, the circumstances and manner may be prescribed by reference to the deed of trust; (5) authorising the Secretary of State (a) where he is not the scheme manager, to pay grants to the scheme manager; (b) where he is the scheme manager, to pay amounts into the fund held by him in accordance with the regulations; (c) to pay grants to other prescribed persons in connection with the financial assistance scheme; (6) prescribing the circumstances in which amounts are to be paid into or out of the fund held by the scheme manager; (7) for or in connection with (i) the review of, or appeals against, any determination, or failure to make a determination, in connection with the financial assistance scheme<sup>4</sup>, or (ii) the investigation of complaints relating to the financial assistance scheme, and for the establishment of a body or the appointment of a person or persons to hear such appeals or conduct such investigations; (8) conferring functions in relation to the financial assistance scheme on the Pensions Regulator or the Board of the Pension Protection Fund; (9) providing for a person to exercise a discretion in dealing with any matter in relation to the financial assistance scheme; (10) applying any provision of Part 1 or 2 of the Pensions Act 2004<sup>5</sup> with such modifications<sup>6</sup> as may be prescribed; and such regulations may make different provision for different cases or descriptions of case and include such incidental, supplementary, consequential or transitional provision as appears to the Secretary of State to be expedient<sup>7</sup>. The regulations may not make provision for the imposition of a levy or charge on any person for the purpose of funding, directly or indirectly, the financial assistance scheme<sup>8</sup>. The regulations may not require any income or capital of a qualifying member of a qualifying pension scheme (other than income or capital which derives, directly or indirectly, from that scheme) to be taken into account when determining whether the member is entitled to a payment under the financial assistance scheme or the amount of any payment to which the member is entitled<sup>9</sup>.

The restriction on purchasing annuities<sup>10</sup> is extended and a sanction is introduced that allows the scheme manager to make void any annuity contract entered into contrary to the restriction<sup>11</sup>.

The Treasury may by regulation make provision for and in connection with (a) the application of the relevant taxes<sup>12</sup> in relation to the financial assistance scheme<sup>13</sup>, and (b) the application of the relevant taxes in relation to any person in connection with the financial assistance scheme<sup>14</sup>. The provision that may be so made includes provision imposing any of the relevant taxes as well as provision for exemptions and reliefs<sup>15</sup>. Such regulations may, in particular, include provision for and in connection with the taxation of payments made by virtue of regulations under the provisions above<sup>16</sup>. The exemptions and reliefs that may be given by regulations under these provisions include, in particular, exemption from charges to income tax, corporation tax or capital gains tax in respect of (i) income arising from any assets held or managed by, or receipts of, the scheme manager and any chargeable gains arising from the disposal of any such assets; and (ii) the receipt of fraud compensation payments<sup>17</sup>. Such regulations may also include provision having effect in relation to any time before they are made if the provision does not increase any person's liability to tax<sup>18</sup>. They may be framed as provision applying with appropriate modifications provisions having effect in relation to registered pension schemes<sup>19</sup>. Such regulations may include provision extending any enactment or instrument, and consequential, supplementary and transitional provision<sup>20</sup>.

The Treasury may also by regulations make provision for an in connection with the application of the relevant taxes in relation to circumstances in which there is a relevant intervention<sup>21</sup> under the Financial Services Compensation Scheme<sup>22</sup>. The provision that may be made by such regulations includes provision imposing any of the relevant taxes (as well as provision for exemptions or reliefs; as well a provision having effect in relation to any time before they are made (if that provision does not increase any person's liability to tax<sup>23</sup>. Provision so made may be framed as provision modifying, or applying with appropriate modifications, provisions having effect in relation to registered pension schemes<sup>24</sup>. Such regulations may include provision extending any enactment or instrument, and consequential, supplementary and transitional provision<sup>25</sup>.

1 For the purposes of the Pensions Act 2004 s 286 'qualifying member', in relation to a qualifying pension scheme, means a person who, at such time as may be prescribed, is a member of the scheme or has ceased to be a member of the scheme: s 286(2) (amended by Pensions Act 2008 s 124(2)). See Financial Assistance Scheme Regulations 2005, SI 2005/1986 (amended by SI 2005/3256, SI 2006/3370, SI 2007/3581, SI 2008/1432, SI 2008/1903, SI 2008/3069, SI 2009/792, SI 2009/1851, SI 2010/1145). For the meaning of 'member' see PARA 636A.3. 'Qualifying pension scheme' means an occupational pension scheme (including such a scheme which has been fully wound up) (a) which, at such time as may be prescribed, is not (i) a money purchase scheme, or (ii) a scheme of a prescribed description, (b) the winding up of which began, subject to any prescribed exception, during the prescribed period ending immediately before the day appointed under Pensions Act 2004 s 126(2) (see PARA 659C.1), (c) the employer in relation to which satisfies such conditions as may be prescribed at such time as may be prescribed, and (d) prescribed details of which have been notified to such person as may be prescribed by a person of a prescribed description (A) in the prescribed form and manner, and (B) before the prescribed date: s 286(2) (amended by Pensions Act 2008 s 124(3)). As from a day to be appointed definition of 'qualifying pension scheme' is further amended: Pensions Act 2008 s 124(4), (5). See SI 2005/1986. For the meaning of 'occupational pension scheme' and 'prescribed' see PARA 636A.3. As to the service of notifications and electronic working under the Pensions Act 2004 see ss 303-305. A time or period prescribed under the Pensions Act 2004 s 286(2) may fall (or, in the case of a period, wholly or partly fall) at a time before the passing of the Pensions Act 2004 (ie 18 November 2004): s 286(8).

2 Ibid s 286(1). See SI 2005/1986. As to regulations under the Pensions Act 2004 see ss 314-317 (s 316 amended by Pensions Act 2008 ss 124(7)-(10), 125(3), Sch 9 paras 5, 12).

The Secretary of State must, in particular, make provision for securing that (subject to any relevant restriction) the aggregate amount of (1) any annual payment payable to a qualifying member of such a scheme, and (2) the member's actual pension (if any), is not less than 80 per cent of the member's expected pension, irrespective of the date of his attaining normal retirement age (or the date when he would have attained that age if he dies before attaining it): Pensions Act 2004 s 286(1A) (added by Pensions Act 2007 s 18(2)). A 'relevant restriction' means any provision of the regulations which (a) operates to restrict the amount of an annual payment by means of a cap on the product of the calculation of a specified fraction of the member's expected pension, or (b) provides for an annual payment not to be payable where the member's actual pension exceeds any specified amount: 2004 Act s 286(1B) (as added). 'Annual payment' has the meaning given by regulations under s 286(1); and 'actual pension' and 'expected pension', in relation to a qualifying member of a qualifying pension scheme, mean the amounts which, in accordance with regulations under s 286(1), are to be taken into account as the member's actual pension and expected pension, respectively, in determining the amount of any annual payment payable to the member: s 286(2) (amended by 2007 Act s 18(3)).

3 For the meaning of 'managers' see PARA 636A.11. The Financial Assistance Scheme (Internal Review) Regulations 2005, SI 2005/1994 (amended by SI 2005/3256, SI 2006/349, SI 2006/3370, SI 2008/1903, SI 2009/792, SI 2009/1851), have been made under the Pensions Act 2004 s 286(1).

2. Increased levels of payments

The following provisions<sup>1</sup> apply where the scheme manager<sup>2</sup> has determined that an initial payment<sup>3</sup> may be made under the FAS regulations to or in respect of a qualifying member<sup>4</sup> of a qualifying pension scheme<sup>5</sup>, and they so apply whether the determination (1) has been made, or (2) relates to a period beginning, before or after the passing of the Pensions Act 2007<sup>6</sup>. Subject to any relevant restriction<sup>7</sup>, the amount of any such initial payment payable to the member is to be (a) the amount of the member's expected pension multiplied by 0.9, less (b) the amount of the member's interim pension (if any), irrespective of the date of the member attaining normal retirement age (or the date when he would have attained that age if he dies before attaining it)<sup>8</sup>. The amount of any such initial payment payable to the survivor<sup>9</sup> of the member is to be (i) whichever is the smaller of (A) one-half of the product of the calculation in head (a) above, or (B) one-half of the product of that calculation as reduced by virtue of any relevant restriction, less (ii) the amount of the interim pension<sup>10</sup> payable to the survivor (if any), irrespective of the date of the member attaining normal retirement age (or the date when he would have attained that age if he dies before attaining it)<sup>11</sup>. Any provision of the FAS regulations which is inconsistent with the above provisions<sup>12</sup> is of no effect to the extent of the inconsistency<sup>13</sup>.

1 le the Pensions Act 2007 s 18(5) and (6).

2 'Scheme manager' has the same meaning as in the Pensions Act 2004 s 286 (see PARA 850A.1): Pensions Act 2007 s 18(11).

3 'Initial payment' has the meaning given by the FAS regulations: ibid s 18(11). 'The FAS regulations' means regulations under the Pensions Act 2004 s 286(1) (see PARA 850A.1): 2007 Act s 18(11).

4 'Qualifying member' has the same meaning as in the Pensions Act 2004 s 286 (see PARA 850A.1): 2007 Act s 18(11).

5 'Qualifying pension scheme' has the same meaning as in the Pensions Act 2004 s 286 (see PARA 850A.1): 2007 Act s 18(11).

6 Ibid s 18(4). The Pensions Act 2007 received the royal assent on 26 July 2007.

7 In ibid s 18(5) and (6) 'relevant restriction' means any provision of the FAS regulations which (1) operates to restrict the amount of an initial payment by means of a cap on the product of the calculation of a specified fraction of the member's expected pension, or (2) provides for an initial payment not to be payable where the member's interim pension exceeds any specified amount; but for the purposes of s 18(5) and (6) any such specified fraction is to be taken to be 0.9: s 18(7) (amended by SI 2008/1432). See further NOTE 8. 'Expected pension' and 'interim pension', in relation to a qualifying member of a qualifying pension scheme, mean the amounts which, in accordance with the FAS regulations, are to be taken into account as the member's expected pension and interim pension, respectively, in determining the amount of any initial payment payable to, or in respect of, the member: s 18(11).

8 Ibid s 18(5) (amended by SI 2008/1432). The Secretary of State may by regulations (1) amend the 2007 Act s 18(5) so as to substitute for the fraction for the time being specified there such fraction as is specified in the regulations, and (2) make a corresponding amendment in s 18(7): s 18(9). No regulations may be made under s 18(9) unless a draft of the regulations has been laid before and approved by a resolution of each House of Parliament: s 18(10). For further provision as to regulations under s 18 see s 25.

9 'Survivor' has the meaning given by the FAS regulations (see PARA 850A.1): 2007 Act s 18(11).

10 'Interim pension', in relation to the survivor of a qualifying member of a qualifying pension scheme, means the amount which, in accordance with the FAS regulations, is to be taken into account as the interim pension payable to the survivor in determining the amount of any initial payment payable to the survivor: ibid s 18(11).

11 Ibid s 18(6).

12 le inconsistent with ibid s 18(5) or (6).

13 Ibid s 18(8).

As to the review of the operation of the Pensions Act 2007 see s 24.

3. Temporary restriction on purchase of annuities

The Secretary of State must by regulations make provision for securing that, during the period of nine months beginning with the date on which the regulations come into force, the trustees of relevant pension schemes<sup>1</sup> are prohibited from purchasing, or agreeing to purchase, annuities on behalf of qualifying members<sup>2</sup>, unless (1) before that date they have entered into a binding commitment to purchase the annuities, or (2) the purchase of the annuities is approved in pursuance of the provision below<sup>3</sup>. The regulations must make provision (a) for enabling the trustees of a relevant pension scheme to apply to the scheme manager<sup>4</sup> for approval of the purchase of annuities on behalf of qualifying members; (b) for authorising the scheme manager to approve the purchase of any such annuities if the scheme manager thinks it appropriate to do so<sup>5</sup>. Regulations under these provisions (i) must be made as soon as is reasonably practicable after the passing of the Pensions Act 2007<sup>6</sup>; (ii) may make such consequential, incidental, supplemental or transitional provision as the Secretary of State considers appropriate<sup>7</sup>. A statutory instrument containing regulations under these provisions is subject to annulment in pursuance of a resolution of either House of Parliament<sup>8</sup>.

The restriction on purchasing annuities is extended and a sanction is introduced which allows the scheme manager to make void any annuity contract entered into contrary to the restriction<sup>9</sup>.

1 For the purposes of the Pensions Act 2007 s 19 an occupational pension scheme is a 'relevant pension scheme' at any time during the period mentioned in s 19(1) if at that time the scheme is a qualifying pension scheme which has not been fully wound up: s 19(3). In s 19 'occupational pension scheme' and 'qualifying pension scheme' have the same meanings as in the Pensions Act 2004 s 286 (see PARA 850A.1): 2007 Act s 19(6).

2 In ibid s 19 'qualifying member' has the same meaning as in the Pensions Act 2004 s 286 (see PARA 850A.1): 2007 Act s 19(6).

The Pensions Act 2008 Pt 1 Ch 5 (ss 67-78) makes provision for the establishment of a trust-based occupational pension scheme and for a trustee corporation; see para 873D.

842-852 Winding Up

Provision has been made for the supervision of the winding up: see the Pensions Act 1995 ss 72A-72C (added by the Child Support, Pensions and Social Security Act 2000 ss 49, 51; and amended by the Pensions Act 2004 Sch 12 paras 59, 60, Sch 13 Pt 1).

Halsbury's Laws of England/SOCIAL SECURITY AND PENSIONS (VOLUME 44(2) (REISSUE))/18. OCCUPATIONAL PENSION SCHEMES/ (10) WINDING UP/851. Excess assets on winding up.

851. Excess assets on winding up.

The following provisions apply to a trust scheme<sup>1</sup> in any circumstances if:

- 2073 (1) it is an exempt approved scheme<sup>2</sup>;
- 2074 (2) the scheme is being wound up; and
- 2075 (3) in those circumstances power is conferred on the employer<sup>3</sup> or the trustees to distribute assets to the employer on a winding up<sup>4</sup>.

That power to distribute cannot be exercised unless the following requirements, and any requirements that may be prescribed, are satisfied<sup>5</sup>. The specified requirements are that:

- 2076 (a) the liabilities of the scheme have been fully discharged<sup>6</sup>;
- 2077 (b) where there is any power under the scheme, after the discharge of those liabilities, to distribute assets to any person other than the employer, the power has been exercised or a decision has been made not to exercise it<sup>7</sup>;
- 2078 (c) the annual rates<sup>8</sup> of the pensions<sup>9</sup> under the scheme which commence or have commenced are increased by the appropriate percentage<sup>10</sup>;
- 2079 (d) notice has been given in accordance with prescribed requirements to the members of the scheme of the proposal to exercise the power<sup>11</sup>; and
- 2080 (e) in prescribed circumstances, the Occupational Pensions Regulatory Authority<sup>12</sup> is of the opinion that the requirements of heads (a) to (d) above, and any prescribed requirements, are satisfied<sup>13</sup>.

If, where these provisions apply to any trust scheme, the trustees purport to exercise the power to distribute referred to in head (3) above without complying with these requirements, the provisions relating to prohibition orders<sup>14</sup> and civil penalties<sup>15</sup> apply to any of them who have failed to take all such steps as are reasonable to secure compliance<sup>16</sup>; and if, where these provisions apply to any trust scheme, any person other than the trustees purports to exercise that power to distribute without complying with these requirements, the provisions relating to civil penalties also apply to him<sup>17</sup>.

Regulations<sup>18</sup> may provide that, in prescribed circumstances, these provisions do not apply to schemes falling within a prescribed class or description, or apply to them with prescribed modifications<sup>19</sup>, and thus they do not apply to a scheme where:

- 2081 (i) any Minister of the Crown has given a guarantee or made any other arrangements for the purpose of securing that the assets of the scheme are sufficient to meet its liabilities; or
- 2082 (ii) arrangements for the payment of any surplus or for the distribution of any excess assets on the winding up of the scheme are subject to the approval of any Minister of the Crown<sup>20</sup>.

9 'Pension' does not include any guaranteed minimum pension (as defined in the Pension Schemes Act 1993 s 8(2) (as amended) (see PARA 878 post)) or any increase in such a pension under s 109 (as amended) (see PARA 926 post), or any money purchase benefit (as defined in s 181(1): see PARA 811 note 2 ante): Pensions Act 1995 s 76(5)(b).

10 Ibid s 76(3)(c). For these purposes, 'appropriate percentage' has the same meaning as in s 54 (see PARA 861 note 10 post): s 76(5)(a).

11 Ibid s 76(3)(d). The prescribed requirements as to notice are set out in the Occupational Pension Schemes (Payments to Employers) Regulations 1996, SI 1996/2156, reg 7: reg 7(1). Where the trustees or the employer propose to exercise a power to distribute assets to the employer on a winding up, the trustees or, as the case may be, the employer must take all reasonable steps to ensure that each member is given two written notices of the proposal in accordance with the following provisions: reg 7(2). A notice must be treated as having been given to a member if it has been sent to him by post either at the address at which he was last known to be living or, in the case of an active member, at an address at which he is known to be currently employed; and notices are not required to be given where a member has no known address or where correspondence sent to a member's last known address has been returned: reg 7(5). The first notice must (1) inform the member as to the trustees' estimate of the value of the assets remaining after the liabilities of the scheme have been fully discharged and the persons or class of person to whom, and in what proportions, it is proposed that they should be distributed and whether the requirements of the Pensions Act 1995 s 76(3) are satisfied; (2) invite the member, if he wishes, to make written representations in relation to the proposal to the trustees or, as the case may be, to the employer, before a specified date (which is not earlier than two months from the date on which the first notice is given); (3) advise the member that a second notice will be given to him if the trustees or the employer, as the case may be, intend to proceed with the proposal, and that no excess assets may be distributed to the employer in accordance with the proposal until at least three months after the date on which the second notice is given: reg 7(3). The second notice must be given after the date specified in accordance with head (2) supra and at least three months before the power is exercised; and it must contain the information referred to in head (1) supra, including any modifications to the proposal, and advise the member that he may make written representations to the Occupational Pensions Regulatory Authority (see note 12 infra) before a specified date (which is not earlier than three months from the date on which the second notice is given) if he considers that any of the requirements of the Pensions Act 1995 s 76(3) are not satisfied: Occupational Pension Schemes (Payments to Employers) Regulations 1996, SI 1996/2156, reg 7(4).

12 As to the Occupational Pensions Regulatory Authority see PARA 598 ante.

13 Pensions Act 1995 s 76(2), (4). For these purposes, the prescribed circumstances are (1) that, subject to the Occupational Pension Schemes (Payments to Employers) Regulations 1996, SI 1996/2156, reg 8(2), the authority receives in relation to any proposal to which the Pensions Act 1995 s 75 applies (a) written representations from a member to the effect that any of the requirements of s 76(3) are not satisfied; or (b) information from any source sufficient to raise a doubt as to whether all those requirements are satisfied; and (2) the authority notifies the trustees or, as the case may be, the employer in writing that the power should not be exercised until the authority has confirmed in writing that it is satisfied that those requirements are satisfied: Occupational Pension Schemes (Payments to Employers) Regulations 1996, SI 1996/2156, reg 8(1). Where notice has been given to a member in accordance with reg 7 (see note 11 supra), head (1)(a) supra will only apply in the case of representations received by the authority from the member before the date specified in accordance with reg 7(4)(b) (expiry date of the second notice): reg 8(2). The additional requirement that the trustees or, as the case may be, the employer obtain written confirmation from the authority that it has not received any representations or information referred to in head (1) supra and that accordingly the Pensions Act 1995 s 76(4) does not apply is imposed where the date specified in accordance with the Occupational Pension Schemes (Payments to Employers) Regulations 1996, SI 1996/2156, reg 7(4)(b) (expiry date of the second notice: see note 11 supra) has passed and where the trustees or, as the case may be, the employer have or has not received notification from the authority in accordance with head (2) supra: see reg 9.

852. Power to distribute excess assets after winding up.

The annual rates<sup>1</sup> of the pensions<sup>2</sup> under a trust scheme<sup>3</sup> which commence or have commenced must be increased by the appropriate percentage<sup>4</sup>, so far as the value of the undistributed assets allows<sup>5</sup>, in any circumstances if:

- 2083 (1) the scheme is an exempt approved scheme<sup>6</sup>;
- 2084 (2) the scheme is being wound up;
- 2085 (3) the liabilities of the scheme have been fully discharged;
- 2086 (4) where there is any power under the scheme, after the discharge of those liabilities, to distribute assets to any person other than the employer<sup>7</sup>, the power has been exercised or a decision has been made not to exercise it;
- 2087 (5) any assets remain undistributed; and
- 2088 (6) the scheme prohibits the distribution of assets to the employer in those circumstances<sup>8</sup>.

Where any assets remain undistributed after the discharge of this duty, the trustees must use those assets for the purpose of providing additional benefits or increasing the value of any benefits, but subject to prescribed<sup>9</sup> limits, and the trustees may then distribute those assets (so far as undistributed) to the employer<sup>10</sup>. If, where these provisions apply to a trust scheme, the requirements are not complied with, the provisions relating to prohibition orders<sup>11</sup> apply to any trustee who has failed to take all such steps as are reasonable to secure compliance<sup>12</sup>.

Halsbury's Laws of England/SOCIAL SECURITY AND PENSIONS (VOLUME 44(2) (REISSUE))/18. OCCUPATIONAL PENSION SCHEMES/(11) INSOLVENCY OF EMPLOYER/853. Duty of Secretary of State to pay unpaid contributions to schemes.

(11) INSOLVENCY OF EMPLOYER

853. Duty of Secretary of State to pay unpaid contributions to schemes.

If, on an application made to him in writing by the persons competent to act in respect of an occupational pension scheme<sup>1</sup> or a personal pension scheme<sup>2</sup>, the Secretary of State<sup>3</sup> is satisfied:

- 2089 (1) that an employer<sup>4</sup> has become insolvent<sup>5</sup>; and
- 2090 (2) that at the time he did so there remained unpaid relevant contributions<sup>6</sup> falling to be paid by him to the scheme, then, subject to the following provisions, the Secretary of State must pay into the resources<sup>7</sup> of the scheme the sum which in his opinion is payable in respect of the unpaid relevant contributions<sup>8</sup>.

The sum payable in respect of unpaid contributions of an employer on his own account to an occupational pension scheme or a personal pension scheme must be the least of the following amounts:

- 2091 (a) the balance of relevant contributions remaining unpaid on the date when he became insolvent and payable by the employer on his own account to the scheme in respect of the 12 months immediately preceding that date<sup>9</sup>;
- 2092 (b) the amount certified by an actuary to be necessary for the purpose of meeting the liability of the scheme on dissolution to pay the benefits provided by the scheme to or in respect of the employees of the employer<sup>10</sup>;
- 2093 (c) an amount equal to 10 per cent of the total amount of remuneration<sup>11</sup> paid or payable to those employees in respect of the 12 months immediately preceding the date on which the employer became insolvent<sup>12</sup>.

Any sum so payable in respect of unpaid contributions on behalf of an employee must not exceed the amount deducted from the pay of the employee in respect of the employee's contributions to the scheme during the 12 months immediately preceding the date on which the employer became insolvent<sup>13</sup>.

1 For these purposes, 'occupational pension scheme' means any scheme or arrangement which provides or is capable of providing, in relation to employees in any description of employment, benefits (in the form of pensions or otherwise) payable to or in respect of any such employees on the termination of their employment or on their death or retirement; and 'contract of employment', 'employee', 'employer' and 'employment', and other expressions which are defined in the Employment Rights Act 1996, have the same meanings as in the 1996 Act: Pension Schemes Act 1993 s 123(3) (amended by the Employment Rights Act 1996 s 240, Sch 1 para 16(12), (2)). For the meaning of 'occupational pension scheme' generally see PARA 741 ante.

2 For the meaning of 'personal pension scheme' see the Pension Schemes Act 1993 s 1; and PARA 710 ante. For the purposes of Pt VII Ch II (ss 123-127) (as amended) (see PARA 854 et seq post), the definition of personal pension scheme in s 1 has effect with the substitution for the words 'employed earners' of the word 'employees': s 123(4). For the meaning of 'employed earner' see PARA 32 ante (definition applied by s 181(1)).

3 As to the Secretary of State see PARA 1 ante.

4 For the meaning of 'employer' generally see PARA 660 note 18 ante; but see note 1 supra.

5 An employer is taken to be insolvent if, but only if, in England and Wales: (1) he has been adjudged bankrupt or has made a composition or arrangement with his creditors; (2) he has died and his estate falls to be administered in accordance with an order under the Insolvency Act 1986 s 421 (see BANKRUPTCY AND INDIVIDUAL INSOLVENCY vol 3(2) (2002 Reissue) PARA 823); or (3) where the employer is a company (a) a winding-up order or an administration order is made or a resolution for voluntary winding up is passed with respect to it; (b) a receiver or manager of its undertaking is duly appointed; (c) possession is taken, by or on behalf of the holders of any debentures secured by a floating charge, of any property of the company comprised in or subject to the charge; or (d) a voluntary arrangement proposed for the purpose of the Insolvency Act 1986 Pt I (ss 1-27) (see COMPANY AND PARTNERSHIP INSOLVENCY) is approved under that Part: Pension Schemes Act 1993 s 123(1).

6 'Relevant contributions' means contributions falling to be paid by an employer to an occupational pension scheme or a personal pension scheme, either on his own account or on behalf of an employee; and for the purposes of ibid s 124 a contribution must not be treated as falling to be paid on behalf of an employee unless a sum equal to that amount has been deducted from the pay of the employee by way of a contribution from him: s 124(2).

7 Any reference in ibid Pt VII Ch II (see PARA 854 et seq post) to the resources of a scheme is a reference to the funds out of which the benefits provided by the scheme are from time to time payable: s 123(5). For the meaning of 'resources' generally see PARA 609 note 2 ante.

8 Ibid s 124(1).

9 Ibid s 124(3)(a) (amended by the Pensions Act 1995 s 90).

10 Pension Schemes Act 1993 s 124(3)(b) (as amended: see note 9 supra).

11 For the purposes of ibid s 124(3)(c) (as amended: see note 9 supra), 'remuneration' includes holiday pay, statutory sick pay, statutory maternity pay under the Social Security Act 1986 Pt V (ss 46-50) (repealed) or the Social Security Contributions and Benefits Act 1992 Pt XII (ss 164-171) (see EMPLOYMENT vol 39 (2009) PARA 365 et seq), and any such payment as is referred to in the Employment Rights Act 1996 s 184(2): Pension Schemes Act 1993 s 124(4) (amended by the Employment Rights Act 1996 s 240, Sch 1 para 61(1), (3)). 'Holiday pay' means: (1) pay in respect of holiday actually taken; or (2) any accrued holiday pay which under the employee's contract of employment would in the ordinary course have become payable to him in respect of the period of a holiday if his employment with the employer had continued until he became entitled to a holiday: Pension Schemes Act 1993 s 123(3) (amended by the Employment Rights Act 1996 Sch 1 para 16(1), (2)). For the meaning of 'contract of employment' and 'employment' see the Employment Rights Act 1996 s 230 (definition applied by the Pension Schemes Act 1993 s 123(3) (as so amended)).

12 Ibid s 124(3)(c) (as amended: see note 9 supra).

13 Ibid s 124(5).

Where the Secretary of State<sup>1</sup> makes any payment of unpaid contributions<sup>2</sup> into the resources<sup>3</sup> of an occupational pension scheme<sup>4</sup> or a personal pension scheme<sup>5</sup> in respect of any contributions to the scheme, any rights and remedies in respect of those contributions belonging to the persons competent to act in respect of the scheme must, on the making of the payment, become rights and remedies of the Secretary of State<sup>6</sup>. Halsbury's Laws of England/SOCIAL SECURITY AND PENSIONS (VOLUME 44(2) (REISSUE))/18. OCCUPATIONAL PENSION SCHEMES/(12) PAYMENT OF SURPLUS TO EMPLOYER/860. In general.

(12) PAYMENT OF SURPLUS TO EMPLOYER

860. In general.

The following provisions apply to a trust scheme<sup>1</sup> if:

- 2107 (1) apart from these provisions, power is conferred on any person (including the employer<sup>2</sup>) to make payments to the employer out of funds which are held for the purposes of the scheme;
- 2108 (2) the scheme is one to which the provisions of the Income and Corporation Taxes Act 1988 relating to the reduction of pension fund surpluses in certain exempt approved schemes apply<sup>3</sup>; and
- 2109 (3) the scheme is not being wound up<sup>4</sup>.

Where the power referred to in head (1) above is conferred by the scheme on a person other than the trustees, it cannot be exercised by that person but may be exercised instead by the trustees; and any restriction imposed by the scheme on the exercise of the power must, so far as capable of doing so, apply to its exercise by the trustees<sup>5</sup>. The power referred to in head (1) above cannot be exercised unless the following requirements<sup>6</sup>, and any prescribed requirements<sup>7</sup>, are satisfied<sup>8</sup>. The requirements are that:

- 2110 (a) the power is exercised in pursuance of proposals approved under the relevant provisions of the Income and Corporation Taxes Act 1988<sup>9</sup>;
- 2111 (b) the trustees are satisfied that it is in the interests of the members<sup>10</sup> that the power be exercised in the manner so proposed;
- 2112 (c) where the power is conferred by the scheme on the employer, the employer has asked for the power to be exercised, or consented to it being exercised, in the manner so proposed;
- 2113 (d) the annual rates<sup>11</sup> of the pensions<sup>12</sup> under the scheme which commence or have commenced are increased by the appropriate percentage<sup>13</sup>; and
- 2114 (e) notice has been given in accordance with prescribed requirements to the members of the scheme of the proposal to exercise the power<sup>14</sup>.

The Occupational Pensions Regulatory Authority<sup>15</sup> must be of the opinion that any prescribed requirements, and the requirements of heads (a) to (e) above, are satisfied<sup>16</sup>.

If, where these provisions apply to any trust scheme, the trustees purport to exercise the power referred to in head (1) above by making such a payment without complying with the above requirements, the provisions relating to prohibition orders<sup>17</sup> and civil penalties<sup>18</sup> apply to any trustee who has failed to take all such steps as are reasonable to secure compliance<sup>19</sup>; and if in such circumstances any person other than the trustees purports to exercise the power referred to in head (1) above by making such a payment, the provisions relating to civil penalties apply to him<sup>20</sup>.

Regulations may provide that, in prescribed circumstances, these provisions do not apply to schemes falling within a prescribed class or description, or apply to them with prescribed modifications<sup>21</sup>. Thus they do not apply to a scheme where any Minister of the Crown has given a guarantee or made any other arrangements for the purpose of securing that the assets of the scheme are sufficient to meet its liabilities, or where arrangements for the payment of any surplus or for the distribution of any excess assets on the winding up of the scheme are subject to the approval of any Minister of the Crown<sup>22</sup>.

4 Pensions Act 1995 s 37(1). Section 37 does not apply to any payment to which, by virtue of the Income and Corporation Taxes Act 1988 s 601(3), s 601(2) does not apply (see PARA 764 ante): Pensions Act 1995 s 37(7).

5 Ibid s 37(2).

6 In the requirements of ibid s 37(4) (see the text and note 14 infra) and, in prescribed circumstances, s 37(5): see s 37(3). For the meaning of 'prescribed' see PARA 555 note 1 ante.

7 The prescribed circumstances are: (1) that, subject as follows, the Occupational Pensions Regulatory Authority (see note 15 infra) receives in relation to any proposals to which ibid s 37 applies (a) written representations from a member to the effect that any of the requirements of s 37(4) are not satisfied; or (b) information from any source sufficient to raise a doubt as to whether all those requirements are satisfied; and (2) the authority notifies the trustees in writing that no payment should be made to the employer in accordance with the proposals until the authority has confirmed in writing that it is satisfied that those requirements are satisfied: Occupational Pension Schemes (Payments to Employers) Regulations 1996, SI 1996/2156, reg 5(1). Where the trustees have given notice to a member in accordance with reg 4 (see note 14 infra), head (1)(a) supra will only apply in the case of representations received by the authority from the member before the date specified in accordance with reg 4(4)(b) (expiry date of the second notice): reg 5(2). Where the date specified in accordance with reg 4(4)(b) has passed and the trustees have not received notification from the authority in accordance with reg 5(1)(b) (see head (2) supra), they must obtain written confirmation from the authority that it has not received any representations or information referred to in head (1) supra and accordingly the Pensions Act 1995 s 37(5) does not apply: Occupational Pension Schemes (Payments to Employers) Regulations 1996, SI 1996/2156, reg 6(1), (2).

8 Pensions Act 1995 s 37(3).

9 In the Income and Corporation Taxes Act 1988 Sch 22 para 6(1): see PARA 766 ante.

10 For the meaning of 'member' see PARA 612 note 5 ante.

11 'Annual rate', in relation to a pension, means the annual rate of the pension, as previously increased under the rules of the scheme or under the Pensions Act 1995 s 51 (see PARA 861 post): s 54(3) (definition applied by s 37(4): see s 37(6)(a)).

12 For these purposes, 'pension' does not include: (1) any guaranteed minimum pension (as defined in the Pension Schemes Act 1993 s 8(2) (as amended) (see PARA 878 post)) or any increase in such a pension under s 109 (as amended) (see PARA 926 post); or (2) any money purchase benefit (as defined in s 181(1): see PARA 811 note 2 ante): Pensions Act 1995 s 37(6)(b).

13 'Appropriate percentage', in relation to an increase in the whole or part of the annual rate of a pension, means the revaluation percentage for the revaluation period the reference period for which ends with the last preceding 30 September before the increase is made (expressions used in this definition having the same meaning as in the Pension Schemes Act 1993 s 84 (as amended), Sch 3 para 2 (methods of revaluing accrued pension benefits) (see PARA 942 post): Pensions Act 1995 s 54(3) (definition applied by s 37(4): see s 37(6)(a)).

14 Ibid s 37(4). The trustees must take all reasonable steps to ensure that each member is given two written notices in accordance with the following provisions: see the Occupational Pension Schemes (Payments to Employers) Regulations 1996, SI 1996/2156, reg 4(1), (2). The first notice must be given after proposals to reduce or eliminate a surplus have been approved under the Income and Corporation Taxes Act 1988 Sch 22 para 6(1) (see PARA 766 ante), and must (1) inform the member as to how it is proposed that the surplus must be reduced or eliminated, by reference to the ways permitted under Sch 22 para 3(3), and whether the requirements of the Pensions Act 1995 s 37(4) are satisfied; (2) invite the member, if he wishes, to make written representations in relation to the proposals to the trustees before a specified date (which is not earlier than two months from the date on which the first notice is given); (3) advise the member that a second notice will be given to him if the trustees intend to proceed with the proposals and that no payment may be made to the employer in accordance with the proposals until at least three months after the date on which the second notice is given: Occupational Pension Schemes (Payments to Employers) Regulations 1996, SI 1996/2156, reg

4(3). The second notice must be given after the date specified in accordance with head (2) supra and at least three months before the power is exercised and it must contain the information referred to in head (1) supra, including any modifications to the proposals, and advise the member that he may make written representations to the authority before a specified date (which is not earlier than three months from the date on which the second notice is given) if he considers that any of the requirements of the Pensions Act 1995 s 37(4) are not satisfied: Occupational Pension Schemes (Payments to Employers) Regulations 1996, SI 1996/2156, reg 4(4). For these purposes, a notice is treated as having been given to a member if it has been sent to him by post either at the address at which he was last known to be living or, in the case of an active member, at an address at which he is known to be currently employed; and notices are not required to be given where a member has no known address or where correspondence sent to a member's last known address has been returned: reg 4(5).

In the application of the Pensions Act 1995 s 37(4) to a scheme in relation to which there is more than one employer, head (c) in the text has effect with the substitution for the word 'employer', where it appears for the second time, of the words 'person whom the employers nominate to act as their representative for the purposes of this paragraph or, if no such nomination is made, all the employers': Occupational Pension Schemes (Payments to Employers) Regulations 1996, SI 1996/2156, reg 13 (amended by SI 1997/786).

TEXT AND NOTES--See International Power plc (formerly National Power plc) v Healy; National Grid Co plc v Mayes [2001] UKHL 20, [2001] 2 All ER 417 (where there was an actuarial surplus in a pension scheme, the release of an accrued debt owed by the employer did not amount to a payment to the employer out of the moneys of the scheme).

Pensions Act 1995 s 37 substituted; see infra.

Section 37 applies to a trust scheme if (1) apart from s 37 power is conferred on the employer or any other person to make payments to the employer out of funds held for the purposes of the scheme, and (2) the scheme is not being wound up: s 37(1) (substituted by Pensions Act 2004 s 250). But the Pensions Act 1995 s 37 does not apply in the case of any of the payments listed in the Finance Act 2004 s 175 paras (c)-(f) (authorised employer payments other than public service scheme payments or authorised surplus payments): Pensions Act 1995 s 37(1A) (added by Pensions Act 2008 s 130). Where the power referred to in head (1) is conferred by the scheme on a person other than the trustees (a) it cannot be exercised by that person but may instead be exercised by the trustees, and (b) any restriction imposed by the scheme on the exercise of the power must, so far as capable of doing so, apply to its exercise by the trustees: 1995 Act s 37(2) (as substituted). The power referred to in head (1) may only be exercised if (i) the trustees have obtained a written valuation of the scheme's assets and liabilities prepared and signed by a prescribed person; (ii) there is a certificate in force stating that in the opinion of that person the prescribed requirements are met as at the date by reference to which the assets are valued and the liabilities are calculated, and specifying what in the opinion of that person is the maximum amount of payment that may be made to the employer; (iii) the payment does not exceed the maximum amount specified in the certificate; (iv) the trustees are satisfied that it is in the interests of the members that the power is exercised in the manner proposed; (v) where the power is conferred by the scheme on the employer, the employer has asked for the power to be exercised, or consented to its being exercised, in the manner proposed; (vi) there is no freezing order in force in relation to the scheme under the Pensions Act 2004 s 23 (see PARA 636A.19); and (vii) notice of the proposal to exercise the power has been given, in accordance with prescribed requirements, to the members of the scheme: 1995 Act s 37(3) (as so substituted). Provision may be made by regulations as to (A) the requirements (which may be alternative requirements) that must be met, in relation to any proposed payment to the employer out of funds held for the purposes of a scheme, with respect to the value of the scheme's assets and the amount of its liabilities; (B) the assets and liabilities to be taken into account for that purpose and the manner in which their value or amount is to be determined, calculated and verified; (C) the maximum amount of the payment that may be made to the employer, having regard to the value of the scheme's assets and the amount of its liabilities; (D) the giving of a certificate as to the matters mentioned in heads (A) and (C); and (E) the period for which such a certificate is to be in force: s 37(4) (as so substituted). The trustees must also comply with any other prescribed requirements in connection with the making of a payment under s 37: s 37(5) (as so substituted). If the trustees purport to exercise the power referred to in head (1) without complying with the requirements of s 37, or fail to comply with any requirement of regulations under s 37(5), s 10 (see PARA 611) applies to any of them who has failed to take all reasonable steps to secure compliance: s 37(6) (as so substituted). If a person other than the trustees purports to exercise the power referred to in head (1), s 10 applies to him: s 37(7) (as so substituted). Regulations may provide that in prescribed circumstances s 37 does not apply, or applies with prescribed modifications, to schemes of a prescribed description: s 37(8) (as so substituted).

See further Pensions Act 2004 s 251 (payment of surplus to employer: transitional power to amend scheme).

(13) MISCELLANEOUS PROVISIONS

(i) Indexation

861. Annual increase in rate of pension.

Except in the case of any pension<sup>1</sup> or part of a pension which, in the opinion of the trustees or managers<sup>2</sup>, is derived from the payment by any member<sup>3</sup> of the scheme of voluntary contributions<sup>4</sup>, the following provisions apply to a pension under an occupational pension scheme<sup>5</sup> if:

- 2115 (1) the scheme is an approved scheme<sup>6</sup>, or is a scheme for which Inland Revenue approval has been applied for<sup>7</sup> and not refused, and is not a public service pension scheme<sup>8</sup>; and
- 2116 (2) apart from these provisions, the annual rate<sup>9</sup> of the pension would not be increased each year by at least the appropriate percentage<sup>10</sup> of that rate<sup>11</sup>.

Subject to the restrictions on increase where a member is under 55<sup>12</sup>, where such a pension, or any part of it, is attributable to pensionable service<sup>13</sup> on or after the appointed day<sup>14</sup> or, in the case of money purchase benefits<sup>15</sup>, to payments in respect of employment<sup>16</sup> carried on on or after the appointed day:

- 2117 (a) the annual rate of the pension; or
- 2118 (b) if only part of the pension is attributable to pensionable service or, as the case may be, to payments in respect of employment carried on on or after the appointed day, so much of the annual rate as is attributable to that part, must be increased annually by at least the appropriate percentage<sup>17</sup>. This requirement does not, however, apply to a pension under an occupational pension scheme if the rules of the scheme require the annual rate of the pension<sup>18</sup> to be increased at intervals of not more than 12 months by at least the relevant percentage<sup>19</sup> and the scheme complies with any prescribed requirements<sup>20</sup>.

Regulations<sup>21</sup> may provide that these provisions apply in relation to a pension as if so much of it as would not otherwise be attributable to pensionable service or to payments in respect of employment were attributable to pensionable service or, as the case may be, payments in respect of employment before the appointed day, on or after that day, or partly before and partly on or after that day<sup>22</sup>.

The first increase required by these provisions in the rate of a pension must take effect not later than the first anniversary of the date on which the pension is first paid; and subsequent increases must take effect at intervals of not more than 12 months<sup>23</sup>. Where the first such increase is to take effect on a date when the pension has been in payment for a period of less than 12 months, the increase must be of an amount at least equal to one twelfth of the amount of the increase otherwise so required for each complete month in that period<sup>24</sup>.

Special provision is made by the Pensions (Increase) Act 1971 and the Social Security Pensions Act 1975 for increases in the annual rate of certain official pensions<sup>25</sup>.

- 1 For these purposes, 'pension', in relation to a scheme, means any pension in payment under the scheme and includes an annuity: Pensions Act 1995 s 54(3).
- 2 For the meaning of 'trustees or managers' see PARA 612 note 10 ante.
- 3 For the meaning of 'member' see PARA 612 note 5 ante.
- 4 See the Pensions Act 1995 s 51(6).
- 5 For the meaning of 'occupational pension scheme' see PARA 741 ante (definition applied by the Pensions Act 1995 s 176). See also PARA 598 note 7 ante.
- 6 Ie within the meaning of the Income and Corporation Taxes Act 1988 Pt XIV Ch I (ss 590-612) (as amended): see PARA 747 et seq ante.
- 7 Ie under ibid Pt XIV Ch I (as amended): see PARA 747 et seq ante.
- 8 For the meaning of 'public service pension scheme' see PARA 874 post (definition applied by the Pensions Act 1995 s 124(1)).
- 9 'Annual rate', in relation to a pension, means the annual rate of the pension, as previously increased under the rules of the scheme or under ibid s 51: s 54(3).
- 10 'Appropriate percentage', in relation to an increase in the whole or part of the annual rate of a pension, means the revaluation percentage for the revaluation period the reference period for which ends with the last preceding 30 September before the increase is made, expressions used in this definition having the same meanings as in the Pension Schemes Act 1993 s 84(4), Sch 3 para 2 (see PARA 942 post): Pensions Act 1995 s 54(3).
- 11 Ibid s 51(1).
- 12 Ie subject to the provisions of ibid s 52: see PARA 862 post.
- 13 For the meaning of 'pensionable service' see PARA 782 note 5 ante.
- 14 'The appointed day' means the day appointed under the Pensions Act 1995 s 180 for the commencement of s 51 (ie 6 April 1997): s 54(3).
- 15 For the meaning of 'money purchase benefits' see PARA 811 note 2 ante (definition applied by ibid s 124(5)).
- 16 For the meaning of 'employment' see PARA 560 note 5 ante (definition applied by ibid s 124(5)).
- 17 Ibid s 51(2); and see note 22 infra.
- 18 Or, if only part of the pension is attributable to pensionable service or, as the case may be, to payments in respect of employment carried on on or after the appointed day, so much of the annual rate as is attributable to that part: see ibid s 51(3).
- 19 For these purposes, the relevant percentage is: (1) the percentage increase in the retail prices index for the reference period, being a period determined, in relation to each periodic increase, under the rules; or (2) the percentage for that period which corresponds to 5% per annum, whichever is the lesser: ibid s 51(4).
- 20 Ibid s 51(3); and see note 22 infra.
- 21 For the meaning of 'regulations' see PARA 600 note 2 ante.
- 22 Pensions Act 1995 s 51(5). Where a person's accrued rights to a pension payable under an occupational pension scheme to which s 51 applies, or any part of them, derive from the allowance by the scheme of a transfer credit in respect of rights which were subject to the indexation requirement, or to the requirements of s 162 (annual increase in rate of personal pensions: see PARA 737 ante), in any pension scheme of which that person has previously been a member, s 51(2), (3) applies to such part of that pension as is attributable to those rights as if they were attributable to pensionable service or to payments in respect of employment on or after the appointed day: Occupational Pension Schemes (Indexation) Regulations 1996, SI 1996/1679, reg 2(1). Regulation 2(1) does not, however, apply in any case where a person's accrued rights to a pension payable by an occupational pension scheme referred to therein, or any part of them, derive from rights which have, at any time prior to the allowance by such a scheme of a transfer credit in respect of them, been held in a personal pension scheme and which were not subject to the requirements of the Pensions Act 1995 s 162 in that scheme: Occupational Pension Schemes (Indexation) Regulations 1996, SI 1996/1679, reg 2(2). Where a person's accrued rights to a pension payable under an occupational pension scheme to which the Pensions Act 1995 s 51 applies, or any part of them, derive from the acceptance by the scheme of a payment from a policy of insurance or annuity contract in respect of rights which were subject to the indexation requirement, or to the requirements of s 162, in any pension scheme of which that person has previously been a member, s 51(2), (3) applies to such part of that pension as is attributable to those rights as if they were attributable to pensionable service or to payments in respect of employment on or after the appointed day: Occupational Pension Schemes (Indexation) Regulations 1996, SI 1996/1679, reg 3.

Where the amount by reference to which an increase in an official pension is to be calculated would otherwise be reduced under the Social Security Pensions Act 1975 s 59(5) (as amended) (amount by reference to which any increase authorised is calculated in the case of a person entitled to a guaranteed minimum pension (within the meaning of the Pension Schemes Act 1993: see PARA 878 post) to be reduced by an amount equal to the rate of a guaranteed minimum pension), the Treasury may direct that in such cases or classes of cases as may be specified in the direction, no such reduction is to be made or the reduction is to be of an amount less than that rate, and in any such cases the increase must be calculated in accordance with the direction: see the Social Security Pensions Act 1959 s 59A (added by the Social Security Act 1979 s 11(4); amended by the Social Security Act 1986 s 9(9); and by the Pension Schemes Act 1993 s 190, Sch 8 para 9(2)).

UPDATE

741-873 Occupational Pension Schemes

A new type of pension scheme, known as the stakeholder pension scheme, has been established: see the Welfare Reform and Pensions Act Pt I (ss 1-8); and PARA 873A.

The 2004 Act introduces the concept of registered pension schemes: see Pt 4 (ss 149-284); and PARA 873B.

The Pensions Act 2008 Pt 1 Ch 5 (ss 67-78) makes provision for the establishment of a trust-based occupational pension scheme and for a trustee corporation; see para 873D.

861-873 Miscellaneous Provisions

The Pensions Act 2004 ss 252-254 provide for restrictions on payment into occupational pension schemes; see PARA 873C.

861 Annual increase in rate of pension

TEXT AND NOTES--No increase under the Pensions Act 1995 s 51 is required to be made, at any time on or after the relevant date, of so much of any pension under a money purchase scheme as (1) is payable by way of an annuity the amount of which for any year after the first year of payment is determined (whether under the terms of the scheme or under the terms of the annuity contract in pursuance of which it is payable) by reference to fluctuations in the value of, or the return from, particular investments; (2) does not represent benefits payable in respect of the protected rights of any member of the scheme; and (3) satisfies such other conditions, if any, as may be prescribed: s 51A(1) (s 51A added by Child Support, Pensions and Social Security Act 2000 s 51(2)). For the purposes of the 1995 Act s 51A it is immaterial whether the annuity in question is payable out of the funds of the scheme in question or under an annuity contract entered into for the purposes of the scheme: s 51A(2). 'The relevant date' means the date appointed for the coming into force of the Child Support, Pensions and Social Security Act 2000 s 51 (ie 1 December 2000): Pensions Act 1995 s 51A(3).

See also Personal and Occupational Pension Schemes (Indexation and Disclosure of Information) (Miscellaneous Amendments) Regulations 2005, SI 2005/704 (modification of Pensions Act 1995 s 51).

TEXT AND NOTES 1-4--Refers also to part of a pension which is attributable (directly or indirectly) to a pension credit (see PARA 951): 1995 Act s 51(6) (amended by Welfare Reform and Pensions Act 1999 Sch 12 paras 43, 51).

TEXT AND NOTES 6-8--Now, head (1) the scheme is a registered pension scheme under the Finance Act 2004 s 153 (see PARA 873B.2), and is not a public service pension scheme, and, in the case where the pension becomes a pension in payment on or after the commencement day (ie the day appointed for the coming into force of the Pensions Act 2004 s 278 (ie 6 April 2004: see SI 2005/275)), is not a money purchase scheme: 1995 Act ss 51(1), 54(3) (amended by Pensions Act 2004 s 278(2)(a), (b), (8); and SI 2006/745).

TEXT AND NOTE 6--Reference to an approved pension is now to a registered pension scheme under the Finance Act 2004 s 153 (see PARA 873B.1): 1995 Act s 51(1) (amended by SI 2006/745).

NOTE 10--Definition of 'appropriate percentage' in 1995 Act s 54(3) repealed: Pensions Act 2004 Sch 13 Pt 1.

Now, head (2) the whole, or any part of, the pension is attributable (a) to pensionable service on or after the appointed day, or (b) in the case of money purchase benefits where the pension is in payment before the commencement day, to payments in respect of employment carried on or after the appointed day; also head (3) apart from the 1995 Act s 51 (a) the annual rate of the pension, or (b) if only part of the pension is attributable as described in head (2), so much of the annual rate as is attributable to that part, would not be increased each year by at least the appropriate percentage of that rate: s 51(1)(b), (c) (substituted by Pensions Act 2004 s 278(2)(c). For the meaning of 'the appropriate percentage' see 1995 Act s 51ZA (added by Pensions Act 2004 s 278(7); amended by Pensions Act 2008 Sch 2 para 8).

TEXT AND NOTES 12-17--1995 Act s 51(2) is also now subject to s 51A (see TEXT AND NOTES): s 51(2) (amended by Child Support, Pensions and Social Security Act 2000 s 51(1)).

TEXT AND NOTE 15--In the case of money purchase benefits, where the pension is in payment before the commencement day: 1995 Act s 51(2) (amended by Pensions Act 2004 s 278(3)).

NOTE 19--In head (2) for '5 per cent per annum' read '(a) in the case of a category X pension, 5 per cent per annum, and (b) in the case of a category Y pension, 2.5 per cent per annum': 1995 Act s 51(4) (amended by Pensions Act 2004 s 278(4)).

For the purposes of the 1995 Act s 51, a pension is a category X pension if it is (i) a pension which became a pension in payment before the commencement day, or (ii) a pension (A) which becomes a pension in payment on or after the commencement day, and (B) the whole of which is attributable to pensionable service before that day: s

51(4A) (s 51(4A)-(4C) added by Pensions Act 2004 s 278(5)). For the purposes of the 1995 Act s 51, a pension is a category Y pension if it is a pension (aa) which becomes a pension in payment on or after the commencement day, and (bb) the whole of which is attributable to pensionable service on or after the commencement day: s 51(4B). For the purposes of applying s 51 in the case of a pension (1) which becomes a pension in payment on or after the commencement day, (2) part of which is attributable to pensionable service before the commencement day, and (3) part of which is attributable to pensionable service on or after that day, each of those parts of the pension is to be treated as if it were a separate pension: s 51(4C).

862. Restriction on increase where member is under 55.

Subject to certain exceptions<sup>1</sup>, no annual increase in the rate of pension<sup>2</sup> is required to be paid to or for a member<sup>3</sup> of a scheme whose pension<sup>4</sup> is in payment but who has not attained the age of 55 at the time when the increase takes effect<sup>5</sup>. This restriction does not apply if the member is permanently incapacitated by mental or physical infirmity from engaging in regular full-time employment<sup>6</sup>, or has retired on account of mental or physical infirmity from the employment in respect of which, or on retirement from which, the pension is payable<sup>7</sup>.

The rules of a scheme may provide that if, in a case where a pension has been paid to or for a member under the age of 55 at an increased rate in consequence of some infirmity of his, the member ceases to suffer from the infirmity in question before he attains the age of 55, but continues to be entitled to the pension, any increases subsequently taking effect<sup>8</sup> in the annual rate of the pension are not to be paid or not to be paid in full<sup>9</sup>.

Where in any tax year<sup>1</sup> the trustees or managers<sup>2</sup> of an occupational pension scheme<sup>3</sup> make an increase in a person's pension<sup>4</sup>, not being an increase required by statute<sup>5</sup>, they may deduct the amount of the increase from any increase which they would otherwise be required to make<sup>6</sup> in the next tax year<sup>7</sup>. The Pensions Act 2004 ss 252-254 provide for restrictions on payment into occupational pension schemes; see PARA 873C.

863 Effect of increases above the statutory requirement

NOTE 4--In the Pensions Act 1995 s 53(1), (2), the references to a person's pension do not include any pension which is attributable (directly or indirectly) to a pension credit (see PARA 951): s 53(3A) (added by the Welfare Reform and Pensions Act 1999 Sch 12 paras 43, 52).

Halsbury's Laws of England/SOCIAL SECURITY AND PENSIONS (VOLUME 44(2) (REISSUE))/18. OCCUPATIONAL PENSION SCHEMES/(13) MISCELLANEOUS PROVISIONS/(ii) Money Purchase Schemes/864. Schedules of payments to money purchase schemes.

(ii) Money Purchase Schemes

864. Schedules of payments to money purchase schemes.

- 2119 (1) the rates of contributions payable towards the scheme by or on behalf of the employer<sup>6</sup> and the active members<sup>7</sup> of the scheme<sup>8</sup>;
- 2120 (2) such other amounts payable towards the scheme as may be prescribed<sup>9</sup>; and
- 2121 (3) the dates on or before which payments of such contributions or other amounts are to be made ('due dates')<sup>10</sup>.

The payment schedule for a scheme must satisfy prescribed requirements<sup>11</sup>. The matters shown in the payment schedule for a scheme must, to the extent that the scheme makes provision for their determination, be so determined<sup>12</sup>, and otherwise:

- 2122 (a) must be matters previously agreed between the employer and the trustees or managers of the scheme<sup>13</sup>; or
- 2123 (b) if no such agreement has been made as to all matters shown in the schedule (other than those for whose determination the scheme makes provision), must be matters determined by the trustees or managers of the scheme<sup>14</sup>.

Where in the case of a scheme these provisions are not complied with, the provisions relating to prohibition orders<sup>15</sup> apply to any trustee who has failed to take all such steps as are reasonable to secure compliance, and those relating to civil penalties<sup>16</sup> apply to any trustee or manager who has failed to take all such steps<sup>17</sup>.

Except in prescribed circumstances<sup>18</sup>, the trustees or managers of an occupational pension scheme to which the above provisions apply must, where any amounts payable in accordance with the payment schedule have not been paid on or before the due date, give notice of that fact, within the prescribed period<sup>19</sup>, to the Occupational Pensions Regulatory Authority and to the members<sup>20</sup> of the scheme<sup>21</sup>. Any such amounts which for the time being remain unpaid after that date (whether payable by the employer or not) must, if not a debt due from the employer to the trustees or managers apart from this provision, be treated as such a debt<sup>22</sup>. Where any amounts payable in accordance with the payment schedule by or on behalf of the employer have not been paid on or before the due date, the provisions relating to civil penalties apply to the employer<sup>23</sup>.

3 For the meaning of 'prescribed' see PARA 555 note 1 ante. The prescribed class or description for these purposes is a money purchase scheme which falls within the description referred to in the Occupational Pension Schemes (Scheme Administration) Regulations 1996, SI 1996/1715, reg 3(1)(c), (d), (f)-(i) (see PARA 826 ante): reg 17 (amended by SI 1997/786).

4 Pensions Act 1995 s 87(1). In the case of money purchase schemes falling within a prescribed class or description, regulations may: (1) provide for any of the provisions of ss 56-60 (see PARAS 811-821 ante) to apply, or apply with prescribed modifications (in spite of anything in those sections); and (2) provide for any of the provisions relating to money purchase schemes to apply with prescribed modifications or not to apply, to such extent as may be prescribed: s 89(1). For the meaning of 'regulations' see PARA 600 note 2 ante. For the meaning of 'modifications' see PARA 664 note 10 ante (definition applied by s 124(5)).

Regulations may also provide for any of the provisions of s 75 (see PARA 850 ante) to apply, or apply with prescribed modifications, to money purchase schemes to such extent as may be prescribed (in spite of anything in that section), and the power so conferred includes power to apply s 75 in circumstances other than those in which the scheme is being wound up or a relevant insolvency event occurs: s 89(2). For the meaning of 'relevant insolvency event' see PARA 850 note 3 ante. See the Occupational Pension Schemes (Deficiency on Winding Up etc) Regulations 1996, SI 1996/3128, reg 9; and PARA 847 note 12 ante.

10 Pensions Act 1994 s 87(2)(c).

11 Ibid s 87(3). The prescribed requirements are that (1) the payment schedule shows amounts payable in the scheme year; (2) subject to the Occupational Pension Schemes (Scheme Administration) Regulations 1996, SI 1996/1715, reg 19(2), the payment schedule contains separate entries for the rates and due dates of contributions (other than voluntary contributions) payable towards the scheme by or on behalf of (a) the employer, and in the case of a scheme in relation to which there is more than one employer, each employer; (b) the active members of the scheme: reg 19(1). In the case where an insurance premium is payable, however, the payment schedule need not contain separate entries for identifying the contributions payable by or on behalf of the employer and the active members of the scheme in respect of that premium: reg 19(2).

16 Ie the provisions of ibid s 10: see PARA 611 ante.

17 Ibid s 87(5).

18 The prescribed circumstances are as follows: (1) where an amount, payable in accordance with the payment schedule, has been paid no later than 60 days after the due date, notice of non-payment in respect of that amount on or before the due date need not be given to the members of the scheme; and (2) in the case of a scheme in relation to which there is more than one employer, notice of non-payment in respect of an amount payable in accordance with the payment schedule need not be given to members where their pensionable service is not with the employer who has not paid any amount in accordance with that payment schedule: Occupational Pension Schemes (Scheme Administration) Regulations 1996, SI 1996/1715, reg 21.

19 For these purposes, the prescribed period is, in the case where notice is to be given to the Occupational Pensions Regulatory Authority, 30 days from the due date, and in the case where notice is to be given to a member, 90 days from the due date: ibid reg 20. As to the Occupational Pensions Regulatory Authority see PARA 598 ante.

20 For the meaning of 'member' see PARA 612 note 5 ante.

21 Pensions Act 1995 s 88(1). If, in the case of an occupational pension scheme to which s 87 applies, s 88(1) is not complied with, s 3 (see PARA 604 ante) applies to any trustee who has failed to take all such steps as are reasonable to secure compliance, and s 10 (see PARA 611 ante) applies to any trustee or manager who has failed to take all such steps: s 88(4).

(iii) Assignment, Forfeiture etc

865. Inalienability of occupational pension.

Subject to the following exceptions, where a person is entitled, or has an accrued right<sup>1</sup>, to a pension<sup>2</sup> under an occupational pension scheme<sup>3</sup>:

- 2124 (1) the entitlement or right cannot be assigned, commuted or surrendered<sup>4</sup>;
- 2125 (2) the entitlement or right cannot be charged or a lien exercised in respect of it<sup>5</sup>; and
- 2126 (3) no set-off can be exercised in respect of it<sup>6</sup>, and an agreement to effect any of those things is unenforceable<sup>7</sup>.

Where by virtue of these provisions a person's entitlement, or accrued right, to a pension under an occupational pension scheme cannot, apart from such exceptions, be assigned, no order can be made by any court the effect of which would be that he would be restrained from receiving that pension<sup>8</sup>.

In the case of a person ('the person in question') who is entitled, or has an accrued right, to a pension under an occupational pension scheme, the above provisions do not apply to any of the following, or any agreement to effect any of the following:

1 For the meaning of 'accrued rights' see PARA 843 note 6 ante.

2 For these purposes, 'pension', in relation to an occupational pension scheme, includes any benefit under the scheme and any part of a pension and any payment by way of pension: Pensions Act 1995 s 94(2).

3 For the meaning of 'occupational pension scheme' see PARA 741 ante (definition applied by ibid s 176). See also PARA 598 note 7 ante.

4 Ibid s 91(1)(a).

5 Ibid s 91(1)(b).

6 Ibid s 91(1)(c).

7 Ibid s 91(1). Section 91 is subject to the Pension Schemes Act 1993 s 159 (as amended) (inalienability of guaranteed minimum pension and protected rights payments: see PARA 928 post): Pensions Act 1995 s 91(7).

8 Ibid s 91(2). Section 91(2) does not prevent the making of an attachment of earnings order under the Attachment of Earnings Act 1971, or an income payments order under the Insolvency Act 1986: Pensions Act 1995 s 91(4). Where a bankruptcy order is made against a person, any entitlement or right of his which by virtue of s 91 cannot, apart from s 91(5) (see heads (a)-(e) in the text), be assigned is excluded from his estate for the purposes of the Insolvency Act 1986 Pts VIII-XI (ss 252-385) (as amended) or the Bankruptcy (Scotland) Act 1985: Pensions Act 1995 s 91(3).

9 Ibid s 91(5)(a).

10 Ibid s 91(5)(b).

11 The prescribed circumstances are where: (1) either (a) the pension has become payable; or (b) the occupational pension scheme is being wound up; and (2) the aggregate amount of the benefit payable to the member or, as the case may be, his widow or her widower or dependant under all the schemes relating to employment with the same employer as the employment in respect of which the benefit is payable does not exceed £260 per annum: Occupational Pension Schemes (Assignment, Forfeiture, Bankruptcy etc) Regulations 1997, SI 1997/785, reg 2(1). Where a member's pension is commuted under head (2) supra, any prospective widow's or widower's benefit payable under the scheme may also be commuted (provided that the aggregate amount of such benefit prospectively payable under all schemes relating to employment with the same employer as the employment in respect of which the benefit is payable does not exceed £260 per annum) and the value of any such widow's or widower's benefit is not to be taken into account for the purposes of the limit of £260 per annum mentioned in that head: reg 2(2). For the purposes of head (1)(b) supra, an occupational pension scheme is treated as being wound up when any of the circumstances referred to in the Occupational Pension Schemes (Winding Up) Regulations 1996, SI 1996/3126, reg 2 apply (see PARA 844 ante): Occupational Pension Schemes (Assignment, Forfeiture, Bankruptcy etc) Regulations 1997, SI 1997/785, reg 2(3). For the meaning of 'prescribed' see PARA 555 note 1 ante.

12 Pensions Act 1995 s 91(5)(c); and see note 11 supra.

14 The prescribed transfer credits are those transfer credits attributable to employment with the same employer or an associated employer and the benefits of which could have been charged or a lien or set-off exercised in respect of such benefits under the occupational pension scheme from which the transfer was made: Occupational Pension Schemes (Assignment, Forfeiture, Bankruptcy etc) Regulations 1997, SI 1997/785, reg 3. For the meaning of 'employer' see PARA 598 note 4 ante.

15 Pensions Act 1995 s 91(5)(d). Where a charge, lien or set-off is exercisable by virtue of s 91(5)(d) or (e) (see heads (d)-(e) in the text), (1) its amount must not exceed the amount of the monetary obligation in question, or (if less) the value (determined in the prescribed manner) of the person in question's entitlement or accrued right; and (2) the person in question must be given a certificate showing the amount of the charge, lien or set-off and its effect on his benefits under the scheme; and where there is a dispute as to its amount, the charge, lien or set-off must not be exercised unless the obligation in question has become enforceable under an order of a competent court or in consequence of an award of an arbitrator or, in Scotland, an arbiter to be appointed (failing agreement between the parties) by the sheriff: s 91(6).

16 The prescribed circumstance is where a monetary obligation arises out of a breach of trust by the person in question and the court has relieved him wholly or partly from personal liability under the Trustee Act 1925 s 61 (see TRUSTS vol 48 (2007 Reissue) PARA 1123) or the Trusts (Scotland) Act 1921 s 32: Occupational Pension Schemes (Assignment, Forfeiture, Bankruptcy etc) Regulations 1997, SI 1997/785, reg 4.

17 For the meaning of 'trust scheme' see PARA 604 note 2 ante.

18 Pensions Act 1995 s 91(5)(e). Section 91(5)(e) is subject to s 91(6): see note 15 supra. Regulations may modify s 91 in its application to public service pension schemes or to other schemes falling within a prescribed class or description, or provide that s 91 does not apply in relation to schemes falling within a prescribed class or description: s 94(1). For the meaning of 'regulations' see PARA 600 note 2 ante; for the meaning of 'modify' see PARA 664 note 10 ante (definition applied by s 124(5)); and for the meaning of 'public service pension scheme' see PARA 874 post (definition applied by s 176).

The power to modify s 91 has been exercised as follows: (1) s 91(5)(d) (see head (d) in the text) has effect in its application to public service pension schemes and the Armed Forces Pension Scheme with the omission of the words 'and arising out of a criminal, negligent or fraudulent act or omission by him' (Occupational Pension Schemes (Assignment, Forfeiture, Bankruptcy etc) Regulations 1997, SI 1997/785, reg 7); (2) if a scheme is one the trustees of which have made or wish to make a loan in respect of which the conditions of the Occupational Pension Schemes (Investment) Regulations 1996, SI 1996/3127, reg 6(8) are met (investments to which the restrictions do not apply: see PARA 807 ante), the Pensions Act 1995 s 91(1)(b) does not apply to the extent that it would prevent the directors' interest under the policy referred to being used as security for that loan (Occupational Pension Schemes (Assignment, Forfeiture, Bankruptcy etc) Regulations 1997, SI 1997/785, reg 8(1)); (3) the Pensions Act 1995 s 91(1)(a) does not apply to that part of an occupational pension scheme under which there is an entitlement or an accrued right to a lump sum retirement benefit and the Inland Revenue has granted a concession, in accordance with a statement issued on 11 October 1996, to a member in respect of that lump sum retirement benefit (Occupational Pension Schemes (Assignment, Forfeiture, Bankruptcy etc) Regulations 1997, SI 1997/785, reg 8(2)); and (4) the Pensions Act 1995 s 91(2) does not apply in relation to schemes which are not approved schemes (as to which see PARA 747 et seq ante), but this exemption does not apply to public service pension schemes and the Armed Forces Pension Scheme (Occupational Pension Schemes (Assignment, Forfeiture, Bankruptcy etc) Regulations 1997, SI 1997/785, reg 8(3), (4)).

868. Recovery of excessive pension contributions where individual adjudged bankrupt.

Where an individual is adjudged bankrupt<sup>1</sup> and:

- 2140 (1) he has during the relevant period made contributions<sup>2</sup> as a member<sup>3</sup> of an occupational pension scheme; or
- 2141 (2) contributions have during the relevant period been made to such a scheme on his behalf, the trustee of the bankrupt's estate may apply to the court<sup>4</sup> for an order under these provisions, and if, on an application for such an order, the court is satisfied that the making of any of the contributions ('the excessive contributions') has unfairly prejudiced the individual's creditors<sup>5</sup>, the court may make such order as it thinks fit for restoring the position to what it would have been if the excessive contributions had not been made<sup>6</sup>. The court must, in determining whether it is so satisfied, consider in particular:

- 2142 (a) whether any of the contributions were made by or on behalf of the individual for the purpose of putting assets beyond the reach of his creditors or any of them;
- 2143 (b) whether the total amount of contributions made by or on behalf of the individual (including contributions made to any other occupational pension scheme) during the relevant period was excessive in view of the individual's circumstances at the time when they were made; and
- 2144 (c) whether the level of benefits under the scheme, together with benefits under any other occupational pension scheme, to which the individual is entitled, or is likely to become entitled, is excessive in all the circumstances of the case<sup>7</sup>.

Such an order may include provision:

- 2145 (i) requiring the trustees or managers<sup>8</sup> of the scheme to pay an amount to the individual's trustee in bankruptcy;
- 2146 (ii) reducing the amount of any benefit to which the individual (or his spouse, widow, widower or dependant) is entitled, or to which he has an accrued right, under the scheme;
- 2147 (iii) reducing the amount of any benefit to which, by virtue of any assignment, commutation or surrender of the individual's entitlement (or that of his spouse, widow, widower or dependant) or accrued right under the scheme, another person is entitled or has an accrued right;
- 2148 (iv) otherwise adjusting the liabilities of the scheme in respect of any such person as is mentioned in head (ii) or head (iii) above<sup>9</sup>, but the maximum amount by which such an order may require the assets of an occupational pension scheme to be reduced is the lesser of the amount of the excessive contributions and the value of the assets of the scheme which represent contributions made by or on behalf of the individual<sup>10</sup>. Such an order must reduce the amount of the liabilities of the scheme by an amount equal to the amount of the reduction made in the value of the assets of the scheme<sup>11</sup> unless the individual's entitlement or accrued right to benefits under the scheme which he acquired by virtue of the excessive contributions (his 'excessive entitlement') has been forfeited<sup>12</sup>; and where part of the individual's excessive entitlement has been forfeited, the amount of the reduction in the liabilities of the scheme so required is the value of the remaining part of his excessive entitlement<sup>13</sup>.

Such an order in respect of an occupational pension scheme is binding on the trustees or managers of the scheme<sup>14</sup> and where any sum is required by such an order to be paid to the trustee in bankruptcy, that sum is comprised in the bankrupt's estate<sup>15</sup>.

1 As to when an individual is adjudged bankrupt see BANKRUPTCY AND INDIVIDUAL INSOLVENCY.

2 Where contributions have been made during the relevant period to any occupational pension scheme and the entitlement or accrued right to benefits acquired thereby has been transferred to a second or subsequent occupational pension scheme ('the transferee scheme'), the Insolvency Act 1986 ss 342A-342C (added by the Pensions Act 1995 s 95) apply as though the contributions had been made to the transferee scheme: Insolvency Act 1986 s 342C(3) (as so added). For these purposes: (1) contributions are made during the relevant period if (a) they are made by or on behalf of the individual at any time during the period of five years ending with the day of presentation of the bankruptcy petition on which the individual is adjudged bankrupt; or (b) they are made on behalf of the individual at any time during the period between the presentation of the petition and the commencement of the bankruptcy; and (2) the accrued rights of an individual under an occupational pension scheme at any time are the rights which have accrued to or in respect of him at that time to future benefits under the scheme: s 342C(4) (as so added). For the meaning of 'occupational pension scheme' see PARA 741 ante (definition applied by s 342C(5) (as so added)).

3 'Member' is not defined for these purposes: but see PARA 612 note 5 ante.

868 Recovery of excessive pension contributions where individual adjudged bankrupt

TEXT AND NOTES--Replaced.

Where an individual who is adjudged bankrupt has rights under an approved pension arrangement<sup>1</sup> or has excluded rights under an unapproved pension arrangement<sup>2</sup>, the trustee of the bankrupt's estate may apply to the court for an order for the recovery of excessive pension contributions<sup>3</sup>. If the court is satisfied (1) that the rights under the arrangement are to any extent, and whether directly or indirectly, the fruits of relevant contributions<sup>4</sup>; and (2) that the making of any of the relevant contributions ('the excessive contributions') has unfairly prejudiced the individual's creditors, the court may make such order as it thinks fit for restoring the position to what it would have been had the excessive contributions not been made<sup>5</sup>. Where the court is satisfied that the value of the rights under the arrangement is, as a result of rights of the individual under the arrangement or any other pension arrangement having at any time become subject to a pension debit<sup>6</sup>, less than it would otherwise have been, (a) any relevant contributions which were represented by the rights which became subject to the debit will<sup>7</sup> be taken to be contributions of which the rights under the arrangement are the fruits; and (b) where the relevant contributions represented by the rights under the arrangement (including those so represented by virtue of head (a) above) are not all excessive contributions, relevant contributions which are represented by the rights under the arrangement otherwise than by virtue of head (a) above will be treated as excessive contributions before any which are so represented by virtue of that head<sup>8</sup>.

Without prejudice to the generality of the court's powers<sup>9</sup>, an order for the recovery of excessive pension contributions may include provision (i) requiring the person responsible for the arrangement<sup>10</sup> to pay an amount to the individual's trustee in bankruptcy; (ii) adjusting the liabilities of the arrangement in respect of the individual<sup>11</sup>; (iii) adjusting any liabilities of the arrangement<sup>12</sup> in respect of any other person that derive, directly or indirectly, from rights of the individual under the arrangement; (iv) for the recovery by the person responsible for the arrangement (whether by deduction from any amount which that person is ordered to pay or otherwise) of costs incurred by that person in complying in the bankrupt's case with any requirement relating to the provision of information<sup>13</sup> or in giving effect to the order<sup>14</sup>. The maximum amount which the person responsible for an arrangement may be required to pay by an order for the recovery of excessive pension contributions is the lesser of (A) the amount of the excessive contributions; and (B) the value of the individual's rights under the arrangement (if the arrangement is an approved pension arrangement) or of his excluded rights under the arrangement (if the arrangement is an unapproved pension arrangement)<sup>15</sup>. An order for the recovery of excessive pension contributions which requires the person responsible for an arrangement to pay an amount ('the restoration amount') to the individual's trustee in bankruptcy must provide for the liabilities of the arrangement to be correspondingly reduced<sup>16</sup>. For these purposes, liabilities are correspondingly reduced if the difference between (aa) the amount of the liabilities immediately before the reduction; and (bb) the amount of the liabilities immediately after the reduction, is equal to the restoration amount<sup>17</sup>. An order for the recovery of excessive pension contributions in respect of an arrangement is binding on the person responsible for the arrangement, and overrides provisions of the arrangement to the extent that they conflict with the provisions of the order<sup>18</sup>.

The person responsible for (I) an approved pension arrangement under which a bankrupt has rights; (II) an unapproved pension arrangement under which a bankrupt has excluded rights; or (III) a pension arrangement under which a bankrupt has at any time had rights, must, on the bankrupt's trustee in bankruptcy making a written request, provide the trustee with such information about the arrangement and rights as the trustee may reasonably require for, or in connection with, the making of applications for orders for the recovery of excessive pension contributions<sup>19</sup>. The application of certain statutory provisions to the exercise by a court of its powers under the above provisions is excluded<sup>20</sup>. Where any sum is required by an order for the recovery of excessive pension contributions to be paid to the trustee in bankruptcy, that sum is comprised in the bankrupt's estate<sup>21</sup>.

1 'Approved pension arrangement' has the same meaning as in the Welfare Reform and Pensions Act 1999 s 11 (see PARA 754A): Insolvency Act 1986 s 342A(8) (ss 342A-342C substituted by the 1999 Act s 15).

2 'Unapproved pension arrangement' has the same meaning as in ibid s 12 (see PARA 754B): 1986 Act s 342A(8). For the purposes of ss 342A-342C, rights of an individual under an unapproved pension arrangement are excluded rights if they are rights which are excluded from his estate by virtue of regulations under the 1999 Act s 12: 1986 Act s 342A(7).

3 Ie an order under ibid s 342A.

4 'Relevant contributions' means contributions to the arrangement or any other pension arrangement (1) which the individual has at any time made on his own behalf; or (2) which have at any time been made on his behalf: ibid s 342A(5).

5 Ibid s 342A(1), (2). The court must, in determining whether it is satisfied under head (2) of the text, consider in particular (1) whether any of the contributions were made for the purpose of putting assets beyond the reach of the individual's creditors or any of them; and (2) whether the total amount of any contributions (a) made by or on behalf of the individual to pension arrangements; and (b) represented (whether directly or indirectly) by rights under approved pension arrangements or excluded rights under unapproved pension arrangements, is an amount which is excessive in view of the individual's circumstances when those contributions were made: s 342A(6).

6 Ie under the 1999 Act s 29(1)(a): see PARA 961A.3.

8 Ibid s 342A(3), (4).

9 Ie without prejudice to the generality of ibid s 342A(2).

10 References to the person responsible for a pension arrangement are to (1) the trustees, managers or provider of the arrangement; or (2) the person having functions in relation to the arrangement corresponding to those of a trustee, manager or provider: ibid s 342C(6).

11 The reference to adjusting the liabilities of the arrangement in respect of a person include, in particular, reducing the amount of any benefit or future benefit to which that person is entitled under the arrangement: ibid s 342B(2).

12 The reference to liabilities of the arrangement in head (iii) of the text does not include liabilities in respect of a person which result from giving effect to an order or provision falling within the 1999 Act s 28(1) (see PARA 961A.1): 1986 Act s 342B(3).

14 Ibid s 342B(1).

15 Ibid s 342B(4). Regulations may make provision about the calculation and verification of any such value as is mentioned in head (b) of the text: s 342C(4). The power conferred by s 342C(4) includes power to provide for calculation or verification (1) in such manner as may, in the particular case, be approved by a prescribed person; or (2) in accordance with guidance from time to time prepared by a prescribed person: s 342C(5) (s 342C(5) amended by Pensions Act 2007 Sch 5 para 3). 'Prescribed' means prescribed by regulations; and 'regulations' means regulations made by the Secretary of State: 1986 Act s 342C(7). Such regulations may (a) make different provision for different cases; (b) contain such incidental, supplemental and transitional provisions as appear to the Secretary of State necessary or expedient, and they must be made by statutory instrument subject to annulment in pursuance of a resolution of either House of Parliament: s 342C(8), (9).

16 Ibid s 342B(5).

17 Ibid s 342B(6). Regulations may make provision about the calculation and verification of any such amounts as are mentioned in heads (aa) and (bb) of the text: s 342C(4)(b) (342C as substituted: see NOTE 1). See also NOTE 15.

18 Ibid s 342B(7).

19 Ibid s 342C(1).

20 Nothing in (1) any provision of the Pension Schemes Act 1993 s 159 (see PARA 928) or the Pensions Act 1995 s 91 (see PARA 865); (2) any provision of any enactment (whether passed or made before or after the passing of the 1999 Act) corresponding to any of the provisions mentioned in head (1); or (3) any provision of the arrangement in question corresponding to any of those provisions, applies to a court exercising its powers under the 1986 Act s 342A: s 342C(2).

872. Powers to modify and consultations about regulations.

- 2156 (1) to a trust scheme<sup>4</sup> which applies to earners<sup>5</sup> in employments<sup>6</sup> under different employers<sup>7</sup>;

2. Registration of stakeholder schemes

The Authority must keep a register of stakeholder pension schemes<sup>1</sup>. The Authority must register a pension scheme if the trustees of the scheme, or any person or persons prescribed<sup>2</sup> in relation to the scheme (1) make an application for the purpose and pay such fee as the Authority may determine; and (2) declare that each of the applicable conditions<sup>3</sup> is fulfilled in relation to the scheme<sup>4</sup>. However, where the Authority is satisfied on reasonable grounds that any of those conditions is not fulfilled in relation to a pension scheme, the Authority may by direction refuse to register the scheme or, where the scheme is registered<sup>5</sup>, remove it from the register<sup>6</sup>. Provision relating to civil penalties<sup>7</sup> applies to any trustee of a pension scheme which is or has been registered, and to any person prescribed in relation to such a scheme, if (a) he fails to take all such steps as are reasonable to secure that each of those conditions is fulfilled in relation to the scheme or (as the case may be) while the scheme was so registered he failed to take all such steps as were reasonable to secure that each of those conditions was so fulfilled; or (b) where the scheme was registered on his application, any of those conditions was not fulfilled in relation to the scheme at the time of the application<sup>8</sup>. The Secretary of State may by regulations make provision (i) for the register, or extracts from the register, or for copies of the register or of extracts from the register, to be open to inspection by; and (ii) for copies of the register, or of extracts from it, to be supplied to, such persons, in such manner, at such times, on payment of such fees, and subject to such other terms and conditions, as may be prescribed<sup>9</sup>.

3. Duty of employers to facilitate access to stakeholder schemes

Except in so far as regulations otherwise provide, it is the duty of an employer<sup>1</sup> of relevant employees<sup>2</sup> to comply with the following requirements<sup>3</sup>. The first requirement is that the employer must ensure that at all times there is at least one scheme designated by him<sup>4</sup> which is registered<sup>5</sup> and offers membership to all his relevant employees (whether or not any other scheme registered which does not offer membership to all those employees is for the time being designated by him), and before designating a scheme the employer must consult with his relevant employees and any organisations representing them<sup>6</sup>. The second requirement is that the employer must supply his relevant employees with (1) the name and address of the designated scheme or, as the case may be, of each of the designated schemes; and (2) such other information as may be prescribed<sup>7</sup>. The third requirement is that the employer must allow representatives of the designated scheme or schemes reasonable access to his relevant employees for the purpose of supplying them with information about the scheme or schemes<sup>8</sup>. The fourth requirement is that, subject to such exceptions and qualifications as may be prescribed, the employer must, if he is requested to do so by a relevant employee of his who is a member of a qualifying scheme<sup>9</sup> deduct the employee's contributions to the scheme from his remuneration, and pay them to the trustees or managers of the scheme or, if regulations so provide, to a prescribed person<sup>10</sup>. The fifth requirement is that the employer must, if any scheme designated by him ceases to be registered, withdraw his designation of the scheme (but this requirement is not to be taken as implying that he cannot withdraw his designation of a scheme in other circumstances)<sup>11</sup>. Provision relating to civil penalties<sup>12</sup> applies to an employer who fails to comply with any of the above requirements<sup>13</sup>. An employer is not, whether before designating a scheme or at any time while a scheme is designated by him, under any duty (a) to make any enquiries, or act on any information, about the scheme for any purpose not connected with (i) ascertaining whether the scheme is for the time being registered; (ii) ascertaining the persons to whom it offers membership; or (iii) enabling him to comply with the second requirement; or (b) in particular, to investigate or monitor, or make any judgment as to, the past, present or future performance of the scheme<sup>14</sup>.

1 'Employer' means any employer, whether or not resident or incorporated in any part of the United Kingdom: Welfare Reform and Pensions Act 1999 s 3(9).

2 'Relevant employees', in relation to an employer, means all employees of his employed in Great Britain and also, in the case of an employer resident or incorporated in any part of Great Britain, all employees of his employed outside the United Kingdom, but with the exception, in the case of any employer, of any employees of his (1) whose employment qualifies them for membership of an occupational pension scheme of the employer; (2) whose earnings fall below the lower earnings limit as defined in the Pension Schemes Act 1993 s 181 (which provides that 'lower earnings limit' is to be construed in accordance with the Social Security Contributions and Benefits Act 1992 s 5: see PARA 34); or (3) who are of such other description as may be prescribed: 1999 Act s 3(9). For the meaning of 'prescribed' see PARA 873A.1 NOTE 4.

4. Application of enactments; reduced rates of national insurance contributions

Provisions relating to the right not to suffer detriment<sup>1</sup> and protection from unfair dismissal<sup>2</sup> apply in relation to an employee who is (or is a director of a company which is) a trustee of a scheme designated by his employer<sup>3</sup> as they apply in relation to an employee who is (or is a director of a company which is) a trustee of a relevant occupational pension scheme<sup>4</sup> which relates to his employment<sup>5</sup>. Provision relating to time off for occupational pension scheme trustees<sup>6</sup> applies to the employer in relation to a designated scheme as it applies to the employer in relation to a relevant occupational pension scheme<sup>7</sup>.

Certain provisions relating to other types of pension schemes also apply to stakeholder pension schemes with various modifications<sup>8</sup>.

Provision is made with regard to the determination of different reduced rates of national insurance contributions payable by members of contracted-out money purchase occupational pension schemes depending on whether or not such schemes are registered as stakeholder pension schemes<sup>9</sup>. Corresponding provision is made in respect of appropriate personal pension schemes<sup>10</sup>.

873B. Registered Pension Schemes.

1. Introduction

The Finance Act 2004 introduces the concept of registered pension schemes, to which particular tax provisions apply<sup>1</sup>. Separate provision is made for unregistered schemes<sup>2</sup>.

'Pension scheme' is defined as a scheme or other arrangements, comprised in one or more instruments or agreements, having or capable of having effect so as to provide benefits to, or in respect of, persons on retirement, on death, on having reached a particular age, on the onset of serious ill-health or incapacity, or in similar circumstances<sup>3</sup>. A scheme is a registered pension scheme at any time when it is registered<sup>4</sup>.

The Board of Inland Revenue may make regulations for and in connection with treating registered pension schemes which are prescribed (or of a description prescribed) by the regulations as if they were a number of separate registered pension schemes for such of the purposes of these provisions<sup>5</sup> and of provision made under them as are so prescribed<sup>6</sup>.

1 See the Finance Act 2004 ss 149-242, 250-280, Schs 28-34; and PARA 873B.2 et seq.

2 Ibid ss 243-249. The new provisions have effect from 6 April 2006, except for any power to make orders or regulations under any of those provisions, which was exercisable at any time after 22 July 2004 (the date on which the Finance Act 2004 received the royal assent): s 284. For extensive transitional provisions and savings see s 283, Sch 36 (amended by the Finance Act 2006 Sch 23 paras 24, 25, 35-46). The Treasury may by order make any other transitional provision which may appear appropriate in consequence of, or otherwise in connection with, the enactment of the new provisions or any repeal or revocation thereof; and such an order may, in particular, include savings from the effect of any amendment made by those provisions or any such repeal or enactment or any repeal made by the Finance Act 2004 in consequence thereof and may include provision having effect before it is made (provided that it does not increase any person's liability to tax): s 283(2), (3), (3A), (3B) (s (3A), (3B) added by 2006 Act Sch 23 para 35). See the Registered Pension Schemes (Modification of the Rules of Existing Schemes) Regulations 2006, SI 2006/364.

Nothing in the 2004 Act Sch 36 limits the power to make such an order, and nothing in Sch 36 or in any provision made by virtue of such an order prejudices the operation of the Interpretation Act 1985 ss 16, 17: 2004 Act s 283(4), (5) (amended by 2006 Act Sch 23 para 35). Any power of the Treasury or the Board of Inland Revenue (see PARA 873B.2 NOTE 1) to make any order or regulations under the Finance Act 2004 ss 149-284 is exercisable by statutory instrument, which is subject to annulment in pursuance of a resolution of the House of Commons: s 282. As to regulations so far made see Registered Pension Schemes (Prescribed Schemes and Occupations) Regulations 2005, SI 2005/3451; Registered Pension Schemes (Provision of Information) Regulations 2006, SI 2006/567 (amended by SI 2006/1961, SI 2008/720, SI 2008/2990); Taxation of Pension Schemes (Transitional Provisions) Order 2006, SI 2006/572 (amended by SI 2008/2990, SI 2009/1172, SI 2009/1989). No order may be made under the 2004 Act s 208(6) (see PARA 873B.21) s 209(7) (see PARA 873B.21), s 315(2A) (see PARA 873B.15), s 227(5A) (see PARA 824A.7), s 240(3A) (see PARA 873B.19) or s 242(5) (see PARA 873B.2) unless a draft of the statutory instrument containing it has been laid before, and approved by a resolution of, the House of Commons: s 282(1A) (added by Finance Act 2009 Sch 2 para 18).

3 2004 Act s 150(1).

4 Ibid s 150(2). As to registration see PARA 873B.2. An annuity contract made with an insurance company by means of which benefits under a registered pension scheme have been secured, but which does not provide for the immediate payment of benefits, is treated as having become a registered pension scheme on the day on which it is made: s 153(8) (amended by the Finance Act 2005 Sch 10 para 2). Where an order has been made under the Pensions Act 2004 s 19(4) or s 21(2)(a), or the Pensions (Northern Ireland) Order 2005 art 15(4) or 17(2)(a) that property or money be transferred, or a sum be paid, towards an annuity contract made with an insurance company, the annuity contract is treated as having become a registered pension scheme on the day on which it is made: Finance Act 2004 s 153(8A) (added by the 2005 Act Sch 10 para 3).

5 le the Finance Act 2004 Pt 4 (ss 149-284): see PARA 873B.2 et seq.

6 Ibid s 274A(1), (2) (s 274A added by the 2005 Act Sch 10 para 50). The provision that may be made by such regulations may, in particular, include (1) provision as to who is to be treated as the scheme administrator in relation to each of the separate pension schemes; and (2) any other modifications of the provision made by and under Pt 4 (see NOTE 5) as appears appropriate in consequence of, or otherwise in connection with, provision made under s 274A(1) (including provision so made by virtue of head (1)): s 274A(3). Such regulations may make different provision for different cases: s 274A(4). See the Registered Pension Schemes (Splitting of Schemes) Regulations 2006, SI 2006/569 (amended by SI 2007/793).

2. Registration

An application may be made to the Inland Revenue<sup>1</sup> for a pension scheme<sup>2</sup> to be registered<sup>3</sup>. Such an application must contain any information which is reasonably required, in a form specified by the Board of Inland Revenue, and must be accompanied by a declaration that it is made by the scheme administrator<sup>4</sup> and any other declarations by the scheme administrator which are reasonably required by the Inland Revenue<sup>5</sup>. On receipt of the application, the Inland Revenue must register the scheme unless it appears that any information contained in the application is incorrect, or any declaration accompanying it is false, and it must notify the scheme administrator of its decision, stating the day on and after which the scheme is to be registered<sup>6</sup>.

A scheme cannot be registered unless it is an occupational pension scheme<sup>7</sup> or a scheme established by a permitted person<sup>8</sup>.

1 The 'Inland Revenue' means any officer of the Board of Inland Revenue; and the 'Board of Inland Revenue' means the Commissioners of Inland Revenue: Finance Act 2004 s 279(1). As to the Commissioners of Inland Revenue see INCOME TAXATION vol 23(1) (Reissue) PARA 31 et seq.

2 For the meaning of 'pension scheme' see PARA 873B.1.

4 The scheme administrator, in relation to a pension scheme, is the person who is, or persons who are, appointed in accordance with the rules of the scheme to be responsible for the discharge of the functions conferred or imposed on the scheme administrator by and under these provisions: ibid s 270(1). A person cannot be a scheme administrator (or one of the persons who together are such an administrator) unless he is resident in the United Kingdom or another state which is a member state or a non-member EEA state, and has made the required declaration to the Inland Revenue: s 270(2). The 'required declaration' is a declaration that the person concerned understands that he will be responsible for discharging the functions conferred or imposed on the scheme administrator by and under these provisions, and that he intends to discharge those functions at all times, whether resident in the United Kingdom or another such state: s 270(3). 'Non-member EEA state' means a state which is a contracting party to the Agreement on the European Economic Area signed at Oporto on 2 May 1992 (as adjusted by the Protocol signed at Brussels on 17 March 1993), but which is not a member state: 2004 Act s 270(4).

5 Ibid s 153(2). The declarations which the Inland Revenue may require to accompany an application for the registration of a pension scheme include, in particular, a declaration that the instruments or agreements by which it is constituted do not entitle any person to unauthorised payments: s 153(3). As to unauthorised payments see PARA 873B.9 et seq.

6 Ibid s 153(4)-(7). If it does not so appear, the Inland Revenue has a discretion whether to register the scheme: s 153(4). A negative decision must also be notified to the scheme administrator: s 153(6)). The scheme administrator may appeal against the decision within the period of 30 days beginning with the day on which he was notified of the negative decision: s 156(1),(2), (5). If the tribunal, on an appeal notified to it, considers that the scheme ought not to be registered, it must dismiss the appeal: s 156(6), (7) (s 156(6)-(8) amended by SI 2009/56). If it decides that the scheme ought to have been registered, the scheme is treated as having been registered on such date as the tribunal may determine (subject to any further appeal): 2004 Act s 156(6), (8).

7 le a pension scheme established by an employer or employers and having or capable of having effect so as to provide benefits to or in respect of any or all of the employees of that employer or those employers, or of any other employer (whether or not it also has or is capable of having effect so as to provide benefits to or in respect of other persons): ibid s 150(5). 'Employer' and 'employee' have the same meanings as in the Income Tax (Earnings and Pensions) Act 2003 ss 4, 5 but include (respectively) a former employee and a former employer; and 'employment' is to be read accordingly: 2004 Act s 279(1).

8 Ibid s 154(1) (substituted by Finance Act 2007 Sch 20 para 2(2)). A permitted person is a person with permission under the Financial Services and Markets Act 2000 to establish in the United Kingdom a personal pension scheme or a stakeholder pension scheme: 2004 Act s 154(1). This provision is to be construed in accordance with the Financial Services and Markets Act 2000 s 22, Sch 2 (see FINANCIAL SERVICES AND INSTITUTIONS vol 48 (2008) PARAS 84, 85) and any relevant order under s 22: 2004 Act s 154(2A) (added by Finance Act 2007 Sch 20 para 2(3)).

The 2004 Act s 154(1) does not apply to a public service pension scheme: s 154(2). A 'public service pension scheme' is a pension scheme established by or under any enactment, approved by a relevant governmental or Parliamentary person or body, or specified in an order made by the Treasury: s 150(3). A 'relevant governmental or Parliamentary person or body' means (1) a minister of the Crown or a government department; (2) the Scottish Parliament, the Scottish Parliamentary Corporate Body or a member of the Scottish Executive; (3) the National Assembly for Wales, the National Assembly for Wales Commission or the Welsh Ministers; or (4) the Northern Ireland Assembly, the Northern Ireland Assembly Commission, a Northern Ireland Minister, the head of a Northern Ireland department, or a Northern Ireland department: s 150(4) (amended by SI 2007/1388). As to public service pension schemes generally see PARA 874 et seq.

The Treasury may by order amend the 2004 Act s 154: s 154(4) (amended by the 2007 Act Sch 20 para 2(5)). As to the making of such orders see PARA 873B.1 NOTE 2.

3. De-registration

The Inland Revenue<sup>1</sup> may withdraw the registration of a pension scheme<sup>2</sup> if (and only if) it appears to them that:

- 2163 (1) the amount of the scheme chargeable payments<sup>3</sup> made by the pension scheme during any period of 12 months exceeds the de-registration threshold<sup>4</sup>;
- 2164 (2) the scheme administrator<sup>5</sup> fails to pay a substantial amount of tax (or interest on tax) due from him<sup>6</sup>;
- 2165 (3) the scheme administrator fails to provide information required<sup>7</sup> to be provided to the Inland Revenue, and the failure is significant<sup>8</sup>;
- 2166 (4) any information contained in the application to register the pension scheme or otherwise provided to the Inland Revenue is incorrect in a material particular;
- 2167 (5) any declaration accompanying the application to register or the provision of other information to the Inland Revenue is false in a material particular; or
- 2168 (6) there is no scheme administrator<sup>9</sup>.

Any decision to withdraw registration must be notified to the scheme administrator or, if there is no such person, to any person or persons who has or have responsibility for the discharge of any obligation relating to the pension scheme<sup>10</sup> and whom it is reasonably practicable for the Inland Revenue to identify<sup>11</sup>. The notification must state the date on and after which the scheme will not be a registered pension scheme<sup>12</sup>.

1 For the meaning of 'Inland Revenue' see PARA 873B.2 NOTE 1.

2 For the meaning of 'pension scheme' see PARA 873B.1. As to registration see PARA 873B.2.

3 As to scheme chargeable payments see PARA 873B.19.

4 The amount of the scheme chargeable payments made by a pension scheme during any period of 12 months exceeds the de-registration threshold if the scheme chargeable payments percentage is 25 per cent or more: Finance Act 2004 s 158(2). The 'scheme chargeable payments percentage' is (1) if only one scheme chargeable payment is made during the period concerned, the percentage of the pension fund used up on the occasion of that payment; and (2) if two or more such payments are made during the period concerned, the aggregate of the percentages of the pension fund used up on the occasion of each such payment: s 158(3). The percentage of the pension fund used up on the occasion of a scheme chargeable payment is:

$$\frac{SCP}{AA} \times 100$$

where SCP is the amount of the scheme chargeable payment, and AA is an amount equal to the aggregate of the amount of the sums and the market value of the assets held for the purposes of the pension scheme at the time when the scheme chargeable payment is made: s 158(4). The 'market value' of an asset held for the purposes of a pension scheme is determined in accordance with the Taxation of Chargeable Gains Act 1992 s 272 (see CAPITAL GAINS TAXATION vol 5(1) (2004 Reissue) PARA 44): 2004 Act s 278(1). However, where such an asset is a right or interest in respect of any money lent (directly or indirectly) to any relevant associated person, the value of that asset is treated as being the amount owing (including any unpaid interest) on the money lent: s 278(2). 'Relevant associated persons' are (a) any employer who has at any time (whether or not before the making of the loan) made contributions under the pension scheme; (b) any company connected (at the time of the making of the loan or subsequently) with any such employer; (c) any person who has at any time (whether or not before the making of the loan) been a member of the scheme; and (d) any person connected (at the time of the making of the loan or subsequently) with any such person: s 278(3). 'Connected' has the meaning given by the Income and Corporation Taxes Act 1988 s 839 (see INCOME TAXATION vol 23(2) (Reissue) PARA 1258): 2004 Act s 278(4). For the meaning of 'employer' see PARA 873B.2 NOTE 7; for the meaning of 'contribution' see PARA 873B.12; for the meaning of 'member' see PARA 873B.4; and for the meaning of 'loan' see PARA 873B.4.

The market value of taxable property (see PARA 873B.30) or of an interest therein is also to be determined in accordance with the Taxation of Chargeable Gains Act 1992, but subject to any provision made by regulations made under the 2004 Act Sch 29A para 36(2) (see PARA 873B.32): s 278(3A), (3B) (added by the Finance Act 2006 Sch 21 para 11).

5 For the meaning of 'scheme administrator' see PARA 873B.2 NOTE 4.

6 Ie by virtue of the 2004 Act Pt 4 (ss 149-284): see PARAS 873B.1, 873B.2, PARA 873B.4 et seq.

7 Ie by the provisions referred to in NOTE 6.

8 Such failure is 'significant' if the amount of information which the scheme administrator fails to provide is substantial, or that failure is likely to result in serious prejudice to the assessment or collection of tax: 2004 Act s 158(5).

9 Ibid ss 157(1), 158(1).

10 Ie an obligation under ibid s 271(4) (see PARA 873B.27), s 272 (see PARA 873B.27) or s 273 (see PARA 873B.27).

11 Ibid s 157(2), (3). In such a case, the scheme administrator or the recipient of the notice may appeal within the period of 30 days beginning with the day on which he was notified of the decision to de-register: s 159(1),(2), (5). If the tribunal (on an appeal that is notified to it) considers that the scheme ought to be de-registered, it must dismiss the appeal. If the tribunal decides that it ought not to have been de-registered, registration is treated as continuing without interruption(subject to any further appeal ): s 159(6)-(8) (amended by SI 2009/56).

12 2004 Act s 157(4). As to the tax charge which may arise on the deregistration of a scheme see PARA 873B.20.

4. Authorised member payments by registered pension schemes: in general

The only payments<sup>1</sup> that a registered pension scheme<sup>2</sup> is authorised to make to or in respect of a person who is or has been a member<sup>3</sup> are (1) pensions<sup>4</sup> permitted by the pension rules or the pension death benefit rules<sup>5</sup>; (2) lump sums permitted by the lump sum rule or the lump sum death benefit rules<sup>6</sup>; (3) recognised transfers; (4) scheme administration member payments; (5) payments pursuant to a pension sharing order or provision; and (6) payments of a description prescribed by regulations made by the Board<sup>7</sup>.

A 'recognised transfer' is a transfer of sums or assets held for the purposes of, or representing accrued rights under, a registered pension scheme so as to become held for the purposes of, or to represent rights under, another registered pension scheme or a qualifying recognised overseas pension scheme<sup>8</sup>, in connection with a member of the scheme<sup>9</sup>.

A 'scheme administration member payment' is a payment by a registered pension scheme to or in respect of a person who is or has been a member of the scheme which is made for the purposes of the administration or management of the scheme, and include, in particular, the payment of wages, salaries or fees to persons engaged in administering the scheme, and payments made for the purchase of assets to be held for the purposes of the pension scheme<sup>10</sup>.

The only payments which a registered pension scheme which is an occupational pension scheme is authorised to make to or in respect of a person who is or has been a sponsoring employer are:

- (a) public service scheme payments<sup>11</sup>;
- (b) authorised surplus payments<sup>12</sup>;
- (c) compensation payments<sup>13</sup>;
- (d) authorised employer loans<sup>14</sup>;
- (e) scheme administration employer payments<sup>15</sup>;
- (f) payments of a description prescribed by regulations made by the Board<sup>16</sup>.

1 'Payment' includes a transfer of assets and any other transfer of money's worth: Finance Act 2004 s 161(1), (2).

2 For the meaning of 'pension scheme' see PARA 873B.1. As to registration see PARA 873B.2.

3 'Member', in relation to a pension scheme, means any active member, pensioner member, deferred member or pension credit member of the scheme: Finance Act 2004 s 151(1). A person is an active member if there are currently arrangements made under the scheme for the accrual of benefits to or in respect of him; a person is a pensioner member if he is entitled to the present payment of benefits under the scheme and is not an active member; a person is a deferred member if he has accrued rights under the scheme and is neither an active member nor a pensioner member; and a person is a pension credit member if he has rights under the scheme which are attributable (directly or indirectly) to pension credits, and if a person dies having become entitled to pension credits, but without having rights attributable to them, the person is treated as having acquired, immediately before death, the rights by virtue of which the liability in respect of the pension credits is subsequently discharged: s 151(2)-(5) (s 151(5) amended by the Finance Act 2006 Sch 23 para 2). 'Pension credit' has the same meaning as in the Welfare Reform and Pensions Act 1999 s 46(1) or corresponding Northern Ireland legislation: 2004 Act ss 279(1), 280(1).

4 'Pension', in relation to a registered pension scheme, include an annuity and income withdrawal: ibid s 165(2). 'Income withdrawal' means (1) if the member has not reached the age of 75, an amount (other than a payment of an annuity) which the member is entitled to be paid from his unsecured pension fund in respect of an arrangement; and (2) if the member has reached the age of 75, an amount which he is entitled to be paid from his alternatively secured pension fund in respect of an arrangement: Sch 28 para 7. For the meaning of 'unsecured pension fund' see PARA 873B.5 NOTE 5; for the meaning of 'alternatively secured pension fund' see PARA 873B.5 NOTE 13; and for the meaning of 'arrangement' see PARA 873B.5 NOTE 5.

5 As to the pension rules see PARA 873B.5; and as to the pension death benefit rules see PARA 873B.6.

6 As to the lump sum rules see PARA 873B.7; and as to the lump sum death benefit rules see PARA 873B.8.

7 2004 Act ss 160(1), 164 (s 160 amended by Finance Act 2006 Sch 23 para 3(2); 2004 Act s 164 amended by 2006 Act Sch 23 para 6; Finance Act 2008 Sch 29 para 1(2); and Finance Act 2009 s 75(32)). Such regulations may (1) provide that for the purposes of the Income Tax (Earnings and Pensions) Act 2003 all or part of a prescribed payment is to be treated as pension under a registered pension scheme, or as a lump sum of a prescribed description; (2) provide that all or part of a prescribed payment is subject to the short service refund lump sum charge or the special lump sum death benefits charge; (3) provide that a prescribed event in relation to a prescribed payment is to be treated for the purposes of the lifetime allowance charge as a benefit crystallisation event, and make provision as to the amount crystallised by that event; (4) include provision having effect in relation to time before the regulations are made if that provision does not increase any person's liability to tax; and 'prescribed' means prescribed in such regulations: s 164(2) (added by Finance Act 2008 Sch 29 para 1(2)). See the Registered Pension Schemes (Authorised Payments) (Transfers to the Pension Protection Fund) Regulations 2006, SI 2006/134; the Registered Pension Schemes (Authorised Member Payments) Regulations 2006, SI 2006/137; the Registered Pension Schemes (Authorised Payments) Regulations 2006, SI 2006/209; the Registered Pension Schemes (Authorised Member Payments) (No 2) Regulations 2006, SI

2006/571; the Registered Pension Schemes (Authorised Payments--Arrears of Pension) Regulations 2006, SI 2006/614; the Registered Pension Schemes (Authorised Member Payments) Regulations 2007, SI 2007/3532; the Registered Pension Schemes (Authorised Payments) Regulations 2009, SI 2009/1171. 'Pension sharing order or provision' means any order or provision mentioned in the 1999 Act s 28(1) or the Welfare Reform and Pensions (Northern Ireland) Order 1999 art 25(1): 2004 Act ss 279(1), 280. As to the Board see PARA 873B.2 NOTE 1.

8 A recognised overseas pension scheme is an overseas pension scheme which is established in a country or territory prescribed, or of a description prescribed, by regulations made by the Board, or satisfies any requirements so prescribed; and 'overseas pension scheme' means a pension scheme (other than a registered pension scheme) which is established in a country or territory outside the United Kingdom, and satisfies any requirements prescribed by such regulations: ibid s 150(7), (8). See the Pension Schemes (Categories of Country and Requirements for Overseas Pension Schemes and Recognised Overseas Pension Schemes) Regulations 2006, SI 2006/206 (amended by SI 2007/1600). A recognised overseas pension scheme is a qualifying recognised overseas pension scheme if (1) the scheme manager has given to the Inland Revenue notification that it is a recognised overseas pension scheme and has provided any such evidence to that effect as the Inland Revenue may require; (2) the scheme manager has undertaken to inform the Inland Revenue if it ceases to be a recognised overseas pension scheme; (3) the scheme manager has undertaken to comply with any prescribed information requirements imposed on the scheme manager; and (4) the scheme is not prevented from qualifying because the Inland Revenue has decided that (a) there has been a failure to comply with any prescribed information requirements imposed on the scheme manager and the failure is significant, and (b) by reason of the failure it is not appropriate that transfers of sums or assets held for the purposes of, or representing, accrued rights under, registered pension schemes so as to become held for the purposes of, or to represent rights under, the recognised overseas pension scheme should be recognised transfers, and have notified the person or persons appearing to be the scheme manager accordingly: 2004 Act s 169(2), (4). 'Prescribed information requirements' means requirements imposed by or under regulations made by the Board to provide to the Inland Revenue any information of a description prescribed by regulations so made, and requirements specified by regulations so made to provide information to an authority so specified in circumstances so specified; and a failure to comply with such requirements is significant if the amount of information which has not been provided is substantial, or the failure to provide the information is likely to result in serious prejudice to the assessment or collection of tax: s 169(4), (6). 'Scheme manager', in relation to a pension scheme, means the person or persons administering, or responsible for the management of, the scheme: s 169(3). At any time after a recognised overseas pension scheme is excluded from qualification by virtue of head (4), the Inland Revenue may decide that it should cease to be so excluded, and must notify the scheme manager accordingly: s 169(7). As to the making of regulations under these provisions see PARA 873B.1 NOTE 2. See the Pension Schemes (Information Requirements -Qualifying Overseas Pension Schemes, Qualifying Recognised Overseas Pensions Schemes and Corresponding Relief) Regulations 2006, SI 2006/208.

If a scheme is so excluded, the scheme manager may appeal against the decision within the period of 30 days beginning with the day on which notification of the decision to exclude was given: 2004 Act s 170(1), (2). If the tribunal (on an appeal notified to it) considers that the scheme ought to be excluded, the tribunal must dismiss the appeal. If the tribunal decides that the scheme ought not to have been excluded, it is treated as having remained a qualifying recognised overseas pension scheme (subject to any further appeal): s 170(6)-(8) (amended by SI 2009/56). For the meaning of 'Inland Revenue' see PARA 873B.2 NOTE 1.

9 2004 Act s 169(1). A transfer of sums or assets held for the purposes of, or representing accrued rights under, a registered pension scheme to an insurance company is treated as a recognised transfer if the sums or assets had been applied by the pension scheme towards the provision of a scheme pension or a dependants' scheme pension: s 169(1A) (s 169(1A)-(1E) added by Finance Act 2005 Sch 10 para 36). The Board of Inland Revenue may by regulations provide (1) that, where any of the sums or assets transferred represent rights in respect of a scheme pension to which a member of a registered pension scheme has become entitled ('the original scheme pension') (a) the transfer is not a recognised transfer unless those sums and assets are, after the transfer, applied towards the provision of a scheme pension (a 'new scheme pension') and (b) if they are so applied, the new scheme pension is to be treated, to such extent as is prescribed by the regulations and for such of the purposes of the 2004 Act Pt 4 (ss 140-284) (see PARA 873B.1 et seq, PARA 873B.5 et seq) as are so prescribed, as if it were the original scheme pension; (2) that, where any of the sums or assets transferred represent rights in respect of a dependants' scheme pension to which a dependant of a member of a registered pension scheme has become entitled in respect of a member ('the original dependants' scheme pension') (a) the transfer is not a recognised transfer unless those sums and assets are, after the transfer, applied towards the provision of a dependants' scheme pension (a 'new dependants' scheme pension'), and (b) if they are so applied, the new dependants' scheme pension is to be treated, to such extent as is prescribed by the regulations and for such of the purposes of Pt 4 as are so prescribed, as if it were the original dependants' scheme pension; and (3) that where any of the sums or assets transferred represent (a) a person's unsecured pension fund or dependant's unsecured pension fund, or (b) a person's alternatively secured pension fund or dependant's alternatively secured pension fund, under an arrangement ('the old arrangement'), the transfer is not a recognised transfer unless all those sums and assets become held under an arrangement under which no other sums or assets are held ('the new arrangement'): s 169(1B)-(1D). If regulations so provide, they may make in relation to cases in which the sums or assets become so held provision for the treatment for the purposes of any provision of Pt 4 of (a) the sums and assets transferred, and (b) the new arrangement, including provision for treating the sums and assets so transferred as remaining to such extent as is prescribed by the regulations and for such of the purposes of Pt 4 as are so prescribed, sums and assets held under the old arrangement: s 169(1E). For the meaning of 'insurance company' see PARA 873B.2 NOTE 8; for the meaning of 'scheme pension', see PARA 873B.5 NOTE 6; and for the meaning of 'dependants' scheme pension', see PARA 873B.6 NOTE 4. See the Registered Pension Schemes (Transfer of Sums and Assets) Regulations 2006, SI 2006/499 (amended by SI 2008/1946, SI 2008/1946).

10 2004 Act s 171(1), (3) (s 171(1) amended by the 2006 Act Sch 23 para 7). However, if a payment exceeds the amount which might be expected to be paid to a person who was at arm's length, the excess is not a scheme administration member payment: 2004 Act s 171(2). A loan to, or in respect of, a person who is or has been a member of the scheme is not a scheme administration member payment: s 171(4) (amended by the 2006 Act Sch 23 para 7). Regulations made by the Board may provide that payments of a description specified in the regulations are, or are not, scheme administration member payments: 2004 Act s 171(5). As to the making of such regulations see PARA 873B.1 NOTE 2.

'Loan' does not include the purchase of, or subscription to, debentures, debenture stock, loan stock, bonds, certificates of deposit or other instruments creating or acknowledging indebtedness which are listed or dealt in on a recognised stock exchange or offered to the public: s 162(1), (2). A guarantee of a loan made to or in respect of a person who is or has been a member or sponsoring employer of a registered pension scheme (or to or in respect of a person who is connected with such a member or sponsoring employer but is not himself such a member or sponsoring employer) is treated as a loan to or in respect of such a person of an amount equal to the amount guaranteed: s 162(3) (amended by the 2005 Act Sch 10 para 6; and the 2006 Act Sch 23 para 5). If a person who is a member or sponsoring employer of a registered pension scheme (or a person who is connected with such a member or sponsoring employer but is not himself such a member or sponsoring employer) is liable to pay a debt the right to payment of which constitutes an asset held for the purposes of the pension scheme, but is not required to pay it by the date ('the relevant date') by which a person at arm's length from the scheme might be expected to be required to pay the debt, that debt is treated as a loan made by the scheme to such a person on that date: 2004 Act s 162(4), (5) (s 162(4) amended by the 2005 Act Sch 10 para 6; and the 2006 Act Sch 23 para 5). If the amount of a loan to or in respect of a person who is or has been a sponsoring employer is increased, the amount of the increase is treated as a loan made on the date of the increase: 2004 Act s 179(5) (amended by the 2006 Act Sch 23 para 11). 'Recognised stock exchange' has the meaning given by the Income and Corporation Taxes Act 1988 s 841 (see INCOME TAXATION vol 23(1) (Reissue) PARA 512): 2004 Act s 162(2)(a). 'Connected person' has the meaning given by the Income and Corporation Taxes Act 1988 s 839 (see INCOME TAXATION vol 23(1) (Reissue) PARA 1258) (definition applied by the 2004 Act s 162(5) (added by the 2005 Act Sch 10 para 6)).

A payment by a registered pension scheme to or in respect of a person who is connected with a person who is or has been a member or sponsoring employer (or who was connected with such a person at the date of that person's death) and is not a himself a person who has been a member or a sponsoring employer, is treated as made in respect of the member or sponsoring employer; and any asset held by a person so connected is treated as held for the benefit of the member or sponsoring employer: 2004 Act s 161(5), (6) (s 161(5) amended by the 2005 Act Sch 10 para 5; 2004 Act s 161(5), (6) amended by the 2006 Act Sch 23 para 4(2), (3)). Any increase in the value of an asset held by, or reduction in the liability of, a person so connected is treated as an increase or reduction for the benefit of the person concerned: 2004 Act s 161(7) (amended by the 2006 Act Sch 23 para 4(3)). 'Connected person' has the meaning given by the 1988 s 839: 2004 Act s 161(8).

'Sponsoring employer', in relation to an occupational pension scheme, is the employer, or any of the employers, to or in respect of any or all of whose employees the pension scheme has, or is capable of having, effect so as to provided benefits: s 150(6). For the meaning of 'occupational pension scheme', 'employer' and 'employee' see PARA 873B.2 NOTE 7.

11 A payment is a public service scheme payment if it is made by a public service pension scheme and is not of a description prescribed by regulations made by the Board: ibid s 176. For the meaning of 'public service pension scheme' see PARA 873B.2 NOTE 8. As to the making of such regulations see PARA 873B.1 NOTE 2.

12 It is a payment of a description prescribed by regulations made by the Board: ibid s 177. As to the making of such regulations see PARA 873B.1 NOTE 2. See the Registered Pension Schemes (Authorised Surplus Payments) Regulations 2006 SI 2006/574.

13 It is a payment made in respect of a member's liability to a sponsoring employer in respect of a criminal, fraudulent or negligent act or omission by the member: 2004 Act s 178.

14 A loan made to or in respect of a person who is or has been a sponsoring employer is an authorised employer loan if (1) the amount loaned does not exceed an amount equal to 50 per cent of the aggregate of the amount of the sums, and the market value of the assets, held for the purposes of the pension scheme immediately before the loan is made; (2) the loan is secured by a charge which is of adequate value; and (3) the repayment terms are such that (a) the rate of interest payable on the loan is not less than the rate prescribed by regulations made by the Board of Inland Revenue, (b) the loan repayment date is before the end of the period of five years beginning with the date on which the loan is made, and (c) the amount payable in each period beginning with the date on which the loan is made, and ending with the last day of a loan year, is not less than the required amount: ibid s 179(1), (2) (s 179(1) amended by 2006 Act Sch 23 para 11). However, if on a standard loan repayment date any amount (including interest) is owing, the loan repayment date may be postponed (once only) to a date before the end of the period of five years beginning with the standard loan repayment date: 2004 Act s 179(3), (4). See the Registered Pension Schemes (Prescribed Interest Rates for Authorised Employer Loans) Regulations 2005, SI 2005/3449.

'Charge' includes a right in security or an agreement to create a right in security, and any reference to assets subject to a charge or assets charged includes a reference to the property over which such a right is granted: 2004 Act s 179(7). A charge is of 'adequate value' if (a) at the time the charge is given, the market value of the assets subject thereto (i) in the case of the first charge to secure the loan, is at least equal to the amount owing (including interest), and (ii) in any other case, is at least equal to the lower of that amount and the market value of the assets subject to the previous charge; (b) if, at any time after the charge is given, the market value of the assets charged is less than would be required under head (a) if the charge were given at that time, the reduction in value is not attributable to any step taken by the pension scheme, the sponsoring employer, or a person connected with the sponsoring employer; and (c) the charge takes priority over any other charge over the assets: s 179(6), Sch 30 para 1 (s 179(6) amended by the 2006 Act Sch 23 para 11). For the meaning of 'market value' see PARA 873B.3 NOTE 4; and for the meaning of 'loan' see NOTE 10.

'Loan repayment date' means the date by which the total amount owing (including interest) must be paid, and a 'standard loan repayment date' is a loan repayment date before the end of the period of five years beginning with the date on which the loan is made: 2004 Act Sch 30 para 2. 'Loan year' means the period of 12 months beginning with the date on which the loan is made, and each succeeding period of 12 months, but in the period of 12 months in which the loan repayment date falls, the loan year ends on that date (and that loan year is the last loan year): Sch 30 para 3. The 'required amount', in relation to a period beginning with the date on which the loan is made and ending with the last day of a loan year is: where L is the amount of the loan, TIP is the interest payable on the loan, TLY is the total number of loan years, and NLY is the number of loan years in the period: Sch 30 para 4. As to the unauthorised payment which arises when an employer loan does not meet the conditions set out above see PARA 873B.10.

15 A 'scheme administration employer payment' is a payment made (1) by a registered pension scheme that is an occupational pension scheme, and (2) to or in respect of a person who is or has been a sponsoring employer, for the purposes of the administration or management of the scheme; including, in particular, the payment of wages, salaries or fees to persons engaged in administering the scheme and payments made for the purchase of assets to be held for the purposes of the scheme: ibid s 180(1), (4) (amended by the 2006 Act Sch 23 para 12). However, if such a payment exceeds the amount which might be expected to be paid to a person who was at arm's length, the excess is not a scheme administration employer payment: 2004 Act s 180(2). A loan to or in respect of a person who is or has been a sponsoring employer is not a scheme administration employer payment; and payments made to acquire shares in a sponsoring employer are not scheme administration employer payments if, when the payment is made: (a) the market value of shares in the sponsoring employer held for the purposes of the scheme is equal to or greater than 5 per cent of the aggregate of the amount of the sums, and the market value of the assets, held for the purposes of the scheme, or (b) the total market value of shares in sponsoring employers held for the purposes of the pension scheme is equal to or greater than 20 per cent of that aggregate: s 180(4), (5) (s 180(4) amended by the 2006 Act Sch 23 para 12). Regulations made by the Board may provide that payments of a description therein specified are, or are not, scheme administration employer payments: 2004 Act s 180(6). As to the making of such regulations see PARA 873B.1 NOTE 2.

5. Authorised member payments by registered pension schemes: the pension rules

The pension rules are that:

- 2169 (1) no payment of pension<sup>1</sup> may be made before the day on which the member<sup>2</sup> reaches normal minimum pension age<sup>3</sup>, unless the ill-health condition<sup>4</sup> was met immediately before he became entitled to a pension under the scheme<sup>5</sup>;
- 2170 (2) if the member dies before the end of the period of ten years beginning with the day on which he became entitled to a scheme pension<sup>6</sup> or an annuity, payment of that pension or annuity may be made (to any person) until the end of that period, but no other payment of the member's pension may be made after his death<sup>7</sup>;

2171 (3) no payment of pension other than a scheme pension may be made in respect of a defined benefits arrangement<sup>8</sup>;

2172 (4) if the member has not reached the age of 75, no payment of pension other than a scheme pension, a lifetime annuity or unsecured pension, may be made in respect of a money purchase arrangement, but a scheme pension may only be paid if the member had an opportunity to select a lifetime annuity instead<sup>9</sup>;

2174 (6) if the member has reached the age of 75, no payment of pension other than a scheme pension, a lifetime annuity or alternatively secured pension, may be made in respect of a money purchase arrangement, and a scheme pension may only be paid if the member had an opportunity to select a lifetime annuity instead<sup>13</sup>;

1 For the meaning of 'pension' see PARA 873B.4 NOTE 4.

2 For the meaning of 'member' see PARA 873B.4 NOTE 3.

3 'Normal minimum pension age' means (1) before 6 April 2010, 50; and (2) on and after that date, 55: Finance Act 2004 s 279(1).

4 The ill-health condition is met if (1) the scheme administrator has received evidence from a registered medical practitioner that the member is (and will continue to be) incapable of carrying on the member's occupation because of physical or mental impairment; and (2) the member has in fact so ceased: ibid s 165(4), Sch 28 para 1. For the meaning of 'scheme administrator' see PARA 2 NOTE 4.

5 Ibid s 165(1). A person becomes entitled to a pension under a registered pension scheme (1) in the case of income withdrawal under the scheme, whenever sums or assets held for the purposes of an arrangement under the scheme are designated as available for the payment of unsecured pension; and (2) in any other case, when the person first acquires an actual (rather than a prospective) right to receive the pension; and for this purpose, the abatement of a scheme pension under a public service pension scheme (see PARA 873B.2 NOTE 8) is not taken to affect the right to receive it: s 165(3) (amended by the Finance Act 2005 Sch 10 para 7). For the meaning of 'pension scheme' see PARA 873B.1. As to registration see PARA 873B.2. For the meaning of 'income withdrawal' see PARA 873B.4 NOTE 4; and for the meaning of 'abatement', see PARA 873B.16 NOTE 7. 'Arrangement', in relation to a member of a pension scheme, means an arrangement relating to the member under the scheme: 2004 Act s 152(1). See also NOTE 7. 'Unsecured pension' means a short-term annuity or income withdrawal; and an annuity purchased by a member is a 'short-term annuity' if (a) it is purchased by the application of sums or assets representing the whole or any part of the member's unsecured pension fund in respect of an arrangement; (b) it is payable by an insurance company; (c) the member had an opportunity to select the insurance company; (d) it is payable for a term which does not exceed five years and ends before the member reaches the age of 75; and (e) its amount either cannot decrease or falls to be determined in any manner prescribed by regulations made by the Board of Inland Revenue: Sch 28 paras 4, 6 (Sch 28 para 6 amended by the 2005 Act Sch 10 para 14). See the Registered Pension Schemes (Transfer of Sums and Assets) Regulations 2006, SI 2006/499 (see PARA 873B.4); and the Registered Pension Schemes (Prescribed Manner of Determining Amount of Annuities) Regulations 2006, SI 2006/568.

An annuity does not fail to satisfy head (e) by reason of the operation of a pension sharing order or provisions: 2004 Act Sch 28 para 6(1A) (added by the 2005 Act Sch 10 para 14). For the meaning of 'insurance company' see PARA 873B.2 NOTE 8. The member's unsecured pension fund in respect of an arrangement consists of such of the sums or assets held for the purposes of the arrangement as are member-designated funds, as have at any time been designated under the arrangements as available for the payment of unsecured pension, and have not been applied for purchasing a scheme pension, a lifetime annuity or a short-term annuity or paid as income withdrawal: 2004 Act Sch 28 para 8(1) (amended by the 2005 Act Sch 10 para 18). 'Member-designated funds' are sums or assets held for the purposes of an arrangement which have been designated at any time under the arrangement as available for the payment of unsecured pension; or which arise, or (directly or indirectly) are derived, from sums or assets which have been so designated or which so arise or are so derived, and (in each case) have not been applied towards the provision of a scheme pension: 2004 Act Sch 28 para 8(1A) (added by the 2005 Act Sch 10 para 18).

When the member reaches the age of 75, any relevant uncrystallised funds are treated as having been designated under the arrangement as available for the payment of unsecured pension immediately before the member reached that age: 2004 Act Sch 28 para 8(2). 'Relevant uncrystallised funds' means (i) if the arrangement is a cash balance arrangement, a sum equal to what would, on the valuation assumption in s 277(a) (see PARA 873B.11), be available for the provision of benefits to or in respect of the member if he became entitled to them on reaching the age of 75, and (ii) if it is not, such of the sums and assets held for the purposes of the arrangement as are not member-designated funds and have not been applied towards the provision of a scheme pension or a dependants' scheme pension: Sch 28 para 8(3) (amended by the 2005 Act Sch 10 para 18). For the meaning of 'scheme pension' see NOTE 6; and for the meaning of 'dependants' scheme pension' see PARA 873B.6 NOTE 4. As to cash balance arrangements, see NOTE 7.

If any sums or assets representing the member's unsecured pension fund in respect of an arrangement under the pension scheme would (apart from this provision) come to be taken to represent another unsecured pension fund of his under the pension scheme, or a dependant's unsecured pension fund of his under that scheme, they are treated as not doing so: 2004 Act Sch 28 para 8(4) (added by 2005 Act Sch 10 para 18).

The sums and assets held for the purposes of an arrangement under a pension scheme are so much of the sums and assets held for the purposes of the scheme under which the arrangement is made as are properly attributable, in accordance with the provisions of the pension scheme and any just and reasonable apportionment, to the arrangement: 2004 Act s 279(3).

Regulations may be made in relation to short-term annuities under powers similar to those conferred in relation to lifetime annuities (see NOTE 7): Sch 28 para 6(1B)-(1D) (added by the 2005 Act Sch 10 para 14). See SI 2006/499 above.

6 A pension payable to a member is a scheme pension if it is payable by the scheme administrator or by an insurance company selected by the scheme administrator, and (1) the pension is payable (at least annually) until the member's death or until the later of his death and the end of a term certain not exceeding ten years, and (2) the rate of pension payable at any time during any relevant 12-month period is not less than the rate payable at the relevant time: 2004 Act Sch 28 para 2(2), (3) (amended by the 2005 Act Sch 10 para 11). The 'relevant time' is, in the case of the first relevant 12-month period, the day on which the member becomes entitled to the pension, and in the case of any other relevant 12-month period, immediately before the beginning of that period: 2004 Act Sch 28 para 2(3A) (added by the 2005 Act Sch 10 para 11). None of the following prevents heads (1) and (2) from being satisfied: (a) the reduction of the pension if the member became entitled to it by reason of the ill-health condition being met; (b) a reduction in the rate of the pension which applies to all the scheme pensions being paid to or in respect of members of the scheme; (c) a reduction in the rate of the pension, taking effect at a time not earlier than when the member reaches the age of 60 and not later than when he reaches the age of 65, which does not exceed the relevant state retirement pension rate at that time (or the pension ceasing to be payable at such a time if at that time that rate is greater than the rate of the pension); (d) the reduction of the pension in consequence of a pension sharing order or provision; (e) forfeiture of entitlement to the pension in circumstances prescribed by regulations made by the Board of Inland Revenue; (f) the reduction of the pension in consequence of an order of a court; (g) if the pension is under a public service pension scheme, its reduction by abatement; or (h) the reduction of the pension in any other circumstances prescribed by regulations made by the Board of Inland Revenue: 2004 Act Sch 28 para 2(4) (amended by the 2005 Act Sch 10 para 11; and the Finance Act 2006 Sch 23 para 20(3)). A pension is reduced for this purpose if it ceases to be payable (whether temporarily or permanently): 2004 Act Sch 28 para 2(4A) (added by the 2005 Act Sch 10 para 11). For the meaning of 'pension sharing order or provision', see PARA 873B.4 NOTE 7; and for the meaning of 'public service pension scheme', see PARA 873B.2 NOTE 8. Regulations under heads (e) and (h) or Sch 28 para 2(5) may include provision having effect in relation to times before they are made: 2004 Act Sch 28 para 2(8) (added by the 2005 Act Sch 10 para 11; the Finance Act 2006 Sch 23 para 20(3); and the Finance Act 2007 Sch 20 para 7). As to the making of such regulations, see INCOME TAXATION. See the Pension Schemes (Reduction in Pension Rates) Regulations 2006, SI 2006/138 (amended by SI 2009/1311); the Registered Pension Schemes (Authorised Reductions) Regulations 2006, SI 2006/1465; and the Registered Pension Schemes (Bridging Pensions) Regulations 2007, SI 2007/826.

A pension is payable until the end of a term certain even if it may, after the death of the member during the term, end on the pensioner marrying, entering into a civil partnership, reaching the age of 18, or ceasing to be in full-time education; and a 'relevant 12-month period' is any 12-month period which begins on or after the first anniversary of the day on which the member becomes entitled to the pension, and ends before the day on which the pension ceases to be payable: 2004 Act Sch 28 para 2(6), (7) (amended by SI 2007/493). The 'relevant state retirement pension rate' at any time (i) where no employment of the member to which the pension scheme relates is or has been other than contracted-out employment by reference to the scheme, is 125% of the rate of the basic pension at that; (ii) where no such employment of the member is or has been contracted-out employment by reference to the pension scheme, is 250% of the rate of the basic pension at that time; and (iii) otherwise, is such percentage of the rate of the basic pension at that time falling between the percentages for the time being specified under or by virtue of head (i) or (ii) as the Treasury may by regulations prescribe: 2004 Act Sch 28 para 2(5) (Sch 28 para 2(5), (5A) substituted by 2006 Act Sch 23 para 20(3)). 'Contracted-out employment' has the meaning given by the Pension Schemes Act 1993 s 8(1); and 'basic pension' means the basic pension specified in the Social Security Contributions and Benefits Act 1992 s 44: 2004 Act Sch 28 para 2(5A). The Treasury may by regulations increase the percentage referred to in head (i) or (ii): Sch 28 para 2(5). For the meaning of 'scheme administrator' see PARA 873B.2 NOTE 4. For the meaning of 'pension scheme' see PARA 873B.1.

The Board of Inland Revenue may by regulations provide that if a scheme pension payable by an insurance company selected by the scheme administrator of a registered pension scheme ('the original scheme pension') ceases to be payable, and in consequence of the transfer of sums or assets (or both) from the insurance company to another insurance company in connection with the original scheme pension ceasing to be payable, another scheme pension becomes payable by the other insurance company ('the new scheme pension'), the new scheme pension is treated, to such extent as is prescribed by the regulations and for such of the purposes of Pt 4 (ss 149-284) (see PARA 873B.1 et seq, PARA 873B.6 et seq) as are so prescribed, as if it were the original scheme pension: Sch 28 para 2(6A) (added by 2005 Act Sch 10 para, 11). See the Registered Pension Schemes (Transfer of Sums and Assets) Regulations 2006 SI 2006/499.

If a pension falls outside head (1), or outside head (2) because a substantial reduction occurs in the rate of the pension, or if it is a pension which is reduced in accordance with the 2004 Act Sch 28 para 2(4)(a) or the rate of which is reduced in accordance with Sch 28 para 2(4)(b) and the reduction is part of avoidance arrangements, the pension scheme is treated as making an unauthorised payment to the member of the appropriate amount: Sch 28 para 2A(1), (2) (Sch 28 para 2A added by 2005 Act Sch 10 para 12; and amended by 2007 Act Sch 20 para 7). For this purpose, a substantial reduction occurs in the rate of a pension if the rate at which the pension is payable at any time during any relevant 12-month period is less than 80 per cent of the rate payable when the member became entitled to the pension; and 'avoidance arrangements' includes schemes, arrangements and understandings of any kind (whether or not legally enforceable) the main purpose, or one of the main purposes, of which is to increase the member's entitlement to a lump sum on which there is no liability to income tax: 2004 Act Sch 28 para 2A(3), (4). The 'appropriate amount', in relation to the pension, is the amount of any lump sum on which there is no liability to tax to which the member became entitled in connection with the pension: Sch 28 para 2A(5). Once Sch 28 para 2A has applied in relation to the pension, it does not apply in relation to it again; but such application does not prevent any payments of the pension themselves being unauthorised member payments: Sch 28 para 2A(6), (7). As to unauthorised payments, see PARA 873B.9.

8 2004 Act s 165(1). For the meaning of 'defined benefits arrangement' see NOTE 7.

9 Ibid s 165(1). See also NOTE 6.

10 'Unsecured pension year' means the period of 12 months beginning with the day on which the member first becomes entitled to unsecured pension in respect of the arrangement, and each succeeding period of 12 months; but when the member reaches the age of 75, or dies before reaching that age, the current unsecured pension year is the last unsecured pension year and ends immediately before the member's death or seventy-fifth birthday: ibid Sch 28 para 9.

11 The period of five unsecured pension years beginning with the first such year, and each succeeding period of five unsecured pension years, is a 'reference period'. However, if at any time during a reference period (the 'current reference period') the member notifies the scheme administrator that the member wishes a new reference period to begin on the next day that is an anniversary of the reference date in relation to the current reference period, the scheme administrator may determine that the current reference period is to end immediately before that day and that (subject to any further operation of this provision) the period of five unsecured pension years beginning with that day, and each succeeding period of five unsecured pension years, is to be a reference period. In each case, and the first day of each reference period is, in relation to that period, 'the reference date': ibid Sch 28 para 10(1), (1A)-(1C) (Sch 28 para 10(1) amended, Sch 28 para 10(1A)-(1C) added, by 2007 Act Sch 20 para 8(2)). For the first unsecured pension year falling within a reference period, the basis amount is the annual amount of the relevant annuity which could have been purchased by the application of the sums and assets representing the member's unsecured fund on the nominated date: 2004 Act Sch 28 para 10(2). In relation to the first reference period, the nominated date is the reference date, and in relation to any subsequent reference period, it is such day, within the period of 60 days ending with the reference date as is nominated by the scheme administrator (or, if no day is so nominated, the reference date): Sch 28 para 10(3). For each other unsecured pension year falling within a reference period, the basis amount is the annual amount of the relevant annuity which could have been purchased by the application of the sums and assets representing the member's unsecured pension fund (1) if there has been no recent annuity purchase, recent additional fund designation or recent pension sharing event, on the nominated date, and (2) otherwise immediately after the last annuity purchase, additional fund designation or pension sharing event: Sch 28 para 10(4) (amended by 2005 Act Sch 10 para 19). On the occasion of each additional fund designation during an unsecured pension year, the basis amount for that year is the annual amount of the relevant annuity which could have been purchased by the application of the sums and assets representing the member's unsecured pension fund immediately after the additional fund designation: 2004 Act Sch 28 para 10(5), (6). 'Annuity purchase' means the purchase of a scheme pension or a lifetime annuity by the application of sums or assets representing the whole or part of the member's unsecured pension fund; 'the additional fund designation' is the designation under the arrangement of further sums or assets held for the purposes of the arrangement as available for the payment of an unsecured pension; and 'pension fund sharing event' means the coming into operation of a pension sharing order or provision relating to the sums and assets representing the member's unsecured pension fund: Sch 28 paras 10(7), (8), (8A), 24(8A) (Sch 28 paras 10(8A), 24(8A) added by 2005 Act Sch 10 para 19). In each case, it is 'recent' if it took place within the period beginning with the reference date and ending with the last day of the immediately preceding unsecured pension year: 2004 Act Sch 28 paras 10(9), 24(9) (amended by 2005 Act Sch 10 para 19).

A 'relevant annuity' is an annuity of a description prescribed by regulations made by the Board of Inland Revenue; and the annual amount of such an annuity is to be ascertained in accordance with such regulations: 2004 Act Sch 28 para 14(1), (2). Such regulations may in particular provide for the annual amount to be ascertained by reference to comparative annuity tables published by the Financial Services Authority, or to material published by any other person: Sch 28 para 14(3). As to the Board of Inland Revenue see PARA 873B.2 NOTE 1. As to the making of such regulations see PARA 873B.1 NOTE 2. See the Registered Pension Schemes (Relevant Annuities) Regulations 2006, SI 2006/129.

13 Ibid s 165(1). 'Alternatively secured pension' means income withdrawal; and a member's alternatively secured pension fund in respect of an arrangement consists of such of the sums and assets held for the purposes of the arrangement as (1)(a)(i) were part of his unsecured pension fund in respect of the arrangement when the member reached the age of 75, or (ii) arise, or are directly or indirectly derived from sums or assets within head (i) or which so arise or are so derived; (b)(i) became held for the purposes of the arrangement after the member had attained the age of 75 or arise, or are directly or indirectly derived, from sums or assets which became so held or which so arise or are so derived, or (ii) if the arrangement is a relevant arrangement, have at any time since the member reached that age been designated as available for the payment of alternatively secured pension to him or arise or are directly or indirectly derived from sums or assets which have been so designated or which so arise or are so derived; and (2) have not been subsequently applied towards the provision of a scheme pension: ibid Sch 28 paras 5, 11(1)-(3) (amended by 2005 Act Sch 10 para 20). A 'relevant arrangement' is an arrangement which became a money purchase arrangement after the member reached the age of 75 (having previously been a hybrid arrangement under which, in certain circumstances, defined benefits were payable): 2004 Act Sch 28 para 11(4). If any sums or assets representing the member's alternatively secured pension fund in respect of an arrangement under the pension scheme would (apart from this provision) come to be taken to represent another alternatively secured pension fund of his under the pension scheme, or a dependant's alternatively secured pension fund of his under the pension scheme, they are treated as not doing so: Sch 28 para 11(5) (added by 2005 Act Sch 10 para 20).

An arrangement is a 'money purchase arrangement' at any time if, at that time, all the benefits that may be provided to or in respect of the member under the arrangement are cash balance benefits or other money purchase benefits; it is a 'cash balance arrangement' at any time if, at that time, all the benefits that may be so provided are cash benefits; it is a 'defined benefits arrangement' at any time if, at that time, all the benefits that may be so provided are defined benefits; and it is a hybrid arrangement at any time if, at that time, all of the benefits that may be so provided are (depending on the circumstances) to be of one of any two or three of the following varieties: (a) cash balance benefits, (b) other money purchase benefits, and (c) defined benefits: s 152(2), (3), (6), (8). Where not all of the benefits that may be so provided are of the same one of those varieties of benefit, the arrangement is treated as being two or three separate arrangements, one of which relates to each of the two or three varieties of benefit that may be so provided: s 152(9). 'Money purchase benefits' means benefits the rate or amount of which is calculated by reference to an amount available for the provision of benefits to or in respect of the member (whether the amount so available is calculated by reference to payments made under the scheme by the member or any other person in respect of the member, or any other factor): s 152(4). 'Cash balance benefits' means benefits the rate or amount of which is calculated by reference to an amount available for the provision of benefits to or in respect of the member calculated otherwise than wholly by reference to payments made under the arrangement by the member or by any other person in respect of the member (or transfers or other credits): s 152(5). 'Defined benefits' means benefits which are not money purchase benefits, but which are calculated by reference to earnings or service of the member or any other factor other than an amount available for their provision: s 152(7). An annuity payable to the member is a lifetime annuity if (i) it is payable by an insurance company; (ii) the member had an opportunity to select the insurance company; (iii) it is payable until the member's death or until the later of the member's death and the end of a term certain not exceeding ten years; and (iv) its amount either cannot decrease or falls to be determined in any manner prescribed by regulations made by the Board of Inland Revenue: Sch 28 para 3(1) (amended by the 2005 Act Sch 10 para 13). An annuity is payable until the end of a term certain even if it may, after the death of the member during the term, end on the annuitant's marrying, entering into a civil partnership, reaching the age of 18 or ceasing to be in full-time education: 2004 Act Sch 28 para 3(2) (amended by SI 2007/493). See also NOTE 5. References to payments made, or benefits provided, by a pension scheme are to payments made or benefits provided from sums or assets held for the purposes of the scheme: s 279(2). For the meaning of 'payment' see PARA 873B.4 NOTE 1. An annuity does not fall outside head (iv) by reason of the operation of a pension sharing order or provision: Sch 28 para 3(2A) (added by 2005 Act Sch 10 para 13).

If at the time when the member reaches the age of 75, the scheme administrator has been unable to ascertain the member's whereabouts after having taken all reasonable steps to do so, and the 2004 Act Sch 28 para 8(2) applies in relation to the member and the arrangements, and none of the sums or assets held for the purposes of the arrangement are member-designated funds immediately before it applies, then the references in Sch 28 para 11(2), (3) to the time when the member reached the age of 75 are to be read as referring to the end of the period of six months beginning with any later date on which the member's whereabouts are subsequently ascertained by the scheme administrator: Sch 18 para 11(6), (7) (added by Finance Act 2007 Sch 19 para 11).

The Board of Inland Revenue may by regulations make provision in relation to cases in which a lifetime annuity payable by an insurance company ('the original lifetime annuity') ceases to be payable and in consequence of that (A) sums or assets (or both) are transferred from the insurance company to another insurance company and are applied towards the provision of either another lifetime annuity (a 'new lifetime annuity') or a scheme pension, short-term annuity dependants' scheme pension, dependants' annuity or dependants' short-term annuity by the other insurance company; or (B) sums or assets are transferred to the relevant registered pension scheme: 2004 Act Sch 28 para 3(2B) (Sch 28 para 2(2B)-(2D) added by 2005 Act Sch 10 para 13). Such regulations may provide that in a case where a new lifetime annuity becomes payable, that annuity is to be treated, to such extent as is prescribed by the regulations and for such of the purposes of the 2004 Act Pt 4 (ss 149-284) (see PARA 873B.1 et seq; PARA 873B.6 et seq) as are so prescribed, as if it were the original lifetime annuity; and in any other case, the relevant registered pension scheme is to be treated as making an unauthorised payment to the member of an amount equal to the aggregate of the amount of the sums, and the market value of the assets transferred: Sch 28 para 3(2C). A registered pension scheme is the relevant registered pension scheme for this purpose if the original lifetime annuity was acquired using sums or assets held for the purposes of that scheme: 2004 Act Sch 28 para 3(2D). For the meaning of 'market value' see PARA 873B.3 NOTE 4. See SI 2006/499; SI 2006/568; and NOTE 5.

14 'Alternatively secured pension year' means the period of 12 months beginning with the day on which the member first becomes entitled to alternatively secured pension in respect of the arrangement, and each succeeding period of 12 months; but when the member dies, the current alternatively secured pension year is the last alternatively secured pension year and ends immediately before the member's death: 2004 Act Sch 28 para 12(1), (2).

15 For the first alternatively secured pension year, the basis amount is the annual amount of the relevant annuity which could have been purchased by the application of the sums and assets representing the member's alternatively secured pension fund on the date on which the member first became entitled to alternatively secured pension in respect of the arrangement: ibid Sch 28 para 13(1). For each other alternatively secured pension year, the basis amount is the annual amount of the relevant annuity which could have been purchased by the application of the sums and assets representing the member's alternatively secured pension fund on the nominated date, ie such day within the period of 60 days ending with the first day of the alternatively secured pension year as is nominated by the scheme administrator (or, if no date is so nominated, the first day of that year): Sch 28 para 13(2), (3).

6. Authorised member payments by registered pension schemes: the pension death benefit rules

The pension death benefit<sup>1</sup> rules are that:

- 2176 (1) no payment of pension death benefit may be made otherwise than to a dependant<sup>2</sup> of the member<sup>3</sup>;
- 2177 (2) no payment of pension death benefit other than a dependants' scheme pension<sup>4</sup> may be made in respect of a defined benefits arrangement<sup>5</sup>;
- 2178 (3) if a dependant has not reached the age of 75, no payment of pension death benefit to the dependant other than a dependants' scheme pension, a dependants' annuity<sup>6</sup>, or a dependants' unsecured pension<sup>7</sup> may be made to the dependant in respect of a money purchase arrangement, but a dependants' scheme pension may only be paid if the member of dependant had an opportunity to select a dependants' annuity instead<sup>8</sup>;
- 2179 (4) the total amount of a dependants' unsecured pension paid to a dependant in each unsecured pension year<sup>9</sup> in respect of a money purchase arrangement must not exceed 120 per cent of the basis amount<sup>10</sup> for the unsecured pension year<sup>11</sup>;
- 2180 (5) if a dependant has reached the age of 75, no payment of pension other than a dependants' scheme pension, a dependants' annuity or dependants' alternatively secured pension<sup>12</sup> may be made to the dependant in respect of a money purchase arrangement, but a dependants' scheme pension may only be paid if the member or dependant had an opportunity to select a dependants' annuity instead<sup>13</sup>;

- 2181 (6) the total amount of dependants' alternatively secured pension paid to a dependant in each alternatively secured pension year<sup>14</sup> in respect of a money purchase arrangement must not exceed 90 per cent of the basis amount<sup>15</sup> for that year<sup>16</sup>.

Where

- 2182 (a) the member dies before 6 April 2006;
 2183 (b) he has reached the age of 75; and 2184 (c) at the time of his death he is actually or prospectively entitled to one or more scheme pensions<sup>17</sup> under the pension scheme, then

257. (i) where a pension is payable under the scheme to a dependant of the member in the period of 12 months beginning with the date of the member's death ('the-death year'), so much of the pension as exceeds the initial member pension limit<sup>18</sup> is not a dependants' scheme pension<sup>19</sup>;
 258. (ii) where a pension is payable under the scheme to a dependant of the member, otherwise than in excepted circumstances<sup>20</sup>, in the period of 12 months beginning with the end of the-death year or in any succeeding period of 12 months ('the 12 months in question'), so much of the pension as exceeds the current member pension limit<sup>21</sup> is not a dependants' scheme pension<sup>22</sup>.

1 'Pension death benefit' means a pension payable on the death of the member (other than a member's pension payable after his death under PARA 873B.5 head (2)): Finance Act 2004 s 167(2) (amended by the Finance Act 2007 Sch 20 para 22). For the meaning of 'pension' see PARA 873B.4 NOTE 4.

2 A 'dependant' of a member is (1) a person who was married to, or was a civil partner of, the member at the date of the member's death; (2) a child of the member who has not reached the age of 23, or an older child of the member who, in the opinion of the scheme administrator, was at the date of the member's death dependent on him because of physical or mental impairment; or (3) a person not falling within head (1) or (2) but who, at the date of the member's death, in the opinion of the scheme administrator (a) is financially dependent on the member, (b) has a financial relationship with the member which is one of mutual dependence, or (c) was dependent on the member because of physical or mental impairment: 2004 Act s 167(3), Sch 28 para 15 (amended by SI 2005/3229). If the rules of the scheme so provide, a person who was married to, or was a civil partner of, the member when he first became entitled to a pension under the scheme is a dependant of that member: 2004 Act Sch 28 para 15(1A) (added by the Finance Act 2005 Sch 10 para 26; and amended by SI 2005/3229). For the meaning of 'scheme administrator' see PARA 873B.2 NOTE 4.

3 2004 Act s 167(1). For the meaning of 'member' see PARA 873B.4 NOTE 3.

4 A pension payable to a dependant is a dependants' scheme pension if it is payable by the scheme administrator or an insurance company selected by the scheme administrator: ibid Sch 28 para 16(2) (amended by 2005 Act Sch 10 para 27). The Board of Inland Revenue may by regulations make provision in relation to cases in which a dependants' scheme pension payable to a dependant of a member of a registered pension scheme by an insurance company ('the original dependants' scheme pension') ceases to be payable and, in consequence, sums or assets (or both) are transferred from the insurance company to another insurance company and are applied towards the provision of either another dependants' scheme pension (a 'new dependants' scheme pension') or a scheme pension, lifetime annuity, short-term annuity, dependants' annuity or dependants' short-term annuity by the other insurance company; or sums or assets are transferred to the relevant registered pension scheme: 2004 Act Sch 28 para 16(2A) (Sch 28 para 16(2A)-(2C) added by 2005 Act Sch 10 para 27). Such regulations may provide that in a case where a new dependants' scheme pension becomes payable, that pension is to be treated, to such extent as is prescribed by the regulations and for such of the purposes of the 2004 Act Pt 4 (ss 149-284) (see PARA 873B.1 et seq, PARA 873B.7 et seq) as are so prescribed as it were the original dependants' scheme pension; and in any other case, the relevant registered pension scheme is to be treated as making an unauthorised payment in respect of the member of an amount equal to the aggregate of the amount of the sums and the market value of the assets transferred: Sch 28 para 16(2B). A registered pension scheme is the relevant registered pension scheme for this purpose if the original dependants' scheme pension was acquired using sums or assets held for the purposes of that scheme: Sch 28 para 16(2C).

For the meaning of 'state retirement pension' see PARA 873B.5 NOTE 6; for the meaning of 'pension scheme' see PARA 873B.1; and for the meaning of 'insurance company' see PARA 873B.2 NOTE 8.

5 Ibid s 167(1). For the meaning of 'defined benefits arrangement' see PARA 873B.5 NOTE 13.

6 An annuity payable to a dependant is a dependants' annuity if (1) it is payable by an insurance company; (2) the member or dependant had an opportunity to select the insurance company; (3) its amount either cannot decrease or falls to be determined in any manner prescribed by regulations made by the Board of Inland Revenue; (4) where the dependant is not the member's child, it is payable until the earlier of the dependant's death or until the earlier of the dependant's marrying or dying; (5) where the dependant is the member's child, it is payable until the earlier of the dependant's ceasing to be a dependant or dying, or until the earliest of the dependant's marrying, entering into a civil partnership, ceasing to be a dependant, or dying; and (6) it is purchased either together with a lifetime annuity payable to the member or after the member's death: ibid Sch 28 para 17(1) (amended by 2005 Act Sch 10 para 15, 29; and SI 2007/493). A dependants' annuity is for the purpose purchased together with a lifetime annuity if the dependant's annuity is related to the lifetime annuity: 2004 Act Sch 28 para 17(1A) (added by the 2005 Act Sch 10 para 29). An annuity does not fail to satisfy head (3) by reason of the operation of a pension sharing order or provision: 2004 Act Sch 28 para 17(1A) (added by 2005 Act Sch 10 para 15). For the meaning of 'pension sharing order or provision' see PARA 873B.4 NOTE 7. The Board of Inland Revenue may by regulations make provision in relation to cases in which a dependants' annuity payable to a person ('the original dependants' annuity') ceases to be payable and in consequence of that (a) sums or assets (or both) are transferred from the insurance company to another insurance company and are applied towards the provision of either another dependants' annuity (a 'new dependants' annuity') or a scheme pension, lifetime annuity, short-term annuity, dependants' scheme pension, or dependants' short-term annuity by the other insurance company; or (b) sums or assets are transferred to the relevant registered pension scheme: 2004 Act Sch 28 para 17(3) (Sch 28 para 17(3)-(5) added by 2005 Act Sch 10 para 15). Such regulations may provide that (i) in a case where a new dependants' annuity becomes payable, that annuity is to be treated, to such extent as is prescribed by the regulations and for such of the purposes of the 2004 Act Pt 4 as are so prescribed, as if it were the original dependants' annuity; and (ii) in any other case, the relevant registered pension scheme is to be treated as making an unauthorised payment to the member of an amount equal to the aggregate of the amount of the sums, and the market value of the assets transferred: Sch 28 para 17(4). A registered pension scheme is the relevant registered pension scheme for this purpose if the original dependants' annuity was acquired using sums or assets held for the purposes of that scheme: 2004 Act Sch 28 para 17(5). For the meaning of 'market value', see PARA 873B.3 NOTE 4. See the Registered Pension Schemes (Transfer of Sums and Assets) Regulations 2006, SI 2006/499 (see PARA 873B.4); and the Registered Pension Schemes (Prescribed Manner of Determining Amount of Annuities) Regulations 2006, SI 2006/568 (see PARA 873B.5).

7 'Dependants' unsecured pension' means a dependants' short-term annuity or a dependants' income withdrawal: 2004 Act Sch 28 para 18. An annuity payable to a dependant is a dependants' short-term annuity if (1) it is purchased by the application of sums or assets representing the whole or any part of the dependant's unsecured pension fund in respect of an arrangement; (2) it is payable by an insurance company; (3) the dependant had an opportunity to select the insurance company; (4) it is payable for a term which does not exceed five years and ends before the dependant reaches the age of 75 or dies; and (5) its amount either cannot decrease or falls to be determined in any manner prescribed by regulations made by the Board of Inland Revenue: Sch 28 para 20(1) (amended by the 2005 Act Sch 10 para 16). An annuity does not fail to satisfy head (5) by reason of the operation of a pension sharing order or provision: 2004 Act Sch 28 para 20(1A) (added by 2005 Act Sch 10 para 16). Such regulations may be made in accordance with powers similar to those relating to dependants' annuities (see NOTE 6): Sch 28 para 20(1B)-(1D) (added by 2005 Act Sch 10 para 16). See SI 2006/499; and NOTE 6. 'Dependants' income withdrawal' means (a) if the dependant has not reached the age of 75, an amount (other than an annuity) which the dependant is entitled to be paid from the dependant's unsecured pension fund in respect of an arrangement; and (b) if the dependant has reached the age of 75, an amount which he is entitled to be paid from the dependant's alternatively secured pension fund (see NOTE 12) in respect of an arrangement: 2004 Act Sch 28 para 21. A dependant's unsecured pension fund in respect of an arrangement consists of such of the sums and assets held for the purposes of the arrangement (i) as are dependant-designated funds and (ii) have not been applied towards the provision of a dependants' scheme pension: Sch 28 para 22(1) (amended by 2005 Act Sch 10 para 21). For the meaning of 'arrangement' see PARA 873B.5 NOTE 5; and for the meaning of 'held for the purposes of an arrangement' see PARA 873B.5 NOTE 5. Sums or assets held for the purposes of an arrangement are dependant-designated funds if they have been designated at any time under the arrangement as available for the payment of dependant's unsecured pensions to the dependant; or arise or are directly or indirectly derived from sums or assets which have been so designated or which so arise or are so derived: 2004 Act Sch 28 para (2) (Sch 28 para 22(2), (3) added by 2005 Act Sch 10 para 21). If any sums or assets representing a dependant's unsecured pension fund in respect of an arrangement under the pension scheme would (apart from this provision) come to be taken to represent another dependant's unsecured pension fund of his under the scheme, or an unsecured pension fund of his under the scheme, or are applied towards the provision of a scheme pension or a lifetime annuity, they are treated as not doing so: Sch 28 para 22(3).

8 Ibid s 167(1). For the meaning of 'money purchase arrangement' see PARA 873B.5 NOTE 13.

9 'Unsecured pension year' means the period of 12 months beginning with the day on which the dependant becomes entitled to dependants' unsecured pension in respect of the arrangement, and each succeeding period of 12 months: ibid Sch 28 para 23(1). However, when the dependant reaches the age of 75 or dies before reaching that age, the current unsecured pension year is the last unsecured pension year and ends immediately before the dependant's death or seventy-fifth birthday: Sch 28 para 23(2).

10 The period of five unsecured pension years beginning with the first such year, and each succeeding period of five unsecured pension years, is a 'reference period'. However, if at any time during a reference period (the 'current reference period'), the dependant notifies the scheme administrator that the dependant wishes a new reference period to begin on the next day that is an anniversary of the reference date in relation to the current reference period, the scheme administrator may determine that the current reference period is to end immediately before that date and that (subject to any further operation of this provision) the period of five unsecured pension years beginning with that day, and each succeeding period of five unsecured pension years, is to be a reference period. In each case, the first day of each reference period is, in relation to that period, 'the reference date': ibid Sch 28 para 24(1), (1A)-(1C) (Sch 28 para 24(1) amended, Sch 28 para 24(1A)-(1C) added, by 2007 Act Sch 20 para 8(3)). For the first unsecured pension year falling within a reference period, the basis amount is the annual amount of the relevant annuity which could have been purchased by the application of the sums and assets representing the dependant's unsecured fund on the nominated date: 2004 Act Sch 28 para 24(2). In relation to the first reference period, the nominated date is the reference date, and in relation to any subsequent reference period, it is such day, within the period of 60 days ending with the reference date as is nominated by the scheme administrator (or, if no day is so nominated, the reference date): Sch 28 para 24(3). For each other unsecured pension year falling within a reference period, the basis amount is the annual amount of the relevant annuity which could have been purchased by the application of the sums and assets representing the dependant's unsecured pension fund (1) if there has been no recent annuity purchase, recent additional fund designation or recent pension sharing event, on the nominated date, and (2) otherwise immediately after the last annuity purchase, additional fund designation or pension sharing event: Sch 28 para 24(4) (amended by the 2005 Act Sch 10 para 22). On the occasion of each additional fund designation during an unsecured pension year, the basis amount for that year is the annual amount of the relevant annuity which could have been purchased by the application of the sums and assets representing the dependant's unsecured pension fund immediately after the additional fund designation: 2004 Act Sch 28 para 24(5), (6). 'Annuity purchase' means the purchase of a dependants' scheme pension or a dependants' annuity by the application of sums or assets representing the whole or part of the dependant's unsecured pension fund; and 'additional fund designation' is the designation under the arrangement of further sums or assets held for the purposes of the arrangement as available for the payment of unsecured dependants' pension to the dependant: Sch 28 para 24(7), (8). For the meaning of 'recent', 'pension sharing event' and 'relevant annuity' see PARA 873B.5 NOTE 11.

12 'Dependants' alternatively secured pension' means dependants' income withdrawal (see NOTE 7): ibid Sch 28 para 19. A dependant's alternatively secured pension fund in respect of an arrangement consists of such of the sums and assets held for the purposes of the arrangement as (1)(a)(i) were part of the dependant's unsecured pension fund in respect of the arrangement when the dependant reached the age of 75, or (ii) arise, or are directly or indirectly derived, from sums or assets within head (i) or which so arise or are so derived; (b) have at any time since the dependant reached that age been designated as available for the payment of alternatively secured dependants' pension to the dependant, or arise or are directly or indirectly derived from sums or assets which have been so designated or which so arise or are so derived; and (2) have not been subsequently applied for purchasing a dependants' scheme pension or a dependants' annuity or paid as dependants' income withdrawal: Sch 28 para 25(1)-(3) (amended by 2005 Sch 10 para 23). If any sums or assets representing a dependant's alternatively secured pension fund in respect of an arrangement under the pension scheme would (apart from this provision) come to be taken to represent another dependant's alternatively secured pension fund of his under the scheme, or an alternatively secured pension fund of his under the scheme, they are treated as not doing so: 2004 Act Sch 28 para 28(4) (added by the 2005 Act Sch 10 para 23).

14 'Alternatively secured pension year' means the period of 12 months beginning with the day on which the dependant first becomes entitled to alternatively secured pension in respect of the arrangement, and each succeeding period of 12 months; but when the dependant dies, the current alternatively secured pension year is the last alternatively secured pension year and ends immediately before the dependant's death: ibid Sch 28 para 26(1).

15 For the first alternatively secured pension year, the basis amount is the annual amount of the relevant annuity which could have been purchased by the application of the sums and assets representing the dependant's alternatively secured pension fund on the date on which the dependant first became entitled to dependants' alternatively secured pension in respect of the arrangement: ibid Sch 28 para 27(1). For each other alternatively secured pension year, the basis amount is the annual amount of the relevant annuity which could have been purchased by the application of the sums and assets representing the dependant's alternatively secured pension fund on the nominated date, ie such day within the period of 60 days ending with the first day of the alternatively secured pension year as is nominated by the scheme administrator (or, if no date is so nominated, the first day of that year): Sch 28 para 27(2), (3).

17 References in the 2004 Act Sch 28 paras 16A, 16B to a scheme pension include a pension payable before 6 April 2006 which would be a scheme pension if payable after that date: Sch 28 para 16A(2) (Sch 28 paras 16A-16C added by 2005 Act Sch 10 para 28).

18 The 'initial member pension limit' is the sum of (1) the aggregate of the amounts of the scheme pensions to which the member is actually entitled under the pension scheme immediately before his death payable to the member in the period of 12 months ending with the date of his death ('the pre-death year'); (2) the aggregate of the amounts of the scheme pensions to which the member is prospectively entitled under the pension scheme at that time which would have been so payable if he had been actually entitled to them throughout the pre-death year; and (3) 5 per cent of the aggregate of the amounts of the lump sums on which there is no liability to income tax to which the member has become entitled in connection with scheme pensions under the pension scheme before his death: 2004 Act Sch 28 para 16B(3). However, if the member became actually entitled to a scheme pension under the pension scheme during the pre-death year, head (1) has effect as if the amount of that pension which was payable to him under the scheme in that year were the amount which would have been so payable in the period of 12 months beginning with the date on which he became entitled to it had he not died: Sch 28 para 16B(4).

19 Ibid Sch 28 paras 16A(1), 16B(1). However, if more than one pension is so payable to one of the dependants of the member in the death year, or pensions are so payable to more than one dependant of the member in that year (or both), so much of any of the pensions as exceeds the appropriate proportion of the initial member pension limit is not a dependants' scheme pension: Sch 28 para 16B(2). The 'appropriate proportion' of the initial member pension limit, in relation to any pension payable under the scheme to a dependant of the member in the death year is: where P is the amount of that pension so payable and AP is the aggregate of the amounts of each of the pensions payable under the scheme to dependants of the member in that year: Sch 28 para 16B(5).

20 'Excepted circumstances' means that at the beginning of the period of 12 months in question there are at least 50 pensioner members of the pension scheme and (1) that the difference between CYP and PYP in the case of each relevant existing pension is the same amount; (2) the difference between CYP and PYP in the case of each relevant existing pension is the same percentage of PYP, or (3) in the case of each relevant existing pension the difference between CYP and PYP is the aggregate of a percentage of PYP and an amount which are both the same as those the aggregate of which make up that difference in the case of each other relevant existing pension: ibid Sch 28 para 16C(3), (4). 'Relevant existing pension' means a pension payable to any dependant of any member under the pension scheme throughout the 12 months in question and the immediately preceding period of 12 months; 'CYP' in relation to a relevant existing pension, is the current year pension, that is the amount of the pension payable in the 12 months in question; and 'PYP', in relation to a relevant existing pension, is the previous year pension, that is the amount of the pension payable in the immediately-preceding period of 12 months: Sch 28 para 16C(5). For the meaning of 'pensioner member', see PARA 873B.4 NOTE 1.

21 The 'current member pension limit', in relation to the 12-month period in question, is the initial member pension limit, increased by the aggregate of the permitted margin and the excepted circumstances amount: ibid Sch 28 para 16C(6).

The 'permitted margin' is the amount by which the initial member pension limit would be greater if it had been increased by whichever of calculation A and calculation B gives the greater amount: Sch 28 para 16C(7). Calculation A involves increasing the initial member pension limit by the relevant annual percentage rate for the whole of the period beginning with the first month beginning after the end of the death year ('the opening month') and ending with the first month of the 12 months in question ('the closing month'): Sch 28 para 16C(8). Calculation B involves increasing the initial member pension limit by the relevant indexation percentage: Sch 28 para 16C(10). The 'relevant annual percentage rate' is (1) if the relevant valuation factor in relation to the pension scheme is a number greater than 20, the annual rate agreed by the Inland Revenue and the scheme administrator, and (2) otherwise, 5 per cent per annum: Sch 28 para 16C(9). For the meaning of 'relevant valuation factor', see PARA 873B.11. If the retail prices index for the closing month is higher than it was in the opening month, the relevant indexation percentage is the percentage increase in that index; and if it is not, the relevant indexation percentage is 0 per cent: Sch 28 para 16C(11), (12). For the meaning of 'retail prices index', see PARA 873B.16 NOTE 9.

The 'excepted circumstances amount' is the aggregate of the amounts of the relevant increases in pensions which were payable under the pension scheme to dependants of the member in excepted circumstances in any period or periods within head (b)(ii) of the text: Sch 28 para 16C(13). The relevant increase in the case of any pension payable in relation to any 12-month period under the pension scheme to a dependant of the member is the difference between CYP and PYP (see NOTE 20), but for this purpose reading the references to the 12 months in question as references to the 12-month period): Sch 28 para 16C(14).

22 Ibid Sch 28 paras 16A(1), 16C(1) However, if (1) more than one pension is so payable to one of the dependants in the 12 months in question, or (2) pensions are so payable to more than one dependant of the member in that period (or both), so much of any of the pensions as exceeds the appropriate portion of the current member pension limit is not a dependants' scheme pension: Sch 28 para 16C(2). The 'appropriate proportion' of the current member pension limit, in relation to any pension payable under the scheme to a dependant of the member in the 12 months in question is where P is the amount of that pension so payable and AP is the aggregate of the amounts of each of the pensions payable under the scheme to dependants of the member in the 12 months in question: Sch 28 para 16C(15).

7. Authorised member payments by registered pension schemes: the lump sum rule

No lump sum may be paid other than (1) a pension commencement lump sum<sup>1</sup>; (2) a serious ill-health lump sum<sup>2</sup>; (3) a short service refund lump sum<sup>2</sup>; (4) a refund of excess contributions lump sum<sup>3</sup>; (5) a trivial commutation lump sum<sup>4</sup>; (6) a winding-up lump sum<sup>5</sup>; or (7) a lifetime allowance excess lump sum<sup>6</sup>. Each of these is referred to as an 'authorised lump sum'<sup>7</sup>.

A lump sum is a pension commencement lump sum if:

- 2185 (a) the member becomes entitled to it before reaching the age of 75;
- 2186 (b) the member becomes entitled to it in connection with his becoming entitled to a relevant pension<sup>8</sup> (or dies after becoming entitled to it but before becoming entitled to the relevant pension in connection with which it was expected that the member would become entitled to it);
- 2187 (c) it is paid when all or part of the member's lifetime allowance is available;
- 2188 (d) it is paid within the period beginning six months before and ending one year after the day on which the member becomes entitled<sup>9</sup> to it;
- 2189 (e) it is paid when the member has reached normal minimum pension age or the ill-health condition is satisfied<sup>10</sup>; and
- 2190 (f) it is not an excluded lump sum<sup>11</sup>.

Where all or part of a member's lifetime allowance is available immediately before a lump sum is paid and the amount of that lump sum exceeds his available lifetime allowance, but would otherwise be a pension commencement lump sum, a serious ill-health lump sum, a trivial commutation lump sum or a winding-up lump sum<sup>12</sup>, then the whole of the lump sum (and not only so much of it as does not as does not exceed the member's available lifetime allowance) is treated as paid when all or part of the member's lifetime allowance is available<sup>13</sup>.

If, because of the payment to a member of a pension commencement lump sum, the amount of the contributions paid by, or on behalf of, or in respect of, the member to the pension scheme or to any other registered pension scheme, is significantly greater than it otherwise would be, and the member envisaged at the relevant time that that would be so, the pension scheme is treated as making to the member an unauthorised payment of the appropriate amount<sup>14</sup>.

1 A lump sum is a serious ill-health lump sum if (1) before it is paid the scheme administrator has received evidence from a registered medical practitioner that the member is expected to live for less than one year; (2) it is paid when all or part of the member's lifetime allowance is available; (3) it is paid in respect of an uncrystallised arrangement; (4) it extinguishes the member's entitlement to benefits under the arrangement; and (5) it is paid when the member has not reached the age of 75: Finance Act 2004 s 166, Sch 29 para 4(1). An 'uncrystallised arrangement' is an arrangement in respect of which there has been no previous benefit crystallisation event (see PARA 873B.16): Sch 29 para 4(2). For the meaning of 'member' see PARA 873B.4 NOTE 3; for the meaning of 'scheme administrator' see PARA 873B.2 NOTE 4; and for the meaning of 'arrangement' see PARA 873B.5 NOTE 5. As to the member's lifetime allowance see PARA 873B.15.

2 A lump sum is a short service refund lump sum if (1) the pension scheme is an occupational pension scheme; (2) the member's pensionable service was terminated before normal pension age but the member is not entitled to short service benefit by virtue of the Pension Schemes Act 1993 s 71; (3) there has been no previous benefit crystallisation event in relation to the member and the pension scheme; (4) it extinguishes the member's entitlement to benefits under the pension scheme (except to the extent that it is prohibited from being extinguished by the payment of a lump sum by reason of the operation of provisions made by or under any enactment); and (5) it is paid when the member has not reached the age of 75: 2004 Act Sch 29 para 5(1) (amended by Finance Act 2006 Sch 23 para 27). However, if a lump sum falling within head (1) exceeds an amount equal to the aggregate of the member's contributions under the pension scheme, the excess is not a short service refund lump sum: 2004 Act Sch 29 para 5(2). 'Pensionable service', 'normal pension age' and 'short service benefit' have the same meaning as in the 1993 Act s 181(1): 2004 Act Sch 29 para 5(3). For the meaning of 'occupational pension scheme' see PARA 873B.2 NOTE 7. As to the charge to tax in respect of short service refund lump sums see PARA 873B.21.

3 A lump sum is a refund of excess contributions lump sum if (1) it is paid in respect of a tax year in which the excess contributions condition is met in respect of the member; and (2) it is paid before the end of the period of six years beginning with the last day of the tax year in respect of which it is paid; but if such a lump sum exceeds the member's available excess contributions allowance for the tax year in respect of which it is paid, that excess is not a refund of excess contributions lump sum: ibid Sch 29 para 6(1), (2). The excess contributions condition is met in respect of a member and a tax year if the amount of relivable contributions (see s 188(2), (3) and PARA 873B.12) paid in respect of the member in the tax year exceeds the maximum amount of relief to which the member is entitled for the tax year under s 190 (see PARA 873B.12): Sch 29 para 6(3). If no refund of excess contributions lump sum has been paid to the member in respect of a tax year by any registered pension scheme, the available excess contributions allowance for that year is:

and if one or more such sums has or have been paid to him in respect of a tax year, the available excess contributions allowance for the year concerned is:

where RPC is the amount of the relivable pension contributions paid in respect of the member in the tax year; MAR is the maximum amount of relief to which the member is entitled for the tax year under s 190; and ALS is the aggregate of any refunds of excess contributions lump sums previously paid to the member in respect of the tax year; and if any relief given in accordance with s 192(1) (see PARA 873B.12) in relation to any contribution included in RPC is in excess of the maximum amount of relief to which the member is entitled under s 190 (see PARA 873B.12), RPC is taken to be reduced by the amount of that excess: Sch 29 para 6(4)-(7) (Sch 29 para 6(7) added by the 2006 Act Sch 23 para 28). 'Tax year' means, in relation to income tax, a year for which any Act provides for income tax to be charged: 2004 Act s 279(1).

4 A lump sum is a trivial commutation lump sum if (1) it is paid when no trivial commutation lump sum has previously been paid to the member (by any registered pension scheme) or, if such a lump sum has previously been paid, before the end of the commutation period; (2) on the nominated date, the value of the member's pension rights does not exceed the commutation limit; (3) it is paid when all or part of the member's lifetime allowance is available; (4) it extinguishes the member's entitlement to benefits under the pension scheme; and (5) it is paid when the member has reached the age of 60 but has not reached the age of 75: ibid Sch 29 para 7(1). The 'commutation period' is the period beginning with the day on which a trivial commutation lump sum is first paid to the member and ending 12 months after that day; and the 'commutation limit' is 1 per cent of the standard lifetime allowance (see PARA 873B.15) on the nominated date: Sch 29 para 7(2), (4). The 'nominated date' is the day within the period of three months ending with the first day of the commutation period which is nominated by the member (or, if no date is nominated, the first day of the commutation period); and the value of the member's pension rights on the nominated date is the aggregate of the value on that date of his relevant crystallised pension rights and his uncrystallised rights: Sch 29 paras 7(3), (5). The value of the member's relevant crystallised pension rights is the aggregate of (a) the value of those rights on 5 April 2006, calculated in accordance with Sch 36 para 10 as if the member were the individual therein mentioned, as adjusted, and (b) the aggregate of the amounts crystallised on benefit crystallisation events in the period beginning with 6 April 2006 and ending with the nominated date, as adjusted: Sch 29 para 8(1). The adjustment referred to in head (a) is the multiplication of the value of the member's relevant crystallised pension rights on 5 April 2006 by:

where SLAN is the standard lifetime allowance on the nominated date; and FSLA is £1,500,000 (the standard lifetime allowance for the tax year 2006-07): Sch 29 para 8(2). The adjustment referred to in head (b) is the multiplication of the amount crystallised by a previous benefit crystallisation event by:

where SLAN has the meaning given above, and PSLA is the standard lifetime allowance when the previous benefit crystallisation event occurred: Sch 29 para 8(3).

The value of the member's uncrystallised rights on the nominated date is the aggregate value on that date of his uncrystallised rights under each arrangement relating to him under a registered pension scheme; and the value of such rights under each such arrangement is to be calculated in accordance with s 212 (see PARA 873B.21): Sch 29 para 9. As to benefit crystallisation events see PARA 873B.16. The 'tax year 2006-07' means the tax year beginning on 6 April 2006 (and any corresponding expression in which two years are simultaneously mentioned is to be read in the same way): s 279(1).

5 A lump sum is a winding-up lump sum if (1) the pension scheme is 'an occupational pension scheme; (2) the pension scheme is being wound up; (3) it is paid when all or part of the member's lifetime allowance is available; (4) it extinguishes the member's entitlement to benefits under the pension scheme; (5) it is paid when the member has not reached the age of 75; and (6) any person by whom the member is employed at the time the lump sum is paid, and who has made contributions under the pension scheme in respect of the member within the period of five years ending with the day on which it is paid (a) is not making contributions under any other registered pension scheme in respect of the member, and (b) undertakes to the Inland Revenue not to make such contributions during the period of one year beginning with the day on which the lump sum is paid: ibid Sch 29 para 10(1), (3) (Sch 29 para 10(1), (3) amended by Finance Act 2007 Sch 20 para 12). For the meaning of 'employer' see PARA 873B.2 NOTE 7; for the meaning of 'contribution' see PARA 873B.12; and for the meaning of 'Inland Revenue' see PARA 873B.2 NOTE 1. If a lump sum falling within head (1) exceeds 1 per cent of the standard lifetime allowance when the lump sum is paid, the excess is not a winding-up lump sum: 2004 Act Sch 29 para 10(2).

6 Ibid s 166(1). A lump sum is a lifetime allowance excess lump sum if (1) it is paid when none of the member's lifetime allowance is available; (2) it is not a short service refund lump sum or a refund of excess contributions lump sum; (3) it does not reduce the rate of payment of any pension to which the member has become (actually) entitled, or extinguish his entitlement to payment of any such pension; (4) it is paid when the member has reached normal minimum pension age (or the ill-health condition is met); and (5) it is paid when the member has not reached the age of 75: Sch 29 para 11.

7 Ibid Sch 29 para 12(6). Where, by virtue of Sch 29 para 1(2), or Sch 29 para 5(2), 6(2) or 10(2), an excess is not an authorised lump sum of one description, that does not prevent the excess from being an authorised lump sum of another description: Sch 29 para 12(5).

8 A pension is a relevant pension if it is income withdrawal, a lifetime annuity, or a scheme pension, and the member becomes entitled to it otherwise than by virtue of the operation of ibid Sch 28 para 8(2) (see PARA 873B.5), under the pension scheme: Sch 29 para 1(3) (amended by the 2005 Act Sch 10 para 34). For the meaning of 'pension' see PARA 873B.4 NOTE 4; for the meaning of 'income withdrawal' see PARA 873B.4 NOTE 4; and for the meaning of 'lifetime annuity' and 'scheme pension' see PARA 873B.5 NOTE 13. However, if a lump sum falling within heads (a)-(f) in the text exceeds the permitted maximum, the excess is not a pension commencement lump sum: 2004 Act Sch 29 para 1(2). If all the member's rights under the arrangement under which he becomes entitled to the relevant pension are attributable to a disqualifying pension credit, the permitted maximum is nil; and a pension credit is disqualifying if, when the member becomes entitled to it, the person subject to the corresponding pension debit has an actual (rather than a prospective) right to payment of a pension under the arrangement to which the pension sharing order or provision, by virtue of which the member becomes entitled to the pension credit, relates ('the relevant arrangement'): Sch 29 para 2(1)-(4). 'Pension credit' and 'pension debit' have the same meaning as in the Welfare Reform and Pensions Act 1999 s 46(1) or corresponding Northern Ireland legislation: 2004 Act ss 279(1), 280(1); and for the meaning of 'pension sharing order or provision' see PARA 873B.4 NOTE 7.

In any other case, the permitted maximum is the lower of (a) the available portion of the member's lump sum allowance; and (b) the applicable amount; but if the member dies before becoming entitled to the relevant pension in connection with which it was expected that the member would become entitled to the lump sum, the permitted maximum is the available portion of the member's lump sum allowance: Sch 29 para 2(5), (5A) (Sch 29 para 2(5A) added by the 2007 Act Sch 20 para 11(4)). The available portion of the member's lump sum allowance is: where CSLA is the current standard lifetime allowance, and AAC is the aggregate of the relevant amount in the case of each benefit crystallisation event which has occurred in relation to the member before he becomes entitled to the lump sum, as adjusted (and if no such event has occurred, is nil). The adjustment is the multiplication of the relevant amount in the case of a previous benefit crystallisation event by the fraction:

$$\frac{CSLA}{PSLA}$$

where CSLA has the meaning given above, and PSLA is the standard lifetime allowance at the time of the previous benefit crystallisation event: Sch 29 para 2(6), (7) (amended by the 2006 Act Sch 23 para 23(2), (4)). If the above calculations produce a negative amount, the permitted maximum is nil: 2004 Act Sch 29 para 2(8). The 'relevant amount' in the case of a benefit crystallisation event is the amount crystallised by it. If the event is becoming entitled to a scheme pension under a money purchase arrangement, the relevant amount is the aggregate of the amount of such of the sums held for the purposes of the scheme and the market value of such of the assets so held as are applied in (or in connection with) the purchase or provision of the scheme pension and any related dependants' scheme pension: Sch 29 para 2(6A), (6B) (added by the 2006 Act Sch 23 para 23(3)).

Where the member becomes entitled to income withdrawal, the applicable amount is one-third of the aggregate of the amount of the sums designated as available for the payment of unsecured pension on that occasion, and the market value of the assets so designated (but any of the sums and assets so designated which represent rights attributable to a disqualifying pension credit are to be disregarded): 2004 Act Sch 29 para 3(1), (2). For the meaning of 'unsecured pension' see PARA 873B.5 NOTE 5; and for the meaning of 'market value' see PARA 873B.3 NOTE 4.

Where the member becomes entitled to a lifetime annuity, the applicable amount is one-third of the annuity purchase price, ie the aggregate of the amount of such of the sums held for the purposes of the pension scheme, and the market value of such of the assets held for those purposes, as are applied in (or in connection with) the purchase of the lifetime annuity and of any related dependants' annuity: Sch 29 para 3(3), (4) (amended by the 2005 Act Sch 10 para 30). However, there is to be deducted from that aggregate (1) if the sums or assets applied in or in connection with the purchase of the annuity or any related dependants' annuity consist of or include sums or assets representing the whole or part of the member's unsecured pension fund, the aggregate value of the amount of those sums and the market value of those assets; and (2) in any case so much (if any) of the sums or assets applies in or in connection with the purchase of the annuity or any related dependants' annuity as represents rights which are attributable to a disqualifying pension credit: 2004 Act Sch 29 para 3(5) (amended by the 2005 Act Sch 10 para 35). A dependants' annuity is related to a lifetime annuity payable to a member of a registered pension scheme if they are purchased either in the form of a joint life annuity or separately in circumstances in which the day on which the one is purchased is no earlier than seven days before, and no later than seven days after, the day on which the other is purchased, and the dependant's annuity will be payable to a dependant of that member: 2004 Act Sch 29 para 3(4A) (added by the 2005 Act Sch 10 para 30). For the meaning of 'pension scheme' see PARA 873B.1.

Where the member becomes entitled to a scheme pension under a defined benefits arrangement, the applicable amount is:

where LS is the amount of the lump sum, and AC is the amount crystallised by reason of the member's becoming entitled to the pension (disregarding the 2004 Act Sch 32 para 3) (see PARA 873B.16): Sch 29 para 3(6), (7) (amended by 2005 Act Sch 10 para 35; and 2006 Act Sch 23 para 22(2)). Where the member becomes entitled to a scheme pension under a money purchase arrangement, the applicable amount is one third of the 'scheme pension purchase price', ie the aggregate of the amount of such of the sums held for the purposes of the pension scheme and the market value of such of the assets held for the purposes of the scheme, as are applied in (or in connection with) the purchase or provision of the scheme pension and any related dependants' scheme pension: 2004 Act Sch 29 para 3(7A), (7B) (added by the 2006 Act Sch 23 para 22(3)). A dependants' scheme pension is related to a scheme pension payable to a member of a registered pension scheme if the day on which such a pension is purchased or sums or assets are applied for its provision is no earlier than seven days before, and no later than seven days after, the day on which the other is purchased, or sums or assets are applied for its provision; and the pension will be payable to a dependant of the member: 2004 Act Sch 29 para 3(7C) (added by the 2006 Act Sch 23 para 22(3)). For the meaning of 'defined benefits arrangement' and 'money purchase arrangement', see PARA 873B.5 NOTE 13.

However, there is to be deducted from the aggregate of the lump sum and the amount so crystallised (ie from the total of LS and AC) or, as the case may be, from the scheme pension purchase price (i) if the scheme pension is funded (in whole or in part) by the application of sums or assets representing the whole or part of the member's unsecured pension fund, the aggregate of the amount of those sums and the market value of those assets; and (ii) in any case, so much (if any) of the aggregate of the lump sum and the amount crystallised (or, as the case may be, of the aggregate of the lump sum and the scheme pension purchase price) as represents rights which are attributable to a disqualifying pension credit: 2004 Act Sch 29 para 3(8) (amended by the 2005 Act Sch 10 para, 24; and the 2006 Act Sch 23 para 22(4)). For the meaning of 'unsecured pension fund' see PARA 873B.5 NOTE 5.

If sums or assets held for the purposes of, or representing accrued rights under, a money purchase arrangement relating to the member under a registered pension scheme ('member money purchase funds') are subject to a relevant surrender or a relevant transfer, the sole or main purpose of which is to increase the applicable amount on the member's becoming entitled to a scheme pension, and the member becomes entitled to a scheme pension under a relevant defined benefits arrangement, the pension scheme under which that arrangement exists is treated as making an unauthorised payment to the member of any amount by which the applicable amount in relation to the scheme pension under the 2004 Act Sch 29 para 3(6) exceeds the amount which would be that applicable amount under Sch 29 para 3(7A) were the arrangement a money purchase arrangement: Sch 29 para 3(9), (10) (added by the 2006 Act Sch 23 para 22(5)). Member money purchase funds are subject to a 'relevant surrender' if they are surrendered and, in consequence of that surrender, there is a corresponding increase in the sums or assets held for the purposes of, or representing rights under, a defined benefits arrangement relating to the member under the pension scheme (or such an arrangement is established); and such funds are subject to a 'relevant transfer' if they are transferred to as to become held for the purposes of, or to represent rights under, a defined benefits arrangement relating to the member under any other registered pension scheme: 2004 Act Sch 29 para 3(11) (added by the 2006 Act Sch 23 para 22(5)). 'Relevant defined benefits scheme' means the defined benefits arrangement mentioned in the 2004 Act Sch 29 para 3(11), or any other defined benefits arrangement relating to the member (under the pension scheme or any other registered pension scheme) in the case of which any of the sums or assets held for the purposes of, or representing accrued rights under, the arrangement directly or indirectly represent sums or assets previously held for the purposes of, or representing accrued rights under, the defined benefits arrangement so mentioned: Sch 29 para 3(12) (added by the 2006 Act Sch 23 para 22(5)).

9 A person becomes entitled to a lump sum under a registered pension scheme (1) in the case of a pension commencement lump sum, immediately before he becomes entitled to the pension in connection with which it is paid (or, if he dies before becoming entitled to the pension in connection with which it was expected it would be paid, immediately before death); and (2) in any other case, when the person acquires an actual (rather than a prospective) right to receive the lump sum: 2004 Act s 166(2) (amended by the 2007 Act Sch 20 para 9). As to registration of pension schemes see PARA 873B.2. As to becoming entitled to a pension see PARA 873B.5 NOTE 5.

10 For the meaning of 'normal minimum pension age' see PARA 873B.5. As to the ill-health condition see PARA 873B.5 NOTE 4.

11 2004 Act Sch 29 para 1(1) (amended by the 2007 Act Sch 20 para 11(2)). A lump sum is an excluded lump sum if (1) the pension in connection with which the member becomes entitled to it is a scheme pension the rate of which is to decrease (or which is to cease to be payable) in accordance with the 2004 Act Sch 28 para 2(4)(c) (see PARA 873B.5 NOTE 6) at a time not earlier than when the member reaches the age of 60 and not later than when he reaches the age of 65; and (2) the sole or main purpose of making provision for the pension to be such a pension was to increase the member's entitlement to a lump sum on which there is no liability to income tax: Sch 29 para 1(4) (amended by the 2006 Act Sch 23 para 21). The Board of Inland Revenue may by regulations provide that, where incorrect income tax has been paid by the scheme administrator in relation to the member by way of the lifetime allowance charge in circumstances prescribed by the regulations, a lump sum subsequently paid to the member in circumstances so prescribed is to be treated as a pension commutation lump sum even though either or both of the conditions in heads (a) and (d) of the text are not met: 2004 Act Sch 29 para 1(6) (added by the 2005 Act Sch 10 para 34; amended by the 2007 Act Sch 20 para 11(3)). See the Registered Pension Schemes (Meaning of Pension Commencement Lump Sum) Regulations 2006, SI 2006/135 (amended by SI 2007/3533).

12 Ie the lump sum would otherwise satisfy the requirements of 2004 Act Sch 29 para 1(1), 4(1), 7(1) or 10(1).

13 Ibid Sch 29 para 12(2), (3). However, this provision does not apply (1) in the case of a lump sum that would satisfy all the requirements of Sch 29 para 1(1), to so much of it as would be prevented from being a pension commencement lump sum by Sch 29 para 1(2); or (2) in the case of a lump sum that would satisfy all the requirements of Sch 29 para 10(1), to so much of it as would be prevented from being a winding-up lump sum by Sch 29 para 10(2): Sch 29 para 12(4).

14 Ibid Sch 29 para 3A(1), (3) (Sch 29 para 3A added by 2006 Act s 159). The 'relevant time' is the time when the lump sum is paid (or, if the contributions paid are already significantly greater at the time the lump sum is paid, the time when they became so); and the 'appropriate amount' is so much of the amount crystallised by the benefit crystallisation event constituted by the payment of the lump sum as does not exceed the amount of the member's lifetime allowance which is available thereon: 2004 Act Sch 29 para 3A(5), (6). However, Sch 29 para 3A does not apply (1) in relation to any lump sum paid to the member on any day if the amount of that sum, when added to any other pension commencement lump sum paid to the member within the period of 12 months ending with that day, does not exceed 1% of the standard lifetime allowance (see PARA 873B NOTE 15) on that day; or (2) if the amount by which the amount by which the member's contributions are greater as a result of the payment of the lump sum does not exceed 30% of that sum: Sch 29 para 3A(3), (4). This provision was enacted to prevent the reinvestment in the scheme of tax-free lump sums.

8. Authorised member payments by registered pension schemes: the lump sum death benefit rule

No lump sum death benefit<sup>1</sup> may be paid other than:

- 2191 (1) a defined benefits lump sum death benefit<sup>2</sup>;
- 2192 (2) a pension protection lump sum death benefit<sup>3</sup>;
- 2193 (3) an uncrystallised funds lump sum death benefit<sup>4</sup>;
- 2194 (4) an annuity protection lump sum death benefit<sup>5</sup>;
- 2195 (5) an unsecured pension fund lump sum death benefit<sup>6</sup>;
- 2196 (6) a charity lump sum death benefit<sup>7</sup>;
- 2197 (7) a trivial commutation lump sum death benefit<sup>8</sup>; or
- 2198 (8) a winding-up lump sum death benefit<sup>9</sup>.

Each of the above is an 'authorised lump sum death benefit'<sup>10</sup>.

1 'Lump sum death benefit' means a lump sum payable on the death of the member: Finance Act 2004 s 168(2). For the meaning of 'member' see PARA 873B.4 NOTE 3.

2 A lump sum death benefit is a defined benefits lump sum death benefit if (1) the member had not reached the age of 75 at the time of his death; (2) it is paid in respect of a defined benefits arrangement; (3) it is paid before the end of the period of two years beginning with the earlier of the day on which the scheme administrator first knew of the member's death and the day on which the scheme administrator could first be reasonably expected to have known of it; and (4) it is not a pension protection lump sum death benefit, trivial commutation lump sum death benefit or winding-up lump sum death benefit: ibid Sch 29 para 13 (amended by the Finance Act 2007 Sch 20 para 13(2)). For the meaning of 'defined benefits arrangement' see PARA 873B.5 NOTE 13.

3 A lump sum death benefit is a pension protection lump sum death benefit if (1) the member had not reached the age of 75 at the date of his death; (2) it is paid in respect of a defined benefits arrangement; (3) it is paid in respect of a scheme pension to which the member was entitled at the date of his death; and (4) the member has specified that it is to be treated as a pension protection lump sum death benefit (instead of a defined benefits lump sum death benefit): 2004 Act Sch 29 para 14(1). However, if the amount of a lump sum falling within these provisions exceeds the pension protection limit, the excess is not a pension protection lump sum death benefit: Sch 29 para 14(2). The pension protection limit is: where AC is the amount crystallised by reason of the member's becoming entitled to the pension (see s 216 and PARA 873B.16); AP is the amount of the pension paid in respect of the period between the member becoming entitled to the pension and his death; and TPLS is the total amount of pension protection lump sum death benefit previously paid in respect of the pension under these provisions: Sch 29 para 14(3). For the meaning of 'scheme pension' see PARA 873B.5 NOTE 6.

4 A lump sum death benefit is an uncrystallised funds lump sum death benefit if (1) the member had not reached the age of 75 at the time of his death; (2) it is paid in respect of a money purchase arrangement; (3) it is paid before the end of the period of two years beginning with the earlier of the day on which the scheme administrator first knew of the member's death and the day on which the scheme administrator could first be reasonably expected to have known of it; and (4) it is paid in respect of relevant uncrystallised funds: ibid Sch 29 para 15(1) (amended by the 2007 Act Sch 20 para 13(3)). 'Relevant uncrystallised funds' means such of the sums and assets held for the purposes of the arrangement at the member's death as (a) had not been applied for purchasing a scheme pension, a lifetime annuity, a dependants' scheme pension or a dependants' annuity; and (b) had not been designated under the arrangement as available for the payment of unsecured pension: 2004 Act Sch 19 para 15(2). For the meaning of 'money purchase arrangement' see PARA 873B.5 NOTE 13; and for the meaning of 'arrangement' see PARA 873B.5 NOTE 5. For the meaning of 'unsecured pension' see PARA 873B.5 NOTE 5; for the meaning of 'lifetime annuity' see PARA 873B.5 NOTE 13; for the meaning of 'dependants' scheme pension' see PARA 873B.6 NOTE 4; and for the meaning of 'dependants' annuity' see PARA 873B.6 NOTE 6. As to sums and assets held for the purposes of the arrangement see PARA 873B.5 NOTE 5.

However, a lump sum death benefit is not an uncrystallised funds lump sum death benefit in so far as it exceeds the permitted maximum, ie the aggregate of the amount of the sums, and the market value of the assets, which constitute the relevant uncrystallised funds immediately before the payment is made: Sch 29 para 15(3), (4). For the meaning of 'market value' see PARA 873B.3 NOTE 4.

5 A lump sum death benefit is an annuity protection lump sum death benefit if (1) the member had not reached the age of 75 at the date of his death; (2) it is paid in respect of a money purchase arrangement; and (3) it is paid in respect of a scheme pension or lifetime annuity to which the member was entitled at the date of his death: ibid Sch 29 para 16(1). However, if the amount of a lump sum falling within these provisions exceeds the annuity protection limit, the excess is not an annuity protection lump sum: Sch 29 para 16(2). The annuity protection limit is: where AC is the amount crystallised by reason of the member's becoming entitled to the pension or annuity (see s 216 and PARA 873B.16); AP is the amount of the pension paid in respect of the period between the member becoming entitled to the pension or annuity and his death (but disregarding Sch 32 paras 3, 4) (see PARA 873B.16); and TPLS is the total amount of annuity protection lump sum death benefit previously paid in respect of the pension or annuity under these provisions: Sch 29 para 16(3) (amended by the Finance Act 2006 Sch 23 para 29).

6 A lump sum death benefit is an unsecured pension fund lump sum death benefit if either (1) the member had not reached the age of 75 at the date of his death, and the benefit is paid in respect of income withdrawal to which the member was entitled under an arrangement at the date of his death; or (2)(a) the benefit is paid on the death of a dependant of the member, (b) the dependant had not reached the age of 75 at the date of the dependant's death, and (c) the benefit is paid in respect of dependants' income withdrawal to which the dependant was entitled at the date of the dependant's death in respect of an arrangement relating to the member: 2004 Act Sch 29 para 17(1), (2). For the meaning of 'income withdrawal' see PARA 873B.4 NOTE 4. For the meaning of 'dependant' and 'dependants' income withdrawal' see PARA 873B.6 NOTES 2, 7. However, a lump sum death benefit is not an unsecured pension fund lump sum death benefit insofar as it exceeds the permitted maximum, ie the aggregate of the amount of the sums, and the market value of the assets, representing the member's or dependant's unsecured pension fund in respect of the arrangement immediately before the payment is made: Sch 29 para 17(3), (4). For the meaning of 'unsecured pension fund' see PARA 873B.5 NOTE 5.

7 A lump sum death benefit is a charity lump sum death benefit if either (1)(a) the member had reached the age of 75 at the date of his death; (b) there are no dependants of the member; (c) it is paid in respect of the member's alternatively secured pension fund (or what would be such a fund but for Sch 28 para 11(6), (7) (see PARA 873B.5) in respect of an arrangement at the date of his death; and (d) it is paid to a charity nominated by the member (or, if the member made no nomination, selected by the scheme administrator); or (2)(a) it is paid on the death of a dependant of the member; (b) the dependant had reached the age of 75 at the date of the dependant's death; (c) there are no other dependants of the member; (d) it is paid in respect of the dependant's alternatively secured pension fund at the date of the dependant's death in respect of an arrangement relating to the member; and (e) it is paid to a charity nominated by the member (or, if the member made no nomination, by the dependant; and if neither the member nor the dependant made a nomination, selected by the scheme administrator): ibid Sch 29 para 18(1), (2) (amended by the Finance Act 2007 Sch 19 para 16). However, a lump sum death benefit is not a charity lump sum death benefit insofar as it exceeds the permitted maximum, ie the aggregate of the amount of the sums, and the market value of the assets, representing what is (or but for the 2004 Act Sch 18 para 11(6), (7) would be) the member's or dependant's alternatively unsecured pension fund in respect of the arrangement immediately before the payment is made: Sch 29 para 18(3), (4) (Sch 29 para 18(4) amended by the 2007 Act Sch 19 para 16). For the meaning of 'alternatively secured pension fund' see PARA 873B.5 NOTE 13. 'Charity' has the same meaning as in the Income and Corporation Taxes Act 1988 s 506 (see INCOME TAXATION vol 23(2) (Reissue) PARA 1172): 2004 Act ss 279(1), 280(1).

8 A lump death benefit is a trivial commutation lump sum death benefit if (1) the member had not reached the age of 75 at the date of his death; (2) it is paid to a dependant entitled under the pension scheme to pension death benefit in respect of the member; (3) it is paid before the day on which the member would have reached the age of 75; and (4) it extinguishes the dependant's entitlement under the pension scheme to pension death benefit and lump sum death benefit in respect of the member: ibid Sch 29 para 20(1). For the meaning of 'pension death benefit' see PARA 873B.6 NOTE 1. However, if the amount of a lump sum falling within these provisions exceeds 1 per cent of the standard lifetime allowance on the date it is paid, the excess is not a trivial commutation lump sum death benefit: Sch 29 para 20(2). For the meaning of 'standard lifetime allowance' see PARA 873B.15.

9 2004 Act s 168(1) (amended by the 2007 Act Sch 19 para 4). A lump sum death benefit is a winding-up lump sum death benefit if (1) the pension scheme is being wound up; (2) it is paid to a dependant entitled under the pension scheme to pension death benefit in respect of the member; and (3) it extinguishes the dependant's entitlement under the pension scheme to pension death benefit and lump sum death benefit in respect of the member: 2004 Act Sch 29 para 21(1). However, if the amount of a lump sum falling within these provisions exceeds 1 per cent of the standard lifetime allowance on the date it is paid, the excess is not a winding-up lump sum death benefit: Sch 29 para 21(2).

For the charge to tax in respect of payments falling within head (2), (4) or (5) of the text see PARA 873B.21.

10 Ibid Sch 29 para 22(3). Where, by virtue of Sch 29 para 14(2), 20(2), or 21(2), an excess is not an authorised lump sum death benefit of one description, that does not prevent the excess from being an authorised lump sum death benefit of another description: Sch 29 para 22(2).

9. Unauthorised payments by registered pension schemes; in general

If a member<sup>1</sup> of a registered pension scheme<sup>2</sup> (or his personal representatives) assigns or agrees to assign any benefit, other than an excluded pension<sup>3</sup>, to which the member (or any dependant of his) has an actual or prospective entitlement under the pension scheme or any right in respect of any sums or assets held for the purposes of any arrangement under the scheme, that scheme is treated as making an unauthorised payment to the member (or to his personal representatives in respect of the member)<sup>4</sup>. The amount of the unauthorised payment is the greater of the consideration received in respect of the assignment or agreement, and the consideration which might be expected to be so received if the parties to the transaction were at arm's length and any power to reduce the entitlement to the benefit or right did not exist<sup>5</sup>.

A registered pension scheme is also treated as having made an unauthorised payment to or in respect of a person who is or has been a member of the scheme if:

2200 (2) after the person's death, an asset held for the purposes of the pension scheme is used to provide a benefit (other than a payment) to a person who, at the date of the member's death, was a member of his family or household<sup>7</sup>.

The amount of an unauthorised payment so treated as having been made is (a) in relation to such benefits, and in such circumstances, as may be prescribed by regulations made by the Board of Inland Revenue<sup>8</sup>, an amount determined in accordance with the regulations; and (b) otherwise, is the amount which would be the cash equivalent of the benefit under the benefits code if the benefit were received by reason of an employment and that code applied to it<sup>9</sup>.

A registered pension scheme is also treated as having made an unauthorised payment to a person who is or has been a member of the scheme if, in connection with any of the following events, or a change in the value of a currency:

2201 (i) the value of an asset held for the purposes of the pension scheme is reduced or a liability of the scheme is increased; and

2202 (ii) the value of an asset held by, or for the benefit of, that person is increased, a liability of that person is reduced, or a liability of another person is reduced for the benefit of that person<sup>10</sup>.

The events are:

- 2203 (A) the creation, alteration, release or extinction of any power, right, option or liability relating to assets held for the purposes of the pension scheme (whether or not provided for in the terms on which the asset is acquired or held);
- 2204 (B) the creation, alteration, release or extinction of any power, right or option relating to a liability of the pension scheme (whether or not provided for in the terms on which the liability is incurred);
- 2205 (C) the exercise of, or failure to exercise, any power, right or option in relation to assets held for the purposes of the pension scheme or a liability of the pension scheme; or
- 2206 (D) the exercise of, or failure to exercise, any power, right or option which constitutes an asset held for the purposes of the pension scheme, in a way which differs from that which might be expected if the parties to the transaction were at arm's length<sup>11</sup>.

The amount of such an unauthorised payment is the amount by which the reduction in value of the asset held for the purposes of the pension scheme, or the increase in the liability of the pension scheme, exceeds that which might be expected if the parties to the transaction were at arm's length<sup>12</sup>. The unauthorised payments set out above are referred to as 'unauthorised member payments'<sup>13</sup>.

A registered pension scheme that is an occupational pension scheme is treated as having made an unauthorised payment to a sponsoring employer if, in connection with any of the events specified in heads (A) to (D) above, the value of an asset held for the purposes of the pension scheme is reduced or a liability of the scheme is increased, or the value of an asset held for the benefit of a person who is or has been a sponsoring employer is increased, a liability of such a person is reduced, or a liability of another person is reduced for the benefit of such a person<sup>14</sup>. Such payments are referred to as 'unauthorised employer payments'<sup>15</sup>. 'Unauthorised payment' means an unauthorised member payment or an unauthorised employer payment<sup>16</sup>.

If a member of a registered pension scheme surrenders or agrees to surrender any benefit other than an excluded pension, to which the member (or any dependant of his) has a prospective entitlement under an arrangement under the pension scheme; any rights to payments under a lifetime annuity or dependants' annuity purchased by the application of sums or assets held for the purposes of the pension scheme; or any right in respect of any sums or assets held for the purposes of any arrangement under the scheme, that scheme is treated as making an unauthorised payment to the member<sup>17</sup>.

If a person surrenders or agrees to surrender any benefit, other than an excluded pension, to which he has a prospective entitlement under an arrangement under the pension scheme in respect of a member of a scheme or any right in respect of any sums or assets held for the purposes of any arrangement relating to a member of the pension scheme under that scheme, the scheme is treated as making an unauthorised payment to the person in respect of the member<sup>18</sup>.

If at any time after the death of a relevant member<sup>19</sup> of a registered pension scheme, there is an increase in the pension rights<sup>20</sup> of another member of the pension scheme which is attributable to the death, and the dead member and other member were connected persons<sup>21</sup> immediately before the death, the scheme is treated as making an unauthorised payment to the other member (or to the other member's personal representatives) of an amount equal to the excess<sup>22</sup>.

Where contributions are paid under a registered pension scheme by an employer<sup>23</sup> otherwise than in respect of any individual and in any tax year<sup>24</sup> any of the contributions become held for the purposes of the provision of benefits to or in respect of a member of the scheme under any relevant arrangement<sup>25</sup> or arrangements ('the allocated contributions'), then if the amount of the allocated contribution exceeds the permitted maximum<sup>26</sup>, and the member and the employer, or the member and any person connected with the employer at any time during the tax year, are connected persons at any time during that year, the pension scheme is treated as making an unauthorised payment to the member (or to his personal representatives)<sup>27</sup>.

Where, at any time during any pension input period<sup>28</sup> in respect of a relevant arrangement<sup>29</sup> relating to a member of an occupational pension scheme<sup>30</sup> that is a registered pension scheme, and the member and a sponsoring employer<sup>31</sup> or a person connected with a sponsoring employer are connected persons, then if the pension input amount<sup>32</sup> for the pension input period in respect of the arrangement exceeds the notional unconnected person input amount<sup>33</sup> for that period in respect of that arrangement, the pension scheme is treated as making an unauthorised payment to the member (or to his personal representatives) of an amount equal to the excess<sup>34</sup>.

If at any time (the 'relevant time') after the death of a member of a registered pension scheme, another member of the scheme becomes entitled to alternatively secured rights<sup>35</sup>, the scheme is treated as making to that other member (or his personal representatives) an unauthorised payment of the amount by which the consideration which might be expected to be received in respect of an assignment of the benefits to which that other member is actually or prospectively entitled under the pension scheme immediately after the relevant time exceeds the consideration which might be expected to be received in respect of such an assignment immediately before the relevant time<sup>36</sup>.

1 For the meaning of 'member' see PARA 873B.4 NOTE 3.

2 For the meaning of 'pension scheme' see PARA 873B.1. As to registration see PARA 873B.2.

3 In so much of any pension which, under pension rule 2 (see PARA 873B.5 head (2)) may continue to be paid after the member's death as may be so paid: Finance Act 2004 ss 172(7), 172A(10) (s 172(7) amended by the Finance Act 2005 Sch 10 para 37; 2004 Act ss 172A-172D added by the 2005 Act Sch 10 para 38; 2004 Act s 172A(10) amended by the Finance Act 2007 Sch 20 para 6(3)).

4 Finance Act 2004 s 172(1), (2) (amended by the 2005 Act Sch 10 para 37). If a person (or a person's personal representatives) assigns or agrees to assign any benefit, other than an excluded pension, to which the person has a prospective entitlement under a registered pension scheme in respect of a member of the pension scheme or any right in respect of any sums or assets held for the purposes of any arrangement relating to such a member under the pension scheme, that scheme is treated as making an unauthorised payment to the person (or to his personal representatives) in respect of the member: Finance Act 2004 s 172(3), (4) (amended by 2005 Act Sch 10 para 37; and Finance Act 2008 Sch 28 para 2(2)). 'Assignment' includes assignation, and related expressions are to be read accordingly: Finance Act 2004 s 172(8). However, these provisions do not apply if the agreement or assignment is pursuant to a pension sharing order or provision: s 172(2), (4). For the meaning of 'pension sharing order or provision' see PARA 873B.4 NOTE 7. 'Personal representatives', in relation to a person who has died, means (1) in the United Kingdom, persons responsible for administering the estate of the deceased; and (2) in a country or territory outside the United Kingdom, the persons having functions under its law equivalent to those of administering the estate of the deceased: s 279(1). A benefit to which the member or a person has an entitlement under the pension scheme includes rights to payments under (a) a scheme pension or a dependants' scheme pension provided by the scheme administrator or as a result of the application of sums or assets held for the purposes of the pension scheme; or (b) a lifetime annuity or dependants' annuity purchased by the application of sums or assets held for the purposes of the pension scheme: ss 172(6A), 172A(5), 172B(7B) (added by Finance Act 2008 Sch 28 paras 2(3), 3(5), 4(5)).

5 Finance Act 2004 s 172(5) (amended by the 2005 Act Sch 10 para 37). Where a pension scheme is treated under these provisions as having made an unauthorised payment in relation to an assignment (or an agreement to assign), payments by the scheme of the benefit or right assigned (or agreed to be assigned) are not unauthorised payments: Finance Act 2004 s 172(6) (amended by the 2005 Act Sch 10 para 37).

6 Finance Act 2004 s 173(1) (amended by the Finance Act 2006 Sch 23 para 8(2)). If the benefit is received by reason of an employment which is not an excluded employment, this provision does not apply; and if the benefit is received by reason of an excluded employment, the provision applies only if (1) the benefit is one to which Chapter 6 or 10 of the benefits code would apply if the employment were not excluded employment; (2) the pension scheme is an occupational pension scheme; and (3) the person, or a member of his family or household, is a director of, and has a material interest in, a sponsoring employer: 2004 Act s 173(2), (3) (s 173(3) amended by the 2006 Act Sch 23 para 8(3)). 'Excluded employment' and 'the benefits code' have the meaning given by the Income Tax (Earnings and Pensions) Act 2003 s 63; 'director' has the meaning given by s 67; and 'material interest' has the meaning given by s 68: Finance Act 2004 s 173(10). The Income Tax (Earnings and Pensions) Act 2003 s 721 applies for the purposes of determining the members of a person's family or household: Finance Act 2004 s 173(11). For the meaning of 'occupational pension scheme' see PARA 873B.2 NOTE 7; and for the meaning of 'sponsoring employer' see PARA 873B.4 NOTE 10. For the meaning of 'payment' see PARA 873B.4 NOTE 1.

7 Finance Act 2004 s 173(4) (amended by the 2006 Act Sch 23 para 8(4)). The person who receives the benefit is treated as having received the unauthorised payment: Finance Act 2004 s 173(5). If the benefit is received by reason of an employment which is not an excluded employment, this provision does not apply; and if the benefit is received by reason of an excluded employment, the provision applies only if NOTE 6 heads (1) and (2) are satisfied, and at the date of the person's death he or a member of his family or household was a director of, and had a material interest in, a sponsoring employer: s 173(7) (amended by the 2006 Act Sch 23 para 8(5)).

8 For the meaning of 'Board of Inland Revenue' see PARA 873B.2 NOTE 1. As to the making of such regulations see PARA 873B.1 NOTE 2. See the Registered Pension Schemes (Co-ownership of Living Accommodation) Regulations 2006, SI 2006/133.

9 Finance Act 2004 s 173(8). For the purposes of this provision, references in the benefits code to the employee are treated as references to the person who is or has been a member, and references to the employer as references to the pension scheme: s 173(9) (amended by the 2006 Act Sch 23 para 8(6)). The Finance Act 2004 s 173 does not apply if the pension scheme is an investment-regulated pension scheme (see PARA 873B.29): s 173(7A) (added by the 2006 Act Sch 21 para 4).

10 Finance Act 2004 s 174(1) (amended by the 2006 Act Sch 23 para 9(1)). If the event or the change in the value of the currency occurs after the person's death (1) the pension scheme is treated as having made an unauthorised payment in respect of the person (rather than to the person); and (2) the person who holds the asset or is subject to the liability in relation to which head (ii) of the text is satisfied is treated as having received the unauthorised payment: Finance Act 2004 s 174(2) (amended by the 2006 Act Sch 23 para 9(2)).

11 Finance Act 2004 s 174(3). A liability is a liability of a registered pension scheme if it is to be met from sums or assets held for the purposes of the scheme: s 163(1), (3).

12 Ibid s 174(4). Regulations made by the Board of Inland Revenue may make provision as to how the excess is to be calculated in relation to events of a description specified in the regulations (including provision as to the times at which the asset or liability is to be valued): s 174(5). As to the making of such regulations see PARA 873B.1 NOTE 2.

13 Ibid s 160(2)(b) (amended by the 2006 Act Sch 23 para 3(3)). The term also includes a payment by a registered pension scheme to or in respect of a person who is or has been a member of the scheme which is not an authorised member payment (see PARA 873B.4 et seq): Finance Act 2004 s 160(2)(a) (amended by the 2006 Act Sch 23 para 3(3)).

14 Finance Act 2004 s 181(1), (2) (amended by the 2006 Act Sch 23 para 13). The amount of the payment is calculated in the same way as under the Finance Act 2004 s 174(3), and the Board of Inland Revenue has a similar power to make regulations in relation to such a payment: s 181(3), (4).

15 Ibid s 160(4)(b) (s 160(4) amended by 2006 Act Sch 23 para 3(3)). The term also includes a payment by a registered pension scheme that is an occupational pension scheme, to or in respect of a person who is or has been a sponsoring employer which is not an authorised employer payment (see PARA 873B.4 et seq): Finance Act 2004 s 160(4)(a).

16 Ibid s 160(5). If an unauthorised member payment or an unauthorised employer payment made to or in respect of any person would have been greater but for a reduction made in respect of the whole, or any proportion, of the amount which the scheme administrator considers may be the amount of the liability to the scheme sanction charge in respect of it, it is regarded for the purposes of these provisions as increased by the amount of that reduction: s 160(4A) (s 160(4A), (4B) added by 2007 Act Sch 20 para 5). If the amount, or that proportion of the amount, of that liability is in fact less than the amount of the reduction, a subsequent payment of an amount not exceeding the difference between that amount and the amount of the reduction made to or in respect of the same person and before the end of the period of two years beginning with the date on which the unauthorised payment was made, is not regarded for those purposes as an unauthorised member payment or an unauthorised employer payment: Finance Act 2004 s 160(4B).

17 Ibid s 172A(1), (2) (s 172A(1) amended by Finance Act 2008 Sch 28 para 3(2)). See also NOTE 18. The amount of the unauthorised payment is the consideration that might be expected to be received if what is surrendered were assigned by a transaction between parties at arm's length and any power to reduce the entitlement to the benefit or right did not exist: Finance Act 2004 s 172A(8). 'Surrender', in relation to any benefit or right of a member (or a dependant of his) of a pension scheme or other person, includes any schemes, arrangements or understandings of any kind (whether or not legally enforceable) the main purpose, or one of the main purposes, of which is to reduce the member's (or dependant's), or person's entitlement to the benefit or right: s 172A(9).

18 Ibid s 172A(3), (4) (s 172A(3) amended by Finance Act 2008 Sch 28 para 3(3)). The Finance Act 2004 s 172A(2), (4) does not apply to (1) a surrender pursuant to a pension sharing order or provision; (2) a surrender (or agreement to surrender) by the member in return for the conferring on a dependant of an entitlement to benefits after the member's death; (3) a transfer of (or agreement to transfer) benefits or rights so as to become benefits or rights under another arrangement under the pension scheme relating to the member or dependant; (4) a surrender of (or agreement to surrender) benefits or rights in order to fund the making of an authorised surplus payment; (5) a surrender made as part of a retirement-benefit activities compliance exercise; (6) a surrender of prospective entitlement to pension death benefits within s 167(1) (see PARA 873B.6) or lump sum death benefits within s 168(1) (see PARA 873B.8) (or both) made in order to comply with the Employment Equality (Age) Regulations 2006 (or corresponding Northern Ireland legislation); (7) a surrender (or agreement to surrender) which constitutes an assignment (or agreement to assign) within s 172; (8) any surrender (or agreement to surrender) of a description prescribed by regulations made by the Board of Inland Revenue; or (9) a surrender of (or agreement to surrender) rights to payments under an annuity in any case covered by regulations under Sch 28 para 3(2B) (see PARA 873B.5) or 17(3) (see PARA 873B.6): s 172A(5) (amended by 2007 Act Sch 20 para 6(2); and Finance Act 2008 Act Sch 28 para 3(4)). Such regulations may include provision having effect in relation to times before they are made: Finance Act 2004 s 172A(6). See the Registered Pension Schemes (Surrender of Relevant Excess) Regulations 2006, SI 2006/211.

For the meaning of 'pension sharing order or provision' see PARA 873B.4 NOTE 7; and for the meaning of 'authorised surplus payment' see PARA 873B.4 NOTE 12. Further, the Finance Act 2004 s 172A(2), (4) does not apply to the surrender of a benefit to which the member (or a dependant of his) has a prospective entitlement, or to which the person has a prospective entitlement in respect of a member, under an arrangement that is a defined benefits arrangement or a cash balance arrangement, unless (a) in consequence of the surrender, the actual or prospective entitlement of another member (or dependant of another member) of the pension scheme, or of another person in respect of another member, to benefits under the scheme is increased; and (b) the two members are or have been connected persons: s 172A(7). For the meaning of 'connected persons', see the Income and Corporation Taxes Act 1988 s 839; and INCOME TAXATION vol 23(2) (Reissue) PARA 1258 (definition applied for the purposes of the Finance Act 2004 ss 172A-172D by ss 172A(11), 172B(9), 172C(7) and 172D(6)). For the meaning of 'surrender' and the amount of the unauthorised payment, see NOTE 17. As to defined benefits arrangements and cash balance arrangements, see PARA 873B.5 NOTE 13.

A surrender relating to an arrangement under the pension scheme (the 'old arrangement') is made as part of a retirement-benefit activities compliance exercise if (i) it is made in connection with the making of an arrangement under another pension scheme relating to the member (the 'new arrangement'); (ii) the old arrangement and the new arrangement related to the same employment; (iii) both the rights surrendered and the rights conferred under the new arrangement consist of or include a prospective entitlement to pension death benefits within s 167(1) or lump sum death benefits within s 168(1) (or both); (iv) the surrender and the making of the new arrangement constitute or form part of an arrangement the purpose of which is to secure that the activities of the pension scheme are limited to retirement-benefit activities within the meaning of the Pensions Act 2004 s 255 (see PARA 798A) or corresponding Northern Ireland legislation: Finance Act 2004 s 172A(10A) (added by the 2007 Act Sch 20 para 6(4)).

19 A member of a registered pension scheme is a relevant member if, immediately before his death, any of his rights under the pension scheme are (1) rights to benefit to which the member (or any dependant of his) has a prospective entitlement under an arrangement under the pension scheme; or (2) rights to payments under a scheme pension or dependants' scheme pension provided by the scheme administrator or as a result of the application of sums or assets held for the purposes of the pension scheme or under a lifetime annuity or dependants' annuity purchased by the application of sums or assets held for the purposes of the pension scheme, or (3) rights representing the member's unsecured pension fund, or dependant's unsecured pension fund in respect of an arrangement under the pension scheme: Finance Act 2004 s 172B(2) (s 172B as added (see NOTE 3); s 172B(2) amended by the 2007 Act Sch 19 para 12; and the Finance Act 2008 Sch 28 para 4(2)). For the meaning of 'unsecured pension fund' see PARA 873B.5 NOTE 5; and for the meaning of 'dependant's unsecured pension fund', see PARA 873B.6 NOTE 7.

20 There is at any time an increase in the pension rights of the other member of the pension scheme which is attributable to the death if (1) the consideration which might be expected to be received in respect of an assignment (or assignation) of the benefits to which he has an actual or prospective entitlement under the pension scheme at that time, exceeds (2) the consideration which might be expected to be received in respect of such an assignment (or assignation) immediately before that time, in consequence of the death (ignoring for this purpose any power to reduce the entitlement to the benefits): Finance Act 2004 s 172B(3) (amended by the Finance Act 2008 Sch 28 para 4(3)).

22 Finance Act 2004 s 172B(1), (4) (s 172B(4) amended by the 2007 Act Sch 19 para 12). The amount which would (apart from this provision) constitute the unauthorised payment is to be reduced by so much of the excess as arises (1) from the other member becoming entitled to pension death benefits or lump sum death benefits in respect of the dead member; or (2) in any manner prescribed by regulations made by the Board of Inland Revenue: Finance Act 2004 s 172B(5) (amended by 2007 Act Sch 19 para 4). Such regulations may include provision having effect in relation to times before they are made: Finance Act 2004 s 172B(6). For the meaning of 'transfer lump sum death benefit' see PARA 873B.8 NOTE 8. As to pension death benefits, see PARA 873B.6; and as to lump sum death benefits, see PARA 873B.8.

Section 172B does not apply if the benefits to which each of at least 20 members of the pension scheme has an actual or prospective entitlement under the scheme are increased at the same rate in consequence of the death (s 172B(7) (amended by 2007 Act Sch 19 para 12; and Finance Act 2008 Sch 28 para 4(3), 94)); nor does it apply if the increase in the pension rights of the other member is brought about by an assignment (or agreement to assign) within the Finance Act 2004 s 172 (s 172B(8)). However, nothing in s 172B applies in relation to the rights representing the member's unsecured pension fund if those rights would represent the member's alternatively secured pension fund but for Sch 28 para 11(6), (7) (see PARA 873B.5); s 172B(8A) (added by 2007 Act 2007 Sch 19 para 12). The 2004 Act s 172B(7) does not apply if (1) the increase in the pension rights mentioned in the TEXT is an increase in the rate of a dependants' annuity or a dependants' scheme pension or in rights representing a dependants' unsecured pension fund or dependants' alternatively secured pension fund; and (2) the increase is attributable to rights of the deceased member for payments under a dependants' annuity or dependants' scheme pension or rights representing a dependants' unsecured pension fund: s 172B(7A) (added by Finance Act 2008 Sch 28 para 4(5)).

23 For the meaning of 'employer', see PARA 873B.2 NOTE 7.

24 For the meaning of 'tax year', see PARA 873B.7 NOTE 3.

25 An arrangement is a relevant arrangement if it is (1) a money purchase arrangement that is not a cash balance arrangement; or (2) a hybrid arrangement under which the benefits that may be provided to or in respect of the member are, or include, money purchase benefits other than cash balance benefits: 2004 Act s 172C(2). For the meaning of 'money purchase arrangement', 'money purchase benefits', 'cash balance arrangement', 'cash balance benefits' and 'hybrid arrangement', see PARA 873B.5 NOTE 13.

26 The 'permitted maximum' is (1) the maximum amount of relief to which the member is entitled under ibid s 188 (see PARA 873B.12) in respect of relievable pension contributions paid during the tax year (see s 190; and PARA 873B.12), less (2) the amount of any contributions paid by employers under any registered pension scheme in respect of the member in the tax year: s 172C(3). If the member is also a member of one or more other registered pension schemes, the permitted maximum in relation to each of the schemes of which he is a member is where PM is the amount arrived at under s 172C(3) and N is the number of registered pension schemes of which he is a member: s 172C(4).

27 Ibid s 172(1), (5). The amount of the unauthorised payment is the amount by which the amount of the allocated contributions exceeds the permitted maximum: s 172C(6).

28 For the meaning of 'pension input period', see PARA 873B.18.

29 A relevant arrangement is an arrangement under the pension scheme that is (1) a defined benefits arrangement; (2) a cash balance arrangement; or (3) a hybrid arrangement under which the benefits that may be provided to or in respect of the member are, or include, defined benefits or cash balance benefits: 2004 Act s 172D(3).

30 For the meaning of 'occupational pension scheme', see PARA 873B.2 NOTE 7.

31 For the meaning of 'sponsoring employer', see PARA 873B.4 NOTE 10.

32 The pension input amount for a pension input period in respect of the relevant arrangement is determined in accordance with the 2004 Act ss 230-232 (see PARA 873B.18) if the relevant arrangement is a cash balance arrangement; in accordance with ss 234-236 (see PARA 873B.18) if it is a defined benefits arrangement; and in accordance with s 237 (see PARA 873B.18) if it is a hybrid arrangement: s 172D(4).

33 The notional unconnected person input amount for the pension input period in respect of the relevant arrangement is what the pension input amount, as so determined, would have been if the member were connected with a sponsoring employer (or with a person connected with the sponsoring employer) at no time during the pension input period: ibid s 172D(5).

34 Ibid s 172D(5). For other provisions relating to unauthorised payments, see PARA 873B.5 NOTE 6.

35 'Alternatively secured rights' are rights representing the whole or part of the deceased member's alternatively secured pension fund, or dependant's alternatively secured pension fund, in respect of an arrangement under the pension scheme: Finance Act 2004 s 172BA(2) (s 172BA added by 2007 Act Sch 19 para 13). Rights representing the member's unsecured pension fund are alternatively secured rights for this purpose if they would be such rights but for the Finance Act 2004 Sch 28 para 11(6), (7) (see PARA 873B.5): s 172BA(7).

36 Ibid s 172BA(1), (3), (4). However, the amount of the unauthorised payment is reduced by so much (if any) of the excess as arises from the other member becoming entitled to pension death benefits or lump sum death benefits in respect of the deceased member: s 173BA(5). Section 172BA does not apply if the other member's entitlement to the alternatively secured rights is brought about by an assignment within s 172: s 172BA(6).

10. Unauthorised payments by registered pension schemes; employer loans

If an employer loan is not authorised<sup>1</sup> at the time it is made, there is an unauthorised payment of an amount equal to the largest of the amounts set out below in relation to the loan<sup>2</sup>.

2207 (1) If the loan exceeds 50 per cent of the pension scheme assets<sup>3</sup>, the amount is:

2208 where AL is the amount of the loan and VA is an amount equal to 50 per cent of the aggregate of the amount of the sums, and the market value of the assets, held for the purposes of the pension scheme before the loan is made<sup>4</sup>.

2209 (2) If the loan is not adequately secured<sup>5</sup>, the amount is:

$$AO - VA$$

2210 where AO is the amount owing (including interest) at the relevant time, and VA is the market value at that time of the assets charged, but if the loan is not secured by a charge, or is secured by a charge which has insufficient priority<sup>6</sup>, VA is nil<sup>7</sup>.

2211 (3) If the interest rate is too low<sup>8</sup>, the amount is:

2212 where IR is the rate of interest payable at the relevant time, PIR is the rate of interest prescribed by regulations<sup>9</sup> and AO is the amount owing (not including interest) at that time<sup>10</sup>.

2213 (4) If the loan repayment period is too long<sup>11</sup>, the amount is:

2214 where DLRP is the number of days in the period which begins with the date on which the loan is made and ends with the loan repayment date, DFY is the number of days in the period which begins with the date on which the loan is made and ends five years after that date; and AO is the amount owing (including interest) at the relevant time<sup>12</sup>.

2215 (5) If the amount payable for a period is less than the required amount<sup>13</sup>, the amount is the largest of those found by calculating, in relation to each period beginning with the date on which the loan is made and ending with the last day of a loan year:

RA - AP

2216 where RA is the required amount in relation to that period, and AP is the amount payable during that period<sup>14</sup>.

1 As to authorised employer loans see PARA 873B.4 NOTE 14.

2 Finance Act 2004 s 179, Sch 30 para 5.

3 Ibid s 179(1)(a) (see PARA 873B.4 NOTE 14 head (1)) is not complied with.

4 Ibid Sch 30 para 12. For the meaning of 'market value' see PARA 3(4); and for the meaning of 'pension scheme' see PARA 873B.1.

5 Ibid s 179(1)(b) (see PARA 873B.4 NOTE 14 head (2)) is not complied with.

6 Ibid Condition C in ibid Sch 30 para 1 (see PARA 873B.4) is not complied with.

7 Ibid Sch 30 para 13. If, at any time after a loan is made, it ceases to be secured by a charge of adequate value, there is an unauthorised payment of an amount calculated in accordance with head (2) of the text: Sch 30 para 6. If, at any time after a loan is made, it is secured by a charge which is not of adequate value, and (1) it ceases altogether to be secured by a charge; (2) a charge is given which does not comply with Sch 30 para 1, Condition A or C; (3) there is a reduction in the value of the assets charged which does not comply with condition B; or (4) the charge ceases to comply with condition C, there is an unauthorised payment of an amount equal to:

AAE - ABE

where AAE is the amount calculated in accordance with head (2) of the text after the event, and ABE is the amount so calculated before the event: Sch 30 para 7. See also NOTE 14.

8 Ibid s 179(2)(a) (see PARA 873B.4 NOTE 14 head (3)(a)) is not complied with.

9 Ibid regulations made under ibid s 179(2)(a).

10 Ibid Sch 30 para 14. If, at any time after a loan is made, there is an alteration in the repayment terms such that those terms cease to comply with one or more paragraphs of s 179(2), there is an unauthorised payment equal to the largest of such of the amounts calculated in accordance with head (3), (4) or (5) of the text as arise when that paragraph or those paragraphs are not complied with: Sch 30 para 8. If, at any time after a loan is made, there is an alteration in the repayment terms as a result of which the deterioration condition is met in relation to one or more paragraphs of s 179(2) which were not complied with before the alteration, there is an unauthorised payment of the largest of the amounts calculated by applying, for each paragraph of s 179(2) in relation to which the deterioration condition is met, the formula:

where AAA (in relation to a paragraph of s 179(2) which was not complied with before the alteration in the repayment terms) is the amount arising following the non-compliance consequent on the alteration; and ABA, in relation to such a paragraph, is the amount arising before that non-compliance: Sch 30 para 9(1), (3)-(5). The deterioration condition is met in relation to a paragraph of s 179(2) if  $AAA > ABA$ : Sch 30 para 9(2). See also NOTE 14.

11 Ibid s 179(2)(b) (see PARA 873B.4 NOTE 14 head (3)(b)) is not complied with.

12 Ibid Sch 30 para 15(1), (2). However, if the amount produced by the fraction given in the text is greater than 1, the amount to be taken is the amount owing (including interest) at the relevant time: Sch 30 para 15(3). If the loan repayment date has been postponed under s 179(3), the fraction applies as if references to the date on which the loan is made were to the standard loan repayment date on which the loan repayment date was postponed: Sch 30 para 15(4).

13 Ibid s 179(2)(c) (see PARA 873B.4 NOTE 14 head (3)(c)) is not complied with. See also NOTE 10.

14 Ibid Sch 30 para 16(1), (2), (4). If any amount so calculated is negative, it must be treated as nil: Sch 30 para 16(3). See also NOTE 10.

If there is a single unauthorised payment which falls within more than one of Sch 30 paras 6-9 (see NOTES 7, 10), the amount of that payment is equal to the amount of the greater or greatest of the amounts calculated under each of those provisions: Sch 30 para 10. If the aggregate amount of the unauthorised payments in relation to a loan under any of the provisions set out above exceeds the amount of the loan when it was made, the excess is not an authorised payment: Sch 30 para 11.

11. Registered pension schemes: other unauthorised borrowing

where APB is the aggregate of the amounts previously borrowed in respect of the arrangement (excluding any amount which has been repaid); PB is the amount proposed to be borrowed in respect of the arrangement; and VA is the value of the arrangement<sup>4</sup>.

The value of the arrangement is the aggregate of:

- 2217 (1) the amount of such of the sums, and the market value<sup>5</sup> of such of the assets, as represent the member's unsecured pension fund or alternatively secured pension fund in respect of the arrangement (if any)<sup>6</sup>;
- 2218 (2) the amount of such of the sums, and the market value of such of the assets, as represent dependants' unsecured pension funds or alternatively secured pension funds in respect of the arrangement (if any);
- 2219 (3) the aggregate of the value of each scheme pension or dependants' scheme pension payable in respect of the arrangement<sup>7</sup>; and
- 2220 (4) the value of the uncrystallised rights<sup>8</sup> under the arrangement<sup>9</sup>.

A registered pension scheme is not authorised to borrow an amount in respect of any arrangement which is not a money purchase arrangement unless the scheme borrowing condition is met<sup>10</sup>. The scheme borrowing condition is met if:

where APB is the aggregate of the amounts previously borrowed by the pension scheme in respect of arrangements which are not money purchase arrangements (excluding any amount which has been repaid); PB is the amount proposed to be borrowed by the pension scheme; and AARA is the aggregate amount of the relevant sums and assets<sup>11</sup>.

If a registered pension scheme borrows an amount which it is not authorised to borrow under the provision set out above, it is treated as having made a scheme chargeable payment<sup>12</sup>.

Borrowing is borrowing by a registered pension scheme if the amount borrowed is to be repaid from sums or assets held for the purposes of the scheme; and such borrowing is in respect of an arrangement if it is properly attributable to the arrangement in accordance with the provisions of the pension scheme and any just and reasonable apportionment<sup>13</sup>.

1 For the meaning of 'pension scheme' see PARA 873B.1. As to registration see PARA 873B.2.

2 For the meaning of 'money purchase arrangement' see PARA 873B.5 NOTE 7.

3 Finance Act 2004 s 182(1).

4 Ibid s 182(2). For the meaning of 'arrangement' see PARA 873B.5 NOTE 5.

5 For the meaning of 'market value' see PARA 873B.3 NOTE 4.

6 For the meaning of 'unsecured pension fund' see PARA 873B.5 NOTE 5; for the meaning of 'alternatively secured pension fund' see PARA 873B.5 NOTE 13; and for the meaning of 'member' see PARA 873B.4 NOTE 3.

7 The value of a scheme pension or dependants' scheme pension payable in respect of the arrangement is: where RVF is the relevant valuation factor; and ARP is the annual rate at which the pension is payable: 2004 Act s 182(4). The relevant valuation factor in relation to any registered pension scheme or any arrangement under such a scheme, is 20; but the Inland Revenue and the scheme administrator of any registered pension scheme may agree that the relevant valuation factor in relation to the pension scheme, or to any arrangement thereunder, is to be a number greater than 20: s 276. For the meaning of 'scheme pension' see PARA 873B.5 NOTE 6; and for the meaning of 'dependant' see PARA 873B.6 NOTE 2. For the meaning of 'Inland Revenue' see PARA 873B.2 NOTE 1; and for the meaning of 'scheme administrator' see PARA 873B.2 NOTE 4.

8 Rights are uncrystallised if no-one has become entitled to the present payment of benefits in respect of the rights; and a person is treated as entitled to the present payment of benefits in respect of the sums and assets representing his unsecured pension fund or alternatively secured pension fund: ibid s 182(5). If the arrangement is a cash balance arrangement, the value of the uncrystallised rights thereunder is the amount which, on specified assumptions (the 'valuation assumptions'), would be available for the provision of benefits in respect of those rights if a person became entitled to benefits in respect of those rights: s 182(6). If the arrangement is a money purchase arrangement other than a cash balance arrangement, the value of the uncrystallised rights thereunder is the aggregate of the amount of such of the sums, and the market value of such of the assets, held for the purposes of the arrangement as represent those rights: s 182(7). If the arrangement is a hybrid arrangement under which either cash balance benefits or other money purchase benefits (but not defined benefits) may be provided, the value of the uncrystallised rights under the arrangement is the greater of (1) their values calculated under s 182(6) (on the assumption that cash balance benefits are provided); and (2) their value calculated under s 182(7) (on the assumption that other money purchase benefits are provided): s 182(8). For the meaning of 'cash balance arrangement', 'hybrid arrangements' and 'defined benefit' see PARA 873B.5 NOTE 13. As to sums and assets held for the purposes of an arrangement see PARA 873B.5 NOTE 5. The valuation assumptions in relation to a person, benefits and a date are (a) if the person has not reached such age (if any) as must have been reached to avoid any reduction in the benefits on account of age, that the person reached that age on that date; and (b) that the person's right to receive the benefits had not been occasioned by physical or mental impairment: s 277.

11 Ibid s 184(2). The aggregate amount of the relevant sums and assets is the aggregate of (1) the amount of the sums held for the purposes of such of the arrangements under the scheme as are not money purchase arrangements; and (2) the market value of the assets held for the purposes of such of the arrangements under the pension scheme as are not money purchase arrangements: s 184(3).

12 Ibid ss 183(1), (2), 185(1), (2). In the case of a money purchase arrangement if, immediately before the amount is borrowed:

$$APB < \frac{VA}{2}$$

the amount of the scheme chargeable payment is:

s 183(2)(a), (3), (4). Otherwise it is the amount borrowed: s 183(2)(b). APB and VA have the meanings given in the text, and AB is the amount borrowed: s 183(5). In any other case, if, immediately before the amount is borrowed:

$$APB < \frac{AARA}{2}$$

the amount of the scheme chargeable payment is:

s 185(2)(a), (3), (4). Otherwise it is the amount borrowed: s 185(2)(b). APB and AARA have the meanings given in the text, and AB is the amount borrowed: s 185(5).

13 Ibid s 163(1), (2), (4).

12. Income tax reliefs for scheme investments and individual contributions

No liability to income tax arises in respect of income derived from investments<sup>1</sup> or deposits held for the purposes of a registered pension scheme<sup>2</sup>, or underwriting commissions applied for the purposes of such a scheme which would otherwise be chargeable<sup>3</sup> to tax<sup>4</sup>.

An individual who is an active member<sup>5</sup> of a registered pension scheme is entitled to relief in respect of relievable pension contributions<sup>6</sup> paid during a tax year<sup>7</sup> if he is a relevant UK individual for that year<sup>8</sup>. The maximum amount of such relief is the amount of his relevant UK earnings chargeable to income tax for the tax year<sup>9</sup>.

The individual or other person by whom a contribution subject to relief is paid is entitled, on making the payment, to deduct and retain thereout a sum equal to income tax on the contribution at the basic rate for the tax year for which the payment is made; and 2221 (1) the scheme administrator<sup>10</sup> must allow the reduction on receipt of the residue;

2222 (2) the payer is acquitted and discharged of so much money as is represented by the deduction as if the sum had actually been paid; and 2223 (3) the sum so deducted is treated as income tax paid by the scheme administrator<sup>11</sup>.

However, if:

- 2224 (a) the pension scheme is an occupational pension scheme<sup>12</sup>, the member is an employee of a sponsoring employer<sup>13</sup>, and relief in respect of contributions made under the scheme by all of the other members of the scheme who are employees of that employer is given in the same manner; or
- 2225 (b) the pension scheme is a public service pension scheme or marine pilots' benefit fund<sup>14</sup>, and the member is an employee, the amount of the contribution may instead be deducted by the sponsoring employer from the employment income from the individual's employment with the employer for the tax year in which the payment is made<sup>15</sup>.

Where contributions are made under a public service pension scheme or a marine pilots' benefit fund by a member who is not an employee, or contributions are made otherwise than by a member under a net pay pension scheme, relief may instead be given by deducting the contribution from the total income of the individual for the tax year in which it is paid<sup>16</sup>.

1 In relation to a registered pension scheme 'investments' includes futures contracts and options contracts, and income derived from transactions relating to such contracts is treated as derived therefrom: Finance Act 2004 s 186(3). For this purpose, a contract is not prevented from being a futures contract or an options contract by the fact that a party is or may be entitled to receive or liable to make, or entitled to receive and liable to make, only a payment of a sum (as opposed to a transfer of assets) in full settlement of all obligations: s 186(4). A payment made or benefit provided under or in connection with an investment (including an insurance contract or annuity) acquired using sums or assets held for the purposes of a registered pension scheme is treated as made or provided from sums or assets held for those purposes, even if the scheme has been wound up since the investment was acquired: s 161(3), (4).

2 For the meaning of 'pension scheme' see PARA 873B.1. As to registration see PARA 873B.2.

3 I.e. under Schedule D Case VI. For the charge to tax under the Income and Corporation Taxes Act 1988 s 18 (Schedule D Case VI) see INCOME TAXATION vol 23(1) (Reissue) PARA 560 et seq.

4 2004 Act s 186(1). This exemption does not apply to income derived from investments or deposits held as a member of a property investment LLP; and for this purpose 'income' includes relevant stock lending fees, in relation to any investments, to which s 186(1) would apply by virtue of the 1988 Act s 129B (see INCOME TAXATION vol 23(1) (Reissue) PARA 690): 2004 Act s 186(2). For the meaning of 'property investment LLP' see INCOME TAXATION vol 23(2) (Reissue) PARA 1433. Section 186(1) does not prevent income from being charged to tax by virtue of s 185A (see PARA 873B.33): s 186(2A) (added by the Finance Act 2006 Sch 21 para 7).

5 For the meaning of 'active member' see PARA 873B.4 NOTE 3.

6 'Relievable pension contributions', in relation to an individual and a pension scheme, means contributions paid by him or on his behalf under the pension scheme, other than (1) contributions paid after he has reached the age of 75; (2) any life assurance premium contributions; (3) any contributions paid by his employer; and (4) any amounts paid by the Board of Inland Revenue under the Pension Schemes Act 1993 s 42A(3) (see PARA 912) or 43 (see PARA 913) or equivalent Northern Ireland legislation: 2004 Act s 188(1)-(3) (s 188(3) amended by the Finance Act 2007 Sch 18 para 2). For the meaning of 'Board of Inland Revenue' see PARA 873B.2 NOTE 1; and for the meaning of 'employer' see PARA 873B.2 NOTE 7.

Contributions paid by or on behalf of an individual under a registered pension scheme are life assurance premium contributions if (a) rights under a non-group life policy are (or later become) held for the purposes of the scheme, and (b) the contributions are treated by s 195A as paid in respect of premiums under that policy: 2004 Act s 195A(1) (s 195A added by 2007 Act Sch 18 para 3). A 'non-group life policy' is a policy of insurance under which the only benefits which may become payable are benefits payable in consequence, or in anticipation, of (i) the death of the individual or one of a group of individuals which includes the individual; or (ii) the deaths of more than one of a group of individuals which includes the individual and the other members of which are connected with the individual: 2004 Act s 195A(2). An individual ('A') is connected with another individual ('B') if A is B's spouse or civil partner, A is a relative of B, A is the spouse or civil partner of a relative of B, A is a relative of B's spouse or civil partner, or A is the spouse or civil partner of a relative of B's spouse or civil partner; and 'relative' means brother, sister, ancestor or lineal descendant: s 195A(8).

Contributions paid by or on behalf of the individual under the pension scheme are treated as paid in respect of premiums under the non-group life policy if the payment of the contributions constitutes the payment of premiums under the policy, or the person by whom they are paid intend them (or an amount equivalent to them) to be applied towards paying such premiums: s 195A(3). Where the premiums under the policy in a tax year exceeds the amount of any contributions so treated as paid in respect of the premiums, other contributions paid by or on behalf of the individual under the pension scheme in the tax year are treated as paid in respect of premiums under the policy to the extent that their amount does not exceed that excess: s 195A(4). However, where the benefits under the policy relate to the death of one or more of a group of individuals, and contributions are also paid under the pension scheme in the tax year by or on behalf of another member or other members of the group, the amount of the contributions paid by or on behalf of the individual which are treated as paid in respect of premiums under the policy by s 195A(4) does not exceed what is just and reasonable having regard to the operation of s 188(3)(aa) (see head (2)) in relation to the contributions paid by or on behalf of another member or other members of the group: s 195A(5). The Commissioners for Her Majesty's Revenue and Customs may by regulations amend s 195A(2)-(5); and regulations so made which limit the policies of insurance which are non-group life assurance policies or the contributions which are treated as paid in respect of premiums in respect of such policies, may be made so as to have effect in relation to times before they are made: s 195A(6), (7).

The provisions of s 195A do not apply to specified existing policies ('protected policies') unless and until a 'relevant event' (as defined) occurs: 2007 Act Sch 18 para 4(2), 5, 6(2), 7.

An amount recovered by the individual's employer under regulations made under the 1993 Act s 8(3) (see PARA 881) or corresponding Northern Ireland legislation, in respect of minimum payments made to a registered pension scheme is treated for the purposes of the 2004 Act ss 188-194, as a contribution paid by an individual under the scheme: s 188(6). Also for those purposes, references to contributions paid by an individual include contributions made in the form of the transfer by the individual of eligible shares in a company within the permitted period, and the amount of such a contribution is the market value of the shares at the date of the transfer: s 195(1), (2). 'Eligible shares' means shares which the individual has exercised a right to acquire in accordance with the provisions of an SAYE option scheme, or which have been appropriated to him in accordance with the provisions of a share incentive plan; and 'the permitted period' means, in the former case, the period of 90 days following the exercise of the right to acquire, and in the latter, the period of 90 days following the date when the individual directed the trustees of the share incentive plan to transfer the ownership of the shares to him: s 195(3), (4). 'SAYE option scheme' has the meaning given by the Income Tax (Earnings and Pensions) Act 2003 s 516, and 'share incentive plan' that given by s 488: 2004 Act s 195(5). For the meaning of 'market value' see PARA 873B.3 NOTE 4.

A pension credit which increases the rights of the individual under the pension scheme is only treated as a contribution on that individual's behalf if it is derived from a pension scheme that is not a registered pension scheme: s 188(4).

7 For the meaning of 'tax year' see PARA 873B.7 NOTE 3.

8 2004 Act s 188(1)-(3). An individual is a relevant UK individual for a tax year if (1) he has relevant UK earnings chargeable to income tax for that year; (2) he is resident in the United Kingdom at some time during that year; (3) he was so resident both at some time during the five tax years immediately before that year and when he became a member of the pension scheme; or (4) he, or his spouse or civil partner, has for the tax year general earnings from overseas Crown employment subject to UK tax: s 189(1) (amended by the Tax and Civil Partnership Regulations 2005, SI 2005/3229). 'Relevant UK earnings' means employment income, income which is chargeable to tax under Schedule D and is immediately derived from the carrying on or exercise of a trade, profession or vocation (whether personally or as a partner acting personally in a partnership), and income to which the 1988 Act s 529 (see INCOME TAXATION vol 23(2) (Reissue) PARA 1484) applies: 2004 Act s 189(2). Such earnings are treated as not chargeable to income tax if, in accordance with arrangements having effect by virtue of the 1988 Act s 788 (see INCOME TAXATION vol 23(2) (Reissue) PARA 1087 et seq) they are not taxable in the United Kingdom: 2004 Act s 189(3). 'General earnings from Crown employment subject to UK tax' has the meaning given by the 2003 Act s 28: 2004 Act s 189(4). As to the meaning of 'residence' see INCOME TAXATION vol 23(2) (Reissue) PARA 1259 et seq. As to the meaning of 'trade' see INCOME TAXATION vol 23(1) (Reissue) PARA 105; as to the meaning of 'profession' see INCOME TAXATION vol 23(1) (Reissue) PARA 135; and as to the meaning of 'vocation' see INCOME TAXATION vol 23(1) (Reissue) PARA 13. As to the charge under Schedule D see INCOME TAXATION vol 23(1) (Reissue) PARA 88 et seq.

9 Ibid s 190(1). If the amount of such earnings which are so subject is less than the basic amount, the maximum amount of relief is increased to the basic amount; but these provisions do not apply to any amount of relief to which the individual is entitled in respect of any amount recovered by his employer under regulations made under the 1993 Act s 8(3) (see PARA 881) or corresponding Northern Ireland legislation: 2004 Act s 190(2), (5). The 'basic amount' is £3,600 or such greater amount as the Treasury may by order specify: s 190(4). As to the making of such orders see PARA 873B.1 NOTE 2.

10 For the meaning of 'scheme administrator' see PARA 873B.2 NOTE 4.

11 2004 Act ss 191(1), (2), 192(1), (2). When payment of the contribution is received, the scheme administrator is entitled to recover from the Board of Inland Revenue the amount which is treated as income tax paid by him in relation to the contribution, and any amount so recovered is treated for the purposes of the Tax Acts (see INCOME TAXATION vol 23(1) (Reissue) PARA 21) in the same manner as the payment of the contribution: 2004 Act s 192(3). If (apart from this provision) income tax at the higher rate or the additional rate (see INCOME TAXATION vol 23(1) (Reissue) PARA 4) is chargeable in respect of any part of the individual's total income (see INCOME TAXATION vol 23(2) (Reissue) PARA 1271) for the tax year, on the making of a claim the basic rate limit and the higher rate limit (see INCOME TAXATION vol 23(1) (Reissue) PARA 4) for that year in the individual's case are treated as increased by the amount of the contribution: s 192(4) (amended by Finance Act 2009 Sch 2 para 11). For the purposes of the 1988 Act ss 257(5), 257A(5) (see INCOME TAXATION vol 23(2) (Reissue) PARAS 992, 996) and 257AB(4) (see INCOME TAXATION), the individual's total income for the tax year is treated as reduced by the amount of the contribution: 2004 Act s 192(5) (amended by SI 2005/3229). For the meaning of 'chargeable gains' see CAPITAL GAINS TAXATION vol 5(1) (2004 Reissue) PARA 8.

Where, after relief is given to an individual in accordance with the above provisions for a tax year, an assessment, alteration of an assessment or other adjustment of his liability to tax is made, any appropriate consequential adjustments must be made in relief so given; and where relief is so given to an individual, no relief is given in respect of the contribution under any other provision of the Income Tax Acts (see INCOME TAXATION vol 23(1) (Reissue) PARA 21), or (in the case of a contribution under an annuity contract) in respect of any other premium or consideration for an annuity under the same contract: 2004 Act s 192(9), (10).

Section 192(1), (2) has effect subject to such conditions as the Board of Inland Revenue may prescribe by regulations, which may make provision for carrying s 192(1)-(3) into effect, in particular by making provision (1) about how a sum is to be recovered under s 192(3)(a) (including the manner in which a claim for the recovery of a sum is to be made); (2) for the giving of such information, in such form, as may be prescribed by or under the regulations; (3) for the inspection of documents by persons authorised by the Board of Inland Revenue; and (4) specifying the consequences of failure to comply with conditions prescribed by the regulations: s 192(6), (7). Such regulations may, in particular, modify the operation of any provision of the Tax Acts, or provide for the application of any provision of the Tax Acts (with or without modification): 2004 Act s 192(8). As to the making of such regulations see PARA 873B.1 NOTE 2. The regulations so far made are the Registered Pension Schemes (Relief at Source) Regulations 2005, SI 2005/3448 (amended by SI 2009/56, SI 2009/571).

This method of giving relief is known as 'relief at source'.

12 For the meaning of 'occupational pension scheme' see PARA 873B.2 NOTE 7.

13 For the meaning of 'sponsoring employer' see PARA 873B.4 NOTE 10.

14 'Marine pilots' benefit fund' means a fund established under the Pilotage Act 1983 s 15(1)(i), or any scheme supplementing or replacing such a fund: 2004 Act s 191(8). For the meaning of 'public service pension scheme' see PARA 873B.2 NOTE 8.

15 Ibid ss 191(3), (4), 193(1), (2). For the meaning of 'employment' and related expressions see PARA 873B.2 NOTE 7. A deduction may be made only once in respect of the same contribution: s 193(3). A claim for excess relief may be made if (1) the amount of the contributions paid by an individual under one or more relevant net pay pension schemes in a tax year exceeds the employment income from the individual's employment or employments with the sponsoring employer or employers for the tax year; or (2) it is not possible for the sponsoring employer or employers for any other reason to deduct the whole amount of the contributions from the individual's employment income: s 193(4). On the making of such a claim, the amount of the excess may be deducted from the total income of the individual for the tax year: s 193(6). Where, after relief is given to an individual for a tax year in accordance with these provisions, an assessment, alteration of an assessment or other adjustment of his liability to tax is made, any appropriate consequential adjustments must be made in relief so given; and where relief is so given to an individual, no relief is given in respect of the contribution under any other provision of the Income Tax Acts: 2004 Act s 193(7), (8). A net pay pension scheme is a relevant net pay pension scheme if the members of the scheme entitled to be given relief in accordance with s 193 in respect of contributions by them under the scheme include the individual; and 'net pay pension scheme' means a pension scheme some or all of the members of which are entitled to be given such relief in respect of such contributions: ss 191(9), 193(5). Relief to which an individual is entitled by virtue of s 190(2) may only be given in accordance with s 192, and is not required to be given in respect of contributions under a net pay pension scheme: s 191(7).

This method of giving relief is known as 'relief under net pay arrangements'.

16 2004 Act ss 191(5), (6), 194(1). Such relief must be claimed: s 194(1). Relief to which an individual is entitled by virtue of s 190(2) may only be given in accordance with s 192, and is not required to be given in respect of contributions under a net pay pension scheme: s 191(7).

Where, after relief is given to an individual in accordance with the above provisions for a tax year, an assessment, alteration of an assessment or other adjustment of his liability to tax is made, any appropriate consequential adjustments must be made in relief so given; and where relief is so given to an individual, no relief is given in respect of the contribution under any other provision of the Income Tax Acts: 2004 Act s 194(2), (3).

For relevant capital gains tax reliefs see the Taxation of Chargeable Gains Act 1992 s 271; and CAPITAL GAINS TAXATION.

13. Registered pension schemes; tax relief for employers

Contributions<sup>1</sup> paid by an employer<sup>2</sup> under a registered pension scheme<sup>3</sup> in respect of any individual are treated<sup>4</sup> as not being payments of a capital nature to the extent that they would otherwise be; and if they are allowed to be deducted in computing the amount of the employer's profits, the relevant profits are those of the period of account in which the contributions are paid<sup>5</sup>. Such contributions are treated as being expenses of management<sup>6</sup> to the extent that they would not otherwise be so treated, and as referable to the accounting period in which they are paid<sup>7</sup>.

Where contributions are paid by an employer under a registered pension scheme in two consecutive chargeable periods<sup>8</sup> (the 'previous chargeable period' and the 'current chargeable period') and the amount of the contributions paid in the current chargeable period otherwise than for an excepted purpose<sup>9</sup> ('CCCP') exceeds 210 per cent of the contributions paid in the previous chargeable period ('CPCP'), relief is given in respect of so much of CCCP as exceeds 110 per cent of CPCP ('the amount of the relevant excess contributions')<sup>10</sup>.

If the employer ceases to carry on business in the current chargeable period or a later chargeable period in which the above provisions would require a fraction of the amount of the relevant excess contributions to be treated as paid and, were those provisions to apply, relief in relation to the whole of the amount of the relevant excess contributions would not be given pre-cessation<sup>11</sup>, then, at the employer's option, either:

- 2226 (1) the portion of that amount in relation to which relief would not otherwise be so given ('the unrelieved portion') is treated as paid in the chargeable period in which the employer ceases to carry on business; or
- 2227 (2) a specified amount is treated as paid on each day in the period beginning with the current chargeable period and ending with the day on which the employer ceases to carry on business ('the relevant period')<sup>12</sup>.

Where a sum is paid to the trustee or managers of a registered pension scheme by an employer in or towards the discharge of any liability of the employer relating to deficiencies in the assets of the scheme<sup>13</sup>, the making of the payment is treated<sup>14</sup> as if it were the payment of a contribution by the employer under the scheme<sup>15</sup>. If the employer's trade<sup>16</sup>, profession<sup>17</sup>, vocation<sup>18</sup> or business is discontinued before the making of the payment, relief is to be given to the same extent as it would have been given before the discontinuance, and as if the payment had been made on the last day on which the trade, profession, vocation or business was carried on<sup>19</sup>.

The Board of Inland Revenue may make regulations for restricting the extent to which contributions paid by an employer under a registered pension scheme in respect of an individual are subject to relief in cases where

- 259. (a) any of the benefits which will or may be payable to or in respect of the individual under the scheme will be payable only if relevant benefits expected to be so paid under an employer-financed retirement benefits scheme are not so paid and/or
- 260. (b) because relevant benefits are or may be payable to or in respect of the individual under an employer-financed retirement benefits scheme, the aggregate of the amount of any sums and the market value of any assets held for the purposes of, or representing accrued rights under, the registered pension scheme which may be transferred by way of a recognised transfer in respect of the individual will or may be less than it otherwise would be<sup>20</sup>.

Where an employer ('E') pays contributions under a registered pension scheme ('the original scheme') in a chargeable period, and would otherwise<sup>21</sup> be entitled in the next chargeable period to an amount of relief in respect of a payment all or part of which is intended to facilitate the payment of pension contributions under the original scheme or a substitute scheme<sup>22</sup> by a person other than E, then if the avoidance condition<sup>23</sup> is met, the amount of the relevant relief<sup>24</sup> is treated<sup>25</sup> as the amount of a pension contribution paid by E under the original scheme in the chargeable period<sup>26</sup>.

1 For the meaning of 'contributions' see PARA 873B.12 NOTE 6. For this purpose, the term includes minimum payments under the Pension Schemes Act 1993 s 8 or under corresponding Northern Ireland legislation, other than any part recovered from a member of the scheme under regulations made under s 8(3) (see PARA 881): Finance Act 2004 s 196(5).

2 For the meaning of 'employer' and related expressions see PARA 873B.2 NOTE 7.

3 For the meaning of 'pension scheme' see PARA 873B.1. As to registration see PARA 873B.2.

4 Ie for the purposes of Schedule D Case I or II. As to the charge to tax under Schedule D Cases I and II see the Income and Corporation Taxes Act 1988 s 18; and INCOME TAXATION vol 23(1) (Reissue) PARA 95 et seq, PARA 134 et seq.

5 2004 Act s 196(1), (2). For the meaning of 'period of account' see INCOME TAXATION vol 23(1) (Reissue) PARA 155.

6 Ie for the purposes of the 1988 Act s 75: see INCOME TAXATION vol 23(2) (Reissue) PARA 1345.

7 2004 Act s 196(1), (3). For the purposes of the 1988 Act s 76 (see INCOME TAXATION vol 23(2) (Reissue) PARA 1383), such contributions are to be brought into account at Step 1 in s 76(7) to the extent that they would not otherwise be, and they are referable to the accounting period in which they are paid: 2004 Act s 196(1), (4). For the meaning of 'accounting period' see INCOME TAXATION vol 23(1) (Reissue) PARA 837.

8 'Chargeable period' means, in a case where the contributions are deducted in computing profits to be charged under Schedule D Case I or II, a period of account; and in a case where relief in respect of the contributions is given under the 1988 Act s 75 or s 76, an accounting period: 2004 Act ss 197(10), 199A(11) (s 199A added by Finance Act 2008 s 90(1)).

9 Contributions are paid for an excepted purpose if they are paid with a view to funding (1) an increase in the amount of pensions paid to pensioner members of the pension scheme to reflect the increases in the cost of living; or (2) benefits which may accrue under the scheme to or in respect of individuals who become members of the scheme in the current chargeable period as a result of future service as employees of the employer: 2004 Act s 197(6), (7). For the meaning of 'member' and 'pensioner member' see PARA 873B.4 NOTE 3; and for the meaning of 'pension' see PARA 873B.4 NOTE 4.

10 Ibid s 197(1), (2) (s 197(2) amended by Finance Act 2008 Sch 29 para 14). The relevant excess contributions must be £500,000 or more: 2004 Act s 197(2)(a).

A fraction of the whole of the amount of the relevant excess contributions is treated for the purposes of the relieving provisions as if it had been paid in the chargeable period, or in each of the two or three chargeable periods, immediately after the current chargeable period (leaving only the remainder to be treated as paid in the current chargeable period), in accordance with the following table: s 197(4), (5) (s 197(4) amended by Finance Act 2008 Sch 29 para 14). The 'relieving provisions' are the provisions mentioned in the 2004 Act s 196(2)-(4): s 197(9A) (added by Finance Act 2008 Sch 29 para 14).

AMOUNT OF THE RELEVANT EXCESS CONTRIBUTIONS	FRACTION AND CHARGEABLE PERIOD OR PERIODS
£500,000 or more but less than £1m	One-half of the whole of the amount of the relevant excess contributions is to be treated as paid in the chargeable period immediately after the current chargeable period

£1m or more but less than £2m	One-third of the whole of the amount of the relevant excess contributions is to be treated as paid in the two chargeable periods immediately after the current chargeable period
£2m or more	One-quarter of the whole of the amount of the relevant excess contributions is to be treated as paid in each of the three chargeable periods immediately after the current chargeable period

Where the previous chargeable period and the current chargeable period are not of equal length, the amount which would otherwise represent CPCP must be adjusted by multiplication by:

where DCCP is the number of days in the current chargeable period, and DPCP is the number of days in the previous chargeable period: s 197(8), (9).

11 Relief is given pre-cessation if it is given for the chargeable period in which the employer ceases to carry on business or any earlier chargeable period: ibid s 198(2).

12 Ibid ss 197(3)(b), 198(1), (3), (4). The specified amount is calculated by applying the fraction:

$$\frac{UP}{DRP}$$

where UP is the amount of the unrelieved portion, and DRP is the number of days in the relevant period: s 198(5).

13 Ie a payment under the Pensions Act 1995 s 75 (see PARA 850) or corresponding Northern Ireland legislation.

14 Ie for the purposes of the relieving provisions: see NOTE 10. For the purposes of the Income and Corporation Taxes Act 1988 s 76, such a sum is treated (to the extent that it would not otherwise be so treated) as part of expenses payable falling to be brought into account at Step 1 in s 76(7): 2004 Act s 199(5).

15 Ibid s 199(1), (2) (s 199(2) amended by Finance Act 2008 Sch 29 para 14).

16 As to the meaning of 'trade' see INCOME TAXATION vol 23(1) (Reissue) PARA 105.

17 For the meaning of 'profession' see INCOME TAXATION vol 23(1) (Reissue) PARA 135.

18 For the meaning of 'vocation' see INCOME TAXATION vol 23(1) (Reissue) PARA 136.

19 2004 Act s 199(3), (4).

No sum other than contributions paid by an employer under a registered pension scheme is deductible in computing the amount of the profits of the employer for the purposes of Schedule D Case I or II, or is an expense of management for the purposes of the 1988 Act s 75, or is to be brought into account at Step 1 in s 76(7), in connection with the cost of providing benefits under the scheme: 2004 Act s 200.

20 Ibid s 196A(1)-(3) (s 196A added by the Finance Act 2005 Sch 10 para 39). The reference in this provision to contributions paid by an employer being subject to relief is to (1) their being deductible in computing the amount of the profits of the employer for the purposes of the Income Tax (Trading and Other Income) Act 2005 Pt 2 (ss 3-259) (trading income) or Schedule D Case I or II (see INCOME TAXATION vol 23(1) (Reissue) PARA 95 et seq, PARA 134 et seq); (2) their being expenses of management of the employer for the purposes of the Income and Corporation Taxes Act 1988 s 75 (see INCOME TAXATION vol 23(2) (Reissue) PARA 1345); or (3) their being brought into account at Step 1 in the 1988 Act s 76(7) (see INCOME TAXATION vol 23(2) (Reissue) PARA 1383) in respect of the employer (depending on which is appropriate in relation to the employer): 2004 Act s 196A(4). 'Employer-financed retirement benefits scheme' and 'relevant benefits' have the same meaning as in the Income Tax (Earnings and Pensions) Act 2003 ss 393A, 393B (see PARA 758): 2004 Act s 196A(5). For the meaning of 'Board of Inland Revenue', see PARA 873B.2 NOTE 1; and as to the making of such regulations, see PARA 873B.1 NOTE 2. The regulations so far made are the Registered Pension Schemes (Restriction of Employers' Relief) Regulations 2005, SI 2005/3458.

22 A 'substitute scheme' is any registered pension scheme (1) to which there is a relevant transfer in the period of two years ending with the day on which the payment concerned is made; or (2) to which it is envisaged that a relevant transfer will or may be made after that day: 2004 Act s 199A(6). A 'relevant transfer' is a recognised transfer from the original scheme of more than 30% of the aggregate of (a) in a case within head (1) above, the amount of the sums, and the market value of the assets held for the purposes of, or representing accrued rights under, the original scheme immediately before the transfer; and (b) in a case within head (2) above, the amount of those sums and the market value of the assets on the day on which the payment is made: s 199A(7). If there is a transfer from a substitute scheme to another registered pension scheme which would have been a relevant transfer had it been a transfer from the original scheme at the time the relevant transfer was made, that other scheme is also a substitute scheme: s 199A(8).

23 The avoidance condition is that (1) the 2004 Act s 197 would apply if, in the chargeable period in question, E paid pension contributions under the original scheme of the amount of the relevant relief; and (2) the purpose, or one of the purposes, of facilitating the payment of pension contributions by a person other than E is to enable pension contributions to be paid without that provision applying: s 199A(3) (s 199A added by Finance Act 2008 s 90).

24 The 'relevant relief' is the relief to which the employer would (apart from this provision) be entitled in the chargeable period in respect of the payment concerned or, where part only of the payment is intended to facilitate the payment of pension contributions, that part of the payment: ibid s 199A(5).

25 le for the purposes of ibid ss 197, 198 and 199A: s 199A(4), (11).

26 Ibid s 199A(1), (2), (4). The relief referred to in the text includes relief for a liability in respect of the making of the payment by a person other than E: s 199A(9). References to E being entitled to an amount of relief are to any amount (1) being deductible in computing the amount of E's profits for the purposes of the Income Tax (Trading and Other Income) Act 2005 Pt 2 (ss 3-259) or Schedule D Case I or II (as to the charge to tax under Schedule D see INCOME TAXATION); (2) being expenses of management of E for the purposes of the Income and Corporation Taxes Act 1988 s 75 (see INCOME TAXATION); or (3) being brought into account in respect of E at step 1 in s 76(7) (see INCOME TAXATION): 2004 Act s 199A(10).

14. Taxation of benefits: in general

In relation to any pension under a registered pension scheme<sup>1</sup>, the taxable pension income for a tax year<sup>2</sup> is the full amount of the pension that accrues in that year, irrespective of when any amount is actually paid, and the person liable for any tax charged thereon is the person receiving or entitled to the pension under the scheme<sup>3</sup>.

If a trivial commutation lump sum or a winding-up lump sum is paid to a member<sup>4</sup> of a registered pension scheme under the scheme, the member is treated as having taxable pension income for the tax year in which the payment is made equal to the amount of the lump sum; but if immediately before the lump sum is paid, he has uncrystallised rights under any one or more arrangements under the pension scheme, the amount of the taxable pension income if all his rights under the scheme are uncrystallised is 75 per cent of the amount of the lump sum, and in any other case is reduced by 25 per cent of the value of the uncrystallised rights<sup>5</sup>. If a trivial commutation lump sum death benefit, or a winding-up lump sum death benefit is paid to a person under a registered pension scheme, that person is treated as having taxable pension income for the tax year in which the payment is made equal to the amount of the lump sum<sup>6</sup>.

No liability to income tax arises on a lump sum paid under a registered pension scheme if the lump sum is (1) a pension commencement lump sum; (2) a serious ill-health lump sum; (3) a refund of excess contributions lump sum; (4) a defined benefits lump sum death benefit; (5) an uncrystallised funds lump sum death benefit; or (6) a transfer lump sum death benefit<sup>7</sup>. The following sums are chargeable to tax on the scheme administrator<sup>8</sup>: (a) a short service refund lump sum<sup>9</sup>; (b) pension protection lump sum<sup>10</sup>; (c) an annuity protection lump sum death benefit<sup>11</sup>; and (d) an unsecured pension fund lump sum death benefit<sup>12</sup>. A lifetime allowance excess lump sum<sup>13</sup> is chargeable to income tax in accordance with specific provisions<sup>14</sup>, but not otherwise<sup>15</sup>.

1 'Pension under a registered pension scheme' includes (1) an annuity under, or purchased with sums or assets held for the purposes of, or representing acquired rights under, a registered pension scheme; and (2) income withdrawal or dependants' income withdrawal under a registered pension scheme: Income Tax (Earnings and Pensions) Act 2003 s 579D (ss 579A-579D added by the Finance Act 2004 Sch 31 para 6). ## 15. Lifetime allowance charge

A charge to income tax (the 'lifetime allowance charge') arises where a benefit crystallisation event<sup>1</sup> occurs in relation to an individual who is a member of one or more registered pension schemes<sup>2</sup> and either the first or second lifetime allowance charge condition is met<sup>3</sup>.

The first lifetime allowance charge condition is that the whole or any part of the individual's lifetime allowance is available on the benefit crystallisation event, but the amount crystallised on that event exceeds the amount of that allowance then available<sup>4</sup>. The second lifetime allowance charge condition is that none of the individual's lifetime allowance is available on the benefit crystallisation event<sup>5</sup>.

The individual's lifetime allowance is the standard lifetime allowance<sup>6</sup>. However, where one or more lifetime allowance enhancement factors operate in relation to a benefit crystallisation event occurring in relation to the individual, his lifetime allowance at the time of that event is:

where SLA is the standard lifetime allowance at that time, and LAEF is the lifetime allowance enhancement factor which operates with respect to the benefit crystallisation event and the individual or (where more than one so operates) the aggregate thereof<sup>7</sup>. The lifetime allowance enhancement factors are as follows.

- 2228 (1) If a benefit crystallisation event occurs in relation to an individual who has (at any time after 5 April 2006 but before that event) acquired rights under a registered pension scheme by reason of having become entitled to a pension credit which is derived from the same or another registered pension scheme, and the rights under that scheme which became subject to the corresponding pension debit consisted of or included rights to a-commencement pension in payment<sup>8</sup>, the lifetime allowance enhancement factor is the pension credit factor<sup>9</sup>.
- 2229 (2) Where, during any part of the period that is the active membership period<sup>10</sup> in relation to an arrangement<sup>11</sup> relating to the individual under a registered pension scheme, he is a relevant overseas individual<sup>12</sup>, then:
- 194
261. (a) if the arrangement is a money purchase arrangement<sup>13</sup> which is a cash balance arrangement<sup>14</sup>, the lifetime allowance enhancement factor is the cash balance arrangement non-residence factor<sup>15</sup>, and if it is any other kind of money purchase arrangement, the lifetime allowance enhancement factor is the other money purchase arrangement non-residence factor<sup>16</sup>;
- 195
- 2230 (3) Where (at any time after 5 April 2006 but before the benefit crystallisation event) there has been a recognised overseas scheme transfer<sup>19</sup>, the lifetime allowance enhancement factor is the recognised overseas scheme transfer factor<sup>20</sup>; and in calculating that factor:
- 196
263. (a) if the arrangement is a money purchase arrangement which is a cash balance arrangement, the relevant relievable amount is the cash balance arrangement relevant relievable amount<sup>21</sup>, and if it is any other kind of money purchase arrangement, the relevant relievable amount is the other money purchase arrangement relevant relievable amount<sup>22</sup>;

The lifetime allowance charge is a charge at the rate of 55 per cent in respect of so much (if any) of the chargeable amount<sup>25</sup> as constitutes the lump-sum amount<sup>26</sup>; and at the rate of 25 per cent in respect of so much (if any) of the chargeable amount as constitutes the retained amount<sup>27</sup>. The chargeable amount is not treated as income for any purpose of the Tax Acts<sup>28</sup>. The persons liable to the charge are the individual concerned and the scheme administrator of the pension scheme, the liability of whom is joint and several<sup>29</sup>.

Where the scheme administrator is liable to the lifetime allowance charge in respect of a benefit crystallisation event, the scheme administrator may apply to the Inland Revenue for the discharge of that liability on the ground that the scheme administrator reasonably believed that there was no such liability and that, in all the circumstances of the case, it would not be just and reasonable for the liability to be enforced<sup>30</sup>. The liability may be partially discharged if it can be shown that the scheme administrator reasonably believed that the amount of the charge was less than the actual amount and that, in all the circumstances of the case, it would not be just and reasonable for the liability for the balance ('the excess amount') to be enforced<sup>31</sup>.

1 For the meaning of 'benefit crystallisation event' and the amount crystallised see PARA 873B.16.

2 For the meaning of 'pension scheme' see PARA 873B.1. As to registration see PARA 873B.2. For the meaning of 'member' see PARA 873B.4 NOTE 3.

3 Finance Act 2004 s 214(1), (5).

4 Ibid s 214(2).

5 Ibid s 214(3)

6 Ibid s 218(1). For the tax year 2006-07 the standard lifetime allowance is £1,500,000, and for each subsequent tax year it is such amount, not being less than the standard lifetime allowance for the immediately preceding tax year, as is specified by an order made by the Treasury: s 218(3). See the Registered Pension Schemes (Standard Lifetime and Annual Allowances) Order 2007, SI 2007/494, which sets out the following figures for the standard lifetime allowance: 2007-08, £1,600,000; 2008-09, £1,650,000; 2009-10, £1,750,000; 2010-11, £1,800,000. For the meaning of 'tax year' see PARA 873B.7 NOTE 3; and for the meaning of 'the tax year 2006-07' see PARA 873B.7 NOTE 4. For transitional provisions see the 2004 Act Sch 36 paras 7-11, 18, 19 (amended by Finance Act 2005 Sch 10 para 52, Sch 11 Pt 4; Finance Act 2006 Sch 23 paras 36, 44, 45; Income Tax Act 2007 Sch 1 para 485; and Finance Act 2007 Sch 1 paras 15-17). References (however expressed) to a person's lifetime allowance at any time are to what that allowance would be, calculated in accordance with these provisions, if a benefit crystallisation event occurred in relation to the person at that time: 2004 Act s 218(7).

7 Ibid s 218(4).

8 'Post-commencement pension in payment' means a pension to which a person became actually entitled on or after 6 April 2006: ibid s 220(2).

9 Ibid s 220(1), (3). The pension credit factor is:

where APC is the-commencement pension in payment portion of the amount which is the appropriate amount for the purposes of the Welfare Reform and Pensions Act 1999 s 26(1) (or corresponding Northern Ireland legislation) in relation to the pension credit, and SLA is the standard lifetime allowance at the time when the rights were acquired: 2004 Act ss 220(4), 280(1) (s 220(4) amended by the Finance Act 2005 Sch 10 para 45). The-commencement in payment portion of the appropriate amount (1) in a case where the appropriate amount is arrived at under the 1999 Act 29(2) or (3)(b) (or corresponding Northern Ireland legislation) is so much of that amount as is attributable to rights to a-commencement pension in payment, and (2) in a case where the appropriate amount is arrived at under the 1999 Act s 29(3)(a) (or corresponding Northern Ireland legislation), is so much of that amount as is just and reasonable: 2004 Act s 220(4A) (added by the Finance Act 2005 Sch 10 para 45). As to pension credits and pension debits see PARA 873B.7 NOTE 8. The 2004 Act s 220 applies only if notice of intention to rely thereon is given to the Inland Revenue in accordance with regulations made by the Board of Inland Revenue: s 220(5). See the Registered Pension Schemes (Enhanced Lifetime Allowance) Regulations 2006, SI 2006/131 (amended by SI 2006/3261, SI 2009/56); and the Registered Pension Schemes (Provision of Information) Regulations 2006, 2006/567 (see PARA 873B.1). For the meaning of 'Inland Revenue' and 'Board of Inland Revenue' see PARA 873B.2 NOTE 1.

Such regulations are referred to as 'enhanced lifetime allowance regulations' and may include any provision that appears appropriate for ensuring that the correct tax is charged by way of the lifetime allowance charge in respect of amounts crystallised by benefit crystallisation events and in respect of the payment of lump sums by registered pension schemes: 2004 Act s 256(1)-(3) (s 256(1) amended by the Finance Act 2006 Sch 23 para 42). Such regulations may, for that purpose, in particular contain provision requiring any person to produce or make available documents, produce certificates or provide information, and for the review from time to time of any matter registered in accordance with the regulations: 2004 Act s 256(4). See SI 2006/567.

Where an individual fraudulently or negligently produces or makes available an incorrect document, or produces an incorrect certificate, in connection with any matter registered in accordance with enhanced lifetime allowance regulations, or provides false information in connection with any such matter; and (1) the amount of the individual's lifetime allowance at the relevant time, or (2) the amount of the pension commencement lump sums to which he may be entitled at the relevant time, would be greater than it actually is were the document or certificate correct or the information true, the individual is liable to a penalty not exceeding 25 per cent of the relevant excess: 2004 Act s 261(1)-(3). In a case within head (1), the relevant excess is the difference between what would be the amount of the individual's lifetime allowance at the relevant time (were the document or certificate correct or the information true) and whichever is the higher of the actual amount of that allowance at that time and the standard lifetime allowance at that time: s 261(4). The 'relevant time' for the purposes of head (1) is (a) where a benefit crystallisation event has occurred in relation to the individual since the document was produced or made available, the certificate produced, or the information provided (but before a penalty under s 261 is imposed), the time when that event occurs; and (b) in any other case, the time when the document was produced or made available, the certificate produced, or the information provided: s 261(5). In a case within head (2), the relevant excess is the difference between what would be the amount of the pension commencement lump sums to which the individual may be entitled at the relevant time (were the document or certificate correct or the information true) and the actual amount at that time of the pension commencement lump sums to which he may be entitled: s 261(6). The 'relevant time' for the purposes of head (2) is the time when the document was produced or made available, the certificate produced, or the information provided: s 261(7). For the meaning of 'pension commencement lump sum' see PARA 873B.7.

An individual who fails to produce or make available any document required to be produced by enhanced lifetime allowance regulations, to produce any certificate so required to be produced, or to provide any information so required to be provided, is liable to a penalty not exceeding £3,000: s 262.

As to the making of such regulations see PARA 873B.1 NOTE 2.

10 The 'active membership period', in relation to a benefit crystallisation event occurring in relation to an arrangement relating to the individual, is the period beginning with the date on which benefits first began to accrue to or in respect of him under the arrangement or, if later 6 April 2006, and ending immediately before the benefit crystallisation event: ibid s 221(4). If benefits ceased to accrue to or in respect of the individual under the arrangement before the benefit crystallisation event, the active membership period is treated as having terminated at that time: s 221(5).

11 For the meaning of 'arrangement' see PARA 873B.5 NOTE 5.

12 If he is not a relevant UK individual (see PARA 873B.12 NOTE 8); or he is a relevant UK individual only by virtue of the 2004 Act s 189(1)(c) (see PARA 873B.12 NOTE 8) and is not employed by a person resident in the United Kingdom: s 221(3). As to residence generally see INCOME TAXATION vol 23(2) (Reissue) PARA 1259 et seq. Section 221 applies only if notice of intention to rely thereon is given to the Inland Revenue in accordance with regulations made by the Board of Inland Revenue: s 221(6). As to the description and scope of such regulations, and the penalties for non-compliance see NOTE 9. See SI 2006/131; and SI 2006/567, NOTE 9.

13 For the meaning of 'money purchase arrangement' see PARA 873B.5 NOTE 13.

14 For the meaning of 'cash balance arrangement' see PARA 873B.5 NOTE 13.

15 The cash balance arrangement non-residence factor is:

where CV is the closing value of the individual's rights under the arrangement, OV is the opening value of those rights, and SLA is the standard lifetime allowance at the end of that part of the active membership period during which the individual was a relevant overseas individual: 2004 Act s 222(3)(a), (4). If there have been two or more parts of the active membership period during which the individual was a relevant overseas individual, the cash balance arrangement non-residence factor is the aggregate of the factors arrived at by the application of the above formula to each of those parts of that period: s 222(3)(b).

For this purpose, the closing value of the individual's rights under the arrangement is the amount which would, on the valuation assumptions, be available for the provision of benefits to or in respect of the individual under the arrangement if he became entitled to the benefits at the end of the part of the active membership period during which he was a relevant overseas individual; and the opening value of those rights is the amount which would, on those assumptions, be available for the provision of benefits to or in respect of the individual under the arrangement if he became entitled to the benefits at the beginning of that part of that period: s 222(5). As to the valuation assumptions see PARA 873B.11 NOTE 8.

16 Ibid ss 221(1), (2), 222(3). The other money purchase arrangement non-residence factor is:

where ROIC is the amount of the contributions made under the arrangement by or in respect of the individual in any part of the active membership period during which he is a relevant overseas individual, and SLA is the standard lifetime allowance at the time when that part of that period ended: s 222(6)(a), (7). If there have been two or more parts of the active membership period during which the individual was a relevant overseas individual, the other money purchase arrangement non-residence factor is the aggregate of the factors arrived at by the application of the above formula to each of those parts of that period: s 222(6)(b). For the meaning of 'contributions' see PARA 873B.12 NOTE 6.

17 The defined benefits arrangement non-residence factor is:

where RVF is the relevant valuation factor; PE is the amount of the annual rate of the pension which would, on the valuation assumptions, be payable to the individual under the arrangement if he became entitled to payment thereof at the end of that part of the active membership period during which he was a relevant overseas individual; LSE is the amount of the lump sum to which he would, on those assumptions, be entitled under the arrangement (otherwise than by commutation of pension) if he became entitled to payment thereof at the end of that part of that period; PB is the amount of the annual rate of the pension which would, on those assumptions, be payable to the individual under the arrangement if he became entitled to payment thereof at the beginning of that part of that period; LSB is the amount of the lump sum to which he would, on those assumptions, be entitled under the arrangement (otherwise than by commutation of pension) if he became entitled to payment thereof at the beginning of that part of that period; and SLA is the standard lifetime allowance at the time when that part of that period ended: ibid s 223(3)(a), (4). If there have been two or more parts of the active membership period during which the individual was a relevant overseas individual, the defined benefits arrangement non-residence factor is the aggregate of the factors arrived at by the application of the above formula to each of those parts of that period: s 223(3)(b). For the meaning of 'defined benefits arrangement' see PARA 873B.5 NOTE 13; and for the meaning of 'relevant valuation factor' see PARA 873B.11 NOTE 7.

18 Ibid ss 221(1), (2), 223(1), (2). The hybrid arrangement non-residence factor is the greater or greatest of whichever of the cash balance arrangement non-residence factor, the other money purchase arrangement non-residence factor or the defined benefits arrangement non-residence factor as are relevant in the case of the hybrid arrangement: s 223(5). A factor is a relevant factor in a hybrid arrangement if, in any circumstances, the benefits that may be provided to or in respect of the individual under the arrangement may be benefits linked to that factor; and for this purpose cash balance benefits are linked to the cash balance arrangements non-residence factor, other money purchase benefits to the other money purchase arrangement non-residence factor, and defined benefits to the defined benefits arrangement non-residence factor: s 223(6), (7).

19 There is a 'recognised overseas scheme transfer' if any sum or asset held for the purposes of an arrangement (a 'recognised overseas scheme arrangement') under a recognised overseas pension scheme or representing accrued rights under such an arrangement, is transferred so as to become held for the purposes of, or to represent rights under, an arrangement under a registered pension scheme relating to the individual: ibid s 224(2), (3). For the meaning of 'recognised overseas pension scheme' see PARA 873B.4 NOTE 8. As to sums or assets held for the purposes of an arrangement see PARA 873B.5 NOTE 5.

20 Ibid s 224(1), (4). The recognised overseas scheme transfer factor is:

where AAT is the aggregate of the amount of any sum transferred, and the market value of any asset transferred, on the recognised overseas scheme transfer; RRA is the relevant relievable amount; and SLA is the standard lifetime allowance at the time when the recognised overseas scheme transfer took place: s 224(5). For the meaning of 'market value' see PARA 873B.3 NOTE 4. Section 224 applies only if notice of intention to rely thereon is given to the Inland Revenue in accordance with regulations made by the Board of Inland Revenue: s

224(9). As to the description and scope of such regulations, and the penalties for non-compliance see NOTE 9. See SI 2006/131; and SI 2006/567, NOTE 9.

21 The cash balance relevant relievable amount is:

where CV is the closing value of the individual's rights under the arrangement, and OV is the opening value of those rights: 2004 Act s 225(3)(a), (4). For this purpose, the closing value of the individual's rights under the recognised overseas scheme arrangement is the amount which would, on the valuation assumptions, be available for the provision of benefits to or in respect of the individual under the arrangement if he became entitled to the benefits at the end of the part of the overseas arrangement active membership period during which he was not a relevant overseas individual; and the opening value of those rights is the amount which would, on those assumptions, be available for the provision of benefits to or in respect of the individual under the arrangement if he became entitled to the benefits at the beginning of that part of that period: s 225(5). If there have been two or more parts of that period during which the individual was not a relevant overseas individual, the cash balance relevant relievable amount is the aggregate of the factors arrived at by the application of the above formula to each of those parts of that period: s 225(3)(b).

'Overseas arrangement active membership period' is the period beginning with the date on which the benefits first began to accrue to or in respect of the individual under the recognised overseas scheme arrangement or, if later, 6 April 2006, and ending immediately before the recognised overseas scheme transfer: s 224(7). However, if benefits ceased to accrue to or in respect of the individual under that arrangement before that transfer, the overseas arrangement active membership period is treated as having terminated at that time: s 224(8).

22 Ibid s 225(1), (2). The other money purchase relevant relievable amount is the amount of the contributions made under the arrangement by or in respect of the individual in any part of the overseas arrangement active membership period during which the individual was not a relevant overseas individual: s 225(6)(a), (7). If there have been two or more parts of that period during which the individual was not a relevant overseas individual, the other money purchase relevant relievable amount is the aggregate of the factors arrived at by the application of the above formula to each of those parts of that period: s 225(6)(b).

23 The defined benefits relevant relievable amount is:

where RVF is the relevant valuation factor; PE is the amount of the annual rate of the pension which would, on the valuation assumptions, be payable to the individual under the recognised overseas scheme arrangement if he became entitled to payment thereof at the end of that part of the overseas arrangement active membership period during which he was not a relevant overseas individual; LSE is the amount of the lump sum to which he would, on those assumptions, be entitled under the arrangement (otherwise than by commutation of pension) if he became entitled to payment thereof at the end of that part of that period; PB is the amount of the annual rate of the pension which would, on those assumptions, be payable to the individual under the arrangement if he became entitled to payment thereof at the beginning of that part of that period; and LSB is the amount of the lump sum to which he would, on those assumptions, be entitled under the arrangement (otherwise than by commutation of pension) if he became entitled to payment thereof at the beginning of that part of that period: ibid s 226(3)(a), (4). If there have been two or more parts of the overseas arrangement active membership period during which the individual was not a relevant overseas individual, the defined benefits relevant relievable amount is the aggregate of the factors arrived at by the application of the above formula to each of those parts of that period: s 226(3)(b).

24 Ibid s 226(1), (2). The hybrid relevant relievable amount is the greater or greatest of whichever of the cash balance arrangement relevant relievable amount, the other money purchase relevant relievable amount or the defined benefits relevant relievable amount as are relevant in the case of the hybrid arrangement: s 226(5). An amount is relevant to a hybrid arrangement if, in any circumstance, the benefits that may be provided to or in respect of the individual under the arrangement may be benefits linked to that amount; and for this purpose cash balance benefits are linked to the cash balance relevant relievable amount, other money purchase benefits to the other money purchase relevant relievable amount, and defined benefits to the defined benefits relevant relievable amount: s 226(6), (7).

25 The 'chargeable amount' is the aggregate of the basic amount and any amount which is treated as forming part of the lump-sum amount under ibid s 215(6) (see NOTE 26, head (2)) or of the retained amount under s 215(8) (see NOTE 27 head (2)): s 215(3). The 'basic amount' is (1) if the first lifetime allowance charge condition is met, the amount by which the amount crystallised by the benefit crystallisation event exceeds the amount of the individual's lifetime allowance available thereon; and (2) if the second lifetime allowance charge condition is met, the amount crystallised by the benefit crystallisation event: s 215(4) (amended by Finance Act 2008 Sch 29 para 15).

26 The 'lump-sum amount' is the aggregate of (1) so much of the basic amount as is paid as a lump sum to the individual or a lump sum death benefit in respect of him and (2) if and to the extent that the tax payable under 2004 Act s 215 is covered by a scheme-funded tax payment, the amount so covered: s 215(5), (6). An amount of tax is covered by a scheme-funded tax payment if the tax is paid by the scheme administrator, and the individual's rights under the pension scheme are not reduced so as fully to reflect the amount of that payment: s 215(9). For the meaning of 'scheme administrator' see PARA 873B.2 NOTE 4; and for the meaning of 'lump sum death benefit' see PARA 873B.8 NOTE 1.

27 Ibid s 215(1), (2). The 'retained amount' is the aggregate of (1) so much of the basic amount as is not paid as a lump sum to the individual or a lump sum death benefit in respect of the individual; and (2) if and to the extent that the tax payable under s 215 is covered by a scheme-funded tax payment, the amount so covered: s 215(5), (6). The Treasury may by order amend s 215(2) so as to vary the rate of the lifetime allowance charge, and such an order may make provision for there to be different rates in different circumstances: s 215(2A), (2B) (added by Finance Act 2009 Sch 2 para 14). As to the making of such orders, see INCOME TAXATION vol 23(1) (Reissue) PARA 27.

28 2004 Act s 215(11). For the meaning of 'the Tax Acts' see INCOME TAXATION vol 23(1) (Reissue) PARA 21.

29 Ibid s 217(1). However, where the liability arises by reason of the payment of a relevant lump sum death benefit, it is a liability of the person to whom the lump sum death benefit is paid: s 217(2). A person is liable whether or not that person, any other person liable to the charge, or the scheme administrator (if not so liable) is resident, ordinarily resident or domiciled in the United Kingdom: s 217(5). If more than one relevant lump sum death benefit is paid in respect of an individual and tax is not chargeable on the whole amount of all of them, each of the persons to whom any of those benefits is paid is liable to such portion of the total amount of the tax consequently payable as appears to the Inland Revenue to be just and reasonable: s 217(3), (4). As to the meaning of 'residence' and 'ordinary residence' see INCOME TAXATION vol 23(2) (Reissue) PARA 1260; and for the meaning of 'domicile' see INCOME TAXATION vol 23(2) (Reissue) PARA 1265.

30 Ibid s 267(1)-(3). On the receipt of such an application, the Inland Revenue must decide whether to discharge the liability, and must notify the scheme administrator accordingly: s 267(4), (9). See also NOTE 31.

31 Ibid s 267(5), (6). On the receipt of such an application, the Inland Revenue must decide whether to discharge the liability for the excess amount (or for part of the excess amount) and must notify the scheme administrator accordingly: s 267(7), (9). No discharge (whether total or partial) under s 267 affects the liability of any other person to the charge concerned: s 267(8). Regulations made by the Board of Inland Revenue may make provision supplementing s 267, and such regulations may in particular make provision as to the time limits for the making of an application: s 267(10). For the meaning of 'Board of Inland Revenue' see PARA 873B.2 NOTE 1. As to the making of such regulations see PARA 873B.1 NOTE 2. As to appeal against a decision on such an application see PARA 873B.19 NOTE 13. The regulations so far so made are the Registered Pension Schemes (Discharge of Liabilities under Sections 267 and 268 of the Finance Act 2004) Regulations 2005, SI 2005/3452.

16. Benefit crystallisation events and amounts crystallised

The events which are benefit crystallisation events in relation to an individual, and the amount which is crystallised by each of those events, are set out below.

2231 (1) The designation of sums or assets held for the purposes of a money purchase arrangement<sup>1</sup> under any of the relevant pension schemes<sup>2</sup> as available for the payment of unsecured pension<sup>3</sup> to the individual is a benefit crystallisation event, and the amount so crystallised is the aggregate of the amount of the sums and the market value<sup>4</sup> of the assets designated<sup>5</sup>.

2232 (2) The individual's becoming entitled to a scheme pension<sup>6</sup> under any of the relevant pension schemes is a benefit crystallisation event, and the amount crystallised is<sup>7</sup>

$RVF \times P$ .

2233 (3) A benefit crystallisation event occurs where a scheme pension to which the individual has become entitled, becomes payable, otherwise than in excepted circumstances<sup>8</sup>, at an increased annual rate which (a) exceeds the threshold annual rate<sup>9</sup>; and (b) exceeds by more than the permitted margin<sup>10</sup> the rate at which it was payable on the day on which the individual became entitled to it. The amount crystallised is<sup>11</sup>

$$RVF \times P.$$

2235 (5) A benefit crystallisation event occurs where the individual reaches the age of 75 when prospectively entitled to a scheme pension or a lump sum (or both) under a defined benefits arrangement<sup>14</sup> under any of the relevant pension schemes. The lump sum is<sup>15</sup>

$$(RVF \times DP) + DSLS.$$

2240 (10) The happening of a prescribed event in relation to a prescribed payment<sup>24</sup>.

1 For the meaning of 'money purchase arrangement' see PARA 873B.5 NOTE 13.

2 The 'relevant pension schemes' means the registered pension schemes of which the individual is a member: Finance Act 2004 s 216(2), Sch 32 para 1. For the meaning of 'pension scheme' see PARA 873B.1. As to registration see PARA 873B.2. For the meaning of 'member' see PARA 873B.4 NOTE 3. See also NOTE 18.

3 For the meaning of 'unsecured pension' see PARA 873B.5 NOTE 5.

4 For the meaning of 'market value' see PARA 873B.3 NOTE 4.

5 2004 Act s 216(1). Where, immediately before the individual reaches the age of 75, there is under any of the relevant pension schemes a hybrid arrangement relating to the individual, and the benefits that may be provided to or in respect of him under the arrangement may, depending on the circumstances, be money purchase benefits or defined benefits, head (1) of the text applies as if, at that time, the circumstances are such that the benefits to be provided are money purchase benefits (with the effect that, under Sch 28 para 8(2) (see PARA 873B.5), any relevant uncrystallised funds are treated as having been designated under the arrangement as available for the provision of unsecured pension to the individual): Sch 32 para 5(1), (2) (amended by the Finance Act 2005 Sch 10 para 25). The amount crystallised is the greater of the amount found under head (1) and that found under head (5) of the text: 2004 Act Sch 32 para 5(4). See also NOTE 14. For the meaning of 'hybrid arrangement' see PARA 873B.5 NOTE 13.

6 For the meaning of 'scheme pension' see PARA 873B.5 NOTE 6.

7 2004 Act s 216(1). 'RVF' is the relevant valuation factor (see PARA 873B.11 NOTE 7) and 'P' is the amount of the pension which will be payable to the individual in the period of 12 months beginning with the day on which he becomes entitled to it (assuming that it remains payable throughout that period at the rate at which it is payable on that day): Sch 32 paras 6, 9(1). If the pension is under a public service pension scheme (see PARA 873B.2 NOTE 8), any abatement of the pension must be left out of account in determining the amount of the pension which will be so payable for this purpose: Sch 32 para 9(1A) (added by the 2005 Act Sch 10 para 8). If the amount of the pension is reduced so as to reflect the amount of any tax under the 2004 Act s 215 (see PARA 873B.15) to be paid by the scheme administrator, that reduction must be left out of account in determining the amount of the pension for the purpose of determining 'P'; and if the reduction is such that, in accordance with normal actuarial practice, it would be taken fully to reflect the amount of the tax, the tax is not treated as tax paid by the scheme administrator for the purposes of s 215(9): Sch 32 para 9(2), (3) (Sch 32 para 9(2) amended, Sch 32 para 9(3) added by 2005 Act Sch 10 para 43). If the scheme pension is funded (in whole or in part) by the application of sums or assets representing the whole or part of the individual's unsecured pension fund, the amount crystallised by the event is reduced by the amount (or an appropriate proportion of the amount) previously crystallised on the designation of the sums or assets as available for the payment of unsecured pension (ie where head (1) of the text has applied): 2004 Act Sch 32 para 3 (amended by the 2005 Act Sch 10 para 25). 'Abatement', in relation to a scheme pension to which a person has become entitled under a public service pension scheme, means the reduction of the pension (including its reduction to nil) in accordance with the rules of the pension scheme by reason of the person's employment in public service: 2004 Act s 279(1) (amended by 2005 Act Sch 10 para 9; and Finance Act 2006 Sch 23 para 33).

If the individual becomes entitled to the pension before reaching normal minimum pension age, and the ill-health condition is not satisfied immediately before he becomes so entitled, he is treated as having become entitled to the pension only on reaching normal minimum pension age; and if he becomes entitled before reaching normal minimum pension age to the payment of a lifetime annuity purchased under a money purchase arrangement under any of the relevant pension schemes, and the ill-health condition is not satisfied immediately before he becomes so entitled, head (2) of the text applies as if the lifetime annuity were a scheme pension under the pension scheme and the individual became entitled to it only on reaching normal minimum pension age: 2004 Act Sch 32 paras 7(1), (2), 8. For the meaning of 'normal minimum pension age' see PARA 873B.5 NOTE 3; and for the meaning of 'ill-health condition' see PARA 873B.5 NOTE 4.

8 'Excepted circumstances' means (1) that at the time when the annual rate of the individual's pension is increased there are at least 50 pensioner members of the pension scheme; and (2) that the individual is one of a class of at least 20 pensioner members of the pension scheme, and all the scheme pensions being paid under the pension scheme to pensioner members of that class are at that time increased at the same rate: ibid Sch 32 para 10(1) (amended by Finance Act 2008 Sch 29 para 7). A class may consist of all the pensioner members of the pension scheme: 2004 Act Sch 32 para 10(2) (Sch 32 para 10(2)-(4) added by Finance Act 2008 Sch 29 para 7). Where (a) the annual rate of the individual's pension is increased in excepted circumstances (the 'excepted increase'); (b) before the period of 12 months beginning with the date of the excepted increase, the annual rate of the individual's pension is increased in circumstances which would (apart from head (a) above) be excepted circumstances (the 'subsequent increase'); and (c) the class by virtue of which head (2) above is satisfied on the subsequent increase (the 'new class') is not the class by virtue of which it was satisfied on the excepted increase, then if the purpose, or one of the main purposes, of the individual's being included in the new class is to increase the annual rate of the individual's pension without the benefit crystallisation event referred to in head (3) of the text occurring, the subsequent increase is not in excepted circumstances: 2004 Act Sch 32 para 10(3), (4). For the meaning of 'pensioner member' see PARA 873B.4 NOTE 3. For the purposes of this benefit crystallisation event, any abatement of the scheme pension must be left out of account in determining the increased annual rate of the pension and the rate at which it was payable on the day on which the individual became entitled to it: Sch 32 para 9A (added by 2005 Act Sch 10 para 8). For the meaning of 'abatement', see NOTE 7.

9 The 'threshold annual rate' is the annual rate of the pension on the date of which the increase date is the first anniversary, increased by the greatest of (1) the relevant percentage rate; (2) the relevant indexation percentage; and (3) £250, and rounded up to the next greatest amount which (a) where the pension is payable monthly, gives an amount of whole pounds when divided by 12; or (b) where the pension is payable weekly, gives an amount of whole pounds when divided by 52: 2004 Act Sch 32 para 10A(1), (2), (8) (Sch 32 para 10A added by Finance Act 2008 Sch 29 para 8). The Treasury may by order substitute the amount in head (3) above, and such substituted amount may be calculated as a percentage of the standard lifetime allowance: Sch 32 para 10A(11). As to the making of such orders, see INCOME TAXATION.

If the person became entitled to the pension after the date of which the increase date is the first anniversary, the threshold annual rate is the annual rate of the pension on the date on which the person became entitled to the pension, so increased and rounded up: ibid Sch 32 para 10A(3). The 'increase date' is the date on which the individual becomes entitled to payment of the pension at the increased annual rate; and the 'relevant percentage rate' is, in a case where the pension is paid under a pension scheme, or an arrangement under a pension scheme, in relation to which the relevant valuation factor is a number greater than 20, the rate agreed by the Commissioners for HM Revenue and Customs (formerly the Board of Inland Revenue) and the scheme administrator; otherwise, the relevant percentage rate is 5%: Sch 32 para 10A(5). The 'relevant indexation percentage' means (i) if the retail prices index for the reference month is higher than the retail prices index for the same calendar month in the previous year, the percentage increase in that index; and (ii) if it is not, 0%: Sch 32 para 10A(6). The scheme administrator may select as the reference month any month in the period of 12 months ending with the month in which the increase date falls: Sch 32 para 10A(7). If the pension is under a public service pension scheme, any abatement of the pension must be left out of account in determining for these purposes the annual rate of the pension on the date of which the increase date is the first anniversary (or, as the case may be, the date on which the person became entitled to the pension): Sch 32 para 10A(9). A person who becomes entitled to payment of a scheme pension at an increased annual rate on 29 February in any year is treated for these purposes as having become so entitled on 28 February: Sch 32 para 10A(10).

10 If the person becomes entitled to the pension on or after 6 April 2006, the permitted margin is the amount by which the annual amount of the pension at the rate at which it was payable on the day on which the individual became entitled to it would be greater if it had been increased by whichever of the following calculations gives the greater amount: ibid Sch 32 para 11(1), (2). The first calculation involves increasing that annual amount at the relevant annual percentage rate for the whole of the period beginning with the month in which the individual became entitled to the pension, and ending with the month in which he becomes entitled to payment of the pension at the increased rate: Sch 32 para 11(3). The second calculation involves increasing that annual amount by the relevant indexation percentage: Sch 32 para 11(5). The relevant annual percentage rate is (1) in a case where the pension is paid under a pension scheme, or an arrangement under a pension scheme, in relation to which the relevant valuation factor is a number greater than 20, the annual rate agreed by the Inland Revenue and the scheme administrator; and (2) otherwise, 5 per cent per annum: Sch 32 para 11(4). For the meaning of 'Inland Revenue' see PARA 873B.2 NOTE 1; and for the meaning of 'scheme administrator' see PARA 873B.2 NOTE 4. If the retail prices index for the reference month in which the individual becomes entitled to payment of the pension at the increased rate is higher than it was for the base month, the relevant indexation percentage is the percentage increase in that index. Otherwise, it is 0 per cent: Sch 32 para 11(6), (7) (Sch 32 para 11(6) amended by Finance Act 2008 Sch 29 para 9). 'Retail prices index' means the general index (for all items) published by the Office for National Statistics or, if that index is not published for a relevant month, any substituted index or index figures published by that Office: 2004 Act s 279(1). The scheme administrator may select as the reference month any month in the period of 12 months ending with the month in which the individual become entitled to payment of the pension at the increased rate; and the 'base month' is the month which is the same number of months before the month in which the individual became entitled to the pension, as the reference month is before the month in which the individual become entitled to payment of the pension at the increased rate: Sch 32 para 11(7A), (7B) (added by Finance Act 2008 Sch 29 para 9). If the pension is under a public service pension scheme, any abatement of the pension is left out of account in determining for this purpose the annual amount of the pension at the rate at which it was payable on the day on which the individual became entitled to it: 2004 Act Sch 32 para 11(8) (added by 2005 Act Sch 10 para 8). For the meaning of 'abatement', see NOTE 7.

If the individual became entitled to the pension before 6 April 2006, the permitted margin is the greater of what would be the permitted margin at that time if the individual had become entitled to the pension on or after that date and the amount by which the annual amount of the pension at the rate at which it was payable on the day on which he became entitled to it would be greater if it had been increased for the whole or the period specified in Sch 32 para 11(3) at the rate of P% per annum, where 'P%' is the percentage by which, in accordance with the rules of the pension scheme immediately before 6 April 2006, the annual rate of the pension is to be increased each year: 2004 Act Sch 32 para 12. If the pension is under a public service pension scheme, any abatement of the pension is left out of account in determining for this purpose the annual amount of the pension at the rate at which it was payable on the day on which the individual became entitled to it: Sch 32 para 12(4) (added by 2005 Act Sch 10 para 8).

11 2004 Act s 216(1) (amended by Finance Act 2008 Sch 29 para 5). 'XP' is the amount by which the increased annual rate of the pension exceeds the rate at which it was payable on the day on which the individual became entitled to it, as increased by the permitted margin: 2004 Act Sch 32 para 13(1). However, if one or more benefit crystallisation events has or have previously occurred by reason of the individual's having become entitled to payment of the pension at an increased rate, 'XP' does not include the amount of XP on that event, or the aggregate of the amounts of XP on by those events: Sch 32 para 13(2) (amended by Finance Act 2008 Sch 29 para 10). The amount of XP on a previous benefit crystallisation event is increased by whichever of the following produces the greater amount (1) increasing the amount of XP on the previous event at the relevant annual percentage rate (see NOTE 9) for the whole of the period beginning with the month in which the previous event occurred, and ending with the month in which the individual becomes entitled to payment of the pension at the increased rate; or (2) increasing that amount by the relevant indexation percentage: 2004 Act Sch 32 para 13(2A)-(2D) (Sch 32 para 13(A)-(2G) added by Finance Act 2008 Sch 29 para 10). The relevant indexation percentage is (a) if the retail prices index for the reference month is higher than that for the base month, the percentage increase in that index and (b) if it is not, 0%. The scheme administrator may select as the reference month any month in the period of 12 months ending with the month in which the individual becomes entitled to payment of the pension at the increased rate; and the base month is the month which is the same number of months before the month in which the previous event occurred, as the reference month is before the month in which the individual became entitled to payment of the pension at the increased rate: 2004 Act Sch 32 para 13(2E)-(2G). If the pension is under a public service pension scheme, any abatement of the pension must be left out of account in determining for this purpose the increased annual amount of the pension and the rate at which it was payable on the day on which the individual became entitled to it: Sch 32 para 13(3) (added by 2005 Act Sch 10 para 8). If the rate at which the pension is payable is reduced so as to reflect the amount of any tax under the 2004 Act s 215 (see PARA 873B.15) to be paid by the scheme administrator, that reduction must be left out of account in determining the rate at which the pension is payable for this purpose; and if the reduction is such that, in accordance with normal actuarial practice, it would be taken fully to reflect the amount of the tax, the tax is not treated as tax paid by the scheme administrator for the purposes of s 215(9): Sch 32 para 13(4), (5) (added by 2005 Act Sch 10 para 43). For the meaning of 'RVF' see NOTE 7.

This is the only benefit crystallisation event that can arise after the individual has reached the age of 75: 2004 Act Sch 32 para 2.

12 For the meaning of 'lifetime annuity' see PARA 873B.5 NOTE 13.

13 2004 Act s 216(1) (amended by 2005 Act Sch 10 para 31). If the individual becomes entitled before reaching normal minimum pension age to the payment of a lifetime annuity purchased under a money purchase arrangement under any of the relevant pension schemes, and the ill-health condition is not satisfied immediately before he becomes so entitled, head (4) of the text does not apply in relation to the lifetime annuity: 2004 Act Sch 32 para 7(1), (3). If the lifetime annuity or a related dependants' annuity is, or both the lifetime annuity and a related dependants' annuity are, purchased (in whole or in part) with sums or assets representing the whole or part of the individual's unsecured pension fund, the amount crystallised by the event is reduced by the amount (or an appropriate proportion of the amount) previously crystallised on the designation of the sums or assets as available for the payment of unsecured pension: Sch 32 para 4 (amended by the 2005 act Sch 10 para 32). For the meaning of 'unsecured pension fund' see PARA 873B.5 NOTE 5; and for the meaning of 'related dependants' annuity, see PARA 873B.7 NOTE 8.

14 For the meaning of 'defined benefits arrangement' see PARA 873B.5 NOTE 13.

15 2004 Act s 216(1). 'DP' is the annual rate of the scheme pension to which the individual would be entitled if, on the date on which he reaches 75, the individual acquired an actual (rather than a prospective) right to receive it: Sch 32 para 14(1). If the rate at which the scheme pension would be payable would be reduced so as to reflect the amount of any tax under s 215 (see PARA 873B.15) to be paid by the scheme administrator, that reduction must be left out of account in determining the rate at which the pension would be payable for this purpose; and if the reduction is such that, in accordance with normal actuarial practice, it would be taken fully to reflect the amount of the tax, the tax is not treated as tax paid by the scheme administrator for the purposes of s 215(9): Sch 32 para 14(1A), (1B) (added by the Finance Act 2005 s 101, Sch 10 paras 1, 43). 'DSLS' is so much of any lump sum to which he would be entitled (otherwise than by way of commutation of pension) as would be paid to him if, on that date, the individual acquired an actual (rather than a prospective) right to receive it: Sch 32 para 14(2) (amended by the 2005 Act Sch 10 para 43). For the meaning of 'RVF' see NOTE 7. Where, immediately before the individual reaches the age of 75, there is under any of the relevant pension schemes a hybrid arrangement relating to the individual, and the benefits that may be provided to or in respect of him under the arrangement may, depending on the circumstances, be money purchase benefits or defined benefits, head (5) of the text applies as if, at that time, the circumstances are such that the benefits to be provided are defined benefits: Sch 32 para 5(1), (3). The amount crystallised is the greater of the amount found under head (5) and that found under head (1) of the text: Sch 32 para 5(4). For the meaning of 'defined benefits' see PARA 873B.5 NOTE 13.

16 A lump sum is a relevant lump sum if it is a pension commencement lump sum (see PARA 873B.7), a serious ill-health lump sum (see PARA 873B.7 NOTE 1), or a lifetime allowance excess lump sum (see PARA 873B.7 NOTE 6): ibid Sch 32 para 15.

17 Ibid s 216(1) (amended by the 2005 Act Sch 10 para 42).

18 A lump sum death benefit is a relevant lump sum death benefit if it is a defined benefits lump sum death benefit (see PARA 873B.8 NOTE 2) or an uncrystallised funds lump sum death benefit (see PARA 873B.8 NOTE 4): 2004 Act Sch 32 para 16.

19 For this purpose 'relevant pension schemes' includes a scheme of which the individual was a member immediately before his death: ibid Sch 32 para 1.

20 Ibid s 216(1).

21 For the meaning of 'qualifying recognised overseas pension scheme' see PARA 873B.4 NOTE 8.

22 2004 Act s 216(1). Where any of the sums or assets transferred represent the whole or part of the individual's unsecured pension fund, the amount crystallised by the event is reduced by the amount (or the appropriate proportion of the amount) previously crystallised on the designation of the sums or assets as available for the payment of unsecured pension; and where after the transfer a scheme pension to which the individual has become entitled before the transfer is to be payable out of sums or assets transferred, the amount crystallised by the event is reduced by the amount (or the appropriate proportion of the amount) previously crystallised in relation to the scheme pension: Sch 32 para 17.

23 Ibid s 216(1) (amended by the 2006 Act Sch 23 para 30). The amount crystallised is the aggregate of the amount of the sums and the market value of the assets representing the individual's unsecured pension fund under the arrangement less the aggregate of amounts crystallised by an event falling within head (1) of the text in relation to the arrangement and the individual: 2004 Act s 216(1).

24 Ibid s 216(1) (amended by Finance Act 2008 Sch 29 para 1(3)). 'Prescribed' means prescribed by regulations under the 2004 Act s 164 (see PARA 873B.4): s 216(1). The amount crystallised is the amount determined in accordance with such regulations: s 216(1).

17. Availability of individual's lifetime allowance

The following provisions determine the availability of an individual's lifetime allowance<sup>1</sup> on the occurrence of a benefit crystallisation event<sup>2</sup> in relation to the individual ('the current benefit crystallisation event')<sup>3</sup>.

If no benefit crystallisation event has occurred in relation to the individual before the current benefit crystallisation event, the whole of his lifetime allowance is available on the current benefit crystallisation event<sup>4</sup>. If one or more benefit crystallisation events has or have occurred before the current benefit crystallisation event, then:

- 2241 (1) in a case in which the previously-used amount is equal to or greater than the amount of the individual's lifetime allowance, none of that allowance is available on the current benefit crystallisation event; and
- 2242 (2) in any other case, so much of the individual's lifetime allowance as is left after deducting the previously-used amount is available on the current benefit crystallisation event<sup>5</sup>.

Where one benefit crystallisation event has occurred in relation to the individual before the current benefit crystallisation event, the previously-used amount is the amount which is the relevant untaxed amount in relation to that earlier event, as appropriately adjusted; and where more than one benefit crystallisation events have so occurred, the previously-used amount is the aggregate of the relevant untaxed amounts in relation to each of those early events, as appropriately adjusted<sup>6</sup>.

1 See PARA 873B.15.

2 See PARA 873B.16.

3 Finance Act 2004 s 219(1).

4 Ibid s 219(2).

5 Ibid s 219(3). References (however expressed) to the portion of a person's lifetime allowance that is available at any time are to the portion of that allowance that would be available in accordance with s 219 if a benefit crystallisation event occurred in relation to that person at that time: s 219(9).

6 Ibid s 219(4) (amended by the Finance Act 2006 Sch 23 para 31(2)). The appropriate adjustment is the multiplication of the relevant untaxed amount in relation to each earlier event by:

where CSLA is the standard lifetime allowance at the time of the current benefit crystallisation event; and PSLA is the standard lifetime allowance at the time of the earlier event: s 219(5) (amended by the 2006 Act Sch 23 para 31(4)). The 'relevant untaxed amount', in relation to a previous benefit crystallisation event, is (1) where no tax was charged in relation to that event, the amount in respect of which tax would have been so charged if none of the individual's lifetime allowance had been available; and (2) where tax was charge in relation to that event, so much of the amount in respect of which tax would have been so charged if none of the individual's lifetime allowance had been available as exceeds the amount in respect of which tax was so charged: 2004 Act s 219(4A) (added by 2006 Act Sch 23 para 31(3)).

Where more than one benefit crystallisation event occurs in relation to an individual on the same day, it is for the individual to decide the order in which they are to be treated as occurring for the purposes of the 2004 Act s 219, but this provision is subject to s 166(2) (see PARA 873B.7): s 219(6). Where more than one such event occurs by reason of the payment of lump sum death benefits in respect of an individual, those events are treated for the purposes of s 219 as occurring immediately before his death (but immediately after any benefit crystallisation event occurring immediately before the individual's death by virtue of s 166(2) (see PARA 873B.7): s 219(7) (amended by Finance Act 2007 Sch 20 para 10).

18. Annual allowance charge

A charge to tax (the 'annual allowance charge') arises where the total pension input amount for a tax year<sup>1</sup> in the case of an individual who is a member of one or more registered pension schemes<sup>2</sup> exceeds the annual allowance for the tax year<sup>3</sup>. The charge is at the rate of 40 per cent of that excess, which excess is not treated as income for any purpose of the Tax Acts<sup>4</sup>. The person liable to the charge is the individual, who is so liable whether or not he or the scheme administrator of the pension scheme or schemes concerned is resident, ordinarily resident or domiciled in the United Kingdom<sup>5</sup>.

The total pension input amount is arrived at by aggregating the pension input amounts in respect of each arrangement relating to the individual under a registered pension scheme of which he is a member; but there is no input tax in respect of an arrangement if, before the end of the tax year, the individual has become entitled to all the benefits which may be provided to him under the arrangement, or has died<sup>6</sup>.

The pension input amount is determined as follows. In each of heads (1) to (4) below, the 'pension input period' is the period beginning with the relevant commencement date and ending with the earlier of a nominated date and the anniversary of the relevant commencement date, and each subsequent period beginning immediately after the end of such a period (or of such a subsequent period) and ending with the appropriate date<sup>7</sup>.

2245 (3) If the arrangement is a defined benefits arrangement<sup>16</sup>, the pension input amount is the amount of any increase in the value of the individual's rights under the arrangement during the pension input period of the arrangement that ends in the tax year<sup>17</sup>. There is an increase in the value of the individual's rights under the arrangement during the pension input period if the opening value<sup>18</sup> of those rights is exceeded by the closing value<sup>19</sup> of those rights, and the amount of the increase is the amount of that excess<sup>20</sup>.

2246 (4) If the arrangement is a hybrid arrangement<sup>21</sup>, the pension input amount is the greater or greatest of such of the amounts calculated in accordance with heads (1) to (3) above<sup>22</sup> as are relevant input amounts; and an input amount is a relevant input amount if, in any circumstances, the benefits that may be provided to or in respect of the individual under the arrangement may be benefits of the variety mentioned in the definition of that input amount<sup>23</sup>.

1 For the meaning of 'tax year' see PARA 873B.7 NOTE 3.

2 For the meaning of 'pension scheme' see PARA 873B.1, and for the meaning of 'member' see PARA 873B.4 NOTE 3. As to registration see PARA 873B.2.

3 Finance Act 2004 s 227(1). The annual allowance for the tax year 2006-07 is £215,000, and for each subsequent tax year is such amount, not being less than the annual allowance for the immediately preceding tax year, as is specified by order made by the Treasury: s 228. See the Registered Pension Schemes (Standard Lifetime and Annual Allowances) Order 2007, SI 2007/494, which sets out the following figures for the annual allowance: 2007-08, £225,000; 2008-09, £235,000; 2009-10, £245,000; 2010-11, £255,000. For the meaning of 'the tax year 2006-07' see PARA 873B.7 NOTE 4. As to the making of such an order see PARA 873B.1 NOTE 2.

4 2004 Act s 227(4), (5). For the meaning of 'the Tax Acts' see INCOME TAXATION vol 23(1) (Reissue) PARA 21.

5 Ibid s 227(2), (3). For the meaning of 'scheme administrator' see PARA 873B.3 NOTE 4. As to the meaning of 'residence' and 'ordinary residence' see INCOME TAXATION vol 23(2) (Reissue) PARA 1260; and for the meaning of 'domicile' see INCOME TAXATION vol 23(2) (Reissue) PARA 1265.

6 Ibid s 229(1), (3). For the meaning of 'arrangement' see PARA 873B.5 NOTE 5.

7 Ibid s 238(1). The 'relevant commencement date' is (1) in the case of a cash balance arrangement, a defined benefits arrangement, or a hybrid arrangement the only benefits under which may be cash balance benefits or defined benefits, the date on which rights under the arrangement begin to accrue to or in respect of the individual; (2) in the case of a money purchase arrangement other than a cash balance arrangement, the first date on which a contribution within s 233(1) is made; and (3) in the case of a hybrid arrangement not within head (1), whichever is the earlier of the date mentioned in head (1) or (2): s 238(2). 'Nominated date' means (a) in the case of a money purchase arrangement other than a cash balance arrangement, such date as the individual or scheme administrator nominates; and (b) in any other case, such date as the scheme administrator nominates: s 238(3). Such nomination by the individual must be made by notice to the scheme administrator, and such nomination by the scheme administrator must be made by notice to the individual: s 238(4). If more than one date is so nominated (i) in relation to the period beginning with the relevant commencement date; or (ii) in relation to a tax year following that in which the pension input period beginning with that date ends, the date nominated first is the nominated date: s 238(5). The 'appropriate date' is the earlier of a nominated date falling in the tax year immediately after that in which the last pension input period ended, and the anniversary of the date on which that period ended: s 238(6). Once the individual has become entitled to all the benefits which may be provided to him under an arrangement, the last pension input period in the case of that arrangement is treated as having ended when that was first so: s 238(7).

8 For the meaning of 'cash balance arrangement' see PARA 873B.5 NOTE 13.

10 The opening value of the individual's rights under the arrangement is the amount which would, on the valuation assumptions, be available for the provision of benefits to or in respect of the individual under the arrangement if the individual became entitled to the benefit at the beginning of the pension input period: ibid s 230(4). As to the valuation assumptions see PARA 873B.11 NOTE 8. The opening value as so ascertained is to be increased by the appropriate percentage, ie whichever is the greatest of (1) 5 per cent; (2) the percentage (if any) by which the retail prices index for the month in which the pension input period ends is higher than it was for the month in which it began; and (3) if provision made by regulations made by the Board of Inland Revenue applies in relation to the arrangement, the percentage to which the regulations refer: s 231. For the meaning of 'Board of Inland Revenue' see PARA 873B.2 NOTE 1; and for the meaning of 'retail prices index' see PARA 873B.5 NOTE 5. As to the making of such regulations see PARA 873B.1 NOTE 2.

11 The closing value of the individual's rights under the arrangement is the amount which would, on the valuation assumptions, be available for the provision of benefits to or in respect of the individual under the arrangement if he became entitled to the benefits at the end of the pension input period: ibid s 230(5). If, during the pension input period, the rights of the individual under the arrangement have been reduced by having become subject to a pension debit, the amount of that debit is to be added to the closing value as so ascertained; and if those rights have been increased by reason of his having become entitled to a pension credit derived from the same or another registered pension scheme, the amount of the credit is to be subtracted from that value: s 232(1)-(3). For the meaning of 'pension credit' and 'pension debit' see PARA 873B.7 NOTE 8.

If, during the pension input period, the rights of the individual under the arrangement have been reduced by virtue of a transfer of any sum or asset held for the purposes of, or representing accrued rights under, the arrangement so as to become held for the purposes of, or to represent rights under, any other pension scheme (ie a registered pension scheme or a qualifying recognised overseas pension scheme), the aggregate of any sums transferred and the market value of any assets transferred is to be added to the closing value as ascertained under the above provisions; and if those rights have been similarly increased by virtue of a transfer from any other pension scheme to the arrangement, the aggregate of any sums so transferred and the market value of any assets so transferred must be subtracted from that value: s 232(4)-(7). For the meaning of 'market value' see PARA 873B.3 NOTE 4; and for the meaning of 'qualifying recognised overseas pension scheme' see PARA 873B.4 NOTE 8. As to sums and assets held for the purposes of an arrangement see PARA 873B.5 NOTE 5.

Subject to s 229(3) (see TEXT AND NOTE 6), if, during the pension input period, a benefit crystallisation event (see PARA 873B.16) occurs in relation to the individual and the arrangement, the amount crystallised (see PARA 873B.16) is to be added to the closing value as ascertained under the above provisions: s 232(8). If, during that period, minimum payments are made under the Pension Schemes Act 1993 s 8 (see PARA 878) or corresponding Northern Ireland legislation in relation to the individual and in connection with the arrangement, the amount paid must be subtracted from the closing value as so ascertained: 2004 Act s 232(9).

13 For the meaning of 'money purchase arrangement' see PARA 873B.5 NOTE 13.

14 The references to contributions do not include minimum payments under the 1993 Act s 8 (see PARA 878) or corresponding Northern Ireland legislation, or any amount recovered under regulations made thereunder: 2004 Act s 233(2). When at any time contributions paid under a pension scheme by an employer otherwise than in respect of an individual become held for the purposes of the provision under an arrangement under that scheme of benefits to or in respect of an individual, they are treated as contributions paid at that time in respect of the individual under the arrangement: s 233(3). For the general meaning of 'contributions' see PARA 873B.12 NOTE 6; and for the meaning of 'employer' see PARA 873B.2 NOTE 7.

15 Ibid s 233(1).

16 For the meaning of 'defined benefits arrangement' see PARA 873B.5 NOTE 13.

17 2004 Act s 234(1).

18 The opening value of the individual's rights under the arrangement during the pension input period is:

$$(10 \times PB) + LSB$$

where PB is the annual rate of the pension which would, on the valuation assumptions, be payable to the individual under the arrangement if he became entitled to payment thereof at the beginning of the pension input period; and LSB is the amount of the lump sum to which he would, on those assumptions, be entitled under the arrangement (otherwise than by commutation of pension) if he became entitled to payment thereof at that time: ibid s 234(4). Where rights do not accrue to the individual under the arrangement during the pension input period, the opening value is increased by the appropriate percentage, ie whichever is the greatest of (1) 5 per cent; (2) the percentage (if any) by which the retail prices index for the month in which the pension input period ends is higher than it was for the month in which it began; and (3) if provision made by regulations made by the Board of Inland Revenue applies in relation to the arrangement, the percentage to which the regulations refer: s 235. As to the making of such regulations see PARA 873B.1 NOTE 2. See the Registered Pension Schemes (Uprating Percentages for Defined Benefits Arrangements and Enhanced Protection Limits) Regulations 2006, SI 2006/130.

19 The closing value of the individual's rights under the arrangement is:

$$(10 \times PE) + LSE$$

where PE is the annual rate of the pension which would, on the valuation assumptions, be payable to the individual under the arrangement if he became entitled to payment thereof at the end of the pension input period; and LSE is the amount of the lump sum to which he would, on those assumptions, be entitled under the arrangement (otherwise than by commutation of pension) if he became entitled to the payment thereof at that time: 2004 Act s 233(5). If, during the pension input period, the rights of the individual under the arrangement have been reduced by having become subject to a pension debit, the amount of that debit is to be added to the closing value as so ascertained; and if those rights have been increased by reason of his having become entitled to a pension credit derived from the same or another registered pension scheme, the amount of the credit is to be subtracted from that value: s 236(1)-(3).

If, during the pension input period, there is a transfer relating to the individual of any sum or asset held for the purposes of, or representing accrued rights under, the arrangement so as to become held for the purposes of, or to represent rights under, any other pension scheme (ie a registered pension scheme or a qualifying recognised overseas pension scheme), the aggregate of any sums transferred and the market value of any assets transferred is to be added to the closing value as ascertained under the above provisions; and if there has been such a transfer from any other pension scheme to the arrangement, the aggregate of any sums so transferred and the market value of any assets so transferred must be subtracted from that value: s 236(4)-(7).

Subject to s 229(3) (see TEXT AND NOTE 6), if, during the pension input period, a benefit crystallisation event occurs in relation to the individual and the arrangement, the amount crystallised is to be added to the closing value as ascertained under the above provisions: s 236(8). If, during that period, minimum payments are made under the 1993 Act s 8 (see PARA 878) or corresponding Northern Ireland legislation in relation to the individual and in connection with the arrangement, the amount paid must be subtracted from the closing value as so ascertained: 2004 Act s 236(9).

21 For the meaning of 'hybrid arrangement' see PARA 873B.5 NOTE 13.

22 Ie what would be the amount calculated under head (1) of the text if the benefits provided to or in respect of the individual under the arrangement were cash balance benefits; under head (2) if those benefits were other money purchase benefits; and under head (3) if those benefits were defined benefits: ibid s 237(3)-(5). References to payments made, or benefits provided, by a pension scheme are to payments made or benefits provided from sums or assets held for the purposes of the scheme: s 279(2).

23 Ibid s 237(1), (2).

19. Scheme sanction charge

A charge to income tax (the 'scheme sanction charge') arises where in any tax year<sup>1</sup> one or more scheme chargeable payments is or are made by a registered pension scheme<sup>2</sup>. The charge is at the rate of 40 per cent in respect of the scheme chargeable payment (or the aggregate payments) made by the scheme in the tax year; but if that payment (or any of those payments) is an unauthorised payment, and tax charged<sup>3</sup> in relation to that payment (or those payments) has been paid, a deduction must be made from the amount of tax that would otherwise be chargeable for that year under these provisions<sup>4</sup>. The amount of the deduction is the lesser of:

2247 (1) 25 per cent of the amount of the scheme chargeable payment, or of the aggregate amount of such of those payments as are tax-paid; and

The person liable to the charge is the scheme administrator<sup>7</sup>; but in the case of a payment treated<sup>8</sup> as having been made by a pension scheme which has been wound up, the person so liable is the person who was, or each of the persons who were, the scheme administrator immediately before the pension scheme was wound up<sup>9</sup>.

A 'scheme chargeable payment' in relation to a registered pension scheme means an unauthorised payment by the pension scheme, other than one which is exempt from being scheme chargeable<sup>10</sup>, and a scheme chargeable payment which the scheme is treated<sup>11</sup> as having made<sup>12</sup>.

A scheme administrator who is liable to the scheme sanction charge in respect of a scheme chargeable payment, may apply to the Inland Revenue for the discharge of that liability on the basis that the scheme administrator reasonably believed that the unauthorised payment was not a scheme chargeable payment, and that, in all the circumstances of the case, it would not be just and reasonable for the liability to be enforced<sup>13</sup>.

Where the scheme administrator of a registered pension scheme has become liable to the scheme sanction charge in respect of an unauthorised member payment, and property or money is transferred, or a sum paid<sup>14</sup> towards a registered pension scheme as a result of that payment, the scheme administrator may, within the period of one year beginning with the day on which the property or money is transferred, or the sum paid, claim relief from the relevant proportion<sup>15</sup> of the scheme sanction charge<sup>16</sup>.

1 For the meaning of 'tax year' see PARA 873B.7 NOTE 3.

2 Finance Act 2004 s 239(1). For the meaning of 'pension scheme' see PARA 873B.1. As to registration see PARA 873B.2. Section 239 is subject to provision made by regulations under s 273ZA (see PARA 873B.34): s 293(6) (added by Finance Act 2006 Sch 21 para 8).

3 Ie under the Finance Act 2004 s 208: see PARA 873B.21.

4 Ibid s 240(1), (2). For the meaning of 'unauthorised payment' see PARA 873B.9 et seq.

5 Ie under ibid s 208. The Treasury may by order vary the rate of charge; and such an order may make provision for there to be different rates in different circumstances: s 240(3A), (3B) (added by Finance Act 2009 Sch 2 para 16). As to the making of such orders see PARA 873B.1.

6 2004 Act s 240(3). A scheme chargeable payment is 'tax-paid' if the whole or any part of the tax chargeable in relation to it under s 208 has been paid: s 240(4).

7 For the meaning of 'scheme administrator' see PARA 873B.2 NOTE 4.

8 Ie under the Finance Act 2004 s 161(3), (4): see PARA 873B.4.

9 Ibid s 239(3). A person is liable to the scheme sanction charge whether or not he or any other person who is so liable is resident, ordinarily resident or domiciled in the United Kingdom: s 239(4). As to the meaning of 'residence' and 'ordinary residence' see INCOME TAXATION vol 23(2) (Reissue) PARA 1260; and for the meaning of 'domicile' see INCOME TAXATION vol 23(2) (Reissue) PARA 1265.

10 An unauthorised payment is exempt from being scheme chargeable if (1) it is treated as having been made by ibid s 173 (see PARA 873B.9) and the asset used to provide the benefit in question is not a wasting asset; (2) it is a compensation payment (see PARA 873B.4); (3) it is made to comply with an order of a court or of a person or body with power to order the making of the payment; (4) it is made on the ground that a court or any such person or body is likely to order the making of the payment (or would be were it asked to do so); or (5) it is of a description prescribed by regulations made by the Board of Inland Revenue: s 241(2). For the meaning of 'Board of Inland Revenue' see PARA 873B.2 NOTE 1. 'Wasting asset' has the same meaning as in the Taxation of Chargeable Gains Act 1992 s 44 (see CAPITAL GAINS TAXATION) vol 5(1) (2004 Reissue) PARA 14: Finance Act 2004 s 241(3). As to the making of such regulations see PARA 873B.1 NOTE 2. See the Registered Pension Schemes (Unauthorised Payments by Existing Schemes) Regulations 2006, SI 2006/365.

11 Ie under the Finance Act 2004 s 183 or 185: see PARA 873B.11.

12 Ibid s 241(1). The term also includes a scheme chargeable payment which the pension scheme is treated as having made by s 181A, or s 185A or 185F (see PARA 873B.33): s 241(1)(c) (added by 2006 Act Sch 21 para 9; and amended by Finance Act 2007 Sch 19 para 15).

The total amount of alternatively secured pension paid to a member of a registered pension scheme in each alternatively secured pension year in respect of a money purchase arrangement under the scheme must be at least 55% of the basis amount for the alternatively secured pension year; and the total amount of dependants' alternatively secured pension paid to a dependant of a member of a registered pension scheme in each alternatively secured pension year in respect of a money purchase arrangement under the scheme must be at least 55% of the basis amount for the alternatively secured pension year: Finance Act 2004 s 181A(1), (2) (s 181A added by 2007 Act Sch 19 para 14). If these requirements are not met, the scheme is treated as having made, when the alternative payment year ends, a scheme chargeable payment of the difference between the total amount of alternatively secured pension paid to the member (or of the dependant's alternatively secured pension paid to the dependant) in respect of the arrangement in that year and 55% of the basis amount for that year: Finance Act 2004 s 181A(3), (4). However, this provision does not apply in relation to an alternatively secured pension year which (1) ends immediately before the death of the member or dependant; or (2) in which the member's alternatively secured pension fund, or the dependant's alternatively secured pension fund, in respect of the arrangement is applied on pension or annuity provision; and such a fund is so applied if all of the sums and assets representing it are applied in one or more of the following ways: (a) towards the provision of a scheme pension or dependants' scheme pension; (b) to purchase a scheme pension or a dependant's scheme pension; (c) to purchase a lifetime annuity or a dependants' annuity: s 181A(5), (6). For the meaning of 'alternatively secured pension' and 'money purchase arrangement' see PARA 873B.5 NOTE 13; and for the meaning of 'alternatively secured pension year' see PARA 873B.5 NOTE 14.

13 Ibid s 268(1), (5), (7). If the scheme chargeable payment is treated as being an unauthorised member payment by s 172, 172A, 172B, 172BA, 172C or 172D (see PARA 873B.9) or arises under s 181A, the basis is that, in all the circumstances, it would not be reasonable for the liability to be enforced: s 268(6) (amended by 2007 Act Sch 19 para 17). On the receipt of such an application, the Inland Revenue must decide whether to discharge the liability, and must notify the scheme administrator accordingly: s 268(8), (9). Regulations made by the Board of Inland Revenue may make provision supplementing s 268, and such regulations may in particular make provision as to the time limits for the making of an application: s 268(10). For the meaning of 'Board of Inland Revenue' see PARA 873B.2 NOTE 1. As to the making of such regulations see PARA 873B.1 NOTE 2. The regulations so far so made are the Registered Pension Schemes (Discharge of Liabilities under Sections 267 and 268 of the Finance Act 2004) Regulations 2005, SI 2005/3452.

If an application under the Finance Act 2004 s 268 (see above and PARA 873B.21) or under s 267 (see PARA 873B.15) is refused, the applicant may appeal within the period of 30 days beginning with the day on which he was given notification of the decision: s 269(1), (2), (5). On an appeal that is notified to it, the tribunal, if they consider that the liability ought not to be discharged, must dismiss the appeal. If the tribunal decides that the liability ought to be discharged, it must grant the application: s 269 (6)-(8) (amended by SI 2009/56). If the application relates to an excess amount under s 267(6) (see PARA 873B.15), the tribunal may increase that part of the excess amount the liability for which is discharged: s 269(9)-(11) (amended by SI 2009/56).

14 Ie pursuant to an order under the Pension Schemes Act 2004 s 19(4) or s 21(2)(a) or the Pensions (Northern Ireland) Order 2004 art 15(2) or 17(2)(a).

15 The relevant proportion is

where ASO is the amount subject to the order, ie the aggregate of the market value of any property and the amount of any money transferred, or the amount of the sum paid, towards a registered pension scheme pursuant to the provisions referred to in note 14 in respect of the unauthorised member payment; and UMP is the amount of that payment: Finance Act 2004 s 266B(3) (s 266B added by Finance Act 2005 Sch 10 para 4). If ASO is greater than UMP, the relevant proportion is the whole thereof: s 266B(4). For the meaning of 'market value', see PARA 873B.3 NOTE 4.

16 Ibid s 266B(1), (2).

20. De-registration charge

A charge to income tax (the 'de-registration charge') arises where the registration of a registered pension scheme is withdrawn<sup>1</sup>. The charge is at the rate of 40 per cent in respect of the aggregate of the amount of any sums held for the purposes of the pension scheme immediately before it ceased to be a registered pension scheme, and the market value at that time of any assets held for the purposes of the scheme<sup>2</sup>. The liability to the charge is a liability of the person who was, or each of the persons who were, the scheme administrator immediately before the registration was withdrawn<sup>3</sup>.

1 Finance Act 2004 s 242(1). For the meaning of 'pension scheme' see PARA 873B.1. As to registration see PARA 873B.2.

2 Ibid s 242(4). For the meaning of 'market value' see PARA 873B.3 NOTE 4.

3 Ibid s 242(2). For the meaning of 'scheme administrator' see PARA 873B.2 NOTE 4. That person, or each of those persons, is so liable whether or not that person or any other such person is resident, ordinarily resident or domiciled in the United Kingdom: s 242(3). As to the meaning of 'residence' and 'ordinary residence' see INCOME TAXATION vol 23(2) (Reissue) PARA 1260; and for the meaning of 'domicile' see INCOME TAXATION vol 23(2) (Reissue) PARA 1265.

21. Charge to tax on authorised and unauthorised payments

A charge to income tax arises on the following authorised payments made by a registered pension scheme<sup>1</sup>:

- 2249 (1) in respect of a short service refund lump sum<sup>2</sup>, at the rate of 20 per cent on so much of that sum as does not exceed £20,000, and of 50 per cent on any excess<sup>3</sup>;
- 2250 (2) in respect of a pension protection lump sum death benefit, an annuity protection lump sum death benefit, or an unsecured pension fund lump sum death benefit, at the rate of 35 per cent of the benefit<sup>4</sup>.

In each case, the tax is charged on the amount of the lump sum paid or, if the rules of the scheme permit the scheme administrator<sup>5</sup> to deduct the tax before payment, on the amount of the lump sum before such deduction<sup>6</sup>. The person liable to the charge is the scheme administrator, whether or not he, or the person to whom the lump sum is paid, is resident, ordinarily resident, or domiciled in the United Kingdom<sup>7</sup>. None of the payments falling within head (1) or (2) above is treated as income for any purpose of the Tax Acts<sup>8</sup>.

A tax charge arises in respect of an authorised surplus payment<sup>9</sup> made to a sponsoring employer by an occupational pension scheme, at the rate of 35 per cent of the payment<sup>10</sup>. The person liable to the charge is the scheme administrator, whether or not he, or the sponsoring employer, is resident, ordinarily resident, or domiciled in the United Kingdom<sup>11</sup>.

A charge to tax ('the unauthorised payments charge') arises where an unauthorised payment<sup>12</sup> is made by a registered pension scheme, at the rate of 40 per cent of the payment<sup>13</sup>. A payment is also liable to a surcharge ('the unauthorised payments surcharge') at the rate of 15 per cent of the payment if it is a surchargeable unauthorised payment<sup>14</sup>, that is to say:

- 2251 (a) if the surcharge threshold<sup>15</sup> is reached before the end of the period of 12 months beginning with a reference date<sup>16</sup> any unauthorised member payment<sup>17</sup> made in the surcharge period<sup>18</sup> to or in respect of a person who is or has been a member of the scheme<sup>19</sup>; or
- 2252 (b) if the surcharge threshold<sup>20</sup> is reached before the end of the period of 12 months beginning with a reference date<sup>21</sup> any unauthorised employer payment<sup>22</sup> made in the surcharge period to or in respect of a person who is or has been a sponsoring employer<sup>23</sup>.

The person liable to pay the unauthorised payments charge (or, as the case may be, the surcharge) is:

- 2253 (i) in the case of an unauthorised member payment made to or in respect of a person before the person's death, the person to whom or in respect of whom the payment is made;
- 2254 (ii) in the case of an unauthorised member payment made in respect of a person after the person's death, the recipient; and
- 2255 (iii) in the case of an unauthorised employer payment, the person to or in respect of whom the payment was made<sup>24</sup>.

Where a person is liable to the unauthorised payments surcharge in respect of an unauthorised payment, he may apply to the Inland Revenue for the discharge of that liability on the ground that, in all the circumstances of the case, it would not be just and reasonable for the liability to be enforced<sup>25</sup>.

Where a liability to the unauthorised payments charge (or to both the unauthorised payments charge and the unauthorised payments surcharge) has arisen in respect of an unauthorised member payment, and property or money is transferred, or a sum paid<sup>26</sup>, towards a registered pension scheme as a result of that payment, the member of the scheme to or in respect of whom the payment was made (or, if it was paid after his death, the recipient) may claim relief from the relevant proportion<sup>27</sup> of the unauthorised payments charge and (subject to specified requirements<sup>28</sup>) any unauthorised payments surcharge that arises<sup>29</sup>.

10 Finance Act 2004 s 207(1), (4). This is known as the 'authorised surplus payments charge': s 207(1). The Treasury may by order increase or reduce the rate of charge: s 207(5). As to the making of such orders see PARA 873B.1 NOTE 2. The charge does not apply to any authorised surplus payment to the extent that (if s 207 had not been enacted), the sponsoring employer would have been exempt, or entitled to claim exemption, from income tax or corporation tax in respect thereof, or if the sponsoring employer is a charity: s 207(6). For the meaning of 'charity' see PARA 873B.8 NOTE 7. An authorised surplus payment in respect of which tax is charged under s 207 is not treated as income for any purpose of the Tax Acts: Finance Act 2004 s 207(7).

12 As to unauthorised payments see PARA 873B.9 et seq. An unauthorised payment is not to be treated as income for any purpose of the Tax Acts: Finance Act 2004 s 208(8).

13 Ibid s 208(1), (5). The Treasury may by order vary the rate of charge; and such an order may make provision for there to be different rates in different circumstances: s 208(6), (6A) (s 208(6) amended, s 208(6A) added, by Finance Act 2009 Sch 2 para 12). As to the making of such orders see PARA 873B.1.

14 2004 Act ss 208(7), 209(1), (6). The Treasury may by order vary the rate of charge; and such an order may make provision for there to be different rates in different circumstances: s 209(7), (8) (substituted by Finance Act 2009 Sch 2 para 13). As to the making of such orders see PARA 873B.1. A scheme sanction charge (see PARA 873B.19) may also arise in appropriate circumstances: 2004 Act s 208(7).

15 The surcharge threshold for the purposes of head (a) of the text is reached if the unauthorised payments percentage reaches 25 per cent: ibid s 210(7). The unauthorised payments percentage is the aggregate of the percentages of the pension fund used up by each unauthorised member payment made by the scheme to or in respect of the person on or after the reference date; and the percentage of the pension fund used up on the occasion of such a payment is: where UMP is the amount of the unauthorised member payment and VR is an amount equal to the aggregate of the value of the member's rights under arrangements relating to the member under the pension scheme when the unauthorised payment is made (or, if the unauthorised member payment is made after the member has died or has otherwise ceased to be a member of the scheme, on the date of death or cessation): s 210(8), (9) (amended by the Finance Act 2006 Sch 23 para 16(3), (4)). The value of the member's rights under an arrangement on any date is the aggregate of the value on that date of his crystallised and uncrystallised rights under the arrangement: 2004 Act s 210(9), (10) (amended by 2006 Act Sch 23 para 16(4), (5)).

The value of a member's crystallised rights under an arrangement on any date is the aggregate of (1) the value of each scheme pension or lifetime annuity to which he has an actual (rather than a prospective) entitlement under the arrangement on that date; and (2) the aggregate of the amount of the sums, and the market value of the assets, representing the member's unsecured pension fund or alternatively secured pension fund in respect of the arrangement on that date (if any): 2004 Act s 211(1) (amended by 2006 Act Sch 23 para 17). The value of a scheme pension or a lifetime annuity is: where RVF is the relevant valuation factor and ARP is an amount equal to the annual rate of the pension or annuity on the date: 2004 Act s 211(2). For the meaning of 'scheme pension' and 'lifetime annuity' see PARA 873B.5 NOTE 6. For the meaning of 'unsecured pension fund' see PARA 873B.5 NOTE 5; and for the meaning of 'alternatively secured pension' see PARA 873B.5 NOTE 13. For the meaning of 'market value' see PARA 873B.3 NOTE 4; and for the meaning of 'relevant valuation factor' see PARA 873B.11 NOTE 7.

The value of a member's uncrystallised rights under an arrangement on any date: (a) if the arrangement is a cash balance arrangement, is the amount which would, on the valuation assumptions, be available for the provision of benefits in respect of those rights if the member became entitled to benefits in respect of those rights on the date concerned; (b) if the arrangement is a money purchase arrangement other than a cash balance arrangement, is the aggregate of the amount of such of the sums and of the market value of such of the assets held for the purposes of the arrangement on the date concerned as represent those rights; (c) if the arrangement is a defined benefits arrangement, is: where RVF is the relevant valuation factor; ARP is the annual rate of pension to which the member would, on the valuation assumptions, be entitled under the arrangements on the date concerned if, on that date, he acquired an actual (rather than a prospective) right to receive a pension in respect of those rights, and LS is the amount of any lump sum to which the member would, on the valuation assumptions, be entitled under the arrangement on the date concerned (otherwise than by way of commutation of pension) if, on that date, he acquired an actual (rather than a prospective) right to payment of a lump sum in respect of those rights; and (d) if the arrangement is a hybrid arrangement, is the greatest of the values arrived at by virtue of heads (a)-(c) (or, if only two of those heads are relevant, the greater value): s 212(3)-(7) (s 212(3) amended by 2006 Act Sch 23 para 18). If, in any circumstances, cash balance benefits may be provided to or in respect of the member under a hybrid arrangement, head (a) is relevant; if in any circumstances, other money purchase benefits may be so provided, head (b) is relevant; and if in any circumstances defined benefits may be so provided, head (c) is relevant: 2004 Act s 212((8)-(10). As to sums and assets held for the purposes of an arrangement see PARA 873B.5 NOTE 5.

Rights are uncrystallised if the member is not entitled to the present payment of benefits in respect thereof; and he is treated as entitled to the present payment of benefits in respect of the sums and assets representing his unsecured pension fund or alternatively secured pension fund: s 212(1), (2). For the meaning of 'cash balance arrangement', 'money purchase arrangement', 'defined benefits arrangement' and 'hybrid arrangement' see PARA 873B.11.

16 The first reference date is the date on which the pension scheme first makes an unauthorised member payment to or in respect of the person, and each subsequent reference date is the date, after the end of the previous reference period, on which the scheme next makes an unauthorised member payment to or in respect of the person: ibid s 210(4), (5) (amended by 2006 Act Sch 23 para 16(3)). The previous reference period is the period of 12 months beginning with the previous reference date (or, if the surcharge threshold is reached in that period, is the surcharge period ending with the date on which it was reached): 2004 Act s 210(6).

17 For the meaning of 'unauthorised member payment' see PARA 873B.9.

18 The surcharge period is the period beginning with the reference date and ending with the day on which the surcharge threshold is reached: Finance Act 2004 ss 210(3), 213(3).

19 Ibid s 210(1), (2) (amended by 2006 Act Sch 23 para 16(2), (3)). For the meaning of 'arrangement' see PARA 873B.5; and for the meaning of 'member' see PARA 873B.4.

20 The surcharge threshold for the purposes of head (b) of the text is reached if the unauthorised payments percentage reaches 25 per cent: 2004 Act s 213(7). In this case, the unauthorised payments percentage is the aggregate of the percentages of the pension fund used up by each unauthorised employer payment made by the pension scheme to or in respect of the person on or after the reference date: s 213(8) (amended by 2006 Act Sch 23 para 19(3)). The percentage of the pension fund used up on the occasion of an unauthorised employer payment is:

$$\frac{UEP}{AA} \times 100$$

where UEP is the amount of the payment and AA is an amount equal to the aggregate of the amount of the sums, and the market value of the assets, held for the purposes of the pension scheme at the time when the unauthorised employer payment is made: 2004 Act s 213(9).

21 The first reference date is the date on which the pension scheme first makes an unauthorised employer payment to or in respect of the employer, and each subsequent reference date is the date, after the end of the previous reference period, on which the scheme next makes an unauthorised employer payment to or in respect of the employer: ibid s 213(4), (5) (amended by 2006 Act Sch 23 para 19(3)). The previous reference period is the period of 12 months beginning with the previous reference date (or, if the surcharge threshold is reached in that period, is the surcharge period ending with the date on which it was reached): 2004 Act s 213(6).

22 For the meaning of 'unauthorised employer payment' see PARA 873B.9.

23 2004 Act s 213(1), (2) (amended by 2006 Act Sch 23 para 19). For the meaning of 'surcharge period' see NOTE 18.

24 2004 Act ss 208(2), 209(2), (3) (s 208(2) amended by 2006 Act Sch 23 para 14; 2004 Act s 209(3) amended by 2006 Act Sch 23 para 15). If more than one person is so liable, those persons are jointly and severally so liable: 2004 Act ss 208(3), 209(4). A person is so liable whether or not (1) that person; (2) any other person so liable; or (3) the scheme administrator, is resident, ordinarily resident or domiciled in the United Kingdom: ss 208(4), 209(5).

25 Ibid s 268(1)-(3). On the receipt of such an application, the Inland Revenue must decide whether to discharge the liability, and must notify the applicant accordingly: s 268(4), (9). Regulations made by the Board of Inland Revenue may make provision supplementing s 268, and such regulations may in particular make provision as to the time limits for the making of an application: s 268(10). As to the making of such regulations see PARA 873B.1. For the meaning of 'Board of Inland Revenue' see PARA 873B.2. As to appeals against the refusal of an application see PARA 873B.19.

26 Ie pursuant to an order under the Pension Schemes Act 2004 s 19(4) or s 21(2)(a) or the Pensions (Northern Ireland) Order 2004 art 15(2) or 17(2)(a).

27 The relevant proportion is

where ASO is the amount subject to the order, ie the aggregate of the market value of any property and the amount of any money transferred, or the amount of the sum paid, towards a registered pension scheme pursuant to the provisions referred to in NOTE 26 in respect of the unauthorised member payment; and UMP is the amount of that payment: Finance Act 2004 s 266A(5) (s 266A added by Finance Act 2005 Sch 10 para 4). If ASO is greater than UMP, the relevant proportion is the whole thereof: s 266A(6). For the meaning of 'market value', see PARA 873B.3.

28 The requirements are that no part of the unauthorised member payment and no asset or sum representing it has been (1) received by or on behalf of the member or a person connected with him, or (2) held for more than 180 days by a person or succession of persons, other than the member or a person connected with him, involved in any transaction by which the unauthorised member payment was made: ibid s 266A(4). For the meaning of 'connected person' see the Income and Corporation Taxes Act 1988 s 839; and INCOME TAXATION vol 23(2) (Reissue) PARA 1858 (definition applied by Finance Act 2004 s 266A(7) (s 266A as added)).

29 Ibid s 266A(1), (2). The relief must be claimed within the period of one year beginning with the day on which the property or money is transferred or the sum paid: s 266A(3).

22. Overseas pension schemes; migrant member relief

An individual who is a relevant migrant member of a qualifying overseas pension scheme is entitled to relief<sup>1</sup> in respect of relievable pension contributions paid during a tax year<sup>2</sup> if he has relevant UK earnings chargeable to income tax for that year, he is resident in the United Kingdom when the contributions are paid, and he has notified the scheme manager of an intention to claim such relief<sup>3</sup>. Relief is also given for employers' contributions<sup>4</sup>.

An overseas pension scheme<sup>5</sup> is a qualifying overseas pension scheme if:

- 2256 (1) the scheme manager<sup>6</sup> has given to the Inland Revenue<sup>7</sup> notification that it is an overseas pension scheme and has provided any such evidence to that effect as the Inland Revenue may require;
- 2257 (2) the scheme manager has undertaken to the Inland Revenue to inform them if it ceases to be an overseas pension scheme, and to comply with any prescribed benefit crystallisation information requirements<sup>8</sup> imposed on the scheme manager;
- 2258 (3) the overseas pension scheme is not excluded from being a qualifying overseas pension scheme<sup>9</sup>.

An individual who is a member of an overseas pension scheme is a relevant migrant member of that scheme, in relation to any contributions, if:

- 2259 (a) he was not resident in the United Kingdom when first a member of the scheme;
- 2260 (b) he was a member of the scheme at the beginning of the period of residence in the United Kingdom which includes the time when the contributions are paid;
- 2261 (c) either he was, immediately before the beginning of that period of residence, entitled to tax relief in respect of contributions paid under the scheme under the law of the country or territory in which the individual was then resident, or he meets such other condition as may be prescribed by regulations made by the Board of Inland Revenue; and
- 2262 (d) he has been notified by the scheme manager that information concerning events that are benefit crystallisation events in relation to the individual and the pension scheme will be given to the Inland Revenue<sup>10</sup>.

1 le under the Finance Act 2004 s 188: see PARA 873B.12.

2 For the meaning of 'tax year' see PARA 873B.7.

3 2004 Act s 243, Sch 33 para 1(1). Section 190 (see PARA 873B.12) applies in relation to the aggregate of the amount of relief to which an individual is entitled under s 188 by virtue of these provisions and any to which he otherwise is so entitled: Sch 33 para 1(2). Relief to which an individual is entitled under s 188 by virtue of these provisions is given in accordance with s 194 (see PARA 873B.12), so that nothing in ss 191-193 (see PARA 873B.12) applies in relation to such relief: Sch 33 para 1(3). Section 195 (see PARA 873B.11) has effect as if the references to ss 188-194 included ss 188-190 and 194 as they apply by virtue of these provisions: Sch 33 para 1(4). Subject to transitional provisions, no deduction may be allowed under the Income Tax (Earnings and Pensions) Act 2003 Pt 5 Ch 2 (ss 333-360) (see INCOME TAXATION) in accordance with s 355 (see INCOME TAXATION) in respect of contributions under a pension scheme: 2004 Act Sch 33 para 1(5). For the meaning of 'contributions' see PARA 873B.12.

4 le ibid s 196(2)-(5) (see PARA 873B.13) applies in relation to relevant migrant member contributions paid by an employer as it applies in relation to contributions paid by an employer under a registered pension scheme in respect of an individual: Sch 33 para 2(1). Section 200 (see PARA 873B.13) applies as if the reference to contributions under a registered pension scheme included relevant migrant member contributions: Sch 33 para

2(2). 'Relevant migrant member contributions' means contributions paid under a qualifying overseas pension scheme in respect of an individual who is a relevant migrant member of the scheme in relation to the contributions: Sch 33 para 2(3). For the meaning of 'employer' see PARA 873B.2.

No liability to income tax arises in respect of earnings where an employer makes contributions under a qualifying overseas pension scheme in respect of an employee who is a relevant migrant member of the scheme: 2003 Act s 308A (added by 2004 Act Sch 33 para 3).

5 For the meaning of 'overseas pension scheme' see PARA 873B.4.

6 For the meaning of 'scheme manager' see PARA 873B.4.

7 For the meaning of 'Inland Revenue' see PARA 873B.2.

8 The requirements imposed by or under regulations made by the Board of Inland Revenue (see PARA 873B.2) to provide to the Inland Revenue any information relating to events that are benefit crystallisation events in relation to members of the pension scheme who have at any time been relevant migrant members of the scheme: 2004 Act Sch 33 paras 4(c), 5(2). As to benefit crystallisation events see PARA 873B.16. As to the making of such regulations see PARA 873B.1. See the Pension Schemes (Information Requirements - Qualifying Overseas Pension Schemes, Qualifying Recognised Overseas Pensions Schemes and Corresponding Relief) Regulations 2006, SI 2006/208; and the Pension Schemes (Relevant Migrant Members) Regulations 2006, SI 2006/212.

9 2004 Act Sch 33 para 5(1). An overseas pension scheme is excluded from being a qualifying overseas pension scheme if the Inland Revenue have decided that there has been a failure to comply with any prescribed benefit crystallisation information requirements imposed on the scheme manager, that that failure is significant, and that it is accordingly not appropriate for relief from tax to be given in respect of contributions under the scheme: Sch 33 para 5(3). A failure to comply with such requirements is significant if the amount of information not provided is substantial or if the failure to provide it is likely to result in serious prejudice to the assessment or collection of tax: Sch 33 para 5(4). The Inland Revenue may at any time after an overseas pension scheme becomes excluded decide that that exclusion should cease, and must notify the scheme manager of their decision: Sch 33 para 5(5).

The scheme manager may appeal against a decision to exclude the scheme, within the period of 30 days beginning with the day on which notification of the exclusion decision was given: Sch 33 para 6(1), (2), (5). If, on an appeal notified to it, the tribunal considers that the scheme ought to be excluded, it must dismiss the appeal. If the tribunal decides that it ought not to have been excluded, the scheme is treated as having remained a qualifying overseas pension scheme (subject to any further appeal): Sch 33 para 6(6)-(8) (amended by SI 2009/56).

10 Finance Act 2004 Sch 33 para 4(1) (amended by Finance Act 2005 Sch 10 para 46; so numbered by the Finance Act 2006 Sch 23 para 32(2)). As to the meaning of 'residence' see INCOME TAXATION vol 23(2) (Reissue) PARA 1260. See the Registered Pension Schemes (Extension of Migrant Member Relief) Regulations 2006, SI 2006/1957.

The Commissioners for Her Majesty's Revenue and Customs may by regulations provide that in circumstances prescribed by the regulations, heads (1)-(3) of the text have effect as if the references therein to the pension scheme were to either the pension scheme or such other pension scheme as is prescribed by the regulations; and such regulations may include provision having effect in relation to times before they are made: 2004 Act Sch 33 para 4(2), (3) (added by Finance Act 2006 Sch 23 para 32(3)).

23. Non-UK schemes: application of certain charges

For the purposes of the member payment charges<sup>1</sup>, the member payment provisions<sup>2</sup> apply in relation to payments made or treated<sup>3</sup> as made to or in respect of:

- 2263 (1) a relieved member<sup>4</sup> of a relevant non-UK scheme<sup>5</sup>, or
- 2264 (2) a transfer member<sup>6</sup> of such a scheme, as in relation to payments made or so treated as made to or in respect of a member of a registered pension scheme<sup>7</sup>. The amount of any liability to tax imposed on any individual in relation to a payment by virtue of the operation of the member payment charges in consequence of the above provisions is to be reduced by the amount of any tax paid in respect of the payment under the law of any country or territory outside the United Kingdom<sup>8</sup>.

The member payment provisions do not, however, apply in relation to:

- 2265 (a) a payment made or treated as made to or in respect of a relieved member or transfer member of a relevant non-UK scheme unless he is resident in the United Kingdom when the payment is made or treated as made or, although not so resident at that time, has been so resident earlier in the tax year in which the payment is made or treated as made or in any of the five tax years immediately preceding that tax year<sup>9</sup>;
- 2266 (b) a payment made or treated as made to or in respect of a relieved member of a relevant non-UK scheme unless the payment is referable to his UK tax-relieved fund under the scheme<sup>10</sup>;
- 2267 (c) a payment made or treated as made to or in respect of a transfer member of a relevant non-UK scheme unless it is referable to his relevant transfer fund under the scheme<sup>11</sup>.

The annual allowance provisions<sup>12</sup> apply in relation to an individual who is a currently-relieved member of a currently-relieved non-UK pension scheme as if that scheme were a registered pension scheme<sup>13</sup>.

The lifetime allowance provisions<sup>14</sup> apply in relation to an individual who is a relieved member of a relieved non-UK pension scheme as if that scheme were a registered pension scheme<sup>15</sup>. What would otherwise be the amount crystallised on the occurrence of an event which is a benefit crystallisation event<sup>16</sup> in relation to such an individual is reduced by so much (if any) thereof as exceeds the amount of the untested portion of the relevant relieved amount<sup>17</sup> immediately before the event concerned (so that if that amount is nil, there is no amount crystallised)<sup>18</sup>. Where a transfer of sums or assets held for the purposes of, or representing accrued rights under, a relieved non-UK pension scheme would otherwise be a benefit crystallisation event in relation to an individual who is a relieved member of that scheme, that transfer is not such an event if the transfer is a block transfer<sup>19</sup>.

The Commissioners for Her Majesty's Revenue and Customs may by regulations make provision for a transfer member of a relevant non-UK scheme to be liable to the unauthorised payment charge<sup>20</sup>.

1 The 'member payment charges' are (1) the unauthorised payments charge (see PARA 873B.21) (except as imposed by virtue of the Finance Act 2004 s 174A (see PARA 873B.30); (2) the unauthorised payments surcharge (see PARA 873B.21); (3) the short service refund lump sum charge (see PARA 873B.21); (4) the special lump sum death benefits charge (see PARA 873B.21); (5) the charge on trivial commutation lump sums and on winding-up lump sums (see PARA 873B.14) and (6) the charge on trivial commutation lump sum death benefits and winding-up lump sum death benefits (see PARA 873B.14): Sch 34 para 1(3) (amended by Finance Act 2006 Sch 1 para 14).

2 In the provisions of the 2004 Act Pt 4 (ss 149-284) (see PARA 873B.1 et seq, PARA 873B.24 et seq) (apart from the taxable property provisions) (see PARA 873B.29) relating to payments made (or treated by those provisions as made) to or in respect of a member of a registered pension scheme: Sch 34 para 1(4) (amended by 2006 Act Sch 1 para 14). Those provisions apply with respect to a payment made or treated as made to or in respect of a relieved member of a relevant non-UK scheme or a transfer member of such a scheme, subject to any omissions, additions and other modifications contained in regulations made by the Board of Inland Revenue: 2004 Act Sch 34 para 7(1). Such regulations may (1) include provision having effect in relation to times before they are made; (2) confer discretion on the Board of Inland Revenue or the Inland Revenue (subject to a right of appeal against any decision taken in exercise of the discretion); (3) make different provision in relation to payments treated (in accordance with regulations under Sch 34 para 3(6) or 4(4)) as being referable to a member's tax-relieved fund, or to a member's relevant transfer fund, under a relevant non-UK scheme; and (4) otherwise make different provision for different cases: Sch 34 para 7(2). For the meaning of 'Board of Inland Revenue' and 'Inland Revenue' see PARA 873B.2. As to the making of such regulations see PARA 873B.1. See the Pensions Schemes (Application of UK Provisions to Relevant Non-UK Schemes) Regulations 2006, SI 2006/207 (amended by SI 2006/1960, SI 2007/493).

3 In accordance with the 2004 Act Pt 4: see NOTE 2.

4 A member of a relevant non-UK scheme is a relieved member of the scheme if any of the contributions in respect of which relief has been given as mentioned in NOTE 5 head (1) or (2) were contributions paid by or on behalf of, or in respect of, the member; or (2) he is the member, or one of the members, who has been exempt from liability to tax as mentioned in NOTE 5 head (3): 2004 Act Sch 34 para 1(7). For the meaning of 'member' see PARA 873B.4.

5 A scheme is a relevant non-UK scheme if (1) relief from tax has been given in respect of contributions paid under the scheme by virtue of ibid Sch 33 (see PARA 873B.22); (2) relief from tax has been so given at any time after 5 April 2006 under double tax arrangements; (3) a member of the scheme has been, or members of the scheme have been, exempt from liability to tax by virtue of the Income Tax (Earnings and Pensions) Act 2003 s 307 in respect of provision made under the scheme at any time after 5 April 2006 when the scheme was an overseas pension scheme; or (4) there has been a relevant transfer at any time after 5 April 2006 when the scheme was a qualifying recognised overseas pension scheme: 2004 Act Sch 34 para 1(5). 'Double tax arrangements' means arrangements having effect by virtue of the Income and Corporation Taxes Act 1988 s 788 (see INCOME TAXATION): 2004 Act Sch 34 para 20. For the meaning of 'qualifying recognised overseas pension scheme' see PARA 873B.22; and for the meaning of 'relevant transfer' see NOTE 6.

6 A member of a relevant non-UK scheme is a transfer member of the scheme if a relevant transfer related to him: ibid Sch 34 para 1(8). A 'relevant transfer' means a direct or indirect transfer of sums or assets held for the purposes of, or representing accrued rights under, an arrangement made under a registered pension scheme or another scheme which is a relevant non-UK scheme, in relation to a member, so as to become held for the purposes of, or to represent rights under, an arrangement under the scheme relating to the member: Sch 34 para 1(6) (amended by the Finance Act 2007 Sch 19 para 18). The term also includes a transfer lump sum death benefit paid so as to become held for the purposes of, or to represent rights under, such an arrangement: 2004 Act Sch 34 para 1(6). For the meaning of 'pension scheme' see PARA 873B.1; and for the meaning of 'arrangement' see PARA 873B.5. As to registration see PARA 873B.2. For the meaning of 'transfer lump sum death benefit' see PARA 873B.8. As to sums and assets held for the purposes of an arrangement see PARA 873B.5.

7 Ibid Sch 34 para 1(1). Sections 205, 206 (see PARA 873B.21) apply with respect to a short service refund lump sum and to a special lump sum death benefit paid to or in respect of a relieved member of a relevant non-UK scheme, or a transfer member of such a scheme, so as to make the person to whom the payment is made (rather than the scheme administrator) liable to any charge imposed by either of those provisions: Sch 34 para 5.

8 Ibid Sch 34 para 6(1). Where, after any tax which an individual is liable to pay in respect of a payment in consequence of Sch 34 para 1 has been paid, tax is paid in respect of that payment under the law of any country or territory outside the United Kingdom, an appropriate adjustment must be made in his liability to tax (by way of discharge or repayment of tax): Sch 34 para 6(2).

9 Ibid Sch 34 para 2. For the meaning of 'tax year' see PARA 873B.7. As to the meaning of 'residence' see INCOME TAXATION vol 23(2) (Reissue) PARA 1260.

10 Ibid Sch 34 para 3(1). A member's UK tax-relieved fund under a relevant non-UK scheme is so much of the sums or assets held for the purposes of, or representing accrued rights under, the scheme as, in accordance with regulations made by the Board of Inland Revenue, represents any tax-relieved contributions made under the scheme by or on behalf of, or in respect of, the member and any tax-exempt provision made under the scheme in respect of the member: Sch 34 para 3(2). 'Tax-relieved contributions' means contributions in respect of which relief from tax has been given by virtue of Sch 33, or has been given at any time after 5 April 2006 under double tax arrangements: Sch 34 para 3(3). 'Tax-exempt provision' means provision in respect of which exemption from tax has been given by virtue of the 2003 Act s 307 at any time after 5 April 2006 when the scheme was an overseas pension scheme: 2004 Act Sch 34 para 3(4). As to the making of such regulations see PARA 873B.1. Such regulations may (in particular) provided that the sums or assets which represent any tax-relieved contributions or tax-exempt provision are to be determined otherwise than by reference to the actual amount of the contributions or the amount or value of the provision (for instance by reference to the increase in value of the member's rights under the scheme during a period for which relief or exemption in respect of such contributions or provision was given); and may make provision for determining whether or not payments made or treated as made by a relevant non-UK scheme are to be treated as referable to a member's UK tax-relieved fund under the scheme (and so whether or not they reduce the fund): Sch 34 para 3(5), (6). See the Pension Schemes (Application of UK Provisions to Relevant Non-UK Schemes) Regulations 2006, SI 2006/207 (amended by SI 2006/1960, SI 2007/493, SI 2009/2047).

11 2004 Act Sch 34 para 4(1). A member's relevant transfer fund under a relevant non-UK scheme is so much of the sums or assets held for the purposes of, or representing accrued rights under, the scheme as, in accordance with regulations made by the Board of Inland Revenue, represents relevant transferred sums or assets: Sch 34 para 4(2). 'Relevant transferred sums or assets' means sums or assets held for the purposes of, or representing accrued rights under, an arrangement under a registered pension scheme or another scheme which is a relevant non-UK scheme, which at any time after 5 April 2006 when the scheme was an overseas pension scheme have been transferred (directly or indirectly) so as to become held for the purposes of, or to represent rights under, an arrangement under the scheme relating to the member: Sch 34 para 4(3) (amended by 2007 Act Sch 19 para 18). Regulations so made may make provision for determining whether payments or transfers made (or treated as made) by a relevant non-UK scheme are to be treated as referable to a member's relevant transfer fund under the scheme (and so whether or not they reduce that fund): 2004 Act Sch 34 para 4(4). As to the making of such regulations see PARA 873B.1.

12    le the provisions of ibid Pt 4 (ss 149-284) (see PARA 873B.1 et seq, PARA 873B.24 et seq) relating to the annual allowance charge (see PARA 873B.18): Sch 34 para 8(1). Those provisions apply by virtue of Sch 34 para 8 subject to any omissions, additions and other modifications contained in regulations made by the Board of Inland Revenue: Sch 34 para 12(1). Such regulations may include provision having effect in relation to times before they are made, confer discretion on the Board of Inland Revenue or the Inland Revenue (subject to a right of appeal against any decision taken in exercise of the discretion), and make different provision for different cases: Sch 34 para 12(2). As to the making of such regulations see PARA 873B.1. See also NOTE 13.

13    Ibid Sch 34 para 8(1), (2). A pension scheme is a currently-relieved non-UK pension scheme in relation to a tax year if (1) relief from tax is given in respect of contributions paid during the tax year under the pension scheme by virtue of Sch 33 or double tax arrangements; or (2) a member of the pension scheme is, or members of the scheme are, exempt from liability to tax by virtue of the 2003 Act s 307 in respect of provision made under the scheme at any time during the tax year when the pension scheme is an overseas pension scheme: 2004 Act Sch 34 para 8(3). An individual is a currently-relieved member of a currently-relieved non-UK pension scheme in a tax year if any of the contributions in respect of which relief is given as mentioned in head (1) are contributions paid by or on behalf of, or in respect of, the individual, or the individual is the member, or one of the members, who is exempt from liability to tax as mentioned in head (2): Sch 34 para 8(3), (4).

The annual allowance provisions apply by virtue of Sch 34 para 8 as if references to the pension input period of an arrangement under the scheme that ends in a tax year were to the tax year; and ss 230(1), 234(1) (see PARA 873B.18) so apply in relation to a tax year as if the increase in the value of the individual's rights under an arrangement under the pension scheme relating to the individual during the tax year were the greater of (a) the appropriate fraction of what it otherwise would be, and (b) the amount of any contributions paid under the arrangement during the tax year by or on behalf of the individual (otherwise than by an employer) in respect of which relief from tax is given by virtue of Sch 33 or double tax arrangements: Sch 34 para 10(1). Section 237 (see PARA 873B.18) applies accordingly: Sch 34 para 10(1). The 'appropriate fraction' is: where EI is the total amount of employment income of the individual from any relevant employment or employments for the tax year (excluding any such income which is exempt income (within the meaning of the Income Tax (Earnings and Pensions) Act s 8), and TE is so much of EI as constitutes taxable earnings from any such employment (within the meaning of s 10(2)): Finance Act 2004 Sch 34 para 10(2) (amended by Finance Act 2008 Sch 29 para 19). An employment is a relevant employment if it is an employment with an employer who is a sponsoring employer in relation to the currently-relieved non-UK pension scheme: 2004 Act Sch 24 para 10(3). For the meaning of 'sponsoring employer' see PARA 873B.4.

Section 233(1) (see PARA 873B.18) applies by virtue of Sch 34 para 8 in relation to a tax year as if (i) the reference in s 233(1)(a) to relievable pension contributions paid by or on behalf of the individual under an arrangement under the pension scheme relating to an individual were to those in respect of which relief from tax is given by virtue of Sch 33 or double tax arrangements, and (ii) the reference in s 233(1)(b) to contributions paid in respect of the individual under such an arrangement by an employer of the individual were to the appropriate fraction of contributions so paid: Sch 34 para 11(1). Section 237 applies accordingly: Sch 34 para 11(1). The 'appropriate fraction' is: where EI is the total amount of employment income of the individual from any employment or employments with the employer for the tax year (excluding any such income which is exempt income (within the meaning of the Income Tax (Earnings and Pensions) Act s 8), and TE is so much of EI as constitutes taxable earnings from any such employment (within the meaning of s 10(2)): 2004 Act Sch 34 para 11(2) (amended by Finance Act 2008 Sch 29 para 19). For the meaning of 'employer' see PARA 873B.4.

14    le the provisions of the 2004 Act Pt 4 (ss 149-284) (see PARAS 873B.1 et seq, 873B.24 et seq) relating to the lifetime allowance charge (see PARA 873B.15): Sch 34 para 13(1). Those provisions apply by virtue of Sch 34 para 13 subject to any omissions, additions and other modifications contained in regulations made by the Board of Inland Revenue: Sch 34 para 19(1). Such regulations may include provision having effect in relation to times before they are made, confer discretion on the Board of Inland Revenue or the Inland Revenue (subject to a right of appeal against any decision taken in exercise of the discretion), and make different provision for different cases: Sch 34 para 19(2). As to the making of such regulations see PARA 873B.1.

15 Ibid Sch 34 para 13(1), (2). A pension scheme is a relieved non-UK pension scheme if (1) relief from tax has been given in respect of contributions paid during under the pension scheme by virtue of Sch 33; (2) relief from tax has been so given at any time after 5 April 2006 under double tax arrangements; or (3) a member of the pension scheme has been, or members of the scheme have been, exempt from liability to tax by virtue of the 2003 Act s 307 in respect of provision made under the scheme at any time after 5 April 2006 when the pension scheme was an overseas pension scheme: Sch 34 para 13(3). An individual is a relieved member of a relieved non-UK pension scheme in a tax year if any of the contributions in respect of which relief has been given as mentioned in head (1) or (2) were contributions paid by or on behalf of, or in respect of, the individual, or the individual is the member, or one of the members, who has been exempt from liability to tax as mentioned in head (3): Sch 34 para 13(3), (4).

Section 217 (see PARA 873B.15) applies with respect to a liability to the lifetime allowance charge arising by reason of the occurrence of a benefit crystallisation event by virtue of these provisions with the omission of references to the scheme administrator: Sch 34 para 17.

16 For the meaning of 'benefit crystallisation event' see PARA 873B.16.

17 The relevant relieved amount is the aggregate of (1) the amounts which for each tax year before that in which the benefit crystallisation event occurs would have been arrived at in relation to arrangements under the relieved non-UK pension scheme relating to the individual as pension input amounts under the 2004 Act ss 230-237 (see PARA 873B.18) as they apply by virtue of Sch 34; and (2) the amount which would be so arrived at if the period beginning with the tax year in which that event occurs and ending immediately before that event were a tax year (in each case assuming that s 229(3) (see PARA 873B.18) did not apply): Sch 34 para 14(3). The untested portion of the relevant relieved amount is so much of that amount as exceeds the aggregate of the amount which (in accordance with Sch 34 para 14(2)) is the amount crystallised by each previous event that was a benefit crystallisation event by virtue of these provisions in relation to the individual and the relieved non-UK pension scheme (so that if there has been no such previous event, the untested portion of the relevant relieved amount is the whole of that amount): Sch 34 para 14(4).

18 Ibid Sch 34 para 14(1), (2). An individual who is a relieved member of a relieved non-UK pension scheme may at any time elect by giving notice to the Inland Revenue in a form specified by the Board of Inland Revenue that a benefit crystallisation event is to be treated as occurring on a date specified in the notice in relation to the individual and the scheme: Sch 34 para 15(1). The amount crystallised on that event is the untested portion of the relevant relievable amount: Sch 34 para 15(2).

19 Ibid Sch 34 para 16(1), (2). A transfer is a block transfer if it involves the transfer in a single transaction of all the sums and assets held for the purposes of, or representing accrued rights under, the arrangements under the relieved non-UK pension scheme which relate to the individual and at least one other member of the scheme (whether or not that member is a relieved member): Sch 34 para 16(3). Where sums and assets held for the purposes of, or representing accrued rights under, a relieved non-UK pension scheme are transferred to as to become held for the purposes of, or to represent rights under, another pension scheme ('the transferee pension scheme') in circumstances in which, by virtue of Sch 34 para 16, the transfer does not constitute a benefit crystallisation event, Sch 34 paras 13-17, 18(1) have effect after the transfer as if (1) reference to a relieved non-UK pension scheme included the transferee pension scheme (if not a relieved non-UK pension scheme); (2) references to an individual who is a relieved member of a relieved non-UK pension scheme included the individual to whom the transfer related (if not such a member); and (3) the relevant relieved amount consisted of (or, if there is a relevant relieved amount in relation to the individual and the transferee scheme apart from this provision) included, the amount which would have been the amount crystallised had the transfer constituted a benefit crystallisation event: Sch 34 para 18.

20 Ibid Sch 34 para 7A(1) (Sch 34 para 7A added by 2006 Act Sch 21 para 14). The liability may be so imposed in circumstances which are the same as, or similar to, those in which (1) a member of a registered pension scheme is so liable by virtue of the 2004 Act s 174A and Sch 29A (see PARA 873B.30 et seq); (2) the scheme administrator of such a scheme is liable to the scheme sanction charge by virtue of s 185A or 185F (see PARA 873B.33); or (3) a member of such a scheme is liable to the scheme sanction charge by virtue of those provisions in consequence of provision made by regulations under s 273ZA (see PARA 873B.34): Sch 34 para 7A(1). Such regulations may (a) make provision for the application of any or all of the taxable property provisions (see PARA 873B.29) in relation to a transfer member of a relevant non-UK scheme subject to any omissions, additions and other modifications contained in the regulations; (b) include provision having effect in relation to times before they are made; (c) contain transitional provisions and savings; and (d) make different provision for different cases: Sch 34 para 7A(2). The Commissioners may also by regulations make provision for a relieved member of a relevant non-UK scheme, or a transfer member of such a scheme, to be liable to the unauthorised payment charge in circumstances which are the same or similar to those in which the scheme administrator of such a scheme is liable to the scheme sanction charge by virtue of s 181A (see PARA 873B.19):

Sch 34 para 7ZA (Sch 34 para 7ZA added by Finance Act 2007 Sch 19 para 18; and amended by Finance Act 2008 Sch 29 para 15).

24. Information requirements

The Inland Revenue<sup>1</sup> may, in relation to any tax year<sup>2</sup> by notice require the scheme administrator<sup>3</sup> of any registered pension scheme<sup>4</sup> to make and deliver to the Inland Revenue a return containing any information reasonably required by the notice, and to deliver with the return any accounts, statements or other documents relating to information contained in the return which may reasonable be required by the notice<sup>5</sup>. The information required to be so included is any information relating to:

- 2268 (1) contributions made under the pension scheme;
- 2269 (2) transfers of sums or assets held for the purposes of, or representing accrued rights under, another pension scheme so as to become held for the purposes of, or to represent rights under, the pension scheme in question;
- 2270 (3) income and gains derived from investments or deposits held for the purposes of the pension scheme;
- 2271 (4) other receipts of the pension scheme;
- 2272 (5) the sums and other assets held for the purposes of the pension scheme;
- 2273 (6) the liabilities of the pension scheme;
- 2274 (7) the provision of benefits by the pension scheme;
- 2275 (8) transfers of sums or assets held for the purposes of, or representing accrued rights under, the pension scheme so as to become held for the purposes of, or to represent rights under, another pension scheme;
- 2276 (9) other expenditure of the pension scheme;
- 2277 (10) the membership of the pension scheme;
- 2278 (11) any other matter relating to the administration of the pension scheme<sup>6</sup>.

Where the notice requiring the return is given after 31 October in the next tax year, a return relating to the whole or part of, or to a period or periods ending in, a tax year must be delivered before the end of the period of three months beginning with the day on which the notice is given. Otherwise, it must be delivered not later than 31 January in the following tax year<sup>7</sup>. Failure to provide such a return is visited with a penalty of £100<sup>8</sup>.

The Inland Revenue may require any person of a description prescribed by regulations made by the Board of Inland Revenue to produce to the Inland Revenue, or to make available for inspection by them, any documents within the person's possession or power relating to any of the specified matters, and to provide to the Inland Revenue any particulars relating to any of those matters, which the Inland Revenue may reasonably require<sup>9</sup>. The Inland Revenue may also by notice require any other person to produce to them or to make available for inspection by them any documents which they may reasonably require, which are within that person's possession or power which relate to any of the specified matters and which were created not more than six years before the day on which the notice is given<sup>10</sup>. Any such notice must specify the period within which it is to be complied with, which must not end earlier than the period of 30 days beginning with the day on which the notice is given<sup>11</sup>. Such a notice does not require a person to produce or make available for inspection any document, or to provide any particulars, relating to any pending appeal by the person relating to tax<sup>12</sup>. Failure to comply with such a notice is visited with a penalty not exceeding £300<sup>13</sup>.

The recipient of a notice under these provisions may appeal, within the period of 30 days beginning with the day on which the notice is given, against any requirement imposed thereby<sup>14</sup>.

1 For the meaning of 'Inland Revenue' see PARA 873B.2.

2 For the meaning of 'tax year' see PARA 873B.7.

3 For the meaning of 'scheme administrator' see PARA 873B.2.

4 For the meaning of 'pension scheme' see PARA 873B.1. As to registration see PARA 873B.2.

5 Finance Act 2004 s 250(1). The notice must specify the period to be covered by the return, which may be the whole or any specified part of the tax year or, if audited accounts of the pension scheme have been prepared for any period or periods ending in the tax year, the period or periods covered by the accounts: s 250(4), (5). 'Audited accounts' means accounts audited by a person of a description specified in regulations made by the Board of Inland Revenue: s 250(6). For the meaning of 'Board of Inland Revenue' see PARA 873B.2. As to the making of such regulations see PARA 873B.1. The regulations so far so made are the Registered Pension Schemes (Audited Accounts) (Specified Persons) Regulations 2005, SI 2005/3456 (amended by SI 2008/948, SI 2008/954).

6 The Board of Inland Revenue may by regulations make provision requiring persons of a prescribed description to provide to the Inland Revenue, in a form specified by the Board of Inland Revenue, information of a prescribed description relating to any of the specified matters, and to preserve for a prescribed period any documents relating to such information: 2004 Act s 251(1). The specified matters are (1) any matter relating to a registered pension scheme; (2) any matter relating to a pension scheme which has ceased to be a registered pension scheme; (3) any matter relating to a pension scheme in relation to which an application for registration has been made; (4) any matter relating to an annuity purchased with sums or assets held for the purposes of a registered pension scheme; (5) the coming into operation of an employer-financed retirement benefits scheme; and (6) the provision of relevant benefits under an employer-financed retirement benefits scheme: s 251(2). 'Employer-financed retirement benefits scheme' and 'relevant benefits' have the same meaning as in the Income Tax (Earnings and Pensions) Act 2003 ss 393A, 393B (see PARA 758): Finance Act 2004 ss 251(3), 252(4). The Board of Inland Revenue may also by regulations make provision requiring scheme administrators of registered pension schemes or other persons of a prescribed description to provide information of a prescribed description to persons of such of the specified descriptions as may be prescribed (or to the scheme administrators of other registered pension schemes), or requiring persons of such of the specified descriptions as are prescribed to provide information of a prescribed description to the scheme administrators of registered pension schemes: s 251(4) (amended by the Finance Act 2005 Sch 10 para 47). The persons so specified are (a) members of a registered pension scheme; (b) persons who have ceased to be members of a registered pension scheme; (c) persons to whom benefits under a registered pension scheme are being, or have been, provided; (d) the personal representatives of any person within head (a), (b) or (c); and (e) insurance companies who pay annuities purchased with sums or assets held for the purposes of registered pension schemes: 2004 Act s 251(5). 'Prescribed' means prescribed by the regulations: s 251(6). For the meaning of 'personal representatives' see PARA 873B.9; and for the meaning of 'insurance company' see PARA 873B.2. As to the making of such regulations see PARA 873B.1. The regulations so far so made are the Employer-Financed Retirement Benefits Schemes (Provision of Information) Regulations 2005, SI 2005/3453; the Registered Pension Schemes and Employer-Financed Retirement Benefits Schemes (Information) (Prescribed Descriptions of Persons) Regulations 2005, SI 2005/3455; the Registered Pension Schemes (Enhanced Lifetime Allowance) Regulations 2006, SI 2006/131 (see PARA 873B.15); and the Registered Pension Schemes (Provision of Information) Regulations 2006, SI 2006/567 (see PARA 873B.1).

For the penalties for failure to comply with regulations made under the 2004 Act s 251 see the Taxes Management Act 1970 s 98; and INCOME TAXATION vol 23(2) (Reissue) PARA 1711. A person who fails to comply with regulations under s 251(1)(b) relating to preservation of documents is liable to a penalty not exceeding £3,000: 2004 Act s 258(2).

7 Ibid s 250(7). Where the latter deadline would apply, but the winding-up of the pension scheme has been completed before 31 October in the next tax year, the return must be delivered before the end of the period of three months beginning with the day on which the winding-up is completed: s 250(8). This provision does not, however, apply if the end of that three-month period is before the end of the period of three months beginning with the day on which the notice is given; and in that case the return must be delivered before the end of that latter period: s 250(9).

8 Ibid s 257(1). If the failure continues after such a penalty is imposed, the scheme administrator is liable to a further penalty not exceeding £60 for each day of continuance after the day on which that penalty was imposed (but not including any day for which a penalty under this provision has already been imposed): s 257(2). No penalty may be imposed under s 257(1) or (2) in respect of a failure after it has been remedied: s 257(3).

If the scheme administrator of a registered pension scheme fraudulently or negligently makes an incorrect return required by a notice under s 250, or delivers any incorrect accounts, statements or other documents with such a return, the scheme administrator is liable to a penalty not exceeding £3,000: s 257(4).

9 Ibid s 252(1). The specified matters are (1) any matter relating to a registered pension scheme; (2) any matter relating to a pension scheme which has ceased to be a registered pension scheme; (3) any matter relating to a pension scheme in relation to which an application for registration has been made; (4) any matter relating to an annuity purchased with sums or assets held for the purposes of a registered pension scheme; (5) the coming into operation of an employer-financed retirement benefits scheme; and (6) the provision of relevant benefits under an employer-financed retirement benefits scheme: s 252(3).

10 Ibid s 252(2). Such a notice must specify the pension scheme or employer-financed retirement benefits scheme to which it relates: s 252(6). The Inland Revenue must notify the scheme administrator of the pension scheme, or the responsible person in relation to the employee-financed retirement benefits scheme, to which such a notice relates that the notice has been given no later than the end of the period of 30 days beginning with the day on which it is given: s 252(7). 'Responsible person' has the meaning given by the 2003 Act s 399A (see PARA 758): 2004 Act s 252(8).

11 Ibid s 252(5). A person may comply with a notice requiring the production of a document by producing a copy of the document; but where a person does so, the Inland Revenue may by notice require the production of the original for inspection within a period specified in the notice, which must not end earlier than the period of 30 days beginning with the day on which the notice is given: s 252(10). The Inland Revenue may take copies of, or make extracts from, any document produced in compliance with a notice under s 252: s 252(11).

12 Ibid s 252(12).

13 Ibid s 259(1). If the failure continues after such a penalty is imposed, the defaulter is liable to a further penalty not exceeding £60 for each day of continuance after the day on which that penalty was imposed (but not including any day for which a penalty under this provision has already been imposed): s 259(2). No penalty may be imposed under s 259(1) or (2) in respect of a failure after it has been remedied: s 259(3).

If a person fraudulently or negligently produces or makes available for inspection any incorrect documents, or provides any incorrect particulars, in response to a notice under s 252, he is liable to a penalty not exceeding £3,000: s 259(4).

14 Ibid s 253(1), (2), (5). On an appeal notified to it, the tribunal, if it considers that the provision of the document or particulars was reasonably required by the Inland Revenue, must confirm the notice so far as relating to that requirement. If the tribunal decides that it was not reasonably required, the tribunal must set aside the notice so far as relating to that requirement: s 253(6)-(8) (amended the Transfer of Tribunal Functions and Revenue and Customs Appeals Order 2009, SI 2009/56). If the notice is confirmed, it has effect in relation to the requirement to which the appeal relates as if it specified as the period within which it must be complied with the period of 30 days beginning with the day on which the appeal was determined: s 253(9). Notwithstanding the provisions of the Tribunals, Courts and Enforcement Act 2007 ss 11 (see ADMINISTRATIVE LAW vol 1(1) (2001 Reissue) PARA 13A.7), 13 (see ADMINISTRATIVE LAW vol 1(1) (2001 Reissue) PARA 13A.8), the tribunal's decision is final and conclusive: s 253(10) (substituted by SI 2009/56).

25. Registered pension schemes: accounting for tax by scheme administrators; assessments

A scheme administrator<sup>1</sup> of a registered pension scheme<sup>2</sup> must make returns to the Inland Revenue<sup>3</sup> of the income tax to which he is liable for each period of three months ending with 31 March, 30 June, 30 September or 31 December if tax has been charged on the scheme administrator by virtue of these provisions in that period<sup>4</sup>. The return must be made before the end of the period of 45 days beginning with the day immediately following the end of the three-month period concerned, and must show the income tax to which the scheme administrator is liable and include such particulars of the events or other circumstances giving rise to the liability (including particulars as to the persons to whom the events or other circumstances relate) as are required to be included in such returns by regulations made by the Board of Inland Revenue<sup>5</sup>. The income tax shown in such a return is due at the time by which the return is to be made, and is payable without the making of an assessment<sup>6</sup>.

A scheme administrator who fails to make such a return is liable to a penalty or penalties of the relevant quarterly amount for each quarter (or part of a quarter) for which the failure continues, excluding any quarter after the fourth or for which such a penalty has already been imposed; and if the failure continues beyond the fourth quarter (whether or not any quarterly penalty is imposed), the scheme administrator is liable to a penalty not exceeding the amount of income tax to which the administrator is liable<sup>7</sup> for the quarter for which the return should have been made<sup>8</sup>. A scheme administrator who fraudulently or negligently makes an incorrect return is liable to a penalty not exceeding the difference between the amount of the tax shown in the return and the amount of the tax which should have been so shown (or, if no tax is so shown, the amount of the tax which should have been so shown)<sup>9</sup>.

The Board of Inland Revenue may by regulations make provision for and in connection with the making of assessments in respect of the unauthorised payments charge<sup>10</sup>, the unauthorised payments surcharge<sup>11</sup>, liability to the lifetime allowance charge<sup>12</sup>, the scheme sanction charge<sup>13</sup>, the liability of trustees<sup>14</sup>, the liability of members<sup>15</sup>, and the liability of a responsible person<sup>16</sup>; and the provision that may be so made includes (in particular) provision for the charging of interest on tax due under such assessments which remains unpaid<sup>17</sup>.

The Board of Inland Revenue may give directions requiring specified persons to use electronic means for the making of specified payments required to be made under or by virtue of these provisions<sup>18</sup>; and such directions may make provision (1) as to conditions that must be complied with in connection with the use of such means for the making of any payment; (2) for treating a payment as not having been made unless conditions imposed by the directions are satisfied; (3) for determining the time when a payment in accordance with such directions is taken to be made; (4) as to the manner of proving for any purpose (a) whether any use of electronic means for making a payment is to be taken as having resulted in the payment being made, (b) the time of the making of any payment made by electronic means, (c) any other matter for which provision may be made by such directions<sup>19</sup>. Such directions may also (a) be specific or general; (b) provide that the conditions of any authorization or requirement imposed by the directions are taken to be satisfied only where the Inland Revenue is satisfied as to specified matters; (c) suspend for any period during which the use of electronic means for the making of payments is impossible or impractical, any requirements imposed by the directions relating to the use of such means; (d) substitute alternative requirements for the suspended ones; and (e) make any provision that is necessary in consequence of the imposition of the substituted requirements<sup>20</sup>.

A payment made to the Board of Inland Revenue under or by virtue of these provisions<sup>21</sup> (otherwise than in cash) is treated as not having been made until the earliest date on or before which all the transactions that need to be completed before the whole amount of the payment becomes available to the Board are capable of being completed<sup>22</sup>.

1 For the meaning of 'scheme administrator' see PARA 873B.2. Where the registration of a scheme has been withdrawn, the Finance Act 2004 ss 254, 260 have effect as if references to the scheme administrator were to the person who was, or each of the persons who were, the scheme administrator immediately before such withdrawal: ss 254(9), 260(7).

8 Ibid s 260(1). 'Quarter' means any of the periods of three months referred to in the text; and 'the relevant quarterly amount' is £100 if the number of persons in respect of whom particulars should be included in the return is ten or fewer. If that number is greater than ten, the 'relevant quarterly amount' is £100 for each ten such persons and an additional £100 where that number is not a multiple of ten: s 260(2). No tax-based penalty under s 260(1)(b) may be imposed unless the amount of income tax to which the scheme administrator is liable (otherwise than under s 239 see PARA 873B.19) for the quarter concerned has been determined by the Inland Revenue, and the scheme administrator has been notified of that amount: s 260(4). ## 26. Penalties in general

A person who fraudulently or negligently makes a false statement or representation is liable to a penalty not exceeding £3,000 if, in consequence of the statement or representation, he or any other person obtains relief from, or repayment of, tax chargeable<sup>1</sup>; or a registered pension scheme<sup>2</sup> makes a payment which is an unauthorised payment<sup>3</sup>. A person who assists in or induces the preparation of any document which he knows is incorrect and will, or is likely to, cause a registered pension scheme to make an unauthorised payment, is liable to a penalty not exceeding £3,000<sup>4</sup>.

Where the winding-up of a registered pension scheme has begun and the Inland Revenue<sup>5</sup> consider that it is taking place wholly or mainly for the purpose of facilitating the payment of winding-up lump sums or winding-up lump sum death benefits (or both) under the scheme, the scheme administrator<sup>6</sup> is liable to a penalty not exceeding £3,000 for each member to whom a winding-up lump sum or a winding-up lump sum death benefit is paid under the scheme<sup>7</sup>.

Where sums held for the purposes of, or representing accrued rights under, a registered pension scheme ('the transferor scheme') are transferred so as to become held for the purposes of, or to represent rights under, a registered pension scheme that is an insured scheme<sup>8</sup> (the 'transferee scheme'), the scheme administrator of the transferor scheme is liable to a penalty not exceeding £3,000 unless the sums are transferred either to the scheme administrator of the transferee scheme or to a relevant insurance company<sup>9</sup>.

9    Ibid s 266(1), (2). 'Relevant insurance company' means an insurance company that issued any of the policies of insurance referred to in NOTE 8: s 266(3). For the meaning of 'insurance company' see PARA 873B.2.

27.    Liability of scheme administrator

Any liability of a person who is, or of any of the persons who are, the scheme administrator<sup>1</sup> of a registered pension scheme<sup>2</sup> ceases to be a liability of that person on his ceasing to be such a person<sup>3</sup>. By the same token, where a person becomes (or becomes one of the persons who is) the scheme administrator, that person assumes any existing liabilities of the scheme administrator, other than any liability to pay a penalty<sup>4</sup>.

If:

- 2279 (1)    there is no scheme administrator of a registered pension scheme, and no one who remains subject to the liabilities of the scheme administrator<sup>5</sup>;
- 2280 (2)    the person who is (or all the persons who are) the scheme administrator cannot be traced, or
- 2281 (3)    the person who is (or all the persons who are) the scheme administrator, or who remain so, are in serious default<sup>6</sup>, then the following persons assume liability:

- 2282 (a)    if there are one or more trustees of the pension scheme who are resident<sup>7</sup> in the United Kingdom, that trustee or each of those trustees;
- 2283 (b)    if there are one or more persons who control the management of the pension scheme, that person or each of those persons;
- 2284 (c)    if alive or still in existence, the person, or any of the persons, who established the pension scheme and any person by whom that person, or any of those persons, has been directly or indirectly succeeded in relation to the provision of benefits under the pension scheme;
- 2285 (d)    if the pension scheme is an occupational pension scheme<sup>8</sup>, any sponsoring employer<sup>9</sup>;

2286 (e) if there are one or more trustees of the pension scheme who are not resident in the United Kingdom, that trustee or each of those trustees<sup>10</sup>.

If a person assumes, or persons assume, liability by virtue of being specified under one of the above heads, and that person or any of those persons can be traced and is not in default, no one assumes liability by virtue of being specified under a later head<sup>11</sup>. Any person who assumes liability under the above provisions is liable to pay any tax (or interest on tax) due<sup>12</sup> from the scheme administrator, and is responsible for the discharge of all other obligations imposed<sup>13</sup> on the scheme administrator<sup>14</sup>. Where a person assumes liability under the above provisions, the Inland Revenue must, as soon as is reasonably practicable, notify the person accordingly, but failure to do so does not affect the person's liability<sup>15</sup>.

If a person has (or persons have) assumed liability under the above provisions, and 2287 (i) that person has (or those persons have) become liable to pay a scheme sanction charge<sup>16</sup> or a de-registration charge<sup>17</sup> or interest on either before such assumption;

2288 (ii) that person, or each of those persons, has failed (in whole or in part) to satisfy the liability; and

2289 (iii) that person, or each of those persons, has either died or ceased to exist or is a person in the case of which the Inland Revenue considers the failure to satisfy the liability to be of a serious nature, then any person who was a member<sup>18</sup> of the pension scheme at any time during the relevant three-year period<sup>19</sup> is liable to pay the appropriate share of the unpaid amount<sup>20</sup> if any of the specified conditions<sup>21</sup> is met and the Inland Revenue notify the person of that person's liability to do so<sup>22</sup>.

The fact that any person is liable to pay any tax or interest, or is responsible for the discharge of any other obligation<sup>23</sup>, does not relieve any other person of any liability to pay the tax or interest, or any obligation to discharge the obligation, arising by reason of that other person's being, or being one of the persons who is, the scheme administrator<sup>24</sup>. Where a liability imposed on the scheme administrator falls to be satisfied by two or more persons (whether or not they constitute the scheme administrator), they are jointly and severally liable<sup>25</sup>.

The Board of Inland Revenue may make regulations in relation to cases where an insurance company makes a payment of a pension protection lump sum death benefit, an annuity protection lump sum death benefit, or an unsecured pension fund lump sum death benefit, which is treated<sup>26</sup> as made by a registered pension scheme; and such regulations may provide that the insurance company is to be treated as the scheme administrator for the purposes of the special lump sum death benefit charge<sup>27</sup> and is responsible for the discharge of all obligations imposed<sup>28</sup> on the scheme administrator so far as related to the liability to that charge<sup>29</sup>.

2 For the meaning of 'pension scheme' see PARA 873B.1. As to registration see PARA 873B.2.

3 Finance Act 2004 s 271(1). This provision does not, however, apply to a liability to a penalty; and any liability of the person or persons concerned remains his or their liability as if he or they remained the scheme administrator (unless the person concerned is dead or has ceased to exist) until another person becomes, or other persons become, the scheme administrator: s 271(1), (3), (4). However, a person who retains (or persons who retain) a liability under s 271(4) may apply to the Inland Revenue to be released therefrom: s 271(5). On receipt of the application, the Inland Revenue must decide whether or not to release the person or persons concerned, and must notify him or them accordingly: s 271(6). If no release is granted, the applicant or applicants may appeal against the Inland Revenue's decision within the period of 30 days beginning with the day on which that person was (or those persons were) notified thereof: s 271(7), (9). On an appeal that is notified to it, the tribunal, if it considers that the person or persons ought not to be so released, must dismiss the appeal: s 271(11), (12) (amended by SI 2009/56). If the tribunal considers that release is appropriate, the applicant is (or the applicants are) deemed to have been so released (subject to any further appeal): 2004 Act s 271(11), (13) (amended by SI 2009/56).

The references to tax and to interest on tax include any that has become due before s 272 applied in relation to the pension scheme and remains unpaid; and the reference to obligations includes any that have become due before s 272 applied in relation to the scheme and remain unsatisfied, other than any liability to pay a penalty which has become due before s 272 so applied: s 272(3).

17 Ie under ibid s 242: see PARA 873B.20.

18 For the meaning of 'member' see PARA 873B.4.

19 Ie the period of three years ending with the date on which the liability to pay the tax arose: 2004 Act s 273(3).

20 The 'appropriate share of the unpaid amount', in relation to a person, is:

where AA is an amount equal to the aggregate of the amount of the sums and the market value of the assets held for the purposes of the scheme at the time when the liability to pay the tax arose; AAP is an amount equal to so much of AA as is held for the purposes of such of the arrangements under the scheme as relate to the person or a person connected with the person; and UT is so much of the tax (and any interest thereon) as remains unpaid: ibid s 273(4). For the meaning of 'market value' see PARA 873B.3; and for the meaning of 'arrangement' see PARA 873B.5. 'Connected person' has the meaning given by the Income and Corporation Taxes Act 1988 s 839 (see INCOME TAXATION vol 23(2) (Reissue) PARA 1258); 2004 Act s 273(11).

21 The specified conditions are that (1) the pension scheme was not an occupational pension scheme; (2) at any time during the relevant three-year period, the pension scheme received a transfer value in which there were represented relevant personal pension contributions made by or in respect of the person; (3) the pension scheme was an occupational pension scheme and at any time during the relevant three-year period the person was a controlling director of a company that was a sponsoring employer; and (4) at any time during the relevant three-year period the pension scheme received a transfer value in which there were represented relevant controlling director contributions made by or in respect of the person: s 273(5) (amended by Finance Act 2007 Sch 20 para 4). 'Relevant personal pension contributions' means contributions under a pension scheme (whether or not the scheme from which the transfer value was received) which was not an occupational pension scheme: 2004 Act s 273(7) (amended by 2007 Act Sch 20 para 4). 'Relevant controlling director contributions' means contributions under an occupational pension scheme (whether or not the pension scheme from which the transfer value was received) made by reference to service (or remuneration in respect of service) as a controlling director of a company that was a sponsoring employer; and a person is a 'controlling director' of a company if he is a director of that company and is within the Income and Corporation Taxes Act 1988 s 417(5)(b) (see INCOME TAXATION vol 23(2) (Reissue) PARA 1300 et seq): 2004 Act s 273(8), (9). References to the receipt of a transfer value by the pension scheme are to the transfer, so as to become held for the purposes of, or to represent rights under, the scheme, of any sum or asset held for the purposes of, or representing accrued rights under, any other pension scheme: s 273(10).

22 Ibid s 273(2). Such notification may be included in an assessment in respect of a liability under s 273, and such an assessment made in relation to an amount is not out of time if it is made within the period of three years beginning with the date on which the person assessed first became liable to pay the amount: s 273(6).

23 Ie under ibid s 272 or 273.

24 Ibid s 274(1). Nor does it relieve any other person of an obligation under s 271(4): s 274(1). No liability to pay tax or interest, or any other obligation, of any person in relation to a registered pension scheme arising by virtue of the person's being, or being one of the persons who is, the scheme administrator of the pension scheme concerned, or under s 271(4), 272, 273 or 273A is affected by the termination of the pension scheme or by its ceasing to be a registered pension scheme: s 274(3) (amended by Finance Act 2005 Sch 10 para 49).

29. Investment-regulated pension scheme: meaning

Specific provision is made for investment-regulated pension schemes. A registered pension scheme which is not an occupational pension scheme is an investment-regulated pension scheme if any member of which (or a person related<sup>1</sup> to such a member) is or has been able (directly or indirectly) to direct, influence or advise on the manner of investment or any of the sums and assets held for the purposes of an arrangement under the pension scheme relating to the member<sup>2</sup>. A registered pension scheme which is an occupational pension scheme is an investment-regulated pension scheme if there are 50 or fewer members of the scheme and any member (or a person related to such a member) is or has been able (directly or indirectly) to direct, influence or advise on the manner of investment of any of the sums and assets held for the purposes of the scheme<sup>3</sup>. Where sums or assets held for the purposes of an investment-regulated pension scheme are held otherwise than for the purposes of the administration or management of the scheme and would not otherwise be treated as held for the purposes of an arrangement relating to a member under the scheme, those sums or assets are treated as held for the purposes of the arrangements under the scheme by reference to the respective rights under the scheme or the members to which the arrangements relate<sup>4</sup>.

This definition applies for the purposes of the taxable property provisions<sup>5</sup>.

1 A person is related to a member of a pension scheme if he and the member are connected persons (within the meaning of the Income and Corporation Taxes Act 1988 s 839) (see INCOME TAXATION), or he acts on behalf of the member or a person connected with the member: Finance Act 2004 Sch 29A para 4 (Sch 29A added by Finance Act 2006 Sch 21 para 13).

2 2004 Act Sch 29A para 1(1), (2). For the meaning of 'registered pension scheme' see PARA 873B.1; for the meaning of 'occupational pension scheme' see PARA 873B.2; for the meaning of 'member' see PARA 873B.4; and for the meaning of 'arrangement' see PARA 873B.5.

3 Ibid Sch 29A para 2 (amended by Finance Act 2008 Sch 29 para 3). In the case of an arrangement under a registered pension scheme which is an occupational pension scheme but is not an investment-regulated pension scheme by virtue of the 2004 Act Sch 29A para 2, if any member (or a person related to him) is or has been able (directly or indirectly) to direct, influence or advise on the manner of investment of any sums or assets which are linked to an arrangement relating to the member, the scheme is treated as if it were an investment-regulated pension scheme: Sch 29A para 3(1), (2), (4). For this purpose, sums or assets are linked to an arrangement relating to a member if they are held for the purposes of an arrangement under the scheme relating to him, but are not held for those purposes merely by virtue of a just and reasonable apportionment of the sums and assets held for the purposes of the scheme: Sch 29A para 3(3). The Treasury may by regulations amend this provision and provide for any of the provisions of Sch 29A Pt 1 (paras 1-5) to apply to the arrangement with modifications: Sch 29A para 3(5). As to the making of such regulations, see INCOME TAXATION.

4 Ibid Sch 29A para 5.

5 Ibid Sch 29A para 1(1). The 'taxable property provisions' are ss 173(7A), 174A, 185A-185I, 273ZA, Sch 29A and Sch 36 paras 37A-37I (transitional provisions): Sch 29A para 1(1). Unless otherwise stated, the definitions given in PARAS 873B.30-873B.33 apply for the purposes of those provisions.

30. Unauthorised payments by investment-regulated pension schemes

An investment-regulated pension scheme<sup>1</sup> is treated as making an unauthorised payment to a member of the scheme if:

- 2293 (1) the pension scheme acquires<sup>2</sup> an interest in taxable property<sup>3</sup> which interest is held by the scheme for the purposes of an arrangement under the scheme relating to the member;
- 2294 (2) an interest in taxable property is held by the scheme for the purposes of such an arrangement and the property is improved; or
- 2295 (3) an interest in property which is not residential property is held by the scheme for the purposes of such an arrangement and the property is converted or adapted to become residential property<sup>4</sup>.

'Residential property' is:

- 2296 (a) a building<sup>5</sup> that is used or suitable for use as a dwelling;
- 2297 (b) any land consisting of, or forming part of, the garden or grounds of such a building (including a building on any such land) which is used or intended for use for a purpose connected with the enjoyment of the building;
- 2298 (c) hotel or similar accommodation; or
- 2299 (d) a beach hut,

in the United Kingdom or elsewhere<sup>6</sup>.

A building used for any of the following purposes is not residential property:

- 2300 (i) a home or other institution providing residential accommodation for children;
- 2301 (ii) a hall of residence for students;
- 2302 (iii) a home or other institution providing residential accommodation with personal care for persons in need of such care by reason of old age, disability, past or present dependence on alcohol or drugs, or past or present mental disorder;
- 2303 (iv) a hospital or hospice;
- 2304 (v) a prison or similar establishment<sup>7</sup>.

An investment-regulated pension scheme holds an interest in property if it holds the interest directly or indirectly<sup>8</sup>.

A person holds an interest in property directly if that person (whether jointly, in common, or alone):

- 2305 (A) holds the property or any estate, right or power in or over it;
- 2306 (B) has the right to use, or to participate in arrangements relating to the use of, that property or a description of property to which that property belongs;
- 2307 (C) has the benefit of any obligation, restriction or condition affecting the value of any estate, interest, right or power in or over the property, under the law of any country or territory<sup>9</sup>. However, a person does not hold an interest in residential property consisting of hotel accommodation directly unless that person holds part only of that accommodation or any estate, interest, right or power in or over such a part and, as a result, any person has a right to use or occupy that or any other part of the hotel accommodation; or that person has a right to use, or to participate in arrangements relating to the use of, part only of the hotel accommodation or a description of property to which that part belongs<sup>10</sup>.

A person holds an interest in property indirectly if the person does not hold the interest directly but (whether jointly, in common or alone) that person holds an interest<sup>11</sup> in a person who holds an interest in the property directly, and so on through a succession of such holdings<sup>12</sup>.

1 For the meaning of 'investment-regulated pension scheme' see PARA 873B.29.

2 An investment-regulated pension scheme acquires an interest in property if it comes to hold the interest (however the scheme comes so to hold it, ie by act of the parties to a transaction, by order of a court or other authority, by or under any statutory provision, or by operation of law): Finance Act 2004 Sch 29A para 12 (Sch 29A added by Finance Act 2006 Sch 21 para 13). Where a scheme holds an interest in property which is not taxable property, and that property becomes taxable property otherwise than by reason of its conversion or adaptation as residential property, the scheme is treated as acquiring an interest in the property: 2004 Act Sch 29A para 27. Where a scheme holds an interest in taxable property, directly or indirectly, and there is an increase in the extent of the interest held directly or indirectly in a vehicle by the pension scheme or another vehicle, the scheme is treated as having disposed of the interest in the property immediately before the increase in the extent of the interest in the vehicle, and having reacquired the interest immediately afterwards: Sch 29A para 28). Where there is an increase in the extent of the interest held directly in the vehicle otherwise than by reason of the acquisition of a further interest in the vehicle, Sch 29A para 28 does not apply unless the event by which the increase is effected forms part of a scheme or arrangement the main purpose or one of the main purposes of which is to enable the amount of the unauthorised payment treated as arising on the original acquisition of the interest in the property by the pension scheme to be lower than it otherwise would have been, or to prevent an unauthorised payment from being treated as made on that original acquisition: Sch 29A para 29(1), (2). For the definition of 'vehicle' and further provisions as to property held by or through a vehicle, see PARA 873B.31.

3 Property is taxable property if it is residential property or tangible movable property: ibid Sch 29A para 6. The Treasury may, however, by order provide that any specified description of tangible movable property be treated as not being taxable property, and such an order may include provision having effect in relation to times before it is made: Sch 29A para 11. As to the making of such regulations, see INCOME TAXATION. See the Investment-related Pension Schemes (Exception of Tangible Movable Property) Order 2006, SI 2006/1959.

4 2004 Act s 174A (added by 2006 Act Sch 21 para 5). For the meaning of 'member' see PARA 873B.4; and for the meaning of 'arrangement' see PARA 873B.5.

5 'Building' includes a structure and part of a building or structure: 2004 Act Sch 29A para 7(2).

6 Ibid Sch 29A para 7(1). However, residential property is not taxable property in relation to a pension scheme if it is (or, if unoccupied, is to be) occupied (1) by an employee who (a) is neither a member of the pension scheme nor connected with such a member, (b) is not connected with the employer, and (c) is required as a condition of employment to occupy the property; or (2) by a person who is neither a member of the pension scheme nor connected with such a member and used in connection with business premises held as an investment of the pension scheme: Sch 29A para 10(1), (2). 'Connected person' has the meaning given by the Income and Corporation Taxes Act 1988 s 839 (see INCOME TAXATION): 2004 Act Sch 29A para 10(3). For the meaning of 'United Kingdom' see PARA 15 NOTE 4.

7 Ibid Sch 29A para 8. The Treasury may by order amend Sch 29A Pt 2 (paras 6-11) to specify descriptions of buildings which are, or are not, to be treated as residential property: Sch 29A para 9 (amended by Finance Act 2009 s 75(2)).

8 2004 Act Sch 29A para 13(1). References in these provisions to a person holding an interest in property include, in the case of (1) an investment-related pension scheme; (2) an arrangement under a pension scheme; or (3) a trust which is not a pension scheme, references to the interest in the property being held for the purposes of the pension scheme, the arrangement or the trust: Sch 29A para 13(2).

9 Ibid Sch 29A para 14(1). A person holds an interest in property directly if that person is entitled (whether jointly, in common or alone) to receive payments determined by reference to the value of, or the income from, the property: Sch 29A para 14(3). However, this provision does not apply where (1)(a) the person concerned is entitled to receive the payments by virtue of a policy of life insurance, a contract for a life annuity or a capital redemption policy, and (b) the policy or contract is issued by an insurance company; (2) the property (a) does not constitute a linked asset, or (b) has been appropriated by the insurance company to an internal linked fund; and (3)(a) where the person is an occupational pension scheme (see PARA 873B.2) the policy or contract, either by itself or taken together with one or more associated policies, does not entitle the pension scheme, either alone or together with one or more associated persons, to receive payments representing 10% or more of the market value of the income from the property, (b) where the person is a pension scheme other than an occupational pension scheme, the policy or contract, either by itself or taken together with one or more associated policies, does not entitle an arrangement under the pension scheme, either alone or together with one or more associated persons, to receive such payments, or (c) otherwise the policy or contract does not entitle the person to receive such payments: Sch 29A para 15(1)-(4). For this purpose, an annuity is a life annuity if it is granted for a consideration in money or money's worth in the ordinary course of a business of granting annuities on human life, and payable for a term ending at a time ascertainable only by reference to the end of a human life, and it does not matter that the annuity may in some circumstances end before or after the life: Sch 29A para 15(9). 'Capital redemption policy' means a contract made in the course of a capital redemption business, as defined in the Income and Corporation Taxes Act 1988 s 458(3) (see INCOME TAXATION); 'linked asset' means an asset of the insurance company which is identified in its records as an asset by reference to the value of which benefits provided for under a policy or contract are to be determined; and 'internal linked fund' has the meaning given by the Interim Prudential Sourcebook for Insurers made by the Financial Services Authority under the Financial Services and Markets Act 2000: Finance Act 2004 Sch 29A para 15(8). 'Associated policy' means a policy or contract which entitles an associated person to receive payments determined by reference to the value of, or the income from, the property: Sch 29A para 15(6). 'Associated person', in relation to a pension scheme, means (a) any member of the pension scheme; (b) any person connected with such a member; (c) any arrangement (under that or another pension scheme) relating to a member of the pension scheme or to a person connected with such a member; and (d) any associated pension scheme: Sch 29A paras 15(7), 30(1). In relation to an arrangement under a pension scheme, the term means (i) the member of the pension scheme to which that arrangement relates; (ii) any person connected with such a member; and (iii) any arrangement (under that or another pension scheme) relating to a member of the pension scheme to which that arrangement relates, or to any person connected with such a member: Sch 29A para 30(4). A pension scheme is associated with another pension scheme if members representing at least 10% by value of one pension scheme are members of the other or connected with such members; and the percentage by value represented by a member of a pension scheme is: where AM is an amount equal to the aggregate of the amount of the sums and the market value of the assets held for the purposes of an arrangement under the scheme relating to the member; and AA is an amount equal to the aggregate of the amount of the sums and the market value of the assets held for the purposes of the pension scheme: Sch 29A para 30(2), (3).

$$\frac{AM}{AA} \times 100$$

For the meaning of 'market value' see PARA 873B.3 NOTE 4.

11 A person holds an interest in another person if (1) the person holds an interest, right or power in or over that other person; or (2) the person lends money to that other person to fund the acquisition by that other person of an interest in taxable property: ibid Sch 29A para 16(2). Head (2) does not apply where (a) the loan is an authorised employer loan made by a pension scheme to or in respect of a sponsoring employer (see s 179; and PARA 873B.4), (b) the interest in the property is acquired so that the property may be used for the purposes of a trade, profession or vocation carried on by the sponsoring employer or for the purposes of the sponsoring employer's administration or management, and (c) after the acquisition, the property is not occupied or used by a member of the pension scheme or a person connected with such a member: Sch 29A para 16(3). For the meaning of 'trade', 'profession' and 'vocation' see INCOME TAXATION.

A person holds an interest in a company for these purposes if that person (i) has, or is entitled to acquire, share capital or voting rights in the company; (ii) has, or is entitled to acquire, a right to receive or participate in distributions of the company; (iii) is entitled to secure that income or assets (whether present or future) of the company will be applied directly or indirectly for that person's benefit; or (iv) the person, either alone or together with other persons, has control of the company: Sch 29A paras 16(5), 17(1). A person is entitled to do something for this purpose if that person is currently entitled to do it at a future date, or will at a future date be entitled to do it: Sch 29A para 17(2). 'Control' has the meaning given by the Income and Corporation Taxes Act 1988 s 416 (see INCOME TAXATION): 2004 Act Sch 29A para 17(2), (3).

A person holds an interest in a collective investment scheme for these purposes if that person is a participant in the scheme: Sch 29A paras 16(5), 18(1). 'Collective investment scheme' has the meaning given by the Financial Services and Markets Act 2000 s 235 (see FINANCIAL SERVICES AND INSTITUTIONS vol 49 (2008) PARA 603); and 'participant', in relation to such a scheme, has the meaning given by s 235(2) (see FINANCIAL SERVICES AND INSTITUTIONS vol 49 (2008) PARA 603): 2004 Act Sch 29A para 18(2).

A person holds an interest in a trust for these purposes if either (A) the pension scheme has a relevant interest in the trust, and that scheme or a member thereof or a person connected with such a member has made a payment to the trust on or after the acquisition of the interest; or (B) a member of the scheme or person connected with such a member has a relevant interest in the trust, and the scheme has made a payment to the trust on or after the acquisition of the interest: Sch 29A paras 16(5), 19(1)-(3). In order for head (A) or (B) to apply, the payment must not be a payment made as part of an arm's-length transaction by which property or a benefit is to be provided in return for the payment; or made otherwise than for the purposes of enabling a member of the scheme or a person connected with such a member to use such property: Sch 29A para 19(7). A person other than the pension scheme concerned holds an interest in a trust if that person has a relevant interest in the trust or has made a payment to the trust on or after the acquisition of the interest, and the payment falls within Sch 29A para 19(7): Sch 29A para 19(4). A person has a relevant interest in a trust if any property which may at any time be comprised in the trust, or any derived property, is, or will or may become, payable to or applicable for the benefit of the person in any circumstances; or if the person enjoys a benefit which arises directly or indirectly from any property which is comprised in the trust or any derived property: Sch 29A para 19(5). 'Derived property', in relation to any property, means income from that property or any other property directly or indirectly representing proceeds of, or income from, that property: Sch 29A para 19(6). 'Connected person' has the meaning given by the Income and Corporation Taxes Act 1988 s 839 (see INCOME TAXATION): 2004 Act Sch 29A para 19(8) (Sch 29A as added). Schedule 29A para 19 does not apply in relation to a unit trust scheme within the meaning of the Financial Services and Markets Act 2000 s 237(1): 2004 Act Sch 29A para 19(9). The Treasury may by regulations amend Sch 29A paras 17-19, or amend Sch 29A paras 12-30 for the purposes of explaining what it means for a person to hold an interest, right or power in or over another person in other cases: Sch 29A para 16(6).

12 Ibid Sch 29A para 16(1). References in these provisions to a person holding an interest in another person include, in the case of an investment-regulated pension scheme, an arrangement under such a scheme, or a trust which is not a pension scheme, references to the interest in the other person being held for the purposes of the pension scheme, arrangement or trust: Sch 29A para 16(4). As to the extent of such holdings, see PARA 873B.32.

31. Investment-regulated pension schemes: further provisions relating to property ownership

A pension scheme<sup>1</sup> does not hold an interest in property indirectly through a vehicle<sup>2</sup> through which the scheme would otherwise hold the property indirectly<sup>3</sup> in any of the circumstances set out below<sup>4</sup>. A person holds an interest in a vehicle directly if that person holds an interest<sup>5</sup> in the vehicle<sup>6</sup>.

2308 (1) If the main activity of the vehicle in question is the carrying on of a trade, profession or vocation and (a) the pension scheme does not, whether alone or together with one or more associated persons<sup>7</sup>, have control<sup>8</sup> of the vehicle; and (b) neither a member of the scheme nor a person connected<sup>9</sup> with such a member is a controlling director<sup>10</sup> of the vehicle or any other vehicle which holds an interest in the vehicle, directly or indirectly<sup>11</sup>.

265. (a) the total value of the assets held directly by the vehicle in question is at least £1 million, or the vehicle holds directly at least three assets which consist of an interest in residential property<sup>13</sup>, and no asset held directly by the vehicle which consists of an interest in taxable property<sup>14</sup> has a value which exceeds 40% of the total value of the assets so held<sup>15</sup>;

266. (b) the vehicle is a company which is resident in the United Kingdom and is not a close company, or is not so resident and would not be a close company were it so resident<sup>16</sup>;

267. (c) the vehicle does not have as its main purpose, or one of its main purposes, the direct or indirect holding of an animal or animals used for sporting purposes<sup>17</sup>.

Heads (2) and (3) above apply only if the first, and either the second or the third, of the following conditions are met:

200

268. (i) the pension scheme does not hold the interest in the vehicle for the purpose of enabling a member of the scheme or a person connected with such a member to occupy or use the property<sup>18</sup>;

269. (ii) the pension scheme is an occupational pension scheme and does not, either alone or together with one or more associated persons, directly or indirectly holds a specified interest in the vehicle<sup>19</sup>;

270. (iii) the pension scheme is not an occupational pension scheme, and no arrangement under it, either alone or together with one or more associated persons, directly or indirectly holds such an interest<sup>20</sup>.

2311 (4) If the vehicle in question holds the interest in the property directly<sup>21</sup> and either:

202

271. (a) where the pension scheme is an occupational pension scheme, the scheme is not, either alone or together with one or more associated persons, deemed to be entitled<sup>22</sup> to 10% or more of the market value of the income from the property<sup>23</sup>, or

272. (b) where the pension scheme is not an occupational pension scheme, no arrangement thereunder, either alone or together with one or more associated persons, is deemed to be so entitled<sup>24</sup>.

1 For the meaning of 'pension scheme' see PARA 873B.1.

2 'Vehicle', in relation to a pension scheme which holds an interest in taxable property indirectly, means a person through whom the scheme holds that interest: Finance Act 2004 Sch 29A para 20(2) (Sch 29A added by Finance Act 2006 Sch 21 para 13).

3 For the general meaning of indirect ownership see PARA 873B.30.

4 2004 Act Sch 29A para 20(1) (amended by Finance Act 2007 Sch 20 para 14(2)). A person holds an interest in a vehicle indirectly if the person does not hold the interest directly (see PARA 873B.30) but (1) holds an interest in a person who holds an interest in the vehicle directly; or (2) holds an interest in a person who holds the interest in the vehicle indirectly by virtue of head (1) or head (2): 2004 Act Sch 29A para 20(4). 8 'Control' has the same meaning as in the Income and Corporation Taxes Act 1988 s 416 (see INCOME TAXATION), reading references in that provision to a company as references to the vehicle and references to associates as including associated persons: 2004 Act Sch 29A para 21(3)(a). A pension scheme or an arrangement under a pension scheme has control of a vehicle if the scheme or arrangement holds such interest as would, if it were a person, would mean that it had control of the vehicle: Sch 29A para 21(4). For the meaning of 'arrangement' see PARA 873B.5.

9 'Connected person' has the meaning given by the Income and Corporation Taxes Act 1988 s 839 (see INCOME TAXATION): 2004 Act Sch 29A paras 21(5), 22(3), 24(6).

10 'Controlling director', in relation to a vehicle means a director to whom the Income and Corporation Taxes Act 1988 s 417(5)(b) applies (reading the reference to associates in that provision as including associated persons): 2004 Act Sch 29A para 21(3)(b).

11 Ibid Sch 29A para 21(1). Head (1) of the text does not apply if the purpose or one of the purposes for which the scheme holds the interest in the vehicle is to enable a member of the scheme or a person connected with such a member to use the property: Sch 29A para 21(2). For the meaning of 'trade', 'profession' and 'vocation' see INCOME TAXATION. For the meaning of 'member' see PARA 873B.4.

For this purpose: (1) assets must be valued in accordance with generally accepted accounting practice; (2) no account is taken of liabilities secured against or otherwise relating to assets (whether generally or specifically); and (3) where generally accepted accounting practice offers a choice of valuation between cost basis and fair value, the latter must be used: Sch 29A para 23(5). As to generally accepted accounting practice, see INCOME TAXATION. The Treasury may by order increase the amount or the percentage for the time being specified in head (2)(a) of the text: Sch 29A para 23(6). As to the making of such orders, see INCOME TAXATION.

19 2004 Act Sch 29A para 24(1), (3). The specified interests are (1) 10% or more of the share capital or issued share capital of the vehicle; (2) 10% or more of the voting rights therein; (3) a right to receive 10% or more of the income of the vehicle; (4) such interest in the vehicle as gives an entitlement to 10% or more of the amounts distributed on a distribution in relation to the vehicle; (5) such interest in the vehicle as gives an entitlement to 10% or more of the assets of the vehicle on a winding-up or in any other circumstances; (6) such interest in the vehicle as gives rise to income or gains from a specific property: Sch 29A para 24(5). The percentage of an interest held indirectly by a person in a vehicle is equal to the percentage of the total taxable amount that would be apportioned to the person under Sch 29A paras 41-43 (see PARA 873B.32) (a) where the person is not the pension scheme, if the person were that scheme; and (b) in any case, if the person were treated as making an unauthorised payment by virtue of the vehicle coming to hold the interest in the property directly at that time: Sch 29A para 25(1), (3), (4). For the meaning of 'occupational pension scheme' see PARA 873B.2.

20 Ibid Sch 29A para 23(1), (4). Where this condition is not met in relation to an arrangement under the pension scheme, and accordingly the pension scheme holds an interest in property indirectly through the vehicle, the interest in the property is treated as held through the vehicle for the purposes of another arrangement under the pension scheme only if that arrangement, either alone or together with one or more associated persons, directly or indirectly holds a specified interest in the vehicle: Sch 29A para 25(1), (2) (Sch 29A para 25(2) amended by 2007 Act Sch 20 para 14(5)).

21 Ie because it does not meet the requirements set out in PARA 873B.30 NOTE 9 head (3).

22 The percentage of the market value of, or of the income from, the property to which a person is deemed to be entitled at any time is IG - TTA, where IG is the percentage to which the vehicle that holds the interest in the property directly is entitled at that time; and TTA is the percentage of the total taxable amount that would be apportioned to the person at that time on the assumptions that (1) if the person is not the pension scheme, that the person is the pension scheme; and (2) in any case, that the person is treated as making an unauthorised payment by virtue of the vehicle coming to hold the interest in the property directly at that time: Sch 29A para 26(4).

32. Investment-regulated pension schemes; amount and timing of unauthorised payments

The amount of an unauthorised payment treated<sup>1</sup> as made to a member of an investment-regulated pension scheme is determined by finding the total taxable amount in relation to the payment and apportioning it to the scheme<sup>2</sup>.

An unauthorised payment which arises<sup>3</sup> because of the acquisition of taxable property is treated as made at the time of the acquisition<sup>4</sup>. The total taxable amount is:

- 2312 (1) if the interest is acquired because the pension scheme or another person comes to hold the interest directly, the amount of consideration, in money or money's worth, given directly for the interest, plus the amount of any fees and other costs incurred in connection with the acquisition;
- 2313 (2) if the interest is acquired because the pension scheme or another person comes to hold an interest in a person who already holds the first-mentioned interest directly or indirectly, the market value, at the date the interest in the person is acquired, of the interest in the property held by the person who holds it directly; or, if the interest in the property is a lease at a rent, the amount of consideration that would be treated as given by the person for the lease if it were assigned to the person at that time;
- 2314 (3) if the interest is treated as acquired by the pension scheme, the market value, at the date the interest is to be treated, of the interest in the property held by the person who holds it directly; or, if the interest in the property is a lease at a rent, the amount of consideration that would be treated as given by the person for the lease if it were assigned to the person at that time<sup>5</sup>.

An unauthorised payment which arises<sup>6</sup> because of the improvement of taxable property is made when a payment is made in connection with the improvement works, and the total taxable amount is the amount of the last-mentioned payment<sup>7</sup>.

An unauthorised payment which arises<sup>8</sup> because of the conversion or adaptation of taxable property to residential property is treated as made on the occurrence of whichever of the following first occurs after the property has become residential property:

- 2315 (a) the substantial completion of the works to convert or adapt the property;
- 2316 (b) the interest in the property ceasing to be held by the pension scheme<sup>9</sup>.

However, if the property becomes residential property<sup>10</sup> after the end of the period of three years beginning with the date on which the first payment was made in connection with the conversion or adaptation works, the unauthorised payment is treated as made when the property becomes residential property<sup>11</sup>.

If the works began before the end of the period of 12 months beginning with the acquisition of the interest in the property by the pension scheme, the total taxable amount is the amount of consideration<sup>12</sup> for the interest plus the development costs<sup>13</sup>; and if the works began after the end of that period, the total taxable amount is the relevant market value<sup>14</sup> plus the development costs<sup>15</sup>.

Where an unauthorised payment arises under the provisions outlined above, the amount of that payment is the whole of the taxable amount if:

- 2317 (i) the pension scheme directly holds the interest in the taxable property which gives rise to the unauthorised payment;
- 2318 (ii) the pension scheme holds the interest indirectly through one vehicle and that vehicle is wholly owned by the scheme; or
- 2319 (iii) the pension scheme holds the interest indirectly through more than one vehicle (a 'chain' of vehicles), and each vehicle in the chain is wholly owned by another such vehicle or by the scheme itself<sup>16</sup>.

Where the pension scheme holds the interest indirectly through one vehicle, which vehicle is not wholly owned by the scheme itself, the amount of an unauthorised payment is a proportion of the total taxable amount determined by reference to the extent of the pension scheme's interest in the vehicle<sup>17</sup>. Where the scheme holds the interest indirectly through one or more chains of vehicles, and one or more vehicles in such a chain is not wholly owned by another such vehicle or by the scheme itself, the amount of the unauthorised payment is the amount or the total of all the amounts found for each chain through which the scheme holds the interest<sup>18</sup>. The amount (or each amount) is a proportion of the total taxable amount determined by reference to the extent of the interest held directly by the pension scheme or another vehicle in the chain in each vehicle in the chain, starting with the vehicle which holds the interest in the property directly, and ending with the vehicle in which the scheme directly holds an interest<sup>19</sup>.

If an investment-regulated pension scheme is treated<sup>20</sup> as acquiring an interest in taxable property, the amount of the unauthorised payment treated as made by the scheme is:

where UP is the amount that would have been the amount of the payment apart from this provision, and UPB is the amount that would have been the amount of any unauthorised payment treated as made by the pension scheme had it acquired the interest in the property immediately before the increase in the extent of the interest in the vehicle<sup>21</sup>.

If the interest in the taxable property which gives rise to the unauthorised payment is held by the pension scheme for the purposes of the arrangement made thereunder relating to the member, and at least one other arrangement under the scheme, the unauthorised payment must be apportioned on a just and reasonable basis among all the arrangements for the purposes of which the interest in the property is held. Otherwise, the whole of the payment is treated as made to the member<sup>22</sup>.

Where (1) an investment-regulated pension scheme acquires an interest in taxable property because it acquires a chargeable interest in the property within the meaning of the Finance Act 2003 s 48(1) (see PARA 1117A.5); and (2) the interest is acquired because the pension scheme or another person comes to hold the interest directly, the following provisions apply:

202 (a) if the whole or part of the consideration for the interest is consideration other than rent, the following provisions apply for determining the amount of the consideration (or the part that is not rent) as they apply for determining the amount of chargeable consideration for a land transaction for the purposes of the 2003 Act Pt 4 (ss 42-124): ss 51, 52 (see PARA 1117A.10), Sch 4 paras 2-16 (see PARA 1117A.7); 2004 Act Sch 29A para 33(3).

- 203 (b) if the whole or part of the consideration is rent, the amount of the consideration (or of the part that is rent) is taken to be the relevant rental value of the property, and the 2003 Act Sch 5 paras 2(4)(a), 3, 8 (see PARA 1117A.12) applies for determining that value: 2004 Act Sch 29A para 34(1), (2). The following provisions of the 2003 Act apply for determining the amount of rent payable for this purpose as they apply for determining the amount of rent payable under a lease to which the 2003 Act applies: Sch 17A paras 2, 5-7A, 9, 16 and (subject to those provisions) the provisions mentioned in the 2004 Act Sch 29A para 33(3): Sch 29A para 34(3). Where on an assignment of a lease the assignee assumes the obligation to pay rent, the assumption counts as consideration for the assignment: Sch 29A para 34(5).

The Treasury may by regulations provide for the provisions of the 2003 Act mentioned in head (a) or (b) to apply with modifications to cases to which these provisions apply, and for any other provision of the 2003 Act Pt 4 to apply (with or without modifications) to such cases: 2004 Act Sch 29A paras 33(4), 324(4). As to the making of such regulations, see INCOME TAXATION.

Where (i) an investment-regulated pension scheme acquires an interest in taxable property because the scheme or another person comes to hold the interest directly, and (ii) the interest is acquired for less than its market value, the following provisions apply if either (A) immediately before the acquisition the interest was held by a registered pension scheme which was not an investment-regulated pension scheme, or (B) tax relief is available under s 188 (see PARA 873B.12) or s 196 (see PARA 873B.13) in respect of the transfer of the interest: Sch 29A para 35(1), (2). In such a case, the amount of the consideration for the interest is treated as the market value, at the date the interest is acquired, of the interest in the property held by the person who holds it directly (or, if the interest in the property is a lease at a rent, the amount of consideration that would be treated as given by the person for the lease by virtue of Sch 29A para 34 above if it were assigned to the person at that time: Sch 29A para 35(3). For the meaning of 'registered pension scheme' see PARA 873B.1; and for the meaning of 'market value' see PARA 873B.3.

The Treasury may by regulations make provision with respect to what is to count as consideration for the acquisition of an interest in taxable property and the determination of the amount of such consideration, and with respect for the determination of the market value of an interest held in taxable property: Sch 29A para 36(1), (2). Such regulations may, in particular, make provision for cases where an investment-regulated pension scheme acquires an interest in taxable property outside the United Kingdom, a licence to use or occupy taxable property, or an interest in taxable property which is tangible movable property; and such regulations may amend the 2004 Act Sch 29A Pt 4 (paras 31-45) and include provision having effect in relation to times before they are made: Sch 29A para 36(3), (4). The Treasury may also by regulations made provision for an investment-regulated pension scheme which has acquired an interest in taxable property to be treated as making one or more further unauthorised payments where (1) the amount of consideration for the acquisition was determined on the basis of a reasonable estimate, and the actual amount of the consideration turns out to be higher than the estimated amount; (2) in the case of an interest which is a lease, there is a variation in the rent payable thereunder; or (3) in such a case, the amount of the consideration for the acquisition was determined on an assumption about the length of the term of the lease, and the lease continues after the end of the term: Sch 29A para 37(1). Such regulations may amend s 174A or Sch 21 (apart from this provision) and include provision having effect in relation to times before they are made: Sch 29A para 37(2). References to unauthorised payment treated as made under s 174A include payments treated as made under such regulations: Sch 29A para 37(3).

13 le the total cost of the conversion or adaptation works at the time when the unauthorised payment is treated as made: ibid Sch 29A para 39(7). Where, at the time the unauthorised payment is treated as made, (1) an amount will be payable for the works only if some uncertain future event occurs, or (2) an amount will cease to be so payable if some such event occurs, the development costs must be determined on the assumption that the amount will be payable or, as the case may be, will not cease to be payable; and where, at that time, an amount payable for the works depends on uncertain future events, or cannot otherwise be ascertained, that amount must be determined on the basis of a reasonable estimate: Sch 29A para 39(8), (9). If head (1) or (2) applies and an amount estimated in accordance with those provisions is later ascertained, then if the ascertained amount is greater than the estimated amount, an unauthorised payment is treated as made when the amount becomes ascertained, and the total taxable amount is the amount of the increase: Sch 29A para 40(1)-(4). References to unauthorised payments treated as made under s 174A include references to payments treated as made under this provision: Sch 29A para 40(5).

14 The 'relevant market value' is the market value, at the date the works began, of the interest in the property held by the person who holds it directly or, if the interest in the property is a lease at a rent, the amount of consideration that would be treated as given by the person for the lease by virtue of ibid Sch 29A para 34 if it were assigned to the person at that time: Sch 29A para 39(6).

17 Ibid Sch 29A para 41(1), (6). References in Sch 29A to the extent of an interest held directly by a person in a vehicle are references to the proportion of the interests of everyone who directly holds an interest in the vehicle which, on a just and reasonable apportionment, is represented by that interest: Sch 29A para 42(1). The extent of a person's interest in a company is whichever is the greatest of: (1) the percentage of the share capital or issued share capital of the company owned by the person; (2) the percentage of the voting rights in the company owned by the person; (3) the percentage of all the income of the company to which the person has a right; (4) the percentage of the amounts distributed on a distribution in relation to the company to which the person has a right; (5) the percentage of the assets of the company to which the person has a right on a winding-up or in any other circumstances; (6) where the person has a right to a percentage of a particular asset or description of assets of the company, or of the income or gains from such an asset or description (either generally or in particular circumstances), that percentage or the highest of all the percentages found under this head: Sch 29A paras 42(2), 43(1). For this purpose, a person is treated as owning or having a right to anything which that person will only acquire (a) at some future date, (b) on the exercise of a right to acquire it; or (c) if some other uncertain future event occurs or does not occur: Sch 29A para 43(2).

Where a person has an interest in a company as a result of lending the company money to fund the acquisition of an interest in taxable property, the extent of that interest is determined by the proportion borne by the value of the loan to the total value of the assets held directly by the company (but only if the result would be to produce a greater interest than any of heads (1)-(6) above): Sch 29A para 43(3). For this purpose, assets must be valued in accordance with generally accepted accounting practice (see INCOME TAXATION vol 23(1) (Reissue) PARA 604); no account is taken of liabilities secured against or otherwise relating to assets (whether generally or specifically); and where generally accepted accounting practice offers a choice of valuation between cost basis and fair value, the latter must be used: Sch 29A para 43(4). The Treasury may by regulations amend Sch 29A para 43; or amend Pt 4 (paras 31-45) for the purposes of explaining how to determine the extent of a person's interest in a vehicle in other cases: Sch 29A para 43(3)).

For the purposes of Sch 29A para 41, a vehicle is wholly owned by a person if no other person directly holds an interest in that vehicle: Sch 29A para 44(9).

33. Investment-regulated pension schemes; scheme chargeable payments

An investment-regulated pension scheme<sup>1</sup> is treated as having made a scheme chargeable payment if it holds an interest in taxable property<sup>2</sup> in a tax year<sup>3</sup>.

If a person who holds the interest in the property directly receives profits arising from that interest in the tax year, the amount of the payment is the greater of:

- 2320 (1) the amount of the annual profits from that interest, and
- 2321 (2) the amount of the deemed profits from the interest in the property for the year<sup>4</sup>.

If no person who holds the interest directly receives such profits in the year, the amount of the payment is the amount of the deemed profits from the interest for that year<sup>5</sup>.

Where the pension scheme holds the interest in the property indirectly for the whole of the period in the tax year for which the property is scheme-held taxable property<sup>6</sup>, the amount that would otherwise be the amount of the scheme chargeable payment is apportioned<sup>7</sup> to the pension scheme<sup>8</sup>.

The amount of the annual profits from the interest in the property is the total amount of profits received from the interest in the tax year by each person who holds the interest directly and at a time when the property is scheme-held taxable property<sup>9</sup>. The amount of the deemed property from such an interest in the tax year is:

$$\frac{DMV}{10} \times \frac{DTP}{DY}$$

10 where DMV is the deemed market value of the interest in the property for the year; DTP is the number of days in the year for which the property is scheme-held taxable property; and DY is the number of days in the year<sup>11</sup>.

An investment-regulated pension scheme is also treated as having made a scheme chargeable payment where:

- 2322 (a) in a tax year the scheme holds an interest in property which is taxable property or which has been taxable property at any time whilst the interest has been held by the pension scheme (a 'taxable interest');
- 2323 (b) a gain is treated as accruing to the scheme in respect of the taxable interest in the tax year;
- 2324 (c) the total amount of gains treated as accruing<sup>12</sup> to the pension scheme in respect of taxable interests in the tax year exceeds the total amount of losses treated as accruing to the scheme in respect of taxable interests in the tax year<sup>13</sup>.

The amount of the payment is an amount equal to the difference between the total amount of gains accruing to the scheme in respect of taxable interest in the tax year and the total amount of losses treated as so accruing<sup>14</sup>.

Where the pension scheme or another vehicle ceases to hold all or part of an interest in a vehicle through which the scheme holds the taxable interest indirectly, the scheme is treated as disposing of the interest in that vehicle, and the amount of the gain or loss treated as accruing to the scheme on the disposal is the difference between the deemed consideration received<sup>15</sup> on the disposal of the interest in the vehicle, and the deemed consideration given<sup>16</sup> for it<sup>17</sup>.

5 Ibid s 185A(4).

6 ie property which is taxable property and an interest in which is held by the scheme: ibid s 185B(3).

7 ie by applying ibid Sch 29A paras 41-43 (see PARA 873B.32), as if the amount that would otherwise be the amount of the scheme chargeable payment were the total taxable amount in relation to an unauthorised payment treated as made by the scheme in connection with the acquisition of the interest in the property, at the end of the last day in the tax year on which the property is scheme-held taxable property: s 185D(2). However, where the amount so found differs from the amount that would be so found on another day in the tax year on which the property is scheme-held taxable property, the amount to be apportioned to the scheme is the average of the amounts produced by applying the above provisions in relation to the scheme on each day in the tax year on which the property is scheme-held taxable property: s 185D(3).

Where (1) the pension scheme holds the interest in the property indirectly in the tax year; (2) a person who holds the interest directly receives profits arising from the interest at a time in the tax year when the property is scheme-held taxable property; (3) tax is payable on those profits by that person (assuming them to be the highest part of the person's income for the tax year in which they are received); and (4) that tax has been paid, an amount is allowed as a credit against any income tax charged under s 239 (see PARA 873B.19) in respect of the scheme chargeable payment treated as made by virtue of the scheme's holding the interest in the property in the tax year: s 185E(1), (2). The amount allowed is a proportion of the tax payable and paid determined by reference to the proportion of the amount that would otherwise be the amount of the scheme chargeable payment apportioned to the pension scheme under s 185D above: s 185E(3). If an amount is so allowed and the amount of tax payable and paid by reference to which it was calculated is subsequently varied, the amount allowed is to be similarly varied, and any necessary adjustments made to give effect to that variation, whether by making assessments or otherwise: s 185E(4).

9 Ibid s 185B(1). As to direct and indirect holdings see PARAS 873B.30, 873B.31.

10 Where no person who holds the interest in the property directly during the tax year does so by virtue of a lease of residential property, the deemed market value of the interest for the year is:

$$(MV - UP) \times (I - RPI)$$

where MV is the opening market value; UP is the total of any unauthorised payments treated as made by the pension scheme under ibid s 174A (see PARA 873B.30) in relation to the property in the tax year, other than any such payment treated as made by virtue of the property becoming scheme-held taxable property in the year; and RPI is the figure expressed as a decimal which represents the percentage increase in the retail prices index between the first day in the tax year on which the property is scheme-held taxable property and the last such day (or, if there is no such increase, is nil): s 185C(1). The 'opening market value', if the property is not scheme-held taxable property immediately before the beginning of the tax year, is the market value of the interest in the property immediately after the time during the year when the property first becomes scheme-held taxable property. In any other circumstances it is the deemed market value of the interest for the previous tax year: s 185C(2). For this purpose, where a person who holds the interest in the property directly during the tax year does so by virtue of a lease of residential property, the deemed market value of the interest for the year is the relevant rental value of the property calculated in accordance with Sch 29A para 34 (see PARA 873B.32) on the assumptions that (1) the lease was granted when the property first became scheme-held taxable property; (2) the term of the lease is 50 years; (3) a fully commercial rent is payable for the first five years of that term; and (4) afterwards the rent is reviewed on an upwards-only basis: s 185C(3). For the meaning of 'market value' see PARA 873B.3; and for the meaning of 'residential property' see PARA 873B.30.

11 Ibid s 185B(2).

12 A gain or loss is treated as accruing to a pension scheme in respect of a taxable interest in a tax year if (1) by virtue of ibid s 185G a chargeable gain or allowable loss is treated as accruing in the tax year to the person who holds the taxable interest directly; or (2) in the tax year, the pension scheme or another vehicle ceases to hold or all or part of an interest in a vehicle through which the pension scheme holds the taxable interest indirectly: s 185F(3). For the meaning of 'vehicle' see PARA 873B.31.

A person ('the transferor') who holds the taxable interest directly is treated as holding an asset (a 'taxable asset') consisting of the interest; and for the purpose of determining whether the transferor disposes of the asset, when such a disposal takes place, and whether a chargeable gain or allowable loss is treated as accruing to the transferor on the disposal in the tax year (and, if so, the amount of that gain or loss), the Taxation of Chargeable Gains Act 1992 (see CAPITAL GAINS TAXATION) is treated as applying to the transferor and the taxable asset: Finance Act 2004 s 185G(1), (2). For this purpose, the 1992 Act is treated as applying as if (a) throughout the tax year the transferor were resident, ordinarily resident and domiciled in the United Kingdom; (b) no allowable losses accrued to the transferor in any previous tax year (so that there is no loss to carry forward); (c) notice under s 16(2A) were given by the transferor in relation to the year in respect of any loss treated as accruing to the transferor in that year from a disposal of the taxable asset; (d) s 45(1) did not apply to a disposal of the taxable asset; (e) for the purposes of s 53 the transferor were not chargeable to corporation tax in respect of any chargeable gain accruing to the transferor from a disposal of the taxable asset; (f) s 171(1) did not apply to a disposal of the taxable asset (so that no election could be made in relation to such a disposal under s 171A); and (g) ss 222-224 did not apply to a gain on a disposal of the taxable asset by virtue of s 225: 2004 Act s 185G(3) (amended by Finance Act 2008 Sch 2 para. 53). Where the taxable asset became taxable property whilst held directly by the scheme, the 1992 Act is treated as applying to a disposal of the asset as if the asset had been acquired by the transferor at the time it became taxable property, and the amount deductible under s 38(1)(a) in respect of the disposal were the amount of the unauthorised payment treated as made by the pension scheme at that time: 2004 Act s 185G(4). For the meaning of 'resident', 'ordinarily resident' and 'domiciled' see INCOME TAXATION. For the meaning of 'United Kingdom' see PARA 15 NOTE 4. For the meaning of 'allowable loss' see CAPITAL GAINS TAXATION vol 5(1) (2004 Reissue) PARA 9); and for the meaning of 'chargeable gain' see CAPITAL GAINS TAXATION vol 5(1) (2004 Reissue) PARA 8.

If the pension scheme holds the taxable asset indirectly, the 1992 Act is treated as applying to a disposal of the asset as if the amount deductible under s 38 in respect of the disposal were the total amount of unauthorised payments treated as made by the pension scheme in respect of the asset up to the time of the disposal, except in so far as it has already been taken into account in calculating the gains or losses accruing to the scheme in respect of the taxable asset by virtue of the 2004 Act s 185G or s 185H: s 185G(5), (6). Section 185G(6) is subject to the 1992 Act s 42 (see CAPITAL GAINS TAXATION vol 5(1) (2004 Reissue) PARA 38), but in the application of the latter provision in relation to the taxable asset, the amount of the consideration for the disposal is taken to be that amount apart from the 2004 Act s 185G(7): s 185G(8). The amount that would otherwise be the amount of the consideration for which the disposal is made (or treated as made) is scaled down by applying Sch 29A paras 41-43 (see PARA 873B.32) to it as if it were the total taxable amount in relation to an unauthorised payment treated as made by the pension scheme in connection with the acquisition of the interest in the property which constitutes the taxable asset, at the time of the disposal: s 185G(7).

Where the taxable asset was not taxable property for the whole period beginning with the time when the scheme acquired the asset (or, if later, the time when the asset first became taxable property) and ending with the disposal, the amount that would otherwise be the amount of the chargeable gain or allowable loss treated as accruing on a disposal of the asset is reduced by reference to the proportion of the period for which the asset was not taxable property: s 185G(9).

14 Ibid s 185F(2). However, where the taxable asset (see NOTE 12) is a wasting asset consisting of tangible movable property, and by virtue of s 185F a loss is treated as accruing to the scheme from a disposal of the asset in a tax year, the loss is only allowable as a deduction from gains so treated as accruing from other disposals in the year of taxable assets which are wasting assets consisting of such property: s 185G(10).

15 The deemed consideration received for the disposal of the interest in the vehicle is the difference between (1) the market value of the taxable interest at the time of the disposal, as apportioned to the pension scheme, immediately before that time; and (2) the market value of that interest at the time of the disposal (as so apportioned) immediately after that time: ibid s 185H(4). The apportionment is made by applying Sch 29A paras 41-43 (see PARA 873B.32) to it as if it were the total taxable amount in relation to an unauthorised payment treated as made by the scheme in connection with the acquisition of the taxable interest, at the time at which the apportionment becomes necessary: s 185H(5).

16 The deemed consideration given for the interest in the vehicle is the total amount of unauthorised payments treated as made by the scheme in respect of the taxable interest up to the time of the disposal, less so much of that amount as has already been taken into account in calculating the gains or losses accruing to the scheme in respect of the taxable interest by virtue of ibid s 185G or s 185H: s 185H(6).

17 Ibid s 185H(1)-(3). Where a pension scheme is treated under s 185F as making a scheme chargeable payment which is to any extent attributable (1) to a chargeable gain treated by virtue of s 185G as accruing to another person on the disposal of a chargeable asset; or (2) to a gain treated by virtue of s 185H as accruing to the scheme as a result of another person disposing of an interest in a vehicle through which the pension scheme holds a taxable interest indirectly; and (a) tax is payable in respect of the disposal by the person who makes the disposal and (b) that tax has been paid, an amount is allowed as a credit against any income tax charged under s 239 (see PARA 873B.19) in respect of the scheme chargeable payment: s 185I(1), (2). The amount allowed is a proportion of the tax payable and paid determined by reference to the proportion of the amount of consideration for the disposal that is apportioned under s 185G(7): s 185I(3). In so far as the underlying gain accrues as a result of a disposal by another person, the amount is the amount of tax paid and a payable apportioned to the scheme by applying Sch 29A paras 41-43 as if it were the total taxable amount in relation to an unauthorised payment treated as made by the scheme in connection with the acquisition of the taxable interest by the person disposing of the interest in the vehicle, at the time of the disposal: s 185I(4). If an amount is so allowed and the amount of tax payable and paid by reference to which it was calculated is subsequently varied, the amount allowed is to be similarly varied, and any necessary adjustments made to give effect to that variation, whether by making assessments or otherwise: s 185I(5).

34. Investment-regulated pension schemes; overseas matters

The Treasury may make regulations in relation to cases where a non-UK-resident investment-regulated pension scheme<sup>1</sup> holds an interest in taxable property which is not situated in the United Kingdom<sup>2</sup>.

Such regulations may make provision for a member of the scheme for the purposes of whose arrangement<sup>3</sup> the interest is held to be liable to the scheme sanction charge<sup>4</sup> so far as relating to a scheme chargeable payment treated<sup>5</sup> as made by the scheme<sup>6</sup>; and may also make provision:

- 2325 (1) for the member to be liable to all of the scheme sanction charge so far as relating to the scheme chargeable payment or to such part thereof as the regulations may provide;
- 2326 (2) for the charge to be apportioned amount members of the scheme where the interest in the property is held for the purposes of more than one arrangement under the scheme; and
- 2327 (3) for the scheme administrator not to be liable to the charge, or for his liability to be restricted as the regulations may provide<sup>7</sup>.

The regulations may make provision for cases where:

- 2328 (a) a member of a scheme would otherwise be liable to the scheme sanction charge so far as relating to a scheme chargeable payment treated<sup>8</sup> as made by the scheme;
- 2329 (b) the member does not meet such conditions as to residence in the tax year as the regulations may prescribe;
- 2330 (c) the member meets those conditions in a subsequent tax year; and
- 2331 (d) such other conditions as the regulations may prescribe are met<sup>9</sup>.

1 A pension scheme is non-UK resident if it is established in a country or territory outside the United Kingdom: Finance Act 2004 s 273ZA(7) (s 273ZA added by Finance Act 2006 Sch 21 para 10). The regulations may amend Pt 4 (ss 149-284) (apart from s 273ZA); include provision having effect in relation to times before they are made; contain transitional provisions and savings; and make different provision for different cases: s 273ZA(6).

Halsbury's Laws of England/SOCIAL SECURITY AND PENSIONS (VOLUME 44(2) (REISSUE))/18. OCCUPATIONAL PENSION SCHEMES/(13) MISCELLANEOUS PROVISIONS/(v) Overriding Requirements and Special Cases/873D. Duty to establish a pension scheme.

873D. Duty to establish a pension scheme.

The Pensions Act 2008 Pt 1 Ch 5 (ss 67-78) (partly in force: SI 2009/1566, SI 2010/10) makes provision for the establishment of a trust-based occupational pension scheme and for a trustee corporation.

1. Pension scheme

The Secretary of State must establish a pension scheme and make provision for its administration and management: Pensions Act 2008 s 67(1). A scheme established under s 67 is to be treated for all purposes as established under an irrevocable trust: s 67(2). It must be a scheme that is able to be registered under the Finance Act 2004 Pt 4 Ch 2 (see PARA 873B): Pensions Act 2008 s 67(3). It must when registered under the Finance Act 2004 Pt 4 Ch 2 be a scheme such that a jobholder's employer, if a participating employer, may comply with an enrolment duty by arranging for the jobholder to become an active member of the scheme: Pensions Act 2008 s 67(4). For the meaning of 'jobholder', 'employer', 'enrolment duty' and 'active member' see Pensions Act 2008 s 99 (in force 5 July 2010: SI 2010/10). It must be a scheme that complies with any provision of Northern Ireland legislation corresponding to the Pensions Act 2008 s 67(4): s 67(5). The scheme administrator must ensure that the scheme is and remains registered under the Finance Act 2004 Pt 4 Ch 2: Pensions Act 2008 s 67(6). 'Scheme administrator' has the same meaning here as in the Finance Act 2004 Pt 4 Ch 2: Pensions Act 2008 s 67(7). The power to make provision in pursuance of s 67(1) is exercisable by order: s 67(8). If an order establishes a scheme, any further provision that may be made by order in relation to the scheme may also be made by rules (and rules may be made so as to come into force at the same time as the establishing order): s 67(9). That is subject to s 67(11) and (12): s 67(10). Rules are subject to any provision made by order: s 67(11). No provision may be made by rules about (1) the purpose or object of the scheme; (2) the appointment or removal of trustees; (3) (as regards trustees, or members of any corporate trustee) meetings, committees or delegation of functions; (4) any exclusion of liability on the part of trustees, or the provision of any indemnity or insurance out of the funds of the scheme: s 67(12). Except as expressly provided, nothing in the Pensions Act 2008 limits the generality of the powers conferred by s 67: s 67(13).

An order under s 67 establishing a scheme must provide for the trustee corporation (the body established by s 75: see PARA 873D.2) to be a trustee on the coming into force of the scheme: Pensions Act 2008 s 68(1). An order under s 67 may provide for any provision of the Trustee Act 2000 to apply as if an order or rules under the Pensions Act 2008 s 67 were a trust instrument: s 68(2). An order under s 67 may provide for the trustees to have power to make rules under s 67: s 68(3). Where the trustees have power to make rules, an order under s 67 may provide (a) that they may not exercise the power in specified circumstances; (b) that they may exercise it subject to conditions; (c) that they must comply with requirements for consultation or publication or other procedural requirements when exercising the power: s 68(4). An order under s 67 may make provision for the exclusion of, or indemnity against, liability of a trustee, or an officer or employee of a trustee, arising out of the administration or management of a scheme: s 68(5).

If an order under s 67 establishes a scheme, the Secretary of State must by order under that provision require the trustees to make and maintain arrangements for consulting the members of the scheme and participating employers about the operation, development and amendment of the scheme; and the arrangements must include establishment and maintenance of a panel of persons to represent members, and a panel of persons to represent employers: see Pensions Act 2008 s 69.

An order under s 67 must prescribe the maximum amount of contributions that may be made by or in respect of a member in any tax year (and the Secretary of State may by order repeal this provision): see Pensions Act 2008 s 70. 'Tax year' means the 12 months beginning with 6 April in any year: Pensions Act 2008 s 99 (in force 5 July 2010: SI 2010/10).

Provision is made with respect to the procedure for scheme orders (see Pensions Act 2008 s 71) and the procedure for publication and consultation on proposed scheme rules (see Pensions Act 2008 s 72).

The Interpretation Act 1978 applies in relation to rules under the Pensions Act 2008 s 67 as if they were contained in a deed not made under an enactment: Pensions Act 2008 s 73(1). A scheme established under s 67 is not to be treated as a public service pension scheme for the purposes of any enactment: s 73(2).

The Secretary of State must appoint a person to review in relation to a scheme established under s 67 (i) the effect of provision made under s 70, (ii) the effect of any restrictions on rights to transfer into the scheme or transfer out to another pension scheme, and (iii) such other matters as the Secretary of State may direct: see Pensions Act 2008 s 74.

2. Trustee corporation

The following provisions come into force on 5 July 2010 unless otherwise stated: SI 2010/10.

There is to be a body corporate, referred to in the Pensions Act 2008 Pt 1 Ch 5 (ss 67-78) as the trustee corporation: Pensions Act 2008 s 75(1). The name of the body is to be determined by order made by the Secretary of State: s 75(2). The trustee corporation is not to be regarded as the servant or agent of the Crown or as enjoying any status, immunity or privilege of the Crown: s 75(3). Property held by the corporation is not to be regarded as property of, or property held on behalf of, the Crown: s 75(4). The Pensions Act 2008 Sch 1 makes provision about the trustee corporation, including provision with respect to (1) members and employees; (2) proceedings; and (3) money: s 75(5).

The functions of the trustee corporation are (a) to act as a trustee of any scheme established under the Pensions Act 2008 s 67 (see PARA 873D.1), and (b) any other functions it is given by or under an enactment in connection with the scheme: Pensions Act 2008 s 76(1). The corporation may do anything calculated to facilitate, or incidental or conducive to, the carrying out of any of its functions: s 76(2). In particular the corporation may (i) enter into agreements; (ii) borrow money; (iii) invest money: s 76(3). The corporation's powers within heads (ii) and (iii) are exercisable only with the consent of the Secretary of State: s 76(4). Section 76(3) and (4) are without prejudice to the exercise by the trustee corporation of any power vested in it as a trustee of a scheme established under s 67: s 76(5).

The Secretary of State may by regulations provide that legislation applying in relation to a person as trustee of a pension scheme, or as director of a company which is a trustee of a pension scheme, applies in relation to the trustee corporation, or its members, with any modifications prescribed in the regulations: Pensions Act 2008 s 77(1) (not yet in force). In s 77 'legislation' means any provision of an Act or subordinate legislation (and 'subordinate legislation' has the same meaning as in the Interpretation Act 1978): Pensions Act 2008 s 77(2) (not yet in force).

Halsbury's Laws of England/SOCIAL SECURITY AND PENSIONS (VOLUME 44(2) (REISSUE))/19. PUBLIC SERVICE PENSION SCHEMES/875. Power to make regulations under the Superannuation Act 1972; in general.

875. Power to make regulations under the Superannuation Act 1972; in general.

The Superannuation Act 1972 confers power on the relevant Secretaries of State<sup>1</sup> to make provision by regulations for superannuation schemes applying to civil servants and persons treated for those purposes as employed in the Civil Service<sup>2</sup>, persons employed in local government service<sup>3</sup>, teachers<sup>4</sup>, and persons engaged in health services<sup>5</sup>. Any regulations made with respect to local government service<sup>6</sup>, teachers<sup>7</sup> or persons engaged in health services<sup>8</sup> may be framed so as to apply in relation to the pensions<sup>9</sup> which are being paid or may become payable under the regulations to or in respect of persons who, having served in an employment or office service in which qualifies persons to participate in the benefits for which the regulations provide, have ceased to serve therein (whether or not they have subsequently recommenced any such service) or died before the regulations come into operation, or so as to require or authorise the payment of pensions to or in respect of such persons<sup>10</sup>. No provision must be made by any such regulations unless any person who is placed in a worse position than he would have been in if the provision had not applied in relation to any pension which is being paid or may become payable to him is by the regulations given an opportunity to elect that the provision must not so apply in relation to that pension except as follows<sup>11</sup>. If, at the coming into force of the provision made by the regulations, a person who makes such an election is serving in an employment or office to which the regulations governing the pension apply, or if he subsequently recommences service in such an employment or office, then:

- 2334 (1) the election has effect in relation to the pension only to the extent that it accrues or has accrued by virtue of periods of service rendered before the cessation of his service<sup>12</sup> or, if there has been more than one such cessation, the last of them before the coming into force of the provision in question, or by virtue of contributions paid in respect of any such periods of service; and
- 2335 (2) in determining entitlement to, or the amount of, the pension to that extent, he must (without prejudice to the application of this provision) be treated as if he had never recommenced service in such an employment or office at any time after that cessation, and the provision in question applies accordingly<sup>13</sup>.

The provision which may be made in regulations relating to local government service, teachers or persons engaged in health services may include provision:

- 2336 (a) as to the means by which the cost of providing the benefits for which the regulations provide is to be defrayed, including provision for the making of contributions or other payments by persons entitled to participate in such benefits and by the employers of those persons or such other persons as may be prescribed by the regulations<sup>14</sup>;
- 2337 (b) for the establishment and administration of superannuation funds, the management and application of the assets of such funds, the amalgamation of all or any of such funds, and the winding up of, or other dealing with, any such fund<sup>15</sup>;
- 2338 (c) for the payment and receipt of transfer values or in lieu thereof for the transfer or receipt of any fund or part of a fund or policy of insurance<sup>16</sup>;
- 2339 (d) for reckoning in respect of a person to whom the regulations apply any service in employment<sup>17</sup> or as the holder of an office (other than service in respect

- of which benefits are payable under the regulations) as service in respect of which such benefits are payable, either unconditionally or subject to such conditions as may be prescribed by the regulations and either as respects the whole of the service or as respects such fraction thereof as may be so prescribed<sup>18</sup>;
- 2340 (e) for the making by such persons as may be prescribed by the regulations of payments towards the provision (otherwise than under the regulations) of pensions, allowances or gratuities in such cases as may be determined in accordance with the regulations<sup>19</sup>;
- 2341 (f) as to the circumstances in which contributions paid by any person in accordance with the regulations, or any part thereof, may be repaid with or without interest<sup>20</sup>;
- 2342 (g) for securing that where:
- 204 273. (i) the regulations provide for the payment to or in respect of a person of a pension in consequence of his having become incapacitated, or having died, as a result of an injury sustained, or disease contracted, in circumstances prescribed by the regulations; and

The employment of an earner<sup>1</sup> who is a member of an occupational pension scheme<sup>2</sup> or personal pension scheme<sup>3</sup> may, if his employer so elects<sup>4</sup> and the statutory requirements are satisfied<sup>5</sup>, become contracted-out employment<sup>6</sup>, with the result that a lower rate of contributions<sup>7</sup> will be paid to, and a lower rate of retirement pension<sup>8</sup> or widow's pension<sup>9</sup> or widowed mother's allowance<sup>10</sup> paid by, the state scheme<sup>11</sup>.

Halsbury's Laws of England/SOCIAL SECURITY AND PENSIONS (VOLUME 44(2) (REISSUE))/20. CONTRACTING OUT/(1) INTRODUCTION/878. Meaning of 'contracted-out employment' and 'guaranteed minimum pension'.

878. Meaning of 'contracted-out employment' and 'guaranteed minimum pension'.

The employment of an earner<sup>1</sup> in employed earner's employment<sup>2</sup> is 'contracted-out employment' in relation to him during any period in which he is under pensionable age<sup>3</sup> and:

- 2353 (1) Either his service in the employment is for the time being service which qualifies him for a pension provided by an occupational pension scheme<sup>4</sup> contracted-out by virtue of satisfying the statutory requirements<sup>5</sup> for a salary-related contracted-out scheme<sup>6</sup>, or his employer<sup>7</sup> makes minimum payments<sup>8</sup> in respect of his employment to an occupational pension scheme which is contracted-out by virtue of satisfying the statutory requirements<sup>9</sup> for a money purchase contracted-out scheme<sup>10</sup>; and
- 2354 (2) there is in force a contracting-out certificate issued by the Secretary of State<sup>11</sup> stating that the employment is contracted-out employment by reference to the scheme<sup>12</sup>.

'Guaranteed minimum pension' means any pension which is provided by an occupational pension scheme in accordance with the statutory requirements<sup>13</sup> to the extent to which its weekly rate is equal to the earner's or, as the case may be, the earner's widow's or widower's guaranteed minimum as determined for the statutory purposes<sup>14</sup>.

1 For the meaning of 'earner' see PARA 32 ante (definition applied by the Pension Schemes Act 1993 s 181(1)).

2 For the meaning of 'employed earner's employment' see PARA 32 ante (definition as applied: see note 1 supra).

3 For the meaning of 'pensionable age' see PARA 562 ante.

4 For the meaning of 'occupational pension scheme' see PARA 741 ante.

5 I.e. by virtue of satisfying the Pension Schemes Act 1993 s 9(2) (as substituted): see PARA 882 post.

6 Ibid s 8(1)(a)(i) (substituted by the Pensions Act 1995 s 136(2)).

7 For the meaning of 'employer' see PARA 660 note 18 ante.

8 'Minimum payment', in relation to an earner's employment in any tax week, means the rebate percentage of so much of the earnings paid to or for the benefit of the earner in that week as exceeds the current lower earnings limit but not the current upper earnings limit (or the prescribed equivalents if he is paid otherwise than weekly); and for these purposes 'rebate percentage' means the appropriate flat rate percentage for the purposes of the Pension Schemes Act 1993 s 42A(2) (as added) (see PARA 912 post): s 8(2) (amended by the Pensions Act 1995 s 151, Sch 5 paras 18, 23). 'Tax week' means one of the successive periods in a tax year beginning with the first day of that year and every seventh day thereafter, the last day of a tax year (or, in a leap year, the last two days) being treated accordingly as a separate tax week: Pension Schemes Act 1993 s 181(1). For the meaning of 'tax year' see PARA 863 note 1 ante. For the meaning of 'lower earnings limit' and 'upper earnings limit' see the Social Security Contributions and Benefits Act 1992 s 5; and PARA 34 ante (definition applied by the Pension Schemes Act 1993 s 181(1)). 'Current' in relation to those limits, means for the time being in force: s 181(1). 'The prescribed equivalent' means the equivalent prescribed under the Social Security Contributions and Benefits Act 1992 ss 6(1), 8(3) (see PARAS 35-36 ante): Pension Schemes Act 1993 s 181(1).

9 I.e. the requirements of ibid s 9(3) (as amended): see PARA 882 post.

10 Ibid s 8(1)(a)(ii).

11 Ie in accordance with ibid Pt III Ch I (ss 7-39) (as amended): see PARA 879 et seq post. As to the Secretary of State see PARA 1 ante.

12 Ibid s 8(1)(b) (amended by the Pensions Act 1995 s 151, Sch 5 paras 18, 21). Where an earner has been employed in an employment during a period in which employment of that description was contracted-out but such employment was not otherwise contracted-out in relation to him, and the Secretary of State is satisfied (1) that it was not contracted-out in relation to him solely because he was not during that period a member of the relevant scheme; and (2) that he was not during that period a member of that scheme solely because of inadvertence, he may determine that that earner was in contracted-out employment by reference to that scheme during that period: Occupational Pension Schemes (Contracting-out) Regulations 1996, SI 1996/1172, reg 11.

13 Ie the requirements of the Pension Schemes Act 1993 ss 13, 17 (as amended): see PARAS 890, 893 post.

Halsbury's Laws of England/SOCIAL SECURITY AND PENSIONS (VOLUME 44(2) (REISSUE))/20. CONTRACTING OUT/(1) INTRODUCTION/880. Issue of contracting-out and appropriate scheme certificates.

880. Issue of contracting-out and appropriate scheme certificates.

Regulations<sup>1</sup> must provide for the Secretary of State<sup>2</sup> to issue certificates stating:

- 2361 (1) that the employment<sup>3</sup> of an earner<sup>4</sup> in employed earner's<sup>5</sup> employment is contracted-out employment<sup>6</sup> by reference to an occupational pension scheme<sup>7</sup>; or
- 2362 (2) that a personal pension scheme<sup>8</sup> is an appropriate scheme<sup>9</sup>; and in the Pension Schemes Act 1993 a certificate under head (1) above is referred to as 'a contracting-out certificate' and a certificate under head (2) above as 'an appropriate scheme certificate'<sup>10</sup>.

The regulations must provide for contracting-out certificates to be issued to employers<sup>11</sup> and to specify:

- 2363 (a) the employments which are to be treated, either generally or in relation to any specified description of earners, as contracted-out employments<sup>12</sup>; and
- 2364 (b) the occupational pension schemes by reference to which those employments are to be so treated<sup>13</sup>.

An occupational pension scheme is a contracted-out scheme in relation to an earner's employment if it is for the time being specified in a contracting-out certificate in relation to that employment; and references in the Pension Schemes Act 1993 to the contracting-out of a scheme are references to its inclusion in such a certificate<sup>14</sup>. An appropriate scheme certificate for the time being in force in relation to a scheme is conclusive that the scheme is an appropriate scheme<sup>15</sup>. Regulations must provide that any question whether a personal pension scheme is or at any time was an appropriate scheme must be determined by the Secretary of State<sup>16</sup>. Except in prescribed circumstances, no contracting-out certificate or appropriate scheme certificate is to have effect from a date earlier than that on which the certificate is issued<sup>17</sup>.

Any contracting-out certificate for the time being in force in respect of an employed earner's employment is conclusive that the employment is contracted-out employment<sup>18</sup>.

11 For the meaning of 'employer' see PARA 660 note 18 ante.

12 Pension Schemes Act 1993 s 7(2)(a).

13 Ibid s 7(2)(b). The regulations may provide, in the case of contracting-out certificates issued before the principal appointed day, for their cancellation by virtue of the regulations: (1) at the end of a prescribed period beginning with that day; or (2) if prescribed conditions are not satisfied at any time in that period, but for them to continue to have effect until so cancelled; and the regulations may provide that a certificate having effect on and after that day by virtue of this provision is to have effect, in relation to any earner's service on or after that day, as if issued on or after that day: Pension Schemes Act 1993 s 7(2A) (added by the Pensions Act 1995 s 136(1)). For the purposes of the Pension Schemes Act 1993 Pt III (ss 7-68) (as amended) (see PARAS 878 ante, 881 et seq post), 'the principal appointed day' means the day designated by an order under the Pensions Act 1995 s 180 as the principal appointed day for the purposes of Pt III (ss 135-151) (ie 6 April 1997: see the Pensions Act 1995 (Commencement No 3) Order 1996, SI 1996/778, art 2(7)): Pension Schemes Act 1993 s 7(2) (B) (added by the Pensions Act 1995 s 136(1)).

880 Issue of contracting-out and appropriate scheme certificates

TEXT AND NOTES--The following provisions are in force unless otherwise stated. Any certificate which is either (1) a contracting-out certificate in relation to a money purchase contracted-out scheme, or (2) an appropriate scheme certificate, and is in force immediately before the abolition date, ceases to have effect on that date: Pensions Act 2007 s 15(1) (not yet in force). In s 15 'the abolition date' means the day appointed under s 30 for the coming into force of s 15(1); and 'contracting-out certificate', 'money purchase contracted-out scheme' and 'appropriate scheme certificate' have the meanings given by the Pension Schemes Act 1993 s 181(1) (as in force immediately before that day): Pensions Act 2007 s 15(2). Schedule 4 Pts 1 and 2 contain amendments which are consequential on, or related to, the provision made by s 15(1), and Sch 4 Pt 3 contains savings relating to amendments made by Pt 1: s 15(3). The amendments made by Sch 4 Pt 1 have effect as from the abolition date (but any power to make regulations conferred by those amendments may be exercised at any time so as to make regulations having effect as from the abolition date): s 15(4). The Secretary of State may by regulations make (a) such consequential, incidental or supplemental provision, and (b) such transitional, transitory or saving provision, as he thinks necessary or expedient in connection with, or in consequence of, the provisions of s 15(1) and Sch 4: s 15(5). Regulations under s 15(5) may in particular amend, repeal or revoke any provision of any Act or subordinate legislation (whenever passed or made): s 15(6). No regulations which amend or repeal any provision of an Act may be made under s 15 unless a draft of the regulations has been laid before and approved by a resolution of each House of Parliament: s 15(7). A statutory instrument containing regulations under s 15 that do not fall within s 15(7) is subject to annulment in pursuance of a resolution of either House of Parliament: s 15(8). For further provision as to regulations under s 15 see s 25. As to the review of the operation of the Pensions Act 2007 see s 24.

References in the Pension Schemes Act 1993 to a contracting-out certificate, a contracted-out scheme and to contracting-out in a context relating to a money purchase contracted-out scheme are to be construed in accordance with s 181A: 1993 Act s 7(8) (added by 2007 Act Sch 4 para 2(5)) (in force on the abolition date: see supra).

Definition of 'appropriate scheme certificate' in 1993 Act s 181(1) substituted; now 'appropriate scheme' and 'appropriate scheme certificate' are to be construed in accordance with s 181A: s 181(1) (as substituted by Pensions Act 2007 Sch 4 para 34(2)(b)) (in force on the abolition date: see supra).

The following provisions apply for the interpretation of the Pension Schemes Act 1993 on and after the abolition date: s 181A(1) (added by Pensions Act 2007 Sch 4 para 35). An occupational pension scheme was a money purchase contracted-out scheme at a time before the abolition date if, at that time, the scheme was contracted-out by virtue of satisfying the 1993 Act s 9(3) (as it then had effect): s 181A(2) (as added). A money purchase contracted-out scheme was, at a time before the abolition date, a contracted-out scheme in relation to an earner's employment if it was, at that time, specified in a contracting-out certificate in relation to that employment; and references to the contracting-out of a scheme are, in relation to a money purchase contracted-out scheme, references to its inclusion in such a certificate: s 181A(3) (as added). Any reference to a contracting-out certificate is, in relation to a money purchase contracted-out scheme, a reference to a certificate issued by virtue of s 7, as it had effect before the abolition date, in relation to the employment of an earner in employed earner's employment which was contracted-out by reference to that scheme: s 181A(4) (as added). Any certificate so issued that was, at a time before the abolition date, in force in respect of an employed earner's employment is to be taken as conclusive that the employment was, at that time, contracted-out employment: s 181A(5) (as added). A personal pension scheme was an appropriate scheme at a time before the abolition date if, at that time, there was in force a certificate issued under s 7(1)(b) (as it then had effect) stating that the scheme was an appropriate scheme; and 'appropriate scheme certificate' means such a certificate: s 181A(6) (as added). Any appropriate scheme certificate in force in relation to a scheme at any time before the abolition date is to be taken as conclusive that the scheme was, at that time, an appropriate scheme: s 181A(7) (as added).

TEXT AND NOTE 2--For 'Secretary of State' read 'Inland Revenue': 1993 Act s 7(1), amended by Social Security Contributions (Transfer of Functions, etc) Act 1999 Sch 1 para 33. 1999 Act Sch 1 para 33 repealed: Pensions Act 2007 Sch 7 Pt 6 (in force on the abolition date: see TEXT AND NOTES).

NOTE 9--1993 Act s 7(4) omitted: Pensions Act 2007 Sch 4 para 2(3), Sch 7, Pt 6 (in force on the abolition date: see TEXT AND NOTES).

TEXT AND NOTE 10--The following provisions come into force on the abolition date (see TEXT AND NOTES). In the 1993 Act such a certificate is referred to as 'a contracting-out certificate': s 7(1A) (as so substituted).

(2) REQUIREMENTS FOR CERTIFICATION

(i) In general

882. Requirements for certification of schemes; in general.

An occupational pension scheme<sup>1</sup> can be contracted-out<sup>2</sup> in relation to an earner's<sup>3</sup> employment<sup>4</sup> only if it satisfies certain conditions<sup>5</sup>. Where there are two or more occupational pension schemes in force in relation to an earner's employment, none of which can by itself be a contracted-out scheme, the Secretary of State may, if he thinks fit, treat them for contracting-out purposes as a single scheme<sup>6</sup>.

A personal pension scheme<sup>7</sup> can be an appropriate scheme only if:

- 2373 (1) certain statutory requirements<sup>8</sup> and such other requirements as may be prescribed are satisfied in its case; and
- 2374 (2) the rules of the scheme applying to protected rights are framed so as to comply with the relevant requirements<sup>9</sup>.

1 For the meaning of 'occupational pension scheme' see PARA 741 ante.

2 For the meaning of 'contracted-out' see PARA 878 ante.

3 For the meaning of 'earner' and 'earnings' see PARAS 32-33 ante (definitions applied by the Pension Schemes Act 1993 s 181(1)).

4 For the meaning of 'employment' see PARA 560 note 5 ante.

5 I.e. the conditions of the Pension Schemes Act 1993 s 9(2), (3) (as amended): see s 9(1). An occupational pension scheme satisfies s 9(2) (s 9(2), (2A)-(2C) substituted and added respectively by the Pensions Act 1995 s 136(3)), only if: (1) in relation to any earner's service before the principal appointed day (ie 6 April 1997: see PARA 880 note 13 ante), it satisfies the conditions of the Pension Schemes Act 1993 s 9(2A) (as so substituted); (2) in relation to any earner's service on or after that day, it satisfies the conditions of s 9(2B) (as so substituted): s 9(2) (as so substituted). The conditions of s 9(2A) (as so substituted) are that: (a) the scheme complies in all respects with ss 13-23 (as amended) (see PARA 890 et seq post) or, in such cases or classes of case as may be prescribed, with those sections as modified by regulations; and (b) the rules of the scheme applying to guaranteed minimum pensions are framed so as to comply with the relevant requirements: s 9(2A) (as so substituted). The conditions of s 9(2B) (as so substituted) are that the Secretary of State is satisfied that: (i) the scheme complies with s 12A (as added) (see PARA 887 post); (ii) restrictions imposed under the Pensions Act 1995 s 40 (restriction on employer-related investments) (see PARA 806 ante) apply to the scheme and the scheme complies with those restrictions; (iii) the scheme satisfies such other requirements as may be prescribed (which must include requirements as to the amount of the resources of the scheme and may include a requirement that, if the only members of the scheme were those falling within any prescribed class or description, the scheme would comply with the Pension Schemes Act 1993 s 12A (as added)); and (iv) the scheme does not fall within a prescribed class or description; and if he is satisfied that the rules of the scheme are framed so as to comply with the relevant requirements: s 9(2B) (as so substituted). Regulations may modify heads (a)-(b) supra in their application to occupational pension schemes falling within a prescribed class or description: s 9(2C) (as so substituted).

An occupational pension scheme satisfies s 9(3) (amended by the Pensions Act 1995 ss 136(4), 151, 177, Sch 5 paras 18, 24, Sch 7 Pt III) only if: (A) the requirements imposed by or by virtue of the Pension Schemes Act 1993 ss 26-32 (as amended) (see PARAS 883, 898-904 post) and such other requirements as may be prescribed are satisfied in its case; (B) the Secretary of State is satisfied that the scheme does not fall within a prescribed class or description; and (C) such other requirements as may be prescribed are satisfied in its case; and the rules of the scheme applying to protected rights are framed so as to comply with the relevant requirements: s 9(3) (as so substituted).

A contracting-out certificate must state whether the scheme is contracted-out by virtue of s 9(2), (3) (as so substituted and amended): s 12(1). Where a scheme satisfies both sets of statutory requirements the employers, in their application for a certificate, must specify one of those subsections as the subsection by virtue of which they wish the scheme to be contracted-out: s 12(2). A scheme which has been contracted-out by virtue of s 9(2) or (3) may not become contracted-out by reason of the other except in prescribed circumstances: s 12(3).

'Relevant requirements' means the requirements of any regulations prescribing the form and content of rules of contracted-out or, as the case may be, appropriate schemes; and such other requirements as to form and content (not inconsistent with regulations) as may be imposed by the Secretary of State as a condition of contracting out or, as the case may be, of being an appropriate scheme, either generally or in relation to a particular scheme: s 9(6) (amended by the Pensions Act 1995 s 151, Sch 5 paras 18, 21). As to the Secretary of State see PARA 1 ante. ### 883. Protected rights and money purchase benefits.

- 2375 (1) his rights under the scheme which derive from the payment of minimum payments<sup>4</sup> together with any payments by the Secretary of State<sup>5</sup> to the scheme<sup>6</sup> in respect of the member<sup>7</sup>;
- 2376 (2) any rights of the member to money purchase benefits which derive from protected rights under another occupational pension scheme or under a personal pension scheme which have been the subject of a transfer payment<sup>8</sup>; and
- 2377 (3) such other rights as may be prescribed<sup>9</sup>.

If the rules of a personal pension scheme<sup>10</sup> so provide, a member's protected rights are:

- 2378 (a) his rights under the scheme which derive from any payment of minimum contributions to the scheme<sup>11</sup>; and
- 2379 (b) any rights of his to money purchase benefits which derive from protected rights under another personal pension scheme or protected rights under an occupational pension scheme which have been the subject of a transfer payment<sup>12</sup>; and
- 2380 (c) such other rights as may be prescribed<sup>13</sup>.

1 As to the power to prescribe for these purposes the persons who are to be regarded as members or prospective members of an occupational pension scheme and as to the times at which and the circumstances in which a person is to be treated as becoming, or as ceasing to be, a member or prospective member see PARA 557 note 9 ante. ### 883 Protected rights and money purchase benefits

TEXT AND NOTES--Pension Schemes Act 1993 s 10(1) now also subject to s 10(4), (5) (added by the Welfare Reform and Pension Act 1993 s 32(2)): Pension Schemes Act 1993 s 10(1) (amended by the Welfare Reform and Pensions Act 1999 s 32(2)). Where, in the case of a scheme which makes such provision as is mentioned in the Pension Schemes Act 1993 s 10(2), (3), a member's rights under the scheme become subject to a pension debit, his protected rights exclude the appropriate percentage of the rights which were his protected rights immediately before the day on which the pension debit arose: s 10(4) (as added). For the purposes of s 10(4), the appropriate percentage is (1) if the order or provision on which the pension debit depends specifies the percentage value to be transferred, that percentage; (2) if the order or provision on which the pension debit depends specifies an amount to be transferred, the percentage which the appropriate amount for the purposes of the Welfare Reform and Pensions Act 1999 s 29(1) represents of the amount mentioned in s 29(3)(b) (see PARA 961A.3): Pension Schemes Act 1993 s 10(5) (as added).

Where, in the case of a scheme which makes such provision as is mentioned in s 10(2) or (3), any liability of the scheme in respect of a member's protected rights ceases by virtue of a civil recovery order, his protected rights are extinguished or reduced accordingly: s 10(6) (added by the Proceeds of Crime Act 2002 Sch 11 para 22(2)). 'Civil recovery order' means an order under s 266 or an order under s 276 imposing the requirement mentioned in s 277(3) (consent order: pensions): Pension Schemes Act 1993 s 181(1) (definition added by the Proceeds of Crime Act 2002 Sch 11 para 22(6)).

884. Elections as to employments covered by contracting-out certificates.

Subject to the provisions of Part III of the Pension Schemes Act 1993<sup>1</sup>, an employment<sup>2</sup> otherwise satisfying the conditions for inclusion in a contracting-out certificate<sup>3</sup> must be so included if and so long as the employer<sup>4</sup> so elects and not otherwise<sup>5</sup>. Subject as follows, an election may be so made, and an employment so included, either generally or in relation only to a particular description of earners<sup>6</sup>; but except in such cases as may be prescribed<sup>7</sup>, an employer must not, in making or abstaining from making any such election, discriminate between different earners on any grounds other than the nature of their employment<sup>8</sup>. If the Secretary of State<sup>9</sup> considers that an employer is contravening this provision in relation to any scheme, he may:

- 2381 (1) refuse to give effect to any election made by the employer in relation to that scheme<sup>10</sup>; or
- 2382 (2) cancel any contracting-out certificate held by the employer in respect of it<sup>11</sup>.

Regulations<sup>12</sup> may make provision:

- 2383 (a) for regulating the manner in which an employer is to make an election with a view to the issue, variation or surrender of a contracting-out certificate<sup>13</sup>;
- 2384 (b) for requiring an employer to give a notice of his intentions in respect of making or abstaining from making any such election in relation to any existing or proposed scheme:
- 208
- 277. (i) to employees<sup>14</sup> in any employment to which the scheme applies or to which it is proposed that it should apply<sup>15</sup>;
- 278. (ii) to any independent trade union<sup>16</sup> recognised to any extent for the purpose of collective bargaining in relation to those employees<sup>17</sup>;
- 279. (iii) to the trustees and managers<sup>18</sup> of the scheme<sup>19</sup>; and
- 280. (iv) to such other persons as may be prescribed<sup>20</sup>;
- 209
- 2385 (c) for requiring an employer, in connection with any such notice, to furnish such information as may be prescribed and to undertake such consultations as may be prescribed with any such independent trade union<sup>21</sup>;
- 2386 (d) for empowering the Secretary of State to refuse to give effect to an election made by an employer unless he is satisfied that he has complied with the requirements of the regulations<sup>22</sup>;
- 2387 (e) for referring to an industrial tribunal<sup>23</sup> any question:
- 210
- 281. (i) whether an organisation is such an independent trade union<sup>24</sup>; or
- 282. (ii) whether the requirements of the regulations as to consultation have been complied with<sup>25</sup>.

Halsbury's Laws of England/SOCIAL SECURITY AND PENSIONS (VOLUME 44(2) (REISSUE))/20. CONTRACTING OUT/(2) REQUIREMENTS FOR CERTIFICATION/(i) In general/885. Elections for the issue of contracting-out certificates.

885. Elections for the issue of contracting-out certificates.

Subject to the provisions relating to elections for the issue, variation or surrender of certificates where the employment remains contracted-out<sup>1</sup>, an election with a view to the issue of a contracting-out certificate<sup>2</sup> may only be made after notices of intention to make such an election have been given by the employer<sup>3</sup> in the specified manner<sup>4</sup> to:

- 2388 (1) the earners in respect of whose employment the election is proposed to be made, and those (if any) in that employment in relation to whom the employer is not electing that the employment is to be treated as contracted-out;
- 2389 (2) the trustees and administrator of the scheme to which the election is to relate;
- 2390 (3) where there is a policy of insurance or annuity contract as a means of securing the protected rights<sup>5</sup>, guaranteed minimum pensions<sup>6</sup> or any benefits arising in respect of 'section 9(2B) rights'<sup>7</sup> to be payable under the scheme, the insurance company or friendly society concerned; and
- 2391 (4) all independent trade unions<sup>8</sup> recognised in relation to the earners concerned<sup>9</sup>; and within the specified period<sup>10</sup> after the expiry of those notices<sup>11</sup>. The election must be made in writing to the Secretary of State and must include the prescribed particulars<sup>12</sup>.

In making or abstaining from making an election as to the inclusion of an employment in a contracting-out certificate, an employer may discriminate between different earners (otherwise than on the ground of the nature of their employment) in any case where such discrimination would be<sup>13</sup> lawful<sup>14</sup>.

An employer who has given a notice of the intention to make an election under these provisions must undertake consultations, if he has not already done so, about the matters covered by the notice with all independent trade unions recognised in relation to the earners concerned<sup>15</sup>. Any question whether an organisation is an independent trade union recognised in relation to earners may be referred by the employer of those earners, or by the organisation, to an industrial tribunal<sup>16</sup> and any question whether an employer has complied with these consultation requirements may also be referred by the employer, or by an independent trade union recognised in relation to the earners concerned, to an industrial tribunal<sup>17</sup>.

An employer may amend his election at any time before the issue of a contracting-out certificate if the amendment does not alter the categories or descriptions of the earners to whom the election relates<sup>18</sup>.

Subject as follows, when the Secretary of State has determined that an employment should be treated, either in relation to all earners in it or in relation to any specified category or description of earners, as contracted-out employment, he must issue and send to the employer concerned a contracting-out certificate<sup>19</sup>. The contracting-out certificate must specify:

- 2392 (a) the name and address of the employer;
- 2393 (b) the name of the scheme by reference to which that employment is to be so treated;

2394 (c) the employments to which the certificate relates or, if the contracting-out certificate does not relate to all earners in those employments, the categories or descriptions of the earners to whom it relates; and

2395 (d) the date from which the certificate is to have effect, which may, where the Secretary of State considers it appropriate, be earlier than the date on which the certificate is issued provided that the scheme satisfied any contracting-out conditions or requirements which apply to the scheme from the date from which the certificate is to have effect<sup>20</sup>.

1     Ie subject to the Occupational Pension Schemes (Contracting-out) Regulations 1996, SI 1996/1172, reg 10: see PARA 906 post.

2     For the meaning of 'contracting-out certificate' see PARA 880 ante.

3     'Employer' includes a person treated as such by virtue of the Occupational Pension Schemes (Contracting-out) Regulations 1996, SI 1996/1172, regs 12-14 (special provisions for holding companies and subsidiaries, public service pension schemes and holders of pensionable judicial office): reg 1(2).

4     The notice must be given to any earner concerned by sending or delivering it to him, or exhibiting it conspicuously at the place of work or employment so that it may be read conveniently by him and by drawing his attention to it in writing; and to any other person, by sending or delivering it to that person: ibid reg 3(3). For the meaning of 'earner' see PARA 32 ante (definition applied by virtue of the Pension Schemes Act 1993 s 181(1)).

5     For the meaning of 'protected rights' see ibid s 10 (as amended); and PARA 883 ante.

6     For the meaning of 'guaranteed minimum pension' see PARA 878 ante.

7     'Section 9(2B) rights' are rights to the payment of pensions and accrued rights to pensions (other than rights attributable to voluntary contributions) under a scheme contracted-out by virtue of the Pension Schemes Act 1993 s 9(2B) (as added) (see PARA 882 ante), so far as attributable to an earner's service in contracted-out employment on or after the principal appointed day, and, where a transfer payment has been made to such a scheme, any rights arising under the scheme as a consequence of that payment which are derived directly or indirectly from (1) such rights under another scheme contracted-out by virtue of s 9(2B) (as added); or (2) protected rights under another occupational pension scheme or under a personal pension scheme attributable to payments or contributions in respect of contracted-out employment on or after the principal appointed day: Occupational Pension Schemes (Contracting-out) Regulations 1996, SI 1996/1172, reg 1(2) (definition substituted by SI 1997/786).

8     'Independent trade union' means a trade union recognised to any extent for the purpose of collective bargaining: Occupational Pension Schemes (Contracting-out) Regulations 1996, SI 1996/1172, reg 1(2); and see EMPLOYMENT VOL 40 (2009) PARA 859.

10    The specified period is within three months of the date of the expiry of the notices, or such longer period as the Secretary of State may in his discretion allow, but nothing in this provision prevents an election from being made after the giving of further notices which comply with the prescribed requirements: Occupational Pension Schemes (Contracting-out) Regulations 1996, SI 1996/1172, reg 5. Halsbury's Laws of England/SOCIAL SECURITY AND PENSIONS (VOLUME 44(2) (REISSUE))/20. CONTRACTING OUT/(2) REQUIREMENTS FOR CERTIFICATION/(i) In general/886. Application for an appropriate scheme certificate.

886. Application for an appropriate scheme certificate.

Every application for an appropriate scheme certificate<sup>1</sup> ('the certificate') must be made in writing to the Secretary of State<sup>2</sup> and must include:

- 2396 (1) the name of the scheme and the address where it is administered;
- 2397 (2) the names and addresses of the administrators of the scheme;
- 2398 (3) the name, address and position (in relation to the scheme) of the person making the application for the certificate;
- 2399 (4) the name and address of the person who has established the scheme or, in the case of a company, the registered office;
- 2400 (5) such evidence as the Secretary of State may reasonably require that the scheme satisfies such of the prescribed requirements<sup>3</sup> as apply to it;
- 2401 (6) which of the specified forms<sup>4</sup> the scheme is to take;
- 2402 (7) the name and address of a bank or building society which accepts payments made by automated credit transfer together with the name and account number of that bank or building society into which it is desired that minimum contributions<sup>5</sup> should be paid; and
- 2403 (8) the date from which the desired certificate is to have effect<sup>6</sup>.

Every application must be accompanied by a copy of the documents constituting the scheme and the rules of the scheme, if they are not set out in those documents or any of them, except where the Secretary of State in his discretion dispenses wholly or partly with this requirement<sup>7</sup>. Every person who has made an application must supply such other documents and information as the Secretary of State may reasonably require<sup>8</sup>.

When the Secretary of State has determined that a personal pension scheme<sup>9</sup> is, or at any time was, an appropriate scheme, he must issue an appropriate scheme certificate so stating to the person who applied for it<sup>10</sup>.

1 For the meaning of 'appropriate scheme' and 'appropriate scheme certificate' see PARA 880 ante.

2 As to the Secretary of State see PARA 1 ante.

3 I.e. the requirements of the Personal Pension Schemes (Appropriate Schemes) Regulations 1997, SI 1997/470, reg 3 (persons who and bodies which may establish schemes): see note 4 infra.

4 A personal pension scheme can be an appropriate scheme only if it is approved by the Inland Revenue under either the Income and Corporation Taxes Act 1988 Pt XIV Ch IV (ss 630-655) (as amended) (see PARA 712 et seq ante) or Pt XIV Ch I (ss 590-621) (as amended) by reference to s 591(2)(h) (see PARA 751 ante), and in either case it takes one of the forms (but not more than one) specified as follows: (1) an arrangement for the issue of insurance policies or annuity contracts; (2) a unit trust scheme of a kind mentioned in the Personal Pension Schemes (Appropriate Schemes) Regulations 1997, SI 1997/470, reg 2(2), Sch 1 Pt I which has been authorised under the Financial Services Act 1986 s 78(1), or by virtue of s 211(3), Sch 15 para 9; (3) an arrangement for the investment of contributions in an interest-bearing account (which expression includes shares in or deposits with a building society as defined in the Building Societies Act 1986); and for the purposes of head (3) supra, the rules of the personal pension scheme must provide that, at the minimum, there must be invested in the interest-bearing account any payments which, under the Pension Schemes Act 1993 s 10(3) (see PARA 883 ante) or the Personal and Occupational Pension Schemes (Protected Rights) Regulations 1996, 1996/1537, reg 3 (as amended) (see PARA 883 ante) are those from which are derived protected rights: Personal Pension Schemes (Appropriate Schemes) Regulations 1997, SI 1997/470, reg 2(1)-(3). An arrangement such as is described in head (1) supra which is established by a friendly society can be an appropriate scheme only if the society is authorised under the Friendly Societies Act 1992 s 32 to carry on long term business under any of the Classes specified in Sch 2 Head A (see FINANCIAL SERVICES AND INSTITUTIONS vol 50 (2008) PARA 2096); and an arrangement such as is described in head (3) supra can be an appropriate scheme only if it is established by (a) a building society within the meaning of the Building Societies Act 1986; (b) a pension vehicle associated with a building society as described in s 18(17); (c) an institution authorised under the Banking Act 1987 Pt I (ss 1-49) (as amended); or (d) a body corporate which is a subsidiary or holding company (within the meaning of the Companies Act 1985 s 736 (as substituted) or the corresponding Northern Ireland legislation) of an institution such as is mentioned in head (c) supra or a subsidiary of the holding company of such an institution, subject to the conditions that the rules of any appropriate scheme established by such a body require that the resources of the scheme be invested with an institution such as is mentioned in head (c) supra and further provide that the rights arising from such investment, in so far as they are attributable to the contributions made by or on behalf of a member, must be held by that body on trust for that member: Personal Pension Schemes (Appropriate Schemes) Regulations 1997, SI 1997/470, reg 3(1)-(4).

Furthermore, a personal pension scheme which comprises an arrangement of the kind described in head (3) supra can be an appropriate scheme only if the rules of the scheme include provision (i) that, within seven days of the day on which a person becomes a member of the scheme, he must be served, personally or by post, with a notice in writing containing the information specified in Sch 2 and a form of counter-notice; and (ii) that, if the person signs the form of counter-notice or another document to the same effect and serves it by post or otherwise, not later than the fourteenth day after the notice referred to in head (i) supra is served on him and on the person nominated, in that notice, to accept service of it, his membership of the scheme must be cancelled and the contributions (if any) paid to the scheme by him or for him must be returned, as soon as reasonably practicable, to the person who paid them: reg 18(1), (2). Where such a counter-notice is properly addressed, prepaid and served by post, it is deemed to have been duly served on the day on which it was posted: reg 18(3). The information specified in Sch 2 comprises: (A) the right of the member to cancel his membership of the scheme; (B) the provisions of the Pension Schemes Act 1993 s 160(1) (see PARA 559 ante), of the scheme rules and of the Personal Pension Schemes (Appropriate Schemes) Regulations 1997, SI 1997/470, which govern the exercise of the right to cancel his membership; (C) the name and address of the person on whom the member's counter-notice should be served; (D) the type of account, or accounts, in which contributions to the scheme are invested; (E) the rate of interest, at the time when the notice is served, which is accruing to contributions of members of the scheme which are then invested; (F) the part of any payment or payments that are made to the scheme by or on behalf of a member, of any income arising from the investment of such payments or of the value of rights under the scheme that may be used (otherwise than as an unidentifiable element in the calculation of interest on invested contributions) to defray the administrative expenses of the scheme, to pay commission or in any other way which does not result in the provision of benefits for or in respect of members; (G) how tax relief on members' contributions is effected; (H) how the cessation of the making of contributions to the scheme by a member of it, not less than 21 days after he becomes a member of it, but before the end of the period for which he could continue making such contributions, would affect the member's rights under the scheme; and (I) the address to which inquiries about the scheme generally or about an individual's entitlement to benefit should be sent: see Sch 2.

(ii) New Requirements imposed by the Pensions Act 1995

887. The statutory standard.

Subject to the provisions of Part III of the Pension Schemes Act 1993<sup>1</sup>, the scheme must, in relation to the provision of pensions for earners<sup>2</sup> in employed earner's<sup>3</sup> employment<sup>4</sup>, and for their widows or widowers, satisfy the statutory standard<sup>5</sup>. Subject to regulations<sup>6</sup>, in applying these provisions regard must only be had to earners in employed earner's employment, or their widows or widowers, collectively, and the pensions to be provided for such persons must be considered as a whole<sup>7</sup>.

For the purposes of these provisions, a scheme satisfies the statutory standard if the pensions to be provided for such persons are broadly equivalent to, or better than, the pensions which would be provided for such persons under a reference scheme<sup>8</sup>.

Regulations may provide for the manner of, and criteria for, determining whether the pensions to be provided for such persons under a scheme are broadly equivalent to, or better than, the pensions which would be provided for such persons under a reference scheme<sup>9</sup>. Such regulations may provide for the determination to be made in accordance with guidance prepared from time to time by a prescribed<sup>10</sup> body and approved by the Secretary of State<sup>11</sup>. The pensions to be provided for such persons under a scheme are to be treated as broadly equivalent to or better than the pensions which would be provided for such persons under a reference scheme if and only if an actuary<sup>12</sup> so certifies<sup>13</sup>.

Halsbury's Laws of England/SOCIAL SECURITY AND PENSIONS (VOLUME 44(2) (REISSUE))/20. CONTRACTING OUT/(2) REQUIREMENTS FOR CERTIFICATION/(ii) New Requirements imposed by the Pensions Act 1995/888. Reference schemes.

888. Reference schemes.

- 2404 (1) for them to be entitled to a pension under the scheme commencing at a normal pension age<sup>8</sup> of 65 and continuing for life<sup>9</sup>; and
- 2405 (2) for the annual rate of the pension at that age to be one eightieth of average qualifying earnings<sup>10</sup> in the last three tax years preceding the end of service, multiplied by the number of years service, not exceeding such number as would produce an annual rate equal to half the earnings on which it is calculated<sup>11</sup>.

In relation to widows or widowers, a reference scheme is one which provides:

- 2406 (a) for the widows or widowers of earners employed in employed earner's employment (whether the earners die before or after attaining the age of 65) to be entitled, except in prescribed circumstances, to pensions under the scheme<sup>12</sup>; and
  - 2407 (b) for entitlements to those pensions to commence on the day following the death of the earners<sup>13</sup>; and
  - 2408 (c) Except in prescribed circumstances, for the annual rate of the pensions to be:
- 212
- 283. (i) if the earners die on or after their normal pension age, 50 per cent of the annual rate which a reference scheme was required to provide to the deceased earners immediately before their death; or

889. Transfer, commutation, entitlement to benefit, etc.

Regulations<sup>1</sup> may prohibit or restrict:

- 2410 (1) the transfer of any liability for the payment of pensions under a relevant scheme<sup>2</sup>, or in respect of accrued rights<sup>3</sup> to such pensions;
- 2411 (2) the discharge of any liability to provide pensions under a relevant scheme; or
- 2412 (3) the payment of a lump sum instead of a pension payable under a relevant scheme, except in prescribed circumstances<sup>4</sup> or on prescribed conditions<sup>5</sup>.

Such regulations may provide that any provision of Part III of the Pension Schemes Act 1993<sup>6</sup> is to have effect subject to such modifications<sup>7</sup> as may be specified in the regulations<sup>8</sup>.

1 For the meaning of 'regulations' see PARA 557 note 2 ante.

2 'Relevant scheme' means a scheme contracted out by virtue of the Pension Schemes Act 1993 s 9(2B) (as added) (see PARA 882 ante) and references to pensions and accrued rights under the scheme are to such pensions and rights so far as attributable to an earner's service on or after the principal appointed day: s 12C(2) (ss 12C, 12D added by the Pensions Act 1995 s 136(5)). For the meaning of 'earner' and 'earnings' see PARAS 32-33 ante (definitions applied by the Pension Schemes Act 1993 s 181(1)). For the meaning of 'the principal appointed day' see PARA 880 note 13 ante. In the case of a scheme contracted out by virtue of s 9(2B) (as added), regulations may make provision as to the ages by reference to which benefits under the scheme are to be paid: s 12D (as so added).

3 For the meaning of 'accrued rights' see PARA 843 note 6 ante.

4 The trustees of a relevant scheme are prohibited or restricted from discharging any liability to provide pensions under a relevant scheme except in the circumstances and on the conditions prescribed in the Occupational Pension Schemes (Discharge of Liability) Regulations 1997, SI 1997/784, Pt III (regs 8-11) or where the requirements imposed by the Occupational Pension Schemes (Winding Up) Regulations 1996, SI 1996/3126 (as amended) (see PARA 843 et seq ante) or the Occupational Pension Schemes (Contracting-out) Regulations 1996, SI 1996/1172, Pt V (regs 41-48) (as amended) (see PARAS 879 ante, 905, 918, 920 post) apply: Occupational Pension Schemes (Discharge of Liability) Regulations 1997, SI 1997/784, reg 8. The prescribed circumstances in which the trustees of a relevant scheme may discharge any liability to provide pensions under such a scheme are where (1) the member or, if the member has died, his widow or her widower, or if there is no such widow or widower, any person who may be entitled to payment of the pension under the scheme, consents in writing to the discharge of liability and the transaction to discharge the liability is to be carried out not earlier than the time when the member's pensionable service terminates and satisfies all the conditions specified in reg 11 (see note 5 infra); or (2) the member's employment is to cease to be contracted-out under the Pension Schemes Act 1993 s 9(2B) (as added) (see PARA 882 ante) and the transaction to discharge liability satisfies all the conditions so specified; and for these purposes 'transaction' means (a) the taking out of a policy of insurance or a number of such policies; (b) the entry into an annuity contract or a number of such contracts; or (c) the transfer of pensions and accrued rights to such a policy or policies or such a contract or contracts: Occupational Pension Schemes (Discharge of Liability) Regulations 1997, SI 1997/784, regs 9, 10. For the meaning of 'prescribed' see PARA 555 note 1 ante.

5 Pension Schemes Act 1993 s 12C(1) (as added: see note 2 supra). The prescribed conditions are that (1) the policy of insurance or annuity contract must be taken out or entered into with an insurance company such as is described in s 19(4)(a) (see PARA 894 post); (2) the policy of insurance or annuity contract contains provision to the effect that, or is indorsed so as to provide that (a) except in specified circumstances, where a pension or annuity is in payment at the date of the beneficiary's death at least 50% of the annual rate attributable to pensions and accrued rights under the relevant scheme which was in payment at the date of death is to be payable to the beneficiary's widow or widower; (b) except in the specified circumstances, where a pension or annuity is not in payment at the date of the beneficiary's death at least 50% of the accumulated value of the policy of insurance or annuity contract at the date of death attributable to pension and accrued rights under the relevant scheme is to be applied so as to provide a pension or annuity for the beneficiary's widow or widower; (c) payments to a beneficiary's widow or widower under the policy or contract which derive from a pension or accrued rights under the relevant scheme are to be subject to the same rate of an annual increase and restrictions which would have applied as a consequence of the Pensions Act 1995 s 51 (annual increase in rate of pension: see PARA 861 ante) and s 52 (restriction on increase where member is under 55: see PARA 862 ante) had the discharge of liability not taken place; (d) the benefits secured under the policy or contract must become payable with the beneficiary's consent, and the beneficiary has attained the age of 50 and is under the age of 75, or is suffering from an incapacity or serious ill-health prior to normal pension age; (e) any rights of a beneficiary to a payment under the policy or contract which derive from a pension or accrued rights under the relevant scheme are to be treated as if both ss 51, 52 and regulations made under those sections, and the Pension Schemes Act 1993 s 12C(1) (as added) and regulations made under that section, were applicable to them: Occupational Pension Schemes (Discharge of Liability) Regulations 1997, SI 1997/784, reg 11(1)-(3). The specified circumstances for the purposes of head 2(a) supra are that (i) the beneficiary marries after having received benefits under the policy or contract; (ii) the widow or widower of the beneficiary remarries or lives together as husband and wife with another person to whom he or she is not married after having received benefits under the policy or contract; (iii) the widow or widower of the beneficiary is living together as husband and wife with another person to whom he or she is not married at the time of the member's death; and the specified circumstances for the purposes of head (2)(b) supra are those set out in heads (ii)-(iii) supra: see reg 11(3)(b), (4). For these purposes, 'incapacity' means physical or mental deterioration which seriously impairs his earning capacity and 'serious ill-health' means ill-health which is such as to give rise to a life expectancy of less than one year: regs 4(4), 11(5). For the purposes of head (2)(e) supra, the provisions in the Pension Schemes Act 1993 and the Pensions Act 1995 are to be construed as if the policy of insurance or annuity contract is a relevant scheme, the insurance company is the trustee of the relevant scheme, the beneficiary is the member of the relevant scheme and the terms of the policy or contract are the rules of the relevant scheme: Occupational Pension Schemes (Discharge of Liability) Regulations 1997, SI 1997/784, reg 11(6).

(iii) Occupational Pension Schemes providing Guaranteed Minimum Pensions

890. Minimum pensions for earners.

Subject to the provisions of Part III of the Pension Schemes Act 1993<sup>1</sup>, the scheme must:

- 2413 (1) provide<sup>2</sup> for the earner to be entitled to a pension under the scheme if he attains pensionable age<sup>3</sup>; and
- 2414 (2) contain a rule to the effect that the weekly rate of the pension will be not less than his guaranteed minimum<sup>4</sup> (if any)<sup>5</sup>.

In the case of an earner who is a married woman or widow who is liable to pay primary Class 1 contributions<sup>6</sup> at a reduced rate<sup>7</sup>, the scheme must, subject to those statutory provisions:

- 2415 (a) provide for her to be entitled to a pension under the scheme if she attains pensionable age<sup>8</sup>; and
- 2416 (b) satisfy such other conditions as may be prescribed<sup>9</sup>.

The scheme must provide for the pension to commence on the date on which the earner attains pensionable age and to continue for his life<sup>10</sup>. The scheme may provide for the commencement of the earner's guaranteed minimum pension to be postponed for any period for which he continues in employment<sup>11</sup> after attaining pensionable age<sup>12</sup>.

The scheme must provide for the earner's consent to be required:

- 2417 (i) for any such postponement by virtue of employment to which the scheme does not relate<sup>13</sup>; and
- 2418 (ii) for any such postponement after the expiration of five years from the date on which he attains pensionable age<sup>14</sup>.

Equivalent pension benefits for the purposes of the former legislation<sup>15</sup> are not to be regarded as constituting any part of the earner's guaranteed minimum pension<sup>16</sup>.

<sup>2</sup> Where the annual rate of a pension required to be provided by a scheme in accordance with ibid s 13 (as amended) or s 17 (as amended) (see PARA 893 post) would not exceed the prescribed amount and the circumstances are such as may be prescribed, the scheme may provide for the payment of a lump sum instead of that pension: s 21(1). Neither s 13 (as amended) nor s 17 (as amended) precludes a scheme from providing for the earner's or the earner's widow's or widower's guaranteed minimum pension to be suspended or forfeited in such circumstances as may be prescribed: s 21(2). - 16 Ibid s 13(6). The benefits so referred to are any to which the earner may be immediately or prospectively entitled in respect of a period of employment which: (1) was for him non-participating employment under that legislation; and (2) was not on its termination the subject of any payment in lieu of contributions; but this provision excludes only so much of those benefits as had to be provided in order that the employment should for that period be treated as non-participating: s 13(7).

Halsbury's Laws of England/SOCIAL SECURITY AND PENSIONS (VOLUME 44(2) (REISSUE))/20. CONTRACTING OUT/(2) REQUIREMENTS FOR CERTIFICATION/(iii) Occupational Pension Schemes providing Guaranteed Minimum Pensions/891. Earner's guaranteed minimum.

891. Earner's guaranteed minimum.

An earner<sup>1</sup> has a guaranteed minimum in relation to the pension provided by a scheme if in any tax week<sup>2</sup> in a relevant year<sup>3</sup>, earnings in excess of the current lower earnings limit<sup>4</sup> (or the prescribed equivalent<sup>5</sup> if he is paid otherwise than weekly) have been paid to or for his benefit in respect of employment<sup>6</sup> which is contracted-out<sup>7</sup> by reference to the scheme<sup>8</sup>. The guaranteed minimum must be the weekly equivalent<sup>9</sup> of an amount equal to the appropriate percentage<sup>10</sup> of the total of the earner's earnings factors for the relevant years, so far as derived from such earnings upon which primary Class 1 contributions<sup>11</sup> have been paid or treated as paid<sup>12</sup>.

Where the amount of a person's earnings for any period is relevant for any of the above purposes and the Secretary of State<sup>13</sup> is satisfied that records of those earnings have not been maintained or retained or are otherwise unobtainable, he may for that purpose:

- 2419 (1) compute, in such manner as he thinks fit, an amount which must be regarded as the amount of those earnings<sup>14</sup>; or
- 2420 (2) take their amount to be such sum as he may specify in the particular case<sup>15</sup>.

1 For the meaning of 'earner' and 'earnings' see PARAS 32-33 ante (definitions applied by the Pension Schemes Act 1993 s 181(1)).

2 For the meaning of 'tax week' see PARA 878 note 8 ante.

3 'Relevant year' means any tax year in the earner's working life (not being earlier than the tax year 1978-79 or later than the tax year ending immediately before the principal appointed day): Pension Schemes Act 1993 s 14(8) (amended by the Pensions Act 1995 s 151, Sch 5 paras 18, 27). For the meaning of 'tax year' see PARA 863 note 1 ante; and for the meaning of 'working life' see PARA 565 note 9 ante. As to the principal appointed day see PARA 880 note 13 ante.

4 As to the current lower earnings limit see PARA 878 note 8 ante.

5 For the meaning of 'the prescribed equivalent' see PARA 878 note 8 ante.

6 For the meaning of 'employment' see PARA 560 note 5 ante.

7 For the meaning of 'contracted-out' and 'contracted-out employment' see PARA 878 ante.

8 Pension Schemes Act 1993 s 14(1).

9 For the purposes of ibid s 14(2), the weekly equivalent of the amount there mentioned must be calculated by dividing that amount by 52: s 14(7). Where an amount is required to be calculated in accordance with the provisions of s 14(7), s 15(1) (see PARA 892 post) or s 17(2), (3) or (4) (see PARA 893 post) and, apart from this provision, the amount so calculated is less than 0.5 pence, then, notwithstanding any other provision of the Pension Schemes Act 1993, that amount must be taken to be zero, and other amounts so calculated must be rounded to the nearest whole penny, taking 0.5 pence as nearest to the next whole penny above: s 18(1). Where a guaranteed minimum pension is attributable in part to earnings factors for the period before the tax year 1988-89 and in part to earnings factors for that tax year or for that tax year and subsequent tax years, the pension must be calculated by applying s 18(1) separately to the amount attributable to the period before the tax year 1988-89 and to the amount attributable to that and subsequent tax years, and aggregating the two amounts so calculated: s 18(2). For the meaning of 'guaranteed minimum pension' see PARA 878 ante. For the meaning of 'earnings factors' see PARA 56 ante (definition applied by s 181(1)).

10 'Appropriate percentage' means: (1) in respect of the earner's earnings factors for any tax year not later than the tax year 1987-88: (a) if the earner was not more than 20 years under pensionable age on 6 April 1978, 1.25%; (b) in any other case 25/N%; (2) in respect of the earner's earnings factors for the tax year 1988-89 and for subsequent tax years: (a) if the earner was not more than 20 years under pensionable age on 6 April 1978, 1%; (b) in any other case 20/N%; where N is the number of years in the earner's working life (assuming he will attain pensionable age) which fall after 5 April 1978: ibid s 14(5). Subject as follows, for these purposes the earner's earnings factor for any relevant year (so far as so derived) must be taken to be that factor as increased by the same percentage as that prescribed for the increase of that factor by the last order under the Social Security Pensions Act 1975 s 21 (repealed) or the Social Security Administration Act 1992 s 148 (as amended) (see PARA 56 ante) to come into force before the end of the final relevant year: Pension Schemes Act 1993 s 16(1). The scheme may provide that the earnings factors of an earner whose service in contracted-out employment by reference to the scheme is terminated before the final relevant year must be determined for these purposes by reference to the last such order to come into force before the end of the tax year in which that service ends ('the last service tax year'): s 16(2). Where a scheme provides as mentioned above the scheme must provide for the weekly equivalent to be increased by at least the prescribed percentage for each relevant year after the last service tax year; and the provisions so included may also conform with such additional requirements as may be prescribed: s 16(3) (amended by the Pensions Act 1995 s 151, Sch 5 paras 18, 28(a)). Except in such cases or classes of cases as may be prescribed, the provision made by virtue of the Pension Schemes Act 1993 s 16(2), (3) must be the same for all the members of the scheme: s 16(4). For these purposes, 'final relevant year' means the last tax year in the earner's working life: s 16(5) (definition substituted by the Pensions Act 1995 Sch 5 paras 18, 28(b)). For the meaning of 'pensionable age' see PARA 562 ante.

11 As to primary Class 1 contributions see PARA 34 et seq ante.

12 Pension Schemes Act 1993 s 14(2). Section 14(2) is subject to s 15(1): see PARA 892 post. Regulations may prescribe rules as to the circumstances in which earnings factors are derived from earnings for the purposes of s 14(2): s 14(6). For the meaning of 'regulations' see PARA 557 note 2 ante.

891 Earner's guaranteed minimum

TEXT AND NOTES--Where any liability of a scheme in respect of an earner's guaranteed minimum pension ceases by virtue of a civil recovery order, his guaranteed minimum in relation to the scheme is extinguished or reduced accordingly: Pension Schemes Act 1993 s 14(2A) (added by the Proceeds of Crime Act 2002 Sch 11 para 22(3)). For the meaning of 'civil recovery order', see PARA 883.

NOTE 10--For the purposes of the Pension Schemes Act 1993 s 16, 'relevant year' means any tax year in the earner's working life: s 16(5) (amended by the Welfare Reform and Pensions Act 1999 Sch 2 para 4).

TEXT AND NOTES 13-15--In 1993 Act s 14(4), for 'Secretary of State' read 'Inland Revenue' and for 'he' (in each place) read 'it': Social Security Contributions (Transfer of Functions, etc) Act 1999 Sch 1 para 38.

Halsbury's Laws of England/SOCIAL SECURITY AND PENSIONS (VOLUME 44(2) (REISSUE))/20. CONTRACTING OUT/(2) REQUIREMENTS FOR CERTIFICATION/(iii) Occupational Pension Schemes providing Guaranteed Minimum Pensions/892. Increase of guaranteed minimum where commencement of guaranteed minimum pension postponed.

892. Increase of guaranteed minimum where commencement of guaranteed minimum pension postponed.

Where the commencement of an earner's<sup>1</sup> guaranteed minimum pension<sup>2</sup> is postponed<sup>3</sup> for any period and there are at least seven complete weeks<sup>4</sup> in that period, his guaranteed minimum in relation to the scheme must, for each complete week in that period, be increased by one-seventh per cent:

- 2421 (1) of the amount of that minimum apart from this provision<sup>5</sup>; or
- 2422 (2) if for that week (or a period which includes that week) a pension is paid to him under the scheme at a weekly rate less than that minimum, of the difference between that pension and that minimum<sup>6</sup>.

Where an earner's guaranteed minimum is so increased, the increase of that part of it which is attributable to earnings factors<sup>7</sup> for the tax year<sup>8</sup> 1987-88 and earlier tax years must be calculated separately from the increase of the rest<sup>9</sup>. Where one or more orders has or have come into force providing for an annual increase of guaranteed minimum pensions<sup>10</sup> during the period for which the commencement of a guaranteed minimum pension is postponed, the amount of the guaranteed minimum for any week in that period must be determined as if the order or orders had come into force before the beginning of the period<sup>11</sup>.

10 Ie one or more orders under ibid s 109 (as amended): see PARA 926 post.

11 Ibid s 15(4). Where any increment under s 15(1) is increased in any tax year by an order under s 109 (as amended) and in that tax year also falls to be increased by an order under the Social Security Administration Act 1992 s 150 (as amended) (see PARA 17 ante), the increase is the amount that would otherwise have been specified in the order less the amount of the increase under the Pension Schemes Act 1993 s 109 (as amended): Social Security Administration Act 1992 s 151(4) (amended by the Pension Schemes Act 1993 s 190, Sch 8 para 29). Where sums are payable to a person by virtue of the Pension Schemes Act 1993 s 15(1), including such sums payable by virtue of s 17(2) (see PARA 893 post) during a period ending with the date on which he became entitled to a Category A or Category B retirement pension, then, for the purpose of determining the amount of his Category A or Category B retirement pension, orders made under the Social Security Administration Act 1992 s 150 (as amended) during that period must be deemed to have come into force (consecutively in the order in which they were made) on the date on which he became entitled to that pension: s 151(5) (as so amended). As to Category A and Category B retirement pensions see PARA 568 et seq ante.

9 Ibid s 19(1)(b). 'Appropriately secured' means secured by an appropriate policy of insurance or an appropriate annuity contract, or by more than one such policy or contract: s 19(3). A policy of insurance or annuity contract is appropriate for the purposes of s 19 if: (1) the insurance company with which it is or was taken out or entered into is, or was at the relevant time, carrying on ordinary long-term insurance business in the United Kingdom or any other member state, and satisfies, or at the relevant time satisfied, prescribed requirements; and (2) it may not be assigned or surrendered except on conditions which satisfy such requirements as may be prescribed; and (3) it contains or is indorsed with terms whose effect is that the amount secured by it may not be commuted except on conditions which satisfy such requirements as may be prescribed; and (4) it satisfies such other requirements as may be prescribed: s 19(4). For the meaning of 'insurance company' see the Insurance Companies Act 1982 s 96(1) (definition applied by the Pension Schemes Act 1993 s 181(1)). 'The relevant time' means the time when the policy of insurance was taken out or the annuity contract was entered into or, as the case may be, when the benefit of the policy or contract was transferred: s 19(6). For the meaning of 'ordinary long-term insurance business' see the Insurance Companies Act 1982 s 96(1) (definition applied by the Pension Schemes Act 1993 s 19(7)). For the meaning of 'prescribed' see PARA 555 note 1 ante.

The requirements referred to in head (1) supra are that the insurance policy is taken out or the annuity contract is entered into with an insurance company which is either authorised under the Insurance Companies Act 1982 s 3 or 4 or, in the case of a friendly society, authorised under the Friendly Societies Act 1992 s 32 to carry out long-term business under any of the Classes specified in Sch 2 Head A, or an EC company as defined in the Insurance Companies Act 1982 s 2 (as amended) and which either carries on ordinary long-term insurance business in the United Kingdom through a branch in respect of which such of the requirements of the Insurance Companies Act 1982 Sch 2F Pt I (as added) as are applicable have been complied with or provides ordinary long-term insurance in the United Kingdom and such of those requirements as are applicable have been complied with in respect of the insurance: Occupational Pension Schemes (Discharge of Liability) Regulations 1997, SI 1997/784, reg 2(1), (2).

The conditions referred to in head (2) supra are that the written consent of the earner or, if the earner has died, the earner's widow or widower to the assignment or surrender is obtained; and that in consideration of the assignment or surrender the benefits previously secured by the policy of insurance or annuity contract become secured, or are replaced by benefits which are secured, by one or more of the following means: (a) another policy of insurance or annuity contract which is appropriate within the meaning of the Pension Schemes Act 1993 s 19(4); (b) subject to the Contracting-out (Transfer and Transfer Payment) Regulations 1996, SI 1996/1462, regs 3, 5, 6 in the case of benefits which include guaranteed minimum pensions, the award of supplementary credits under an occupational pension scheme which applies to the employment of the earner at the time of the assignment or surrender or the granting of rights to money purchase benefits under a personal pension scheme; or (c) in the case only of benefits which are not, and do not include guaranteed minimum pensions, the award of rights to money purchase benefits under a self-employed pension arrangement within the meaning of the Occupational Pension Schemes (Transfer Values) Regulations 1996, SI 1996/1847, reg 12(6) (a) or the Personal Pension Schemes (Transfer Values) Regulations 1987, SI 1987/1112, reg 2A (as added): Occupational Pension Schemes (Discharge of Liability) Regulations 1997, SI 1997/784, reg 3.

The conditions referred to in head (3) supra are that (i) the benefits secured by the policy of insurance or annuity contract have become payable, and the aggregate of those benefits and all other benefits currently payable or prospectively payable to the earner or, as the case may be, to his widow or her widower under all occupational pension schemes relating to employment with the same employer as the employment in respect of which the benefits secured by the policy of insurance or annuity contract are payable, does not exceed £260 per annum, an actuary certifies that the methods and assumptions to be used to calculate any benefit in a lump sum form will result in the benefit being broadly equivalent to the annual amount of benefits which would have been payable in pension, and all of the earner's interest under the policy of insurance or annuity contract is discharged upon payment of a lump sum; or (ii) the benefits secured by the policy of insurance or annuity contract have become payable and the earner requests or consents to the commutation, and the earner has attained the age of 50, or is suffering from an incapacity or serious ill-health prior to normal pension age; but the commutation referred to does not apply to that part of the benefits which consist of the earner's and the earner's widow or widower's guaranteed minimum pensions: reg 4(1), (2). For the purposes of head (i) supra, any benefit in a lump sum is to be treated as an annual amount of benefit in pension, any benefit secured by means of another policy of insurance or annuity contract which is appropriate for the purposes of the Pension Schemes Act 1993 s 19(4) is to be treated as payable or prospectively payable under the occupational pension scheme which was liable to provide it before it was so secured and any guaranteed minimum pension which is prospectively payable must be reckoned as having the value that it will have (in accordance with the provisions of the occupational pension scheme in question) when the earner reaches pensionable age: Occupational Pension Schemes (Discharge of Liability) Regulations 1997, SI 1997/784, reg 4(3). For the purposes of head (ii) supra, 'incapacity' means physical or mental deterioration which seriously impairs his earning capacity and 'serious ill-health' means ill-health which is such as to give rise to a life expectancy of less than one year: reg 4(4).

The requirements referred to in head (4) supra are: (A) that the insurance company with which the policy is taken out or the contract entered into assumes an obligation to the earner in question or to trustees of a trust for the benefit of the earner and, if appropriate, dependants of his, to pay the benefits secured by the policy or contract to him or, as the case may be, to dependants of his, or to the trustees of such a trust; (B) that the policy or contract contains, or is indorsed with, terms so as to provide for any increase, which would have been applicable as a consequence of the Pensions Act 1995 s 51 (annual increase in rate of pension: see PARA 861 ante) and s 52 (restriction on increase where member is under 55: see PARA 862 ante) had the discharge of liability not taken place, to apply to the benefits which have become secured or been replaced by that policy or contract; (C) that, if any guaranteed minimum pension is due or prospectively due to the earner in question, the policy or contract contains, or is indorsed with, terms so as to provide that the annuity to be paid thereunder to or for his benefit will be at least equal to the guaranteed minimum pension due to him, or, as the case may be, prospectively due to him, at pensionable age, subject to the Pension Schemes Act 1993 s 15 (increase of guaranteed minimum pension: see PARA 892 ante) or s 16 (as amended) (revaluation of earnings factors: see PARA 891 ante), and in the case where the earner dies leaving a widow or widower, that the annuity payable for the widow's or widower's benefit will be at least equal to the guaranteed minimum pension due or prospectively due to the widow or widower, and in each case previously mentioned in this head, that any increase of guaranteed minimum pension under ss 109-110 (as amended) (see PARA 926 post) results in a similar increase in the annuity: Occupational Pension Schemes (Discharge of Liability) Regulations 1997, SI 1997/784, reg 5.

11 For the meaning of 'earner' and 'earnings' see PARAS 32-33 ante (definitions applied by ibid s 181(1)).

12 Ibid s 19(5)(a). For the prescribed form of consent see the Occupational Pension Schemes (Discharge of Liability) Regulations 1997, SI 1997/784, reg 7, Sch 1.

14 Ibid s 19(5)(b).

15 Ibid s 19(5)(c). The further conditions on which liability may be discharged are that the requirements of one or more of the following heads are satisfied, ie: (1) the earner is dead and benefit is payable to a person other than his widow or her widower and the arrangement for securing the benefit by means of the policy or contract was made at the written request of the person entitled to it, or with the consent of that person given in writing in the prescribed form (see note 12 supra); (2) the benefit is provided as an alternative to short service benefit by virtue of a provision that conforms with the requirements of the Occupational Pension Schemes (Preservation of Benefit) Regulations 1991, SI 1991/167, reg 9(4) (as amended) (bought out benefits without consent: see PARA 934 post); (3) in a case where an occupational pension scheme is being wound up and the Pensions Act 1995 ss 73 and 74 (see PARAS 845, 847 ante) and regulations made under those sections do not apply, the earner is able to assign or surrender the policy of insurance or annuity contract and the conditions specified in the Occupational Pension Schemes (Discharge of Liability) Regulations 1997, SI 1997/784, reg 3 (see note 9 supra) are satisfied; (4) the benefit concerned includes a guaranteed minimum pension that is payable to the earner's widow or widower and the trustees give the widow or widower at least 30 days' written notice ('the notice') of their intention to take out the insurance policy or enter into the annuity contract, and send the notice to the widow or widower at her or his last known address or deliver the notice to the widow or widower personally: see reg 6(1)-(5).

A transaction to which the Pension Schemes Act 1993 s 19 applies discharges the trustees or managers of an occupational pension scheme from their liability to provide for or in respect of any person short service benefit or any alternative to short service benefit if the statutory conditions are satisfied: see s 81; and PARA 938 post. 'Short service benefit' is the benefit to which a member is entitled under s 71(1): see s 71(2); and PARA 932 post. As to the power to prescribe for these purposes the persons who are to be regarded as members or prospective members of an occupational pension scheme and as to the times at which and the circumstances in which a person is to be treated as becoming, or as ceasing to be, a member or prospective member see PARA 557 note 9 ante. ### 896. Securing of benefits.

Subject to the following provisions, the scheme must contain a rule by which any liabilities of the scheme in respect of:

- 2443 (1) guaranteed minimum pensions<sup>1</sup> and accrued rights<sup>2</sup> to guaranteed minimum pensions;
- 2444 (2) any such benefits as are excluded<sup>3</sup> from earners<sup>4</sup> guaranteed minimum pensions;
- 2445 (3) pensions and other benefits (whether or not within head (1) or head (2) above) in respect of which entitlement to payment has already arisen; and
- 2446 (4) state scheme premiums (now replaced by contributions equivalent premiums), are accorded priority on a winding up which is begun before 6 April 1997 over other liabilities under the scheme in respect of benefits attributable to any period of service after the rule has taken effect<sup>5</sup>.

The rule may also accord priority, on a winding up occurring before that date and after an earner has attained normal pension age<sup>6</sup>, to liabilities of the scheme in respect of pensions and other benefits to which:

- 2447 (a) he will be entitled on ceasing to be in employment<sup>7</sup>; or
- 2448 (b) the earner's widow or widower or any dependant of the earner's will be entitled on the earner's death<sup>8</sup>.

The above provisions do not apply to public service pension schemes<sup>9</sup> or to schemes falling within any category or description prescribed as being exempt from their requirements<sup>10</sup>; nor do they apply where the winding up is begun on or after 6 April 1997<sup>11</sup>. If the scheme provides for the payment out of any sum representing the surrender value of a policy of insurance taken out for the purposes of the scheme, it must make provision so that there may be no payment out in relation to guaranteed minimum pensions except in such circumstances as may be prescribed<sup>12</sup>.

897A. Conversion of guaranteed minimum pensions.

The Pension Schemes Act 1993 ss 24A-24H (added by the Pensions Act 2007 s 14(3)) make provision with respect to the conversion of guaranteed minimum pensions into other benefits.

The Pension Schemes Act 1993 s 24A sets out definitions of terms used in ss 24B-24H. The conditions which a converting scheme must satisfy are specified, namely actuarial equivalence of the value of members' conversion benefits with those they possessed pre-conversion; no reduction of pensions in payment; conversion benefits not to include money purchase benefits; survivors' benefits to be provided; and specified procedural requirements to be met: see s 24B. Regulations may make provision for determining actuarial equivalence: see s 24C. As to regulations made under ss 24B, 24C see Occupational Pension Schemes (Contracting-out) Regulations 1996, SI 1996/1172, regs 69A, 69B (added by SI 2009/846). Detailed provision is made with respect to survivors' benefits: see s 24D. Procedural requirements are set out: see s 24E. Regulations may prescribe (1) restrictions on the transfer of the earner's accrued rights under a guaranteed minimum pension-converted scheme; (2) conditions which must be complied with on the transfer of the earner's accrued rights under a guaranteed minimum pension-converted scheme: see s 24F. Powers are provided for trustees to amend schemes to facilitate guaranteed minimum pension conversion: see s 24G. Powers are provided for the Pensions Regulator in respect of enforcing the conditions for guaranteed minimum pension conversion: see s 24H.

The following provisions come into force on the abolition date: see Pensions Act 2007 s 15 and PARA 880. For savings see 2007 Act Sch 4 Pt 3.

For so long as there are persons who have protected rights under a scheme to which these provisions apply, or who are entitled to any benefit giving effect to such rights under it, the scheme must satisfy specified requirements<sup>6</sup>.

Halsbury's Laws of England/SOCIAL SECURITY AND PENSIONS (VOLUME 44(2) (REISSUE))/20. CONTRACTING OUT/(2) REQUIREMENTS FOR CERTIFICATION/(iv) Occupational and Personal Money Purchase Schemes/899. Ways of giving effect to protected rights.

899. Ways of giving effect to protected rights.

Provision is made for the rules of the scheme to identify and calculate the value of protected rights<sup>1</sup> in certain circumstances<sup>2</sup>.

The rules of the scheme must provide for effect to be given to the protected rights of a member<sup>3</sup>:

- 2451 (1) by the purchase of an annuity<sup>4</sup>; and
- 2452 (2) by the making of certain payments<sup>5</sup>; and
- 2453 (3) in any other case, in such of the ways permitted by the following provisions as the rules may specify, and they must not provide for any part of a member's protected rights to be discharged otherwise than in accordance with those provisions<sup>6</sup>.

In the case of a personal pension scheme<sup>7</sup>, where the member so elects, effect must be given to his protected rights:

- 2454 (a) during the interim period<sup>8</sup>, by the making of payments under an interim arrangement which complies with the statutory requirements for such arrangements<sup>9</sup> and satisfies such conditions as may be prescribed<sup>10</sup>; and
- 2455 (b) at the end of the interim period, in such of the ways permitted by the following provisions as the rules of the scheme may specify<sup>11</sup>.

Effect may be given to protected rights by the provision by the scheme of a pension which complies with the pension requirements<sup>12</sup> and satisfies such conditions as may be prescribed, or, in such circumstances and subject to such conditions as may be prescribed, by the making of a transfer payment:

- 2456 (i) in the case of an occupational pension scheme<sup>13</sup>, to another occupational pension scheme or to a personal pension scheme; and
- 2457 (ii) in the case of a personal pension scheme, to another personal pension scheme or to an occupational pension scheme, where the scheme to which the payment is made satisfies such requirements as may be prescribed<sup>14</sup>.

If the rules of the scheme do not provide for a pension or if the member or, where applicable<sup>15</sup>, the member's widow or widower so elects, then, except to the extent that effect is given to protected rights in accordance with head (a) above or by the provision of a lump sum<sup>16</sup>, effect must be given to them by the purchase by the scheme of an annuity which complies with the annuity requirements<sup>17</sup> and satisfies such conditions as may be prescribed<sup>18</sup>. Effect may be given to protected rights by the provision of a lump sum if the lump sum is payable on a date which is:

- 2458 (A) in the case of an occupational pension scheme, a date not earlier than that on which the member attains the age<sup>19</sup> of 60 nor later than that on which he attains the age of 65 or such later date as has been agreed by him; or
- 2459 (B) in the case of a personal pension scheme, where the member has elected to receive payments under an interim arrangement, the date by reference to which the member elects to terminate that arrangement, and otherwise such date as has been agreed by him and is not earlier than his sixtieth birthday nor later than his seventy-fifth birthday<sup>20</sup>, and if the annual rate of such a pension or such an annuity giving effect to the protected rights and commencing on the date on which the lump sum is payable would not exceed the prescribed amount<sup>21</sup>, the circumstances are such as may be prescribed<sup>22</sup> and the amount of the lump sum is calculated in the prescribed manner by reference to the amount of the pension or annuity<sup>23</sup>.

If the member has died without effect being given to protected rights under the above provisions, effect may be given to them in such manner as may be prescribed<sup>24</sup>. No transaction is to be taken to give effect to protected rights unless it falls within these provisions<sup>25</sup>.

Without prejudice to any other requirements, a personal pension scheme can be an appropriate scheme and an occupational pension scheme can be a money purchase contracted-out scheme only if the provision it makes for giving effect to the protected rights of a member who has died is such that any widow, widower or other person who is entitled to any payment giving effect to those rights is able to enforce that entitlement<sup>26</sup>. A scheme which offers pensions with a view to giving effect<sup>27</sup> to protected rights by means of those pensions can be (in the case of a personal pension scheme) an appropriate scheme or (in the case of an occupational pension scheme) a money purchase contracted-out scheme only if it offers those pensions without having regard to the sex or, except to the extent allowed<sup>28</sup>, to the marital status of the persons to whom it offers them, both in making those offers and in determining the rates at which those pensions are paid<sup>29</sup>.

A money purchase contracted-out scheme or an appropriate personal pension scheme (or a scheme which was formerly a money purchase contracted-out scheme or an appropriate personal pension scheme) may give effect to the protected rights of a member by the making of a transfer payment to an appropriate personal pension scheme or to an occupational pension scheme in accordance with the prescribed provisions<sup>30</sup>.

Within five weeks after effect has been given to the protected rights<sup>1</sup> of a member of a personal pension scheme<sup>2</sup>, the trustees or managers of that scheme must notify the Secretary of State<sup>3</sup> in writing that effect has been given to those rights, giving such particulars as the Secretary of State may require to enable him:

- 2460 (1) to identify the means by which effect has been given to them;
- 2461 (2) where effect has been given to them by means of a pension, annuity or by the making of payments under an interim arrangement or lump sum, to identify the recipient of it;
- 2462 (3) where effect has been given to them by means of an annuity, to identify the insurance company responsible for paying the annuity;
- 2463 (4) where effect has been given to them by means of a transfer payment<sup>4</sup>, to identify the personal or occupational pension scheme to which the transfer payment was made; and
- 2464 (5) where effect has been given to them by means of a payment under an interim arrangement, to identify the appropriate personal pension scheme<sup>5</sup> in respect of the interim arrangement and the starting date<sup>6</sup>.

The trustees or managers of a personal pension scheme which is or has been an appropriate scheme must, if required to do so by the Secretary of State, in such manner and at such times as he may require, furnish to him such information relating to members of the scheme as he may require in order to know for what, if any, protected rights the scheme is responsible, and from what minimum contributions<sup>7</sup>, minimum payments<sup>8</sup> or transfer payments they derive<sup>9</sup>.

An interim arrangement<sup>1</sup> must provide for interim payments to be made to the member<sup>2</sup>, and to the member's widow or widower<sup>3</sup>, throughout the interim period<sup>4</sup>, at intervals not exceeding 12 months<sup>5</sup>. This provision applies where the member dies during the interim period and is survived by a widow or widower who at the date of the member's death has not yet attained the age<sup>6</sup> of 75 years<sup>7</sup>.

The aggregate amount of payments made to a person under an interim arrangement in each successive period of 12 months must not be:

902. The pension and annuity requirements.

For the purposes of giving effect to protected rights<sup>1</sup>, a pension complies with the pension requirements if:

- 2469 (1) in the case of an occupational pension scheme<sup>2</sup> it commences on a date:
  - 214 285. (a) not earlier than the member's<sup>3</sup> sixtieth birthday; and
  - 286. (b) not later than his sixty-fifth birthday,
  - 215 2470 or on such later date as has been agreed by him, and continues until the date of his death<sup>4</sup>; or
  - 2471 (2) in the case of a personal pension scheme<sup>5</sup>:
    - 216 287. (a) where the member has elected<sup>6</sup> to receive payments under an interim arrangement, it commences on the termination date<sup>7</sup>, and continues until the date of the member's death or until the death of the member's widow or widower<sup>8</sup>; or
    - 288. (b) otherwise, it commences on such a date as has been agreed by the member and is not earlier than his sixtieth birthday nor later than his seventy-fifth birthday, and continues until the date of his death<sup>9</sup>;
    - 217 2472 (3) in a case where the member dies while the pension is payable to him and is survived by a widow or widower:
      - 218 289. (a) it is payable to the widow or widower in prescribed<sup>10</sup> circumstances and for the prescribed period at an annual rate which at any given time is one-half<sup>11</sup> of the rate at which it would have been payable to the member if the member had been living at that time; or
      - 290. (b) where that annual rate would not exceed a prescribed amount and the circumstances are such as may be prescribed, a lump sum calculated in the prescribed manner is provided in lieu of it<sup>12</sup>.
  - 219

For the purposes of giving effect to protected rights<sup>13</sup>, an annuity complies with the annuity requirements if:

- 2473 (i) it satisfies the above requirements (taking the references there to pensions as references to annuities)<sup>14</sup>; and
- 2474 (ii) it is provided by an insurance company<sup>15</sup> which:
  - 220 291. (A) satisfies prescribed conditions<sup>16</sup>;
  - 292. (B) complies with such conditions as may be prescribed as to the calculation of annuities provided by it and as to the description of persons by or for whom they may be purchased; and
  - 293. (C) has been chosen by the member or, in certain circumstances<sup>17</sup>, the member's widow or widower<sup>18</sup>.
- 221

A member or a member's widow or widower is only to be taken to have chosen an insurance company if he gives notice of his choice to the trustees or managers of the scheme within the prescribed period and in such manner and form as may be prescribed<sup>19</sup>, and with any such supporting evidence as may be prescribed; and, if he does not do so, the trustees or managers may themselves choose the insurance company instead<sup>20</sup>.

Halsbury's Laws of England/SOCIAL SECURITY AND PENSIONS (VOLUME 44(2) (REISSUE))/20. CONTRACTING OUT/(3) CANCELLATION, VARIATION, SURRENDER AND REFUSAL OF CERTIFICATES/905. In general.

(3) CANCELLATION, VARIATION, SURRENDER AND REFUSAL OF CERTIFICATES

905. In general.

Regulations<sup>1</sup> must provide for the cancellation, variation or surrender of any contracting-out certificate<sup>2</sup> or appropriate scheme certificate<sup>3</sup>, or the issue of an amended certificate:

- 2482 (1) in the case of a contracting-out certificate:
  - 222
  - 294. (a) on any change of circumstances affecting the treatment of an employment<sup>4</sup> as contracted-out employment<sup>5</sup>; or
  - 295. (b) where the scheme is a salary-related contracted-out scheme<sup>6</sup> and the certificate was issued on or after the principal appointed day<sup>7</sup>, if any employer<sup>8</sup> of persons in the description or category of employment to which the scheme in question relates, or the actuary of the scheme, fails to provide the Secretary of State<sup>9</sup> at prescribed intervals<sup>10</sup> with such documents as may be prescribed for the purpose of verifying that certain conditions<sup>11</sup> are satisfied<sup>12</sup>;
  - 223
- 2483 (2) in the case of an appropriate scheme certificate, on any relevant change of circumstances<sup>13</sup>.

Regulations may also enable the Secretary of State to cancel or vary a contracting-out certificate where he has reason to suppose that any employment to which it relates ought not to be treated as contracted-out employment in accordance with the certificate and the employer does not show that it ought to be so treated<sup>14</sup>.

Where:

- 2484 (i) by or by virtue of any provision of Part III of the Pension Schemes Act 1993<sup>15</sup>, the contracting out<sup>16</sup> of a scheme in relation to an employment depends on the satisfaction of a particular condition; or
- 2485 (ii) by or by virtue of any provision regarding the requirements for certification<sup>17</sup>, a scheme's being an appropriate scheme depends on the satisfaction of a particular condition, the continued contracting out of the scheme or, as the case may be, the scheme's continuing to be an appropriate scheme is dependent on continued satisfaction of the condition; and if the condition ceases to be satisfied, that is a ground (without prejudice to any other) for the cancellation or variation of the contracting-out certificate or appropriate scheme certificate<sup>18</sup>.

A contracting-out certificate in respect of any employment may be withheld or cancelled by the Secretary of State if he considers that there are circumstances which make it inexpedient that the employment should be or, as the case may be, continue to be, contracted-out employment by reference to the scheme, notwithstanding that the relevant scheme is one that he would otherwise treat as proper to be contracted-out in relation to all earners<sup>19</sup> in that employment<sup>20</sup>. An appropriate scheme certificate may be withheld or cancelled by the Secretary of State if he considers that there are circumstances which make it inexpedient that the scheme should be or continue to be an appropriate scheme, notwithstanding that he would otherwise issue such a certificate or not cancel such a certificate<sup>21</sup>.

Without prejudice to the above provisions, failure of a scheme to comply with any prescribed requirements<sup>22</sup> is a ground on which the Secretary of State may, in respect of any employment to which the scheme relates, cancel a contracting-out certificate<sup>23</sup>. Except in prescribed circumstances, no cancellation, variation or surrender of a contracting-out certificate or appropriate scheme certificate has effect from a date earlier than that on which the cancellation, variation or surrender is made<sup>24</sup>.

13 Pension Schemes Act 1993 s 34(1)(b). An appropriate scheme certificate may be cancelled, varied or surrendered where there is any change in respect of the information which was provided by virtue of the Personal Pension Schemes (Appropriate Schemes) Regulations 1997, SI 1997/470, regs 4, 6 (see PARA 886 ante): reg 7. Every application for the variation of, or to surrender, an appropriate scheme certificate: (1) must be made in writing to the Secretary of State by the administrators of the scheme; (2) must be made only after notices of intention to make that application have been given by the administrators in accordance with reg 8(2) except where (in the case of an application for the variation of an appropriate scheme certificate) the Secretary of State dispenses with this requirement; and (3) must include a statement that all notices so required to be given in relation to that application have been duly given: reg 8(1). Notice of intention to make such an application must be given in writing, by sending it to the last known address of: (a) any member of the scheme who has protected rights under it; and (b) any earner who, jointly with the trustees or managers of the scheme, has given in relation to the scheme a notice under the Pension Schemes Act 1993 s 44(1) (as amended) (see PARA 914 post) which has not been cancelled: Personal Pension Schemes (Appropriate Schemes) Regulations 1997, SI 1997/470, reg 8(2). Notices of intention so given must specify: (i) the name of the scheme and the address where it is administered; (ii) the date from which it is desired that the variation or surrender is to have effect; and (iii) where the application is to surrender an appropriate scheme certificate, any arrangements made or proposed for the preservation or transfer of protected rights under the scheme: reg 8(3). Every person who makes an application under this regulation must supply such other documents and information as the Secretary of State may reasonably require: reg 8(4). For the meaning of 'protected rights' see PARA 883 ante.

14 Pension Schemes Act 1993 s 34(2) (amended by the Pensions Act 1995 Sch 5 paras 18, 21); and see the Occupational Pension Schemes (Contracting-out) Regulations 1996, SI 1996/1172, reg 47(1). The Secretary of State must cancel or vary the certificate with effect, subject as follows, from such date as he may specify and he must notify the employer in writing of his determination, the reasons for it and of his powers to review that determination: reg 47(1). The date from which the cancellation or variation is to have effect may not be earlier than the date of the cancellation or variation, as the case may be, except (1) in a case of a salary-related contracted-out scheme (as to which see PARAS 643 note 8, 897 ante) where the Secretary of State considers that the resources of the scheme have not been maintained at a sufficient level for maintaining all claims in respect of guaranteed minimum pensions and 'section 9(2B) rights' so far as falling to be met out of those resources, the date may be the latest date on which in the opinion of the Secretary of State those resources were maintained at such a sufficient level; or (2) in a case of a salary-related contracted-out scheme where the earners in employments to which the contracting-out certificate applies have ceased to qualify for guaranteed minimum pensions or benefits arising from 'section 9(2B) rights' under the scheme, the date may be a date not earlier than the date on which, in the opinion of the Secretary of State, that cessation occurred; or (3) in a case where the Secretary of State discovers that the scheme did not satisfy the requirements for being a contracted-out scheme at the date the contracting-out certificate was issued, the date may be the date from which the certificate had effect or any later date; or (4) in a case where the Secretary of State considers that the scheme has ceased to satisfy the requirements for being a contracted-out scheme, the date may be any date not earlier than when, in the Secretary of State's opinion, the scheme ceased to satisfy those requirements: reg 47(2). In any case where the Secretary of State has cancelled or varied a certificate under these provisions, he may require the employer to give notice of the cancellation or variation, in the manner specified in reg 3(3) (notices of election: see PARA 885 ante), to (a) the earners in relation to whom the employment was contracted-out by virtue of the certificate immediately before its cancellation or variation; (b) the trustees (if any) and administrator of the scheme by reference to which the employment was contracted-out immediately before the cancellation or variation of the certificate; and (c) the persons specified in reg 3(1)(c) and reg 3(1)(d), and he may require any such notice to include such particulars (including particulars of the consequences of the cancellation or variation) as he considers appropriate: reg 47(3). ### 906. Elections for the variation or surrender of contracting-out certificates.

An election with a view to the variation or surrender of a contracting-out certificate<sup>1</sup> may only be made after notices of intention to make such an election have been given by the employer<sup>2</sup> in accordance with the prescribed requirements and within the specified period<sup>3</sup> after the expiry of those notices<sup>4</sup>. The election must be made in writing to the Secretary of State<sup>5</sup>. Where, however, a proposed variation is a change in the name of the employer, in the address of the employer or in the name of the scheme, an election with a view to the variation of a certificate must be made in writing to the Secretary of State within three months of the event to which the election relates or such longer period as the Secretary of State may in his discretion allow and may be made without compliance with the other prescribed requirements<sup>6</sup>. In addition, in such cases as the Secretary of State may approve, where a proposed variation would not alter:

- 2486 (1) the categories or descriptions of the earners<sup>7</sup> affected by the certificate; or
- 2487 (2) in the case of a money purchase contracted-out scheme<sup>8</sup> the protected rights<sup>9</sup> under, or in the case of any other scheme the benefits provided by, the scheme; or
- 2488 (3) the contributions (if any) payable by those earners to the scheme, an election with a view to the variation of a certificate must be made in writing to the Secretary of State within three months of the event to which the election relates or such longer period as the Secretary of State may in his discretion allow and may be made without compliance with the other prescribed requirements<sup>10</sup>.

Notices of intention to make an election with a view to the variation or surrender of a contracting-out certificate must be given within three months of the event to which the election relates, or such longer period as the Secretary of State may in his discretion allow, to the specified persons<sup>11</sup> and in the prescribed manner<sup>12</sup>. An employer who has given such a notice must undertake consultations, if he has not already done so, about the matters covered by the notice with all independent trade unions<sup>13</sup> recognised in relation to the earners concerned and any question whether an employer has complied with this requirement may be referred to an industrial tribunal<sup>14</sup>.

An employer may amend his election at any time before the variation or surrender of the certificate if the amendment does not alter the categories or descriptions of the earners affected by the certificate<sup>15</sup>.

Special provisions apply with regard to elections for the issue, variation or surrender of certificates where the employment remains contracted-out<sup>16</sup>.

1 For the meaning of 'contracting-out certificate' see PARA 880 ante.

2 For the meaning of 'employer' for these purposes see PARA 885 note 3 ante.

3 The specified period is within three months of the date of expiry of the notices, or such longer period as the Secretary of State may in his discretion allow, so however that nothing in this provision prevents an election from being made after the giving of further notices which comply with these requirements: Occupational Pension Schemes (Contracting-out) Regulations 1996, SI 1996/1172, reg 9(7). Halsbury's Laws of England/SOCIAL SECURITY AND PENSIONS (VOLUME 44(2) (REISSUE))/20. CONTRACTING OUT/(4) ALTERATION OF SCHEME RULES AFTER CERTIFICATION/907. Alteration of rules of contracted-out schemes.

(4) ALTERATION OF SCHEME RULES AFTER CERTIFICATION

907. Alteration of rules of contracted-out schemes.

Except in prescribed<sup>1</sup> circumstances, the rules of a contracted-out scheme<sup>2</sup> cannot be altered unless the alteration is of a prescribed description<sup>3</sup>. The prescribed alterations are any alterations which are not prohibited<sup>4</sup> by the relevant regulations<sup>5</sup>.

1 For the meaning of 'prescribed' see PARA 555 note 1 ante.

2 For the meaning of 'contracted-out scheme' see PARA 880 ante. References in the Pension Schemes Act 1993 s 37 (substituted by the Pensions Act 1995 s 151, Sch 5 paras 18, 39) to a contracted-out scheme include a scheme which has ceased to be contracted-out so long as any person is entitled to receive, or has accrued rights to, any benefits under the scheme attributable to a period when the scheme was contracted-out: Pension Schemes Act 1993 s 37(3) (as so substituted). The reference in s 37(3) (as so substituted) to a person entitled to receive benefits under a scheme includes a person so entitled by virtue of being the widower of an earner only in such cases as may be prescribed: s 37(4) (as so substituted). For the meaning of 'accrued rights' see PARA 895 note 9 ante. For the meaning of 'earner' and 'earnings' see PARAS 32-33 ante (definitions applied by s 181(1)).

3 Ibid s 37(1) (as substituted: see note 2 supra). Regulations made by virtue of s 37(1) (as so substituted) may operate so as to validate with retrospective effect any alteration of the rules which would otherwise be void under s 37 (as so substituted): s 37(2) (as so substituted). For the meaning of 'regulations' see PARA 557 note 2 ante.

4 The prohibited alterations are set out in the Occupational Pension Schemes (Contracting-out) Regulations 1996, SI 1996/1172, reg 8(2), (2A), (2B) (reg 8(2) substituted, and reg 8(2A), (2B) added, by SI 1997/786): Occupational Pension Schemes (Contracting-out) Regulations 1996, SI 1996/1172, reg 8(1) (substituted by SI 1997/786). The rules of a salary-related contracted-out scheme (as to which see PARAS 643 note 8, 897 ante) cannot be altered in relation to any 'section 9(2B) rights' under the scheme unless: (1) the trustees of the scheme have informed the actuary in writing of the proposed alteration; (2) the actuary has considered the proposed alteration and has confirmed to the trustees in writing that he is satisfied that the scheme would continue to satisfy the statutory standard in accordance with the Pension Schemes Act 1993 s 12A (as added) (see PARA 887 ante) if the alteration were made; and (3) the alteration does not otherwise prevent the scheme from satisfying the conditions of s 9(2B) (as added) (see PARA 882 ante): Occupational Pension Schemes (Contracting-out) Regulations 1996, SI 1996/1172, reg 8(2) (as so substituted). The rules of a scheme contracted-out under the Pension Schemes Act 1993 s 9(3) (as amended) (a money purchase contracted-out scheme: see PARA 882 ante) cannot be altered in relation to protected rights if the alteration would (a) affect any of the matters dealt with in Pt III (ss 7-68) (as amended) or any regulations made under Pt III (as amended) which relate to protected rights in a manner which would or might adversely affect any entitlement or accrued rights of any member of the scheme acquired before the alteration takes effect; or (b) otherwise prevent the scheme from satisfying the conditions of s 9 (as amended): Occupational Pension Schemes (Contracting-out) Regulations 1996, SI 1996/1172, reg 8(2A) (as so added). The rules of a contracted-out scheme cannot be altered in relation to any guaranteed minimum pensions under the scheme if the alteration would: (i) affect any of the matters dealt with in the Pension Schemes Act 1993 Pt III (as amended) or any regulations made under Pt III (as amended) which relate to guaranteed minimum pensions in a manner which would or might adversely affect any entitlement or accrued rights of any member of the scheme acquired before the alteration takes effect; (ii) affect any of the matters dealt with in ss 87-92 (protection of increases in guaranteed minimum pensions: see PARAS 947-949 post) and ss 109, 110 (as amended) (annual increases of guaranteed minimum pensions: see PARA 926 post) or in any regulations made under those provisions which relate to guaranteed minimum pensions; or (iii) otherwise prevent the scheme from satisfying, in the case of a salary-related contracted-out scheme, s 9(2) (as substituted) or, in the case of a scheme contracted-out under s 9(3) (as amended), s 9 (as amended): Occupational Pension Schemes (Contracting-out) Regulations 1996, SI 1996/1172, reg 8(2B) (as so added). For the meaning of 'section 9(2B) rights' see PARA 885 note 7 ante. For the meaning of 'guaranteed minimum pension' see PARA 878 ante; and for the meaning of 'principal appointed day' see PARA 880 note 13 ante.

5 Occupational Pension Schemes (Contracting-out) Regulations 1996, SI 1996/1172, reg 8(1) (as substituted: see note 4 supra). Where the provisions of the Pension Schemes Act 1993 s 37 (as substituted) continue to apply after a scheme has ceased to be contracted-out, the Occupational Pension Schemes (Contracting-out) Regulations 1996, SI 1996/1172, reg 8 (as amended) continues to apply so long as the circumstances provided for in the Pension Schemes Act 1993 s 37(3), (4) (as substituted) continue to apply: Occupational Pension Schemes (Contracting-out) Regulations 1996, SI 1996/1172, reg 8(3).

NOTE 2--Pension Schemes Act 1993 s 37(4) amended so as to extend provisions to surviving civil partners: SI 2005/2050.

NOTE 3--Section 37(2), as modified by Occupational Pension Schemes (Modification of the Pension Schemes Act 1993) Regulations 1998, SI 1998/1466, enables regulations to be made to provide for the validation with retrospective effect of alterations made prior to 6 April 1997 to the rules of contracted-out occupational pension schemes. See Occupational Pension Schemes (Validation of Rule Alterations) Regulations 1998, SI 1998/1846, which provide for such retrospective validation.

908. Alteration of rules of appropriate schemes.

Where an appropriate scheme certificate<sup>1</sup> has been issued, no alteration of the rules of the relevant scheme may be made so as:

- 2489 (1) to affect any of the matters regarding the requirements for certification<sup>2</sup>; or
- 2490 (2) to cause the scheme to take a different permitted form<sup>3</sup> from that previously taken<sup>4</sup>, and, subject to the following exception, any such alteration is void<sup>5</sup>. Regulations<sup>6</sup> may, however, operate so as to validate with retrospective effect any alteration of the rules which would otherwise be void under this provision<sup>7</sup>.

Reduced rates of Class 1 contributions for members of salary-related contracted-out schemes.

(ii) Reduced Rates for Members of Occupational Pension Schemes

911. Reduced rates of Class 1 contributions for members of salary-related contracted-out schemes.

Where (1) the earnings paid to or for the benefit of an earner<sup>1</sup> in any tax week<sup>2</sup> are in respect of an employment<sup>3</sup> which is contracted-out employment<sup>4</sup> at the time of the payment; and (2) the earner's service in the employment is service which qualifies him for a pension provided by a salary-related contracted-out scheme<sup>5</sup>, the amount of a Class 1 contribution<sup>6</sup> in respect of so much of the earnings paid in that week as exceeds the current lower earnings limit<sup>7</sup> but not the current upper earnings limit<sup>8</sup> for that week (or the prescribed equivalents<sup>9</sup> if he is paid otherwise than weekly) must be reduced by the following amount<sup>10</sup>:

2496 (a) in the case of a primary Class 1 contribution<sup>11</sup>, an amount equal to 1.6 per cent of that part of those earnings; and 2497 (b) in the case of a secondary Class 1 contribution<sup>12</sup>, an amount equal to three per cent of that part of those earnings<sup>13</sup>.

Where an earner has ceased to be employed<sup>14</sup> in an employment and earnings are paid to him or for his benefit within the period of six weeks, or such other period as may be prescribed<sup>15</sup>, from the day on which he so ceased, that employment must be treated for the above purposes as contracted-out employment at the time when the earnings are paid if it was contracted-out employment in relation to the earner when he was last employed in it<sup>16</sup>.

The Secretary of State may from time to time, and must when required to do so<sup>17</sup>, lay before each House of Parliament:

2498 (i) a report<sup>18</sup> by the Government Actuary or the Deputy Government Actuary on the specified percentages for the time being applying under heads (1) and (2) above and any changes since the preparation of the last such report in the factors in his opinion affecting the cost of providing benefits of an actuarial value equivalent to that of the benefits which are foregone<sup>19</sup> by or in respect of members of salary-related contracted-out schemes<sup>20</sup>; and

The Secretary of State must lay such reports at intervals of not more than five years<sup>22</sup>. If in a report under head (ii) above the Secretary of State states that he considers that there should be an alteration in either or both of the specified percentages, he must prepare and lay before each House of Parliament with the report the draft of an order making that alteration; and if the draft is approved by resolution of each House the Secretary of State must make the order in the form of the draft<sup>23</sup>. Such an order has effect from the beginning of such tax year<sup>24</sup> as may be specified in the order, but not a tax year earlier than the second after that in which the order is made<sup>25</sup>. No alteration of those percentages may introduce any distinction on grounds of age or sex<sup>26</sup>.

911 Reduced rates of Class 1 contributions for members of salary-related contracted-out schemes

TEXT AND NOTES--See the Occupational Pension Schemes (Contracting-out) (Payment and Recovery of Remaining Balances) Regulations 2000, SI 2000/750.

TEXT AND NOTES 1-13--Replaced. Pension Schemes Act 1993 s 41(1) substituted by the Social Security Act 1998 Sch 7 para 127; and amended by the Welfare Reform and Pensions Act 1999 Sch 9 para 6(2); the Pensions Act 2007 Sch 1 para 37(a); and the National Insurance Contributions Act 2008 Sch 1 para 10(2). 1993 Act s 41(1A) substituted by the 1999 Act Sch 9 para 6(3). 1993 Act s 41(1B), (1C) added by the 1998 Act Sch 7 para 127; and substituted by the 1999 Act Sch 9 para 6(3); 1993 Act s 41(1B) amended by SI 2001/1356 and SI 2006/1009. 1993 Act s 41(1D), (1E) added by the 1999 Act Sch 9 para 6(3).

The 1993 Act s 41(1A)-(1E) applies where (1) the earnings paid to or for the benefit of an earner in any tax week are in respect of an employment which is contracted-out employment at the time of the payment; and (2) the earner's service in the employment is service which qualifies him for a pension provided by a salary related contracted-out scheme: s 41(1) (as amended). The amount of any primary Class 1 contribution attributable to the Social Security Contributions and Benefits Act 1992 s 8(1)(a) (see PARA 36) in respect of the earnings is reduced by an amount equal to 1·6 per cent of the relevant part of the earnings ('Amount R1'): s 41(1A) (as substituted; amended by the National Insurance Contributions Act 2002 Sch 1 para 36, with effect in relation to the tax year 2003-04 and subsequent tax years (s 8(2)). The amount of any secondary Class 1 contribution in respect of the earnings is reduced by an amount equal to 3·7 per cent of the relevant part of the earnings ('Amount R2'): 1993 Act s 41(1B) (as amended). In s 41(1A), (1B), 'the relevant part', in relation to those earnings, means so much of those earnings as exceeds the current lower earnings limit but not the upper accrual point for that week (or the prescribed equivalents if the earner is paid otherwise than weekly): s 41(1), as further substituted and amended. For the meaning of 'the applicable limit' and 'prescribed' for these purposes see 1993 Act s 41(1ZA) (added by Pensions Act 2007 Sch 1 para 37(b); and repealed in relation to the tax year 2009-2010 and subsequent tax years by the National Insurance Contributions Act 2008 Sch 1 para 10(3), (4)). The aggregate of Amounts R1 and R2 must be set off (a) first against the aggregate amount which the secondary contributor is liable to pay in respect of the contributions mentioned in the 1993 Act s 41 (1A), (1B); and (b) then, as to any balance, against any amount which the secondary contributor is liable to pay in respect of any primary or secondary Class 1 contribution in respect of earnings (i) paid to or for the benefit of any other employed earner, whether in contracted-out employment or not; and (ii) in relation to which the secondary contributor is such a contributor; and, for these purposes, any reference to a liability to pay an amount in respect of a primary Class 1 contribution is a reference to such a liability under the Social Security Contributions and Benefits Act 1992 Sch 1 para 3: 1993 Act s 41(1C) (as added and substituted). If any balance remains, and the secondary contributor makes an application for the purpose to the Inland Revenue, the Inland Revenue must, in such manner and at such time, or within such period, as may be prescribed, pay to the secondary contributor an amount equal to the remaining balance; but regulations may make provision for the adjustment of an amount that would otherwise be payable under this provision so as to avoid the payment of trivial or fractional amounts: s 41(1D) (as added). For provision under s 41(1D), (1E) see the Occupational Pension Schemes (Contracting Out) (Payment and Recovery of Remaining Balances) Regulations 2000, SI 2000/750. If the Inland Revenue pays any amount under the 1993 Act s 41(1D) which it is not required to pay, it may recover that amount from the secondary contributor in such manner and at such time, or within such period, as may be prescribed: s 41(1E) (as added).

TEXT AND NOTES 17-23--Now refers to the specified percentages for the time being applying under the 1993 Act s 41(1A), (1B) (see TEXT AND NOTES 1-13): s 42(1)(a), (3) (amended by the Child Support, Pensions and Social Security Act 2000 Sch 5 para 4).

TEXT AND NOTE 19--Now refers to benefits (or parts of benefits) which, in accordance with the 1993 Act s 48A and the Social Security Contributions and Benefits Act 1992 Schs 4A and 4B (as added: see PARA 569) are foregone: 1993 Act s 42(1)(a) (amended by the 2000 Act s 34; and the Pensions Act 2007 Sch 2 para 12).

Halsbury's Laws of England/SOCIAL SECURITY AND PENSIONS (VOLUME 44(2) (REISSUE))/20. CONTRACTING OUT/(5) REDUCTION IN STATE SCHEME CONTRIBUTIONS AND SOCIAL SECURITY BENEFITS FOR MEMBERS OF CERTIFIED SCHEMES/(ii) Reduced Rates for Members of Occupational Pension Schemes/912. Reduced rates of contributions, and rebates, for members of money purchase contracted-out schemes.

912. Reduced rates of contributions, and rebates, for members of money purchase contracted-out schemes.

The following provisions apply where:

- 2500 (1) the earnings paid to or for the benefit of an earner<sup>1</sup> in any tax week<sup>2</sup> are in respect of an employment<sup>3</sup> which is contracted-out employment<sup>4</sup> at the time of the payment; and
- 2501 (2) the earner's service in the employment is service which qualifies him for a pension provided by a money purchase contracted-out scheme<sup>5</sup>.

The amount of a Class 1 contribution<sup>6</sup> in respect of so much of the earnings paid in that week<sup>7</sup> in respect of that employment as exceeds the current lower earnings limit<sup>8</sup> but not the current upper earnings limit<sup>9</sup> for that week (or the prescribed equivalents<sup>10</sup> if he is paid otherwise than weekly) must be reduced by an amount equal to the appropriate flat rate percentage<sup>11</sup> of that part of those earnings<sup>12</sup>.

The Secretary of State<sup>13</sup> must except in prescribed circumstances or in respect of prescribed periods<sup>14</sup> pay in respect of that earner and that tax week to the trustees or managers of the scheme or, in prescribed circumstances, to a prescribed person the amount by which the appropriate age-related percentage of that part of those earnings exceeds the appropriate flat-rate percentage of that part of those earnings<sup>15</sup>. Regulations<sup>16</sup> may make provision:

- 2502 (a) as to the manner in which and time at which or period within which such payments are to be made<sup>17</sup>;
- 2503 (b) for the adjustment of the amount which would otherwise be so payable so as to avoid the payment of trivial or fractional amounts<sup>18</sup>;
- 2504 (c) for earnings to be calculated or estimated in such manner and on such basis as may be prescribed for the purpose of determining whether any, and if so what, payments are to be made<sup>19</sup>.

If the Secretary of State pays such an amount which he is not required to pay or is not required to pay to the person to whom, or in respect of whom, he pays it, he may recover it from any person to whom, or in respect of whom, he paid it<sup>20</sup>. Where an earner has ceased to be employed<sup>21</sup> in an employment, and earnings are paid to him or for his benefit within the period of six weeks, or such other period as may be prescribed, from the day on which he so ceased, that employment must be treated for the above purposes as contracted-out employment at the time when the earnings are paid if it was contracted-out employment in relation to the earner when he was last employed in it<sup>22</sup>.

The Secretary of State must at intervals of not more than five years lay before each House of Parliament:

- 2505 (i) a report by the Government Actuary or the Deputy Government Actuary on the percentages which, in his opinion, are required to be specified in an order so as to reflect the cost of providing benefits of an actuarial value equivalent to that of

- the benefits which are foregone<sup>23</sup> by or in respect of members<sup>24</sup> of money purchase contracted-out schemes;
- 2506 (ii) a report by the Secretary of State stating what, in view of such a report, he considers those percentages should be; and
- 2507 (iii) a draft of such an order<sup>25</sup>.

If the draft of such an order is approved by resolution of each House of Parliament, the Secretary of State must make the order in the form of the draft<sup>26</sup>. Such an order has effect from the beginning of such tax year as may be specified in the order, not being a tax year earlier than the second after that in which the order is made<sup>27</sup>.

11 An order under the Pension Schemes Act 1993 s 42B(2) (as added: see note 5 supra) has effect in relation to a period of tax years (not exceeding five) and may: (1) specify different percentages for primary and secondary Class 1 contributions; and (2) for each of the tax years for which it has effect (a) specify a percentage in respect of all earners which is 'the appropriate flat-rate percentage' for the purposes of s 42A (as added: see note 5 supra); and (b) specify different percentages (not being less than the percentage specified by virtue of s 42B(2)(b)(i) (as so added)) in respect of earners by reference to their ages on the last day of the preceding year (the percentage for each group of earners being 'the appropriate age-related percentage' in respect of earners in that group for the purposes of s 42A (as so added)): s 42B(2) (as so added). Section 42B(2) (as so added) is without prejudice to the generality of s 182 (see PARA 977 post): s 42B(5) (as so added). As to primary and secondary Class 1 contributions see PARAS 36-37 ante. For the meaning of 'tax year' see PARA 863 note 1 ante.

12 Ibid s 42A(2) (as added: see note 5 supra).

13 As to the Secretary of State see PARA 1 ante.

14 For the prescribed periods and circumstances in which the age-related payments are not to be paid see the Occupational Pension Schemes (Contracting-out) Regulations 1996, SI 1996/1172, reg 37; and the Occupational Pension Schemes (Age-related Payments) Regulations 1997, SI 1997/946, regs 2-7. For the meaning of 'prescribed' see PARA 555 note 1 ante. If an earner is to move from one contracted-out scheme to another, or a prospective member is to be admitted to a contracted-out scheme, in circumstances under which an age-related payment might not become payable or be paid, the trustees or managers of the scheme concerned or from which the move is to be made must inform the earner or prospective member accordingly: see regs 8, 9. If any person fails without reasonable excuse to comply with any such information requirement the Occupational Pensions Regulatory Authority (as to which see PARA 598 ante) may require that person to pay within 28 days a penalty not exceeding £1,000 in the case of an individual or £10,000 in any other case: reg 10.

18 Pension Schemes Act 1993 s 42A(4)(b) (as added: see note 5 supra). Where the amount of the age-related payment payable in respect of an earner would otherwise not be a whole number of pence, it must be adjusted to the nearest whole number of pence, and any amount of half a penny or less must be disregarded: Occupational Pension Schemes (Contracting-out) Regulations 1996, SI 1996/1172, reg 38.

19 Pension Schemes Act 1993 s 42A(4)(c) (as added: see note 5 supra). Where the Secretary of State cannot readily ascertain the amount of earnings in any tax week or is satisfied that records of earnings in any tax week have not been maintained or retained or are otherwise unobtainable, he may compute, in such manner as he thinks fit, an amount which must be regarded as the amount of earnings, or take their amount to be such as he may specify in the particular case: Occupational Pension Schemes (Contracting-out) Regulations 1996, SI 1996/1172, reg 34.

20 Pension Schemes Act 1993 s 42A(5) (as added: see note 5 supra).

21 For the meaning of 'employed' see PARA 560 note 5 ante.

22 Pension Schemes Act 1993 s 42A(6) (as added: see note 5 supra). Section 41(3) (see PARA 911 ante) applies for the purposes of s 42A (as so added) as it applies for the purposes of s 41 (as amended): s 42A(7) (as so added).

26 Pension Schemes Act 1993 s 42B(3) (as added: see note 5 supra).

27 Ibid s 42B(4) (as added: see note 5 supra). For an example of the exercise of the power to make orders under s 42B (as so added) see the Social Security (Reduced Rates of Class 1 Contributions and Rebates) (Money Purchase Contracted-out Schemes) Order 1996, SI 1996/1055, art 2, which fixes the appropriate flat-rate and age-related percentages for the tax years 1997-98 to 2001-02.

TEXT AND NOTES--See the Occupational Pension Schemes (Contracting-out) (Payment and Recovery of Remaining Balances) Regulations 2000, SI 2000/750.

TEXT AND NOTES 5, 11, 25-27--1993 Act s 42B repealed: Pensions Act 2007 Sch 4 para 18, Sch 7 Pt 6 (in force on the abolition date: see 2007 Act s 15 and PARA 880). For savings see 2007 Act Sch 4 Pt 3.

NOTE 5--Pension Schemes Act 1993 s 42A(1) amended: Welfare Reform and Pensions Act 1999 Sch 9 para 7(2); National Insurance Contributions Act 2008 Sch 1 para 11.

TEXT AND NOTES 6-12--Replaced. 1993 Act s 42A(2) substituted by the Welfare Reform and Pensions Act 1999 Sch 9 para 7(3). 1993 Act s 42A(2A), (2B) added by the Social Security Act 1998 Sch 7 para 128; and substituted by the Welfare Reform and Pensions Act 1999 Sch 9 para 7(3). 1993 Act s 42A(2C), (2D) added by the Welfare Reform and Pensions Act 1999 Sch 9 para 7(3). The amount of any primary Class 1 contribution attributable to the Social Security Contributions and Benefits Act 1992 s 8(1)(a) (see PARA 36) in respect of the earnings must be reduced by an amount equal to the appropriate flat-rate percentage of the relevant part of the earnings ('Amount R1'): 1993 Act s 42A(2) (as substituted; amended by the National Insurance Contributions Act 2002 Sch 1 para 37, with effect in relation to the tax year 2003-04 and subsequent tax years (s 8(2)). For the purposes of the 1993 Act s 42A(2) the appropriate flat-rate percentage for each of the tax years starting in 2007, 2008, 2009, 2010 and 2011 is 1.6 per cent: SI 2006/1009, art 3(2). The amount of any secondary Class 1 contribution in respect of the earnings must be reduced by an amount equal to the appropriate flat-rate percentage of the relevant part of the earnings ('Amount R2'): 1993 Act s 42A(2A) (as added and substituted). For the purposes of the 1993 Act s 42A(2A) the appropriate flat-rate percentage for each of the tax years starting in 2007, 2008, 2009, 2010 and 2011 is 1.4 per cent: SI 2006/1009, art 3(3). The aggregate of Amounts R1 and R2 must be set off (1) first against the aggregate amount which the secondary contributor is liable to pay in respect of the contributions mentioned in the 1993 Act s 42A(2), (2A); and (2) then, as to any balance, against any amount which the secondary contributor is liable to pay in respect of a primary or secondary Class 1 contribution in respect of earnings (a) paid to or for the benefit of any other employed earner, whether in contracted-out employment or not; and (b) in relation to which the secondary contributor is such a contributor; and, for these purposes, any reference to a liability to pay an amount in respect of a primary Class 1 contribution is a reference to such a liability under the Social Security Contributions and Benefits Act 1992 Sch 1 para 3 (see PARA 35): 1993 Act s 42A(2B) (as added and substituted). If any balance remains and the secondary contributor makes an application for the purpose to the Inland Revenue, the Inland Revenue must, in such manner and at such time, or within such period, as may be prescribed, pay to the secondary contributor an amount equal to the remaining balance; however, regulations may make provision for the adjustment of an amount that would otherwise be payable under this rule so as to avoid the payment of trivial or fractional amounts: s 42A(2C), as inserted. If the Inland Revenue pays any amount under s 42A(2C) which it is not required to pay, it may recover that amount from the secondary contributor in such manner and at such time, or within such period, as may be prescribed: s 42A(2D) (as added). For provision under s 42A(2C), (2D) see the Occupational Pension Schemes (Contracting Out) (Payment and Recovery of Remaining Balances) Regulations 2000, SI 2000/750.

(iii) Minimum Contributions in respect of Members of Appropriate Personal Pension Schemes

913. Payment of minimum contributions to personal pension schemes.

Subject to the relevant statutory provisions<sup>1</sup>, the Secretary of State<sup>2</sup> must, except in such circumstances or in respect of such periods as may be prescribed<sup>3</sup>, pay minimum contributions<sup>4</sup> in respect of an employed earner<sup>5</sup> for any period during which the earner:

- 2508 (1) is over the age<sup>6</sup> of 16 but has not attained pensionable age<sup>7</sup>;
- 2509 (2) is not a married woman or widow who has made an election which is still operative that her liability in respect of primary Class 1 contributions<sup>8</sup> is to be a liability to contribute at a reduced rate; and
- 2510 (3) is a member of an appropriate personal pension scheme<sup>9</sup> which is for the time being the earner's chosen scheme<sup>10</sup>.

Subject as follows, minimum contributions in respect of an earner must be paid to the trustees or managers of the earner's chosen scheme<sup>11</sup>. In such circumstances as may be prescribed minimum contributions must be paid to a prescribed person<sup>12</sup>.

Where the condition mentioned in head (1) or head (3) above ceases to be satisfied in the case of an earner in respect of whom the Secretary of State is required to pay minimum contributions, the duty of the Secretary of State to pay them ceases as from a date determined in accordance with regulations<sup>13</sup>. If the Secretary of State pays an amount by way of minimum contributions which he is not required to pay, he may recover it from the person to whom he paid it<sup>14</sup>, or from any person in respect of whom he paid it<sup>15</sup>; and if the Secretary of State pays in respect of an earner an amount by way of minimum contributions which he is required to pay, but does not pay it to the trustees or managers of the earner's chosen scheme, he may recover it from the person to whom he paid it or from the earner<sup>16</sup>.

The prescribed circumstances are as follows: (1) where effect has been given to the earner's protected rights by the making of a transfer payment to another appropriate scheme which has become the earner's chosen scheme or a money purchase contracted-out scheme, the minimum contributions must be paid to the trustees or managers of that scheme; (2) where effect has been given to the earner's protected rights by the making of a transfer payment to a salary-related scheme or an overseas scheme and the Secretary of State becomes aware, as a consequence of evidence in respect of the earner's age being brought to his attention, that an additional amount of minimum contributions would have been payable had he been aware of that evidence, that additional amount of minimum contributions must be paid to the trustees or managers of that scheme; (3) where effect has been given to the earner's protected rights by the purchase of an annuity or by the provision by the scheme of a pension, and the amount of the minimum contributions in question is at least ten times as great as the lower earnings limit for the tax year in which the Secretary of State becomes aware that minimum contributions are payable or would be payable, but for the Personal Pension Schemes (Appropriate Schemes) Regulations 1997, SI 1997/470, reg 12(2) (see note 3 head (2) supra), those minimum contributions must be paid (in the case of an annuity) to the insurance company from which the annuity has been purchased or (in the case of a pension) to the trustees or managers of the scheme; (4) where effect has been given to the earner's protected rights by the purchase of an annuity or by the provision by the scheme of a pension and (a) the circumstances in head (3) supra do not exist; and (b) minimum contributions are payable for the tax year or part of the tax year in which the earner died, those minimum contributions must be paid to the earner's widow or widower, or if the earner died unmarried, they may at the Secretary of State's discretion be paid to any person; (5) where effect has been given to the earner's protected rights by the purchase of an annuity or by provision by the scheme of a pension and (a) the circumstances in head (3) supra do not exist; and (b) the Secretary of State becomes aware, as a consequence of evidence in respect of the earner's age being brought to his attention, that an additional amount of minimum contributions would have been payable had he been aware of that evidence, that additional amount of minimum contributions must be payable (for any tax year or part of a tax year before effect has been given to protected rights) to the earner or the earner's widow or widower, or if the earner died unmarried, they may at the Secretary of State's discretion be paid to any person; (6) where effect has been given to the earner's protected rights by the provision of a lump sum, minimum contributions must be payable to the earner or the earner's widow or widower, or if the earner died unmarried, they may at the Secretary of State's discretion be paid to any person; (7) where effect has been given to the earner's protected rights by the making of payments under an interim arrangement, minimum contributions must continue to be payable to the trustees or managers of the earner's chosen scheme: reg 12(3)-(9). Minimum contributions must be paid by automated credit transfer into a bank or building society account which relates to the relevant scheme and which accepts payments made by automated credit transfer or in such other manner as the Secretary of State may in his discretion approve: reg 13. A personal pension scheme can be an appropriate scheme only if the rules of the scheme provide that any minimum contributions falling to be applied so as to provide benefits in respect of a member are to be so applied from the date on which payment is made by the Secretary of State in accordance with reg 13 and that such minimum contributions are to be allocated to that member's account within three months of that date: reg 14.

UPDATE

913 Payment of minimum contributions to personal pension schemes

TEXT AND NOTES--Functions of the Secretary of State under 1993 Act s 43 transferred to the Commissioners of Inland Revenue: s 43 (amended by Social Security Contributions (Transfer of Functions, etc) Act 1999 Sch 1 para 47).

Where, under the Pension Schemes Act 1993 s 43 or corresponding Northern Ireland legislation the Board of Inland Revenue pays minimum contributions for the purposes of a registered pension scheme, the amount of those contributions is to be increased by the difference between the amount of the employee's share of those contributions and the grossed-up equivalent of that amount: Finance Act 2004 s 202(1), (2). The amount of the employee's share of the minimum contributions is the amount that would be the amount of the minimum contributions if (1) for the reference to the age-related percentage in the 1993 Act s 45(1) there were substituted a reference to the percentage mentioned in s 41(1A); and the 'grossed-up equivalent of that amount' is the sum which, after deduction of income tax at the basic rate in force for the tax year for which the minimum contributions are paid, is equal to that amount: 2004 Act s 202(3), (4). For the meaning of 'registered pension scheme' see PARA 873B.1; and for the meaning of 'Board of Inland Revenue' see PARA 873B.2 NOTE 1. As to the basic rate see INCOME TAXATION vol 23(1) (Reissue) PARA 4.

The Board of Inland Revenue may by regulations prescribe circumstances in which s 202 does not apply, or may make provision supplementing s 202: s 202(5). The Board of Inland Revenue must (a) pay into the National Insurance Fund out of money provided by Parliament the amount of any increase attributable to s 202 in the sums paid out of that Fund under the 1993 Act: 2004 Act s 202(6). As to the making of such regulations see PARA 873B.1 NOTE 2. The regulations so far made are the Registered Pension Schemes (Minimum Contributions) Regulations 2005, SI 2005/3450.

TEXT AND NOTE 8--In head (2) for 'her liability ... contributions' read 'so much of her liability in respect of primary Class 1 contributions as is attributable to the Social Security Contributions and Benefits Act 1992 s 8(1)(a) (see PARA 36)': 1993 Act s 43(1) (amended by the National Insurance Contributions Act 2002 Sch 1 para 38, with effect in relation to the tax year 2003-04 and subsequent tax years (s 8(2))).

TEXT AND NOTE 10--In the 1993 Act s 43 'the earner's chosen scheme' means the scheme which was immediately before the abolition date the earner's chosen scheme in accordance with s 44 (as it had effect prior to that date): s 43(7) (added by Pensions Act 2007 Sch 4 para 19) (in force on the abolition date: see 2007 Act s 15 and PARA 880). For savings see 2007 Act Sch 4 Pt 3.

NOTE 12--Heads (4)-(6) also apply in relation to civil partners: SI 1997/470 reg 12(6)-(8) (amended by SI 2005/2050, SI 2005/3164).

Halsbury's Laws of England/SOCIAL SECURITY AND PENSIONS (VOLUME 44(2) (REISSUE))/20. CONTRACTING OUT/(5) REDUCTION IN STATE SCHEME CONTRIBUTIONS AND SOCIAL SECURITY BENEFITS FOR MEMBERS OF CERTIFIED SCHEMES/(iii) Minimum Contributions in respect of Members of Appropriate Personal Pension Schemes/914. Earner's chosen scheme.

914. Earner's chosen scheme.

Where an earner<sup>1</sup> and the trustees or managers of an appropriate personal pension scheme<sup>2</sup> have jointly given notice to the Secretary of State<sup>3</sup> in such manner and form and with such supporting evidence as may be prescribed<sup>4</sup>:

- 2511 (1) that the earner is, or intends to become, a member of the scheme and wishes minimum contributions in respect of him to be paid to the scheme<sup>5</sup>;
- 2512 (2) that the trustees or managers have agreed to accept him as a member of the scheme and to receive such minimum contributions in respect of him, then, unless the Secretary of State rejects the notice on either or both of specified grounds<sup>6</sup>, that scheme is the earner's chosen scheme<sup>7</sup> as from a date determined in accordance with regulations<sup>8</sup> and specified in the notice, unless at that date some other appropriate scheme is the earner's chosen scheme for those purposes<sup>9</sup>.

Either an earner or the trustees or managers of the scheme may cancel such a notice by giving notice to that effect to the Secretary of State at such time and in such manner and form as may be prescribed<sup>10</sup>. When such a notice is given, the scheme ceases to be the earner's chosen scheme as from a date determined in accordance with regulations and specified in the notice<sup>11</sup>.

1 For the meaning of 'earner' and 'earnings' see PARAS 32-33 ante (definitions applied by the Pension Schemes Act 1993 s 181(1)).

2 For the meaning of 'personal pension scheme' see PARA 710 ante; and for the meaning of 'appropriate personal pension scheme' see PARA 880 ante.

3 As to the Secretary of State see PARA 1 ante.

4 For the meaning of 'prescribed' see PARA 555 note 1 ante. The notice must be given in writing in such form as the Secretary of State may in his discretion accept: Personal Pension Schemes (Appropriate Schemes) Regulations 1997, SI 1997/470, reg 10(1).

5 Ie under the Pension Schemes Act 1993 s 43 (as amended): see PARA 913 ante.

6 The grounds referred to in ibid s 44(1) are that the Secretary of State is of the opinion that s 31(5) (as added) (see PARA 904 ante) is not being complied with in respect of any members of the scheme, and that, having regard to any other provisions of ss 26-32 (as amended) (see PARAS 883, 898-904 ante) and ss 43-45 (as amended) (see PARAS 913 ante, 915 post), it is inexpedient to allow the scheme to be the chosen scheme of any further earners: s 44(1A) (added by the Pensions Act 1995 s 164).

7 Ie for the purposes of the Pension Schemes Act 1993 s 43 (as amended): see PARA 913 ante.

8 For the meaning of 'regulations' see PARA 557 note 2 ante. Subject as follows, the date specified in the notice as the date from which the scheme is to be the earner's chosen scheme must be 6 April in the year notice is given or 6 April in the next tax year, but where a notice is given by 17 May in a tax year it may specify 6 April in the preceding tax year: Personal Pension Schemes (Appropriate Schemes) Regulations 1997, SI 1997/470, reg 10(2), (3). In a case where a scheme ('the first scheme') was an earner's chosen scheme on the date with effect from which the first scheme ceased to be an appropriate scheme, the date specified in the notice as the date from which another scheme ('the second scheme') is to be the earner's chosen scheme may be the date with effect from which the first scheme ceased to be an appropriate scheme (whether or not that date is 6 April), if that date is not earlier than whichever is the earlier of (1) the date six months earlier than that on which the Secretary of State receives the notice; and (2) 6 April in the tax year in which the Secretary of State receives the notice: reg 10(4).

9 Pension Schemes Act 1993 s 44(1) (amended by the Pensions Act 1995 s 164).

10 Pension Schemes Act 1993 s 44(2). The notice must be given in writing and in such form as the Secretary of State may in his discretion accept: Personal Pension Schemes (Appropriate Schemes) Regulations 1997, SI 1997/470, reg 11(1).

11 Pension Schemes Act 1993 s 44(3). The date specified in the notice must be 6 April in the tax year in which the Secretary of State receives the notice or 6 April in the next tax year; but where notice is given by the earner and not by the trustees or managers of the scheme the date must be at least a year later than the date specified in the notice given under s 44(1): Personal Pension Schemes (Appropriate Schemes) Regulations 1997, SI 1997/470, reg 11(2), (3).

Halsbury's Laws of England/SOCIAL SECURITY AND PENSIONS (VOLUME 44(2) (REISSUE))/20. CONTRACTING OUT/(5) REDUCTION IN STATE SCHEME CONTRIBUTIONS AND SOCIAL SECURITY BENEFITS FOR MEMBERS OF CERTIFIED SCHEMES/(iii) Minimum Contributions in respect of Members of Appropriate Personal Pension Schemes/915. Amount of minimum contributions.

915. Amount of minimum contributions.

In relation to any tax week<sup>1</sup> falling within a period for which the Secretary of State<sup>2</sup> is required to pay minimum contributions<sup>3</sup> in respect of an earner<sup>4</sup>, the amount of those contributions must be an amount equal to the appropriate age-related percentage<sup>5</sup> of so much of the earnings paid in that week (other than earnings in respect of contracted-out employment<sup>6</sup>) as exceeds the current lower earnings limit but not the current upper earnings limit<sup>7</sup> for that week (or the prescribed equivalents<sup>8</sup> if he is paid otherwise than weekly)<sup>9</sup>. Regulations<sup>10</sup> may make provision:

- 2513 (1) for earnings to be calculated or estimated in such manner and on such basis as may be prescribed<sup>11</sup> for the purpose of determining whether any, and if so what, minimum contributions are payable in respect of them<sup>12</sup>;
- 2514 (2) for the adjustment of the amount which would otherwise be payable by way of minimum contributions so as to avoid the payment of trivial or fractional amounts<sup>13</sup>;
- 2515 (3) for the intervals at which, for the purposes of minimum contributions, payments of earnings are to be treated as made<sup>14</sup>;
- 2516 (4) for these provisions to have effect in prescribed cases as if for any reference to a tax week there were substituted a reference to a prescribed period<sup>15</sup>;
- 2517 (5) as to the manner in which and time at which or period within which minimum contributions are to be made<sup>16</sup>.

The Secretary of State must at intervals of not more than five years lay before each House of Parliament:

- 2518 (a) a report by the Government Actuary or the Deputy Government Actuary on the percentages which, in his opinion, are required to be specified in an order under these provisions so as to reflect the cost of providing benefits of an actuarial value equivalent to that of the benefits which are foregone<sup>17</sup> by or in respect of members<sup>18</sup> of appropriate personal pension schemes<sup>19</sup>;
- 2519 (b) a report by the Secretary of State stating what, in view of the report under head (a) above, he considers those percentages should be<sup>20</sup>; and
- 2520 (c) a draft of such an order<sup>21</sup>.

Such an order has effect in relation to a period of tax years<sup>22</sup> (not exceeding five), and may, for each of the tax years for which it has effect, specify different percentages<sup>23</sup> in respect of earners by reference to their ages on the last day of the preceding year<sup>24</sup>. If the draft of such an order is approved by resolution of each House of Parliament, the Secretary of State must make the order in the form of the draft<sup>25</sup>. Such an order must have effect from the beginning of such tax year as may be specified in the order, not being a tax year earlier than the second after that in which the order is made<sup>26</sup>.

CONTRACTING OUT/(5) REDUCTION IN STATE SCHEME CONTRIBUTIONS AND SOCIAL SECURITY BENEFITS FOR MEMBERS OF CERTIFIED SCHEMES/(iv) Effect on Social Security Benefits/916. Effect of entitlement to guaranteed minimum pensions on payment of social security benefits.

(iv) Effect on Social Security Benefits

916. Effect of entitlement to guaranteed minimum pensions on payment of social security benefits.

Where for any period a person is entitled both:

2521 (1) to a Category A or Category B retirement pension<sup>1</sup>, a widowed mother's allowance<sup>2</sup> or a widow's pension<sup>3</sup> under the Social Security Contributions and Benefits Act 1992; and the weekly rate of the benefit mentioned in head (1) above is for that period to be reduced by an amount equal to that part of its additional pension which is attributable to earnings factors<sup>5</sup> for any tax years<sup>6</sup> ending before the principal appointed day<sup>7</sup> or to the weekly rate of the pension mentioned in head (2) above, or, if there is more than one such pension, their aggregate weekly rates, whichever is the less<sup>8</sup>.

2522 (2) to one or more guaranteed minimum pensions<sup>4</sup>,

Where for any period a person is entitled to one or more guaranteed minimum pensions and he is also entitled to long-term incapacity benefit<sup>9</sup>, for that period an amount equal to the weekly rate or aggregate weekly rates of the guaranteed minimum pension or pensions is to be deducted from any increase payable<sup>10</sup> and he is entitled to such an increase only if there is a balance after the deduction and, if there is such a balance, at a weekly rate equal to it<sup>11</sup>.

Where for any period a person is entitled to one or more guaranteed minimum pensions and he is also entitled to a Category A retirement pension<sup>12</sup> and the weekly rate of his pension includes an additional pension<sup>13</sup>, then for that period the provisions relating to increases for invalidity<sup>14</sup> have effect subject to modification<sup>15</sup>. Where, however, he is so entitled but the weekly rate of his Category A retirement pension does not include such an additional pension, then for that period the relevant amount<sup>16</sup> must be deducted from the amount that would otherwise be the increase for invalidity and the pensioner is entitled to such an increase only if there is a balance remaining after that deduction and, if there is such a balance, of an amount equal to it<sup>17</sup>.

Where for any period a person is entitled to one or more guaranteed minimum pensions and he is also entitled to a Category A retirement pension or to a Category B retirement pension<sup>18</sup>, and the weekly rate of the pension includes an additional pension<sup>19</sup>, then for that period the statutory provisions relating to increased unemployability supplement to industrial injuries benefit<sup>20</sup> have effect subject to modification<sup>21</sup>. Where, however, he is so entitled but the weekly rate of the pension does not include an additional pension, then for that period the relevant amount is to be deducted from the amount that would otherwise be the increase for unemployability and the beneficiary is entitled to an increase only if there is a balance after that deduction and, if there is such a balance, only to an amount equal to it<sup>22</sup>.

1 As to Category A and Category B retirement pensions see PARA 568 et seq ante.

2 As to widowed mother's allowance see PARA 85 ante.

3 As to widow's pension see PARA 86 ante.

4 For the meaning of 'guaranteed minimum pension' see PARA 878 ante. This reference to a person entitled to a guaranteed minimum pension is to be construed as including a reference to a person so entitled by virtue of being the widower of an earner only if (1) at the time of the earner's death she and her husband had both attained pensionable age; or (2) he is also entitled to a Category A retirement pension by virtue of the Social Security Contributions and Benefits Act 1992 s 41(7) (as amended) (see PARA 89 ante): Pension Schemes Act 1993 s 47(1) (amended by the Social Security (Incapacity for Work) Act 1994 s 11, Sch 1 para 57, Sch 2). For the purposes of the Pension Schemes Act 1993 s 46 (as amended) generally (see the text and notes 5-22 infra), a person is to be treated as entitled to any guaranteed minimum pension to which he would have been entitled (a) if its commencement had not been postponed, as mentioned in s 13(4) (see PARA 890 ante); or (b) if there had not been made a transfer payment or transfer under regulations made by virtue of s 20 (see PARA 895 ante) as a result of which he is no longer entitled to guaranteed minimum pensions under the scheme by which the transfer payment or transfer was made and he has not become entitled to guaranteed minimum pensions under the scheme to which the transfer payment or transfer was made: s 47(2). Where (i) guaranteed minimum pensions provided for a member or the member's widow or widower under a contracted-out scheme have been wholly or partly secured as mentioned in s 19(3) (see PARA 894 ante); and (ii) either (A) the transaction wholly or partly securing them was carried out before 1 January 1986 and discharged the trustees or managers of the scheme as mentioned in s 19(1); or (B) it was carried out on or after that date without any of the requirements specified in s 19(5)(a)-(c) being satisfied in relation to it and the scheme has been wound up; and (iii) any company with which any relevant policy of insurance or annuity contract was taken out or entered into is unable to meet the liabilities under policies issued or securities given by it; and (iv) the combined proceeds of any relevant policies and annuity contracts and any cash sums paid or alternative arrangements made under the Policyholders Protection Act 1975 are inadequate to provide the whole of the amount secured, then the member and the member's widow or widower are to be treated for the purposes of the Pension Schemes Act 1993 s 46 (as amended) as only entitled to such part (if any) of the member's or, as the case may be, the member's widow's or widower's guaranteed minimum pension as is provided by the proceeds mentioned in head (iv) supra: s 47(3). A policy or annuity is relevant for these purposes if taking it out or entering into it constituted the transaction to which s 19 applies: s 47(4).

For the purposes of s 46 (as amended) a person is also to be treated as entitled to any guaranteed minimum pension to which he would have been entitled if a lump sum had not been paid instead of that pension under provisions included in a scheme by virtue of s 21(1) (see PARA 890 ante) or if that pension had not been forfeited under provisions included in a scheme by virtue of s 21(2): s 47(5).

5 For the meaning of 'earnings factors' see PARA 56 ante (definition applied by ibid s 181(1)).

6 For the meaning of 'tax year' see PARA 863 note 1 ante.

For these purposes, references to the weekly rate of a guaranteed minimum pension are references to that rate without any increase under the Pension Schemes Act 1993 s 15(1) (see PARA 892 ante): s 46(8).

14 Ie ibid s 47 (as amended): see PARA 569 note 9 ante.

15 Pension Schemes Act 1993 s 46(4). The modification is that the Social Security Contributions and Benefits Act 1992 s 47(3) is substituted so that in s 47(2) 'the relevant amount' means an amount equal to the aggregate of (1) the additional pension; and (2) the weekly rate or aggregate weekly rates of the guaranteed minimum pension or pensions, reduced by the amount of any reduction in the weekly rate of the Category A retirement pension made by virtue of the Pension Schemes Act 1993 s 46(1): see s 46(4).

16 'The relevant amount' means an amount equal to the weekly rate or aggregate weekly rates of the guaranteed minimum pension or pensions reduced, in this case, by the amount of any reduction in the weekly rate of the Category A retirement pension made by virtue of ibid s 46(1) (as amended): s 46(8) (amended by the Social Security (Incapacity for Work) Act 1994 Sch 1 para 56).

The modification is that the Social Security Contributions and Benefits Act 1992 Sch 7 para 3(3) is substituted so that 'the relevant amount' means an amount equal to the aggregate of (1) the additional pension; and (2) the weekly rate or aggregate weekly rates of the guaranteed minimum pension or pensions, reduced by the amount of any reduction in the weekly rate of the pension made by virtue of the Pension Schemes Act 1993 s 46(1): see s 46(6).

22 Ibid s 46(7).

UPDATE

916 Effect of entitlement to guaranteed minimum pensions on payment of social security benefits

TEXT AND NOTES--For the purposes of the Pension Schemes Act 1993 s 46, a person is to be treated as entitled to a guaranteed minimum pension to which he would have been entitled but for the fact that the trustees or managers were discharged from their liability to provide that pension on the Board of the Pension Protection Fund assuming responsibility for the scheme: s 47(8) (added by Pensions Act 2004 s 165(3)).

For the purposes of the Pension Schemes Act 1993 s 46, a person is to be treated as entitled to a guaranteed minimum pension to which, in the opinion of the Commissioners for Her Majesty's Revenue and Customs, he would have been entitled but for the amendment of a scheme so that it no longer contains the guaranteed minimum pension rules: Pension Schemes Act 1993 s 47(9) (s 47(9)-(11) added by Pensions Act 2007 s 14(5)). Where the earner's accrued rights have been transferred after the amendment of the scheme, in making the calculation under the Pension Schemes Act 1993 s 47(9) the Commissioners must assume the application of s 16(1) after the transfer: s 47(10). In making the calculation under s 47(9) the Commissioners must ignore any effect of the scheme being wound up: s 47(11).

See also Pension Schemes Act 1993 s 46A (added by Pensions Act 2008 s 103(3)) (partly in force: SI 2010/1221) which provides for a reduction in the amount of retirement pension or widowed parent's allowance where a person is also entitled to a guaranteed minimum pension, where that person retires after 5 April 2020.

TEXT AND NOTE 2--Head (1) refers also to a widowed parent's allowance: Pension Schemes Act 1993 s 46(1) (amended by the Welfare Reform and Pensions Act 1999 Sch 8 para 18(1), (2)).

NOTE 4--After 'widower of an earner' read 'in any case where he is entitled to a benefit other than a widowed parent's allowance': 1993 Act s 47(1) (amended by the State Pension Credit Act 2002 s 18). Now, head (1) he is also entitled to a Category B retirement pension by virtue of the earner's contributions, or would be so entitled but for the Social Security Contributions and Benefits Act 1992 s 43(1): 1993 Act s 47(1)(a) (substituted by the State Pension Credit Act 2002 s 18). In head (2) reference to s 41(7) is now to s 41(5): 1993 Act s 47(1)(b) (amended by the State Pension Credit Act 2002 s 18).

For the purposes of the Pension Schemes Act 1993 s 46, a person is to be treated as entitled to any guaranteed minimum pension to which he would have been entitled but for s 14(2A) (see PARA 891) and any reduction under s 15A (see PARA 892A): s 47(6) (added by the Welfare Reform and Pensions Act 1999 s 32(4); and amended by the Proceeds of Crime Act 2002 Sch 11 para 22(4)).

In the Pensions Schemes Act 1993 s 47(3) (as amended by SI 2001/3649) the reference to the Policyholders Protection Act 1975 is now to the Financial Services Compensation Scheme.

Pension Schemes Act 1993 s 47(1), (3) further amended so as to extend provisions to surviving civil partners: SI 2005/2050.

NOTE 18--Now under the 1992 Act s 48A, 48B or 48BB (see PARA 575A): Pension Schemes Act 1993 s 46(6) (amended by the Welfare Reform and Pensions Act 1999 Sch 8 para 18(3)).

In relation to any tax week<sup>1</sup> where (1) the amount of a Class 1 contribution<sup>2</sup> in respect of the earnings<sup>3</sup> paid to or for the benefit of an earner<sup>4</sup> in that week is reduced<sup>5</sup>; or (2) an amount is paid<sup>6</sup> in respect of the earnings paid to or for the benefit of an earner, the provisions of the Social Security Contributions and Benefits Act 1992 relating to earnings factors for additional pension<sup>7</sup> have effect, except in prescribed circumstances<sup>8</sup>, as if no primary Class 1 contributions<sup>9</sup> had been paid or treated as paid upon those earnings for that week and the increase for family credit or disability working allowance<sup>10</sup> did not, if it otherwise would, apply<sup>11</sup>. Where, however, the whole or part of a contributions equivalent premium<sup>12</sup> has been paid or treated as paid in respect of the earner, the Secretary of State<sup>13</sup> may make a determination reducing or eliminating the application of these provisions<sup>14</sup> and they are also subject to, and may be disapplied by, regulations in certain circumstances<sup>15</sup>.

Regulations may, so far as is required for the purpose of providing entitlement to additional pension (such as is mentioned in the Social Security Contributions and Benefits Act 1992 s 44(3)(b): see PARA 569 ante) but to the extent only that the amount of additional pension is attributable to provision made by regulations under s 45(5), disapply the Pension Schemes Act 1993 s 48A(1) (as so added); s 48A(4) (as so added). In relation to earners where, by virtue of s 48A(1) (as so added), the Social Security Contributions and Benefits Act 1992 s 44(6) has effect, in any tax year, as mentioned in the

(6) TERMINATION OF CONTRACTED-OUT OR APPROPRIATE SCHEME STATUS

918. Powers of Secretary of State to approve arrangements for scheme ceasing to be certified.

In the case of an occupational pension scheme<sup>1</sup> or a personal pension scheme<sup>2</sup> which is or has been certified as a contracted-out<sup>3</sup> or, as the case may be, an appropriate scheme<sup>4</sup>, the Secretary of State<sup>5</sup> may, for the event of, or in connection with, its ceasing to be such a scheme, approve any arrangements<sup>6</sup> made or to be made in relation to the scheme, or for its purposes, for the preservation or transfer:

- 2523 (1) in the case of an occupational pension scheme other than a money purchase contracted-out scheme<sup>7</sup>, of earners<sup>8</sup> accrued rights to guaranteed minimum pensions<sup>9</sup> under the scheme or accrued rights to pensions under the scheme attributable to their service on or after the principal appointed day<sup>10</sup>, and of the liability for the payment of such pensions in respect of persons who have then become entitled to receive them<sup>11</sup>;
- 2524 (2) in the case of a money purchase contracted-out scheme or a personal pension scheme, of protected rights<sup>12</sup> under the scheme<sup>13</sup>.

The power of the Secretary of State to approve such arrangements includes power to approve arrangements subject to conditions, and may be exercised either generally or in relation to a particular scheme<sup>14</sup>. Arrangements may not be approved under these provisions unless any prescribed<sup>15</sup> conditions are met<sup>16</sup>.

If the scheme ceases to be a contracted-out scheme or an appropriate scheme (whether by being wound up or otherwise) and the Secretary of State has either withdrawn his approval of previously approved arrangements relating to it, or has declined to approve arrangements relating to it, he may issue a certificate to that effect<sup>17</sup>. A certificate so issued must be cancelled by the Secretary of State if he subsequently approves the arrangements<sup>18</sup>.

An approval of arrangements relating to an occupational pension scheme which is not a money purchase contracted-out scheme may be withdrawn at any time, notwithstanding that the scheme has been wound up<sup>19</sup>.

919. Calculation of guaranteed minimum pensions preserved under approved arrangements.

The statutory provisions relating to the revaluation of earnings factors in order to arrive at an earner's guaranteed minimum pension<sup>1</sup> are modified, except in prescribed circumstances<sup>2</sup>, where:

- 2525 (1) an earner's guaranteed minimum pension rights or accrued rights to guaranteed minimum pensions<sup>3</sup> under a scheme satisfy prescribed conditions<sup>4</sup>; and
- 2526 (2) one or more of the five tax years<sup>5</sup> ending with the tax year in which the scheme ceases to be contracted-out<sup>6</sup> is a relevant year<sup>7</sup> in relation to the earner<sup>8</sup>.

Regulations<sup>9</sup> may provide that heads (1) and (2) above are to have effect with prescribed modifications<sup>10</sup> in relation to a scheme which, immediately before it ceased to be contracted-out, contained certain authorised provisions<sup>11</sup>.

1    In the Pension Schemes Act 1993 s 16(1); see PARA 891 ante. For the meaning of 'earner' and 'earnings' see PARAS 32-33 ante (definitions applied by s 181(1)); and for the meaning of 'guaranteed minimum pension' see PARA 878 ante.

2    For the meaning of 'prescribed' see PARA 555 note 1 ante. The prescribed circumstances are where an earner's accrued rights to guaranteed minimum pensions under the scheme which is ceasing to be contracted-out are transferred to another contracted-out scheme in accordance with arrangements approved by the Secretary of State, and the same employer is the earner's employer in relation to both the first and second schemes or the employers in relation to those schemes are connected employers; and 'connected employers' means employers are or were (1) a holding company and a subsidiary; (2) subsidiaries of the same holding company; or (3) partnerships each having the same persons as at least half of its partners: see the Occupational Pension Schemes (Contracting-out) Regulations 1996, SI 1996/1172, reg 69.

3    For the meaning of 'accrued rights' for these purposes see PARA 895 note 9 ante.

6    For the meaning of 'contracted-out scheme' see PARA 880 ante.

7    For the meaning of 'relevant year' see the Pension Schemes Act 1993 ss 14(8), 16(5); and PARA 891 note 3 ante (definition applied by s 51(5)).

8    Ibid s 51(1)(b). Where s 51 (as amended: see note 4 supra) applies then, except in such circumstances as may be prescribed, s 16(1) (see PARA 891 ante) has effect subject to the following provisions: (1) any earnings factor must be taken to be that factor as increased by the last order under the Social Security Pensions Act 1975 s 21 (repealed) or the Social Security Administration Act 1992 s 148 (as amended) (see PARA 56 ante) to come into force before those five tax years; and (2) any relevant earnings factors derived from contributions or earnings in respect of any year ('the relevant contributions year') must be treated as increased by 12% compound for each of those five tax years, other than any of those years which: (a) constitutes or begins before the relevant contributions year; or (b) begins after the final relevant year in relation to the earner: Pension Schemes Act 1993 s 51(2). For the meaning of 'earnings factors' see PARA 56 ante (definition applied by s 181(1)). For the meaning of 'the final relevant year' see s 16(5) (as amended); and PARA 891 note 10 ante (definition applied by s 51(5)). Section 51(2) does not apply in any case where its application would result in the amount of the guaranteed minimum being greater than it would have been apart from that provision: s 51(3).

Halsbury's Laws of England/SOCIAL SECURITY AND PENSIONS (VOLUME 44(2) (REISSUE))/20. CONTRACTING OUT/(6) TERMINATION OF CONTRACTED-OUT OR APPROPRIATE SCHEME STATUS/922. Payment of contributions equivalent premiums on termination of certified status.

922. Payment of contributions equivalent premiums on termination of certified status.

The former provision for payment of state scheme premiums on the termination of a scheme's certified status has been replaced, under the Pensions Act 1995, by provision for the payment of contributions equivalent premiums<sup>1</sup>. Where:

- 2531 (1) an earner<sup>2</sup> is serving in employment which is contracted-out employment<sup>3</sup> by reference to an occupational pension scheme<sup>4</sup> (other than a money purchase contracted-out scheme<sup>5</sup>);
- 2532 (2) head (1) above ceases to apply, by reason of any of the circumstances in heads (a) to (e) below, before the earner attains the scheme's normal pension age<sup>6</sup> or (if earlier) the end of the tax year<sup>7</sup> preceding that in which the earner attains pensionable age<sup>8</sup>; and
- 2533 (3) the earner has served for less than two years in the employment, the prescribed person<sup>9</sup> may elect to pay a premium under this provision (a 'contributions equivalent premium')<sup>10</sup>.

The circumstances so referred to are that:

- 2534 (a) the earner's service in the employment ceases otherwise than on the earner's death;
- 2535 (b) the earner ceases to be a member of the scheme otherwise than on the earner's death;
- 2536 (c) the earner's service in the employment ceases on the earner's death and the earner dies leaving a widow or widower;
- 2537 (d) the scheme is wound up;
- 2538 (e) the scheme ceases to be a contracted-out occupational pension scheme<sup>11</sup>, but heads (a), (b), (d) and (e) above do not apply if the earner has an accrued right to short service benefit<sup>12</sup>.

Such a premium must be paid by the prescribed person to the Secretary of State<sup>13</sup> within the prescribed period<sup>14</sup> and an election to make such a payment must be made within the prescribed period and in the prescribed manner<sup>15</sup>. Except in such cases as may be prescribed, the prescribed person must not, in making or abstaining from making such elections, discriminate between different earners on any grounds other than their respective lengths of relevant service<sup>16</sup>. If the Secretary of State considers that the prescribed person is contravening this condition, he may cancel any contracting-out certificate<sup>17</sup> held by the earner's employer in respect of the scheme in question<sup>18</sup>.

The amount of a contributions equivalent premium must be the difference between:

- 2539 (i) the amount of the Class 1 contributions<sup>19</sup> payable in respect of the earner's employment in employment which was contracted-out by reference to the scheme; and 2540 (ii) the amount of those contributions which would have been payable if the employment had not been contracted-out<sup>20</sup>.

1 See the text and notes 2-20 infra. The Pension Schemes Act 1993 s 55 (as originally enacted) provided for the payment of state scheme premiums and is now amended by the Pensions Act 1995 ss 141(1), 151, 177, Sch 5 paras 18, 50, Sch 7 Pt III.

10 Pension Schemes Act 1993 s 55(2) (substituted by the Pensions Act 1995 s 141(1)). An election to pay a contributions equivalent premium must be notified to the Secretary of State in writing in such form as he may reasonably require and within the prescribed time: see the Occupational Pension Schemes (Contracting-out) Regulations 1996, SI 1996/1172, reg 51(3). As to the time of payment see reg 52. Where, under the rules of the scheme, transfer credits have been allowed in respect of the earner's accrued rights under another scheme, the reference in the Pension Schemes Act 1993 s 55(2) (as so substituted) to employment which is contracted-out by reference to the scheme includes references to employment in any period of linked qualifying service which was contracted-out employment by reference to the other scheme: s 56(4). Subject to s 179(2)-(4), for the purposes of the Pension Schemes Act 1993 any period of an earner's service in an employment is linked qualifying service in relation to a later period of service (whether in the same or another employment) if: (1) under the rules of a scheme applying to him in the earlier period of service: (a) there was made a transfer of his accrued rights under that scheme (including any transfer credits allowed under the scheme) to another scheme applying to him in the later period of service; or (b) those rights were secured by a policy of insurance or an annuity contract and were subsequently transferred to another scheme applying to him in the later period of service; and (2) in consequence of the transfer of his accrued rights to the second scheme, there are (or were) allowed to him transfer credits under the rules of that other scheme: s 179(1). For any service to be taken into account as linked qualifying service, it must be actual service and no regard may be had to any scheme rule which provides for service to be treated for any purposes of benefit or otherwise as longer or shorter than it actually was: s 179(2). Only so much of the earlier period as is a period of service in respect of which there accrued under the first scheme any of the rights transferred to the second scheme may be linked qualifying service in relation to the later period of service: s 179(3). For the purposes of Pt IV Ch I (ss 69-82) (see PARA 931 et seq post), as respects any case where the rules of the scheme provide that an earner is not entitled to become a member unless he satisfies specified conditions, but that, if he becomes a member, rights are to accrue to him in respect of periods of service before he satisfied any such conditions, regulations may provide for any such periods to be treated, in such cases and to such extent as may be prescribed, as linked qualifying service with later periods of service: s 179(4).

11 As to contracted-out occupational pension schemes see PARA 880 ante.

12 Pension Schemes Act 1993 s 55(2A) (added by the Pensions Act 1995 s 141(1)). The references in the Pension Schemes Act 1993 s 55(2A) (as so added) to an accrued right to short service benefit include an accrued right to any provision which, under the preservation requirements, is permitted as an alternative to short service benefit (other than provision for return of contributions or for benefit in the form of a lump sum): s 56(5) (substituted by the Pensions Act 1995 Sch 5 paras 18, 51). Subject to regulations under the Pension Schemes Act 1993 s 39, Sch 2 para 1 (as amended) (see PARA 879 ante), service in any employment which ceases with the death of the employer must be treated for the purposes of s 55(2A) (as so added) as ceasing immediately before the death: s 56(6) (substituted by the Pensions Act 1995 Sch 5 paras 18, 51). For the meaning of 'employer' see PARA 660 note 18 ante. For the meaning of 'short service benefit' see the Pension Schemes Act 1993 s 71(1), (2); and PARA 932 post; and for the meaning of 'the preservation requirements' see PARA 931 post.

- 16 Ibid s 57(2). 'Relevant service' means service in contracted-out employment by reference to the scheme, together with any service in contracted-out employment which in relation to service in that employment is linked qualifying service (see note 10 supra): s 57(3).
- 17 For the meaning of 'contracting-out certificate' see PARA 880 ante.
- 18 Pension Schemes Act 1993 s 57(4) (amended by the Pensions Act 1995 Sch 5 paras 18, 21).
- 19 As to Class 1 contributions see PARA 34 et seq ante.
- 20 Pension Schemes Act 1993 s 58(4). The amount of the difference mentioned in s 58(4) must be certified by the Secretary of State: s 63(1)(b) (amended by the Pensions Act 1995 Sch 5 paras 18, 57). If the Secretary of State is satisfied that records of earnings relevant for determining the amount mentioned in the Pension Schemes Act 1993 s 58(4) have not been maintained or retained or are otherwise unobtainable, then he may for that purpose: (1) compute, in such manner as he thinks fit, an amount which must be regarded as the amount of those earnings; or (2) take their amount to be such sum as he may specify in the particular case, and he may certify the costs referred to in s 58(4) accordingly: s 63(3) (amended by the Pensions Act 1995 Sch 5 paras 18, 57, Sch 7 Pt III). The Secretary of State may make such adjustments as he thinks necessary for avoiding fractional amounts: Pension Schemes Act 1993 s 63(5).

923 Effect of payment of premiums on rights

TEXT AND NOTE 9--In Pension Schemes Act 1993 s 60(5) for 'widow or widower' read 'widow, widower or surviving civil partner': SI 2005/2050.

Halsbury's Laws of England/SOCIAL SECURITY AND PENSIONS (VOLUME 44(2) (REISSUE))/20. CONTRACTING OUT/(6) TERMINATION OF CONTRACTED-OUT OR APPROPRIATE SCHEME STATUS/924. Deduction of contributions equivalent premium from refund of scheme contributions.

924. Deduction of contributions equivalent premium from refund of scheme contributions.

The following provisions apply where:

- 2541 (1) an earner's<sup>1</sup> service in contracted-out employment<sup>2</sup> ceases or his employment<sup>3</sup> ceases to be contracted-out employment<sup>4</sup>; and
- 2542 (2) he (or, by virtue of a connection with him, any other person) is entitled to a refund of any payments made by or in respect of him towards the provision of benefits, under the scheme by reference to which that employment was contracted-out<sup>5</sup>; and
- 2543 (3) a contributions equivalent premium<sup>6</sup> falls to be paid by any person in respect of him<sup>7</sup>.

In those circumstances, and subject as follows, the person by whom the premium falls to be paid is entitled, on paying it, to recover an amount equal to so much of the premium as is attributable to primary Class 1 contributions<sup>8</sup> (and on paying any part of it to recover a proportionate part of that amount) from the person liable for the refund<sup>9</sup>. The amount so recoverable must not exceed the amount of the refund or so much of it as has not been made<sup>10</sup>. Where the period taken into account in arriving at such an amount does not coincide with that in respect of which the refund is to be made, the sum recoverable must be determined by reference to so much of that amount and of the refund as are referable to the same period<sup>11</sup>.

Where the refund:

- 2544 (a) is made in respect of more than one period of service, and one or more of those periods is a period of previous linked qualifying service<sup>12</sup>; and
- 2545 (b) includes any amount paid under a contracted-out scheme<sup>13</sup> in relation to that service on or in connection with a transfer of accrued rights<sup>14</sup> to another scheme, the amount which may be so recovered must be increased by such amount as may be prescribed<sup>15</sup>.

Where the person liable for the premium is himself liable for the refund, he is entitled to retain out of the refund the amount which he could so recover from another person liable for the refund<sup>16</sup>. The amount of the refund must be reduced by the amount so recovered or retained; and provision must be made by regulations<sup>17</sup> for requiring the making of refunds to be delayed for the purpose of enabling any right of recovery or retainer so conferred to be exercised, notwithstanding anything in any enactment relating to the making of the refund<sup>18</sup>. Where:

- 2546 (i) an earner's service in contracted-out employment ceases or his employment ceases to be contracted-out employment; and
- 2547 (ii) he (or, by virtue of a connection with him, any other person) is entitled to a refund of any payments made by or in respect of him under the scheme by reference to which that employment was contracted-out in relation to any previous

- contracted-out employment of his, being payments towards the provision of benefits under that scheme; and
- 2548 (iii) a contributions equivalent premium falls to be paid in respect of him; and
- 2549 (iv) the period taken into account in arriving at the amount which may be recovered includes the period of the previous contracted-out employment, then the person liable for that premium has the like right of recovery from that refund (so far as the premium is not recoverable or retainable out of a refund in respect of a later employment) as a person has where the refund relates to service in the employment on the cessation of which the premium falls to be paid<sup>19</sup>.

These provisions apply in relation to such a refund as is referred to in head (2) above which becomes payable after the cessation of an earner's service in contracted-out employment as they apply to such a refund becoming payable on the cessation of an earner's service in such employment<sup>20</sup>; and where the earner (or, by virtue of a connection with him, any other person) becomes entitled to any payment in lieu of benefit<sup>21</sup>, the above provisions apply in relation to the payment as if it were such a refund as is referred to in head (2) above<sup>22</sup>.

Notwithstanding any contract to the contrary, a person is not entitled:

- 2550 (A) to recover any part of a contributions equivalent premium from any earner in respect of whom it is payable<sup>23</sup>; or
- 2551 (B) Except in accordance with the above provisions, to recover or retain any part of such a premium out of any money payable to or for the benefit of the earner or any other person<sup>24</sup>.

If a person fails to pay any contributions equivalent premium<sup>1</sup> which is payable by him at or within the time prescribed<sup>2</sup> for the purpose, he is liable on summary conviction to a fine of not more than level 3 on the standard scale<sup>3</sup>. Halsbury's Laws of England/SOCIAL SECURITY AND PENSIONS (VOLUME 44(2) (REISSUE))/20. CONTRACTING OUT/(7) ANNUAL INCREASES AND MISCELLANEOUS PROVISIONS/926. Annual increase of guaranteed minimum pensions.

(7) ANNUAL INCREASES AND MISCELLANEOUS PROVISIONS

926. Annual increase of guaranteed minimum pensions.

The Secretary of State<sup>1</sup> must in each tax year<sup>2</sup> review the general level of prices in Great Britain for the period of 12 months commencing at the end of the period last reviewed under this provision<sup>3</sup>.

Where it appears to the Secretary of State that that level has increased at the end of the period under review, he must lay before Parliament the draft of an order specifying a percentage by which there is to be an increase of the rate of that part of guaranteed minimum pensions<sup>4</sup> which is attributable to earnings factors<sup>5</sup> for the tax years in the relevant period<sup>6</sup> for:

- 2552 (1) Earners<sup>7</sup> who have attained pensionable age<sup>8</sup>; and
- 2553 (2) widows and widowers<sup>9</sup>.

The percentage must be the percentage by which that level has increased at the end of the period under review, or three per cent, whichever is less<sup>10</sup>. If a draft order laid before Parliament in pursuance of this provision is approved by a resolution of each House, the Secretary of State must make the order in the form of the draft<sup>11</sup>. Such an order must be so framed as to bring the alterations to which it relates into force on the first day of the next tax year after that in which the order is made<sup>12</sup>.

Except as permitted<sup>13</sup>, the trustees or managers<sup>14</sup> of a scheme may not make an increase in a person's pension which is required by virtue of the above provisions out of money which would otherwise fall to be used for the payment of benefits under the scheme to or in respect of that person unless:

- 2554 (a) the payment is to an earner in respect of the tax year in which he attains pensionable age and the increase is the one required to be made in the next tax year<sup>15</sup>; or
- 2555 (b) the payment is to a person as the widow or widower of an earner who died before attaining pensionable age and is in respect of the tax year in which the person became a widow or widower, and the increase is the one required to be made in the next tax year<sup>16</sup>.

927 Information as to guaranteed minimum pensions

TEXT AND NOTES--Replaced. The Secretary of State or the Inland Revenue may give to the trustees or managers of an occupational pension scheme or appropriate scheme such information as appears to the Secretary of State or Inland Revenue appropriate to give to them for the purpose of enabling them to comply with their obligations under the Pension Schemes Act 1993 Pt III (ss 7-68): s 156(1) (s 156 substituted by the Child Support, Pensions and Social Security Act 2000 Sch 5 para 9). The Secretary of State or Inland Revenue may also give to such persons as may be prescribed any information that they could give under the Pension Schemes Act 1993 s 156(1) to trustees or managers of a scheme: s 156(2) (as substituted).

1993 Act s 156(1) amended so as to substitute for the words 'or appropriate scheme' the words 'or personal pension scheme': Pensions Act 2007 Sch 4 para 30 (in force on the abolition date: see 2007 Act s 15 and PARA 880). For savings see 2007 Act Sch 4 Pt 3.

928. Inalienability of guaranteed minimum pension and protected rights payments.

Where: (1) a person is entitled or prospectively entitled to a guaranteed minimum pension<sup>1</sup> under an occupational pension scheme<sup>2</sup> or to payments giving effect to protected rights<sup>3</sup> under such a scheme; and (2) his entitlement is in respect of his or another person's service in employment<sup>4</sup> which was contracted-out<sup>5</sup> by reference to that scheme, then every assignment of or charge on that pension or those payments, and every agreement to assign or charge that pension or those payments, is void<sup>6</sup>. These provisions have effect whether or not the assignment, charge or agreement was made at a time when the employment was contracted-out employment or the scheme was a contracted-out scheme<sup>7</sup> in relation to the employment<sup>8</sup>.

Every assignment of or charge on, and every agreement to assign or charge protected rights under, a personal pension scheme<sup>9</sup> or payments giving effect to such protected rights is also void<sup>10</sup>.

On the bankruptcy of a person who is entitled or prospectively entitled as is mentioned in heads (1) and (2) above, or is entitled to protected rights or to a payment giving effect to protected rights under a personal pension scheme, nothing passes to any trustee or other person acting on behalf of his creditors the assignment of which is or would be made void by these provisions<sup>11</sup>. Furthermore, where a person has any such entitlement, no order may be made by any court the effect of which would be that he would be restrained from receiving anything the assignment of which is or would be made void by these provisions<sup>12</sup>; but this does not prevent the making of an attachment of earnings order<sup>13</sup> and is subject to the court's powers to recover excessive pension contributions on the bankruptcy of an individual<sup>14</sup> and to take pensions into account when making financial provision on divorce<sup>15</sup>.

928 Inalienability of guaranteed minimum pension and protected rights payments

TEXT AND NOTES 10, 12--The restrictions in the Pension Schemes Act 1993 s 159(4), (4A) are disapplied when pension sharing rights are activated under certain types of order: see further PARA 961A.2.

TEXT AND NOTE 11--Pension Schemes Act 1993 s 159(5) repealed: Welfare Reform and Pensions Act 1999 Sch 13 Pt I.

Halsbury's Laws of England/SOCIAL SECURITY AND PENSIONS (VOLUME 44(2) (REISSUE))/20. CONTRACTING OUT/(7) ANNUAL INCREASES AND MISCELLANEOUS PROVISIONS/929. Determination of questions by the Secretary of State; appeals and reviews.

929. Determination of questions by the Secretary of State; appeals and reviews.

The questions for determination by the Secretary of State<sup>1</sup> under the Social Security Administration Act 1992<sup>2</sup> include:

- 2558 (1) any question as to the amount of a person's guaranteed minimum for the purposes of the statutory provisions relating to earner's and widows' or widowers' minimum pensions<sup>3</sup>;
- 2559 (2) any question (a) whether a contributions equivalent premium<sup>4</sup> is payable or has been paid in any case or as to the amount of any such premium; or (b) otherwise arising in connection with any contributions equivalent premium;
- 2560 (3) any question whether, for the purposes of the Pension Schemes Act 1993, a cash sum paid or an alternative arrangement made under the Policyholders Protection Act 1975 provides the whole or any part of the guaranteed minimum pension<sup>5</sup> to which an earner or an earner's widow or widower was entitled under a contracted-out scheme<sup>6</sup>;
- 2561 (4) any question arising in connection with minimum contributions or payments under certain repealed legislation<sup>7</sup>; and
- 2562 (5) any question whether the employment<sup>8</sup> is, or is to be treated, for the purposes of the Pension Schemes Act 1993 as contracted-out employment<sup>9</sup> or as to the persons in relation to whom, or the period for which, an employment is, or is to be treated, for those purposes as such employment<sup>10</sup>.

The Secretary of State may make any determination required by head (3) above on such basis as he considers appropriate<sup>11</sup>.

Where, in any proceedings for an offence under the Pension Schemes Act 1993 or involving any question as to the payment of a contributions equivalent premium, any such question arises as is mentioned head (1), head (2)(a) or head (3) above, the decision of the Secretary of State is conclusive for the purpose of the proceedings<sup>12</sup> except where:

- 2563 (i) an appeal<sup>13</sup> is pending; or
- 2564 (ii) the time for appealing has not expired; or
- 2565 (iii) a question has been raised with a view to a review of the Secretary of State's decision<sup>14</sup>, in which case the court dealing with the case must adjourn the proceedings until such time as a final decision on the question has been obtained<sup>15</sup>.

If a decision on any such question is necessary for the determination of the proceedings and the decision of the Secretary of State has not been obtained or a question has been raised with a view to a review of the decision obtained, then subject to heads (i) to (iii) above the question must be referred to the Secretary of State for determination or review in accordance (subject to any necessary modifications) with the relevant provisions<sup>16</sup> of the Social Security Administration Act 1992<sup>17</sup>. The provisions of that Act concerning appeals and reviews<sup>18</sup> have effect as if the questions to be determined by the Secretary of State<sup>19</sup> included (A) any question arising in connection with the issue, cancellation or variation of contracting-out certificates<sup>20</sup> or appropriate scheme certificates<sup>21</sup>, not being a question mentioned in head (5) above; and (B) any other question arising under the Pension Schemes Act 1993 which falls to be determined by him and is not a question mentioned in heads (1) to (5) above<sup>22</sup>. Regulations may make provision with respect to the procedure to be adopted on any application for a review<sup>23</sup> made by virtue of this provision and generally with respect to such applications and reviews<sup>24</sup>, but may not prevent such a review being entered upon without an application being made<sup>25</sup>.

23 Ie under the Social Security Administration Act 1992 s 19: see PARA 358 ante. An application to the Secretary of State for the review of a determination must be made in writing and must state: (1) the name and address of the applicant; (2) the names and addresses of the trustees or managers of the scheme; (3) particulars of the determination in respect of which a review is sought; (4) the reason why the applicant claims that he is a person interested in that determination; and (5) the grounds on which review of the determination is sought, but the Secretary of State may allow an application to be treated as properly made even if these requirements are not met: Occupational and Personal Pension Schemes (Contracting-out etc: Review of Determinations) Regulations 1997, SI 1997/358, reg 3(1), (2). If, on receipt of an application for a review of a determination, the Secretary of State decides to refuse to review that determination he must send written notice to the applicant of that refusal, of the reasons for it and of the right of appeal to the court on a point of law: reg 3(3). If, on receipt of an application for a review of a determination, the Secretary of State decides to review that determination he must send written notice of the application and of his intention to review that determination to the applicant, to the trustees or managers of the scheme and to any other person (including a person who is an employer of persons in service in an employment to which the scheme applies) who in the opinion of the Secretary of State should be given such notice; and the notice must state that any person to whom it is given may request a formal hearing of the review and may make representations in connection with the review to the Secretary of State within 21 days of receipt of the notice: reg 3(4).

24 If an applicant for a review of a determination or any person to whom notice of the application has been given under ibid reg 3(4) requests a formal hearing of the application, the Secretary of State must grant the request unless, after considering the grounds of the application and any reasons given for the request, he is satisfied that the review of the determination can properly be made without such a hearing; and if he is satisfied that the review can properly be made without a formal hearing, he must inform the person making the request of its refusal and of the reason for that refusal and may proceed to review the determination without such a hearing, but he may not proceed to make his review of the determination until he has allowed the person making the request at least 21 days to make any written submissions in connection with the review: reg 4(1), (2). If, in accordance with the provisions of reg 4(1), a request for a formal hearing has been granted, or if no request has been made but the Secretary of State is otherwise satisfied that a formal hearing is desirable, reasonable notice (being at least 21 days or such lesser period as the Secretary of State, with the agreement of all persons to whom notice of the hearing has been given, may think fit) of the time and place of the hearing must be given to every person to whom notice of the application has been given under reg 3(4): reg 4(3). In any case in which a formal hearing of a review is held, that hearing must be in public except where the Secretary of State is satisfied that, by reason of the confidential or sensitive nature of matters raised, it is just and reasonable for the hearing or any part of it to be in private; and a member of the Council on Tribunals or the Scottish Committee of the Council, in that capacity, is entitled to attend a formal hearing whether it is in public or in private: reg 4(4), (5). As to the Council on Tribunals see ADMINISTRATIVE LAW vol 1(1) (2001 Reissue) PARAS 55-57. Any person to whom notice of the hearing has been given under reg 4(3) is entitled to be heard at the hearing and may give evidence and call witnesses and must be given an opportunity of putting questions directly to any witness called at the hearing; and a person who has the right to be heard is entitled to be represented by another person whether legally qualified or not: reg 4(6), (7). The Secretary of State may, if he thinks fit, require any person to attend a hearing to give evidence or to produce documents reasonably required for determining the issue before him and may take evidence on oath and for that purpose administer oaths: reg 4(8). If any person to whom notice of the hearing has been given under reg 4(3) fails to appear either in person or by a representative at the hearing, the Secretary of State may proceed with the hearing notwithstanding the absence of any such person or representative: reg 4(9).

The Secretary of State must allow a period of at least 21 days to elapse after the sending of the notices required by reg 4(3) and he must then proceed to review the determination as soon as practicable with a view to confirming, varying or revoking it, having regard to any representations that he has received; but he may allow a period of less than 21 days to elapse before proceeding to review the determination with the agreement of all persons to whom notice of the application has been given: reg 5(1), (2). If it appears to the Secretary of State that any review involves a question of special difficulty, he may take the advice and assistance of an assessor or assessors having the relevant professional qualifications: reg 5(3). When the Secretary of State has made a determination on a review he must record that determination in writing and as soon as practicable must send notice in writing of the determination, of the reasons for it and of the right to appeal to the court on a point of law, to every person to whom notice was sent under reg 3(4): reg 5(4).

25 Pension Schemes Act 1993 s 170(8) (as added: see note 22 supra). In any case where the Secretary of State enters upon a review of a determination without an application for review being made, the provisions of the Occupational and Personal Pension Schemes (Contracting-out etc: Review of Determinations) Regulations 1997, SI 1997/358, regs 3(4), 4, 5 (see notes 23-24 supra) apply as if the review were being entered upon consequent upon an application being made, save that the notice referred to under reg 3(4) does not refer to any such application and any reference to the applicant is to be disregarded: reg 6.

UPDATE

929 Determination of questions by the Secretary of State; appeals and reviews

TEXT AND NOTES--The Inland Revenue must prepare, either annually or at such times or intervals as may be prescribed, a report on the standards achieved by its officers in the making of decisions against which, by virtue of the Pension Schemes Act 1993 s 170(6), an appeal lies to the First-tier Tribunal: s 171A(1) (s 171A added by Social Security Contributions (Transfer of Functions, etc) Act 1999 Sch 7 para 20; amended by SI 2008/2833). The Secretary of State<sup>1</sup> may by regulations<sup>2</sup> provide, where the pensions provided by an occupational pension scheme<sup>3</sup> include both (1) such pensions that, if the scheme provided only those pensions, it would satisfy certain certification requirements<sup>4</sup>; and (2) such other pensions that, if the scheme provided only those pensions it would satisfy other certification requirements<sup>5</sup>, for Part III of the Pension Schemes Act 1993<sup>6</sup> to have effect as if the scheme were two separate schemes providing, respectively, the pensions referred to above<sup>7</sup>.

A scheme may change its mode of contracting out only in prescribed circumstances<sup>8</sup>.

Regulations made by the Secretary of State may, in connection with any provision made by virtue of s 149(1), make such modifications of the specified Acts (ie the Social Security Contributions and Benefits Act 1992; the Pension Schemes Act 1993; and the Pensions Act 1995 Pt I (ss 1-125)) and the instruments made or having effect as if made under them, as appear to the Secretary of State desirable: s 149(2). As to the exercise of this power see the Occupational Pension Schemes (Mixed Benefit Contracted-out Schemes) Regulations 1996, SI 1996/1977, which (1) provide for parts of a relevant scheme to be treated as separate schemes for contracting-out purposes (see reg 2); (2) modify the Occupational Pension Schemes (Contracting-out) Regulations 1996, SI 1996/1172 (as amended) (see the Occupational Pension Schemes (Mixed Benefit Contracted-out Schemes) Regulations 1996, SI 1996/1977, reg 3); (3) provide for the transfer of guaranteed minimum pensions, 'section 9(2B) rights' and protected rights between parts of a relevant scheme (see reg 4); and (4) make transitional arrangements for the certification of relevant schemes which were formerly contracted-out money purchase schemes (see reg 5). A relevant scheme is a scheme to which the Pensions Act 1995 s 149(1) applies; and 'section 9(2B) rights' has the same meaning as in the Occupational Pension Schemes (Contracting-out) Regulations 1996, SI 1996/1172 (as amended) (see PARA 885 note 7 ante): Occupational Pension Schemes (Mixed Benefit Contracted-out Schemes) Regulations 1996, SI 1996/1977, reg 1(1), (2).

- 296. (a) under an actual or contingent legal obligation; or
- 297. (b) in the exercise of a power conferred, or the discharge of a duty imposed, on a Minister of the Crown, government department or any other person, being a power or duty which extends to the disbursement or allocation of public money<sup>6</sup>; or
- 225
- 2567 (2) such other payments by the earner or his employer, or both, as may be prescribed<sup>7</sup> for different categories of scheme<sup>8</sup>.

The requirements specified in or under the relevant statutory provisions are referred to as 'the preservation requirements'<sup>9</sup>.

Regulations may provide that a scheme is not to be treated as conforming with the preservation requirements unless it contains express rules to the effect (but not necessarily in the words) of any specified statutory provision<sup>10</sup> and may make provision as to the circumstances in which, for the statutory purposes<sup>11</sup>, a period of a person's service in two or more different employments is to be treated as a period of service in one or more of those employments; or a person's service in any employment is to be treated as terminated or not terminated<sup>12</sup>.

A scheme that is constituted or amended by an interim trust deed or other interim instrument or agreement is to be treated as satisfying the preservation requirements if both the following conditions are satisfied, namely:

- 2568 (i) the instrument or agreement constituting or amending the scheme requires the trustees or managers of the scheme to operate it in accordance with the preservation requirements; and
- 2569 (ii) members and prospective members have been notified of the general effect of the definitive provisions of the scheme that will give effect to the specified statutory provisions<sup>13</sup>.

Regulations may modify the provisions relating to the preservation of benefit in relation to schemes with any overseas element, that is to say, schemes established, or relating to employment, or with parties domiciled, resident or carrying on business, in any part of the world outside the United Kingdom<sup>14</sup>, or otherwise not confined in their operation to the United Kingdom<sup>15</sup>. Regulations may also modify those provisions:

- 2570 (A) in their application to cases where an earner is for the time being, or has been, employed in pensionable service under, or in contracted-out employment by reference to, different schemes applying to the same employment<sup>16</sup>;
- 2571 (B) in such manner as the Secretary of State thinks fit for securing that the preservation requirements include requirements for provision to be made in a scheme as to the preservation of a member's benefit in the event of the scheme being wound up;
- 2572 (C) without prejudice to head (A) or head (B) above, so that the preservation requirements apply with such modifications and exceptions as the Secretary of State considers to be necessary for particular cases or classes of case<sup>17</sup>.

931-960 Protection for Early Leavers

See further Pension Schemes Act 1993 Pt 4 Ch 5 (ss 101AA-101AI) (early leavers: cash transfer sums and contribution refunds); and PARA 960A.

931 Circumstances in which the preservation requirements apply

NOTE 8--The preservation of benefit provided for under s 69 applies only to schemes where employee contributions have been made: Royal Masonic Hospital v Pensions Ombudsman [2001] 3 All ER 408.

Halsbury's Laws of England/SOCIAL SECURITY AND PENSIONS (VOLUME 44(2) (REISSUE))/21. PROTECTION FOR EARLY LEAVERS/(1) PRESERVATION OF BENEFIT UNDER OCCUPATIONAL SCHEMES/932. Basic principle as to short service benefit.

932. Basic principle as to short service benefit.

A scheme<sup>1</sup> must make such provision that where a member's<sup>2</sup> pensionable service is terminated before normal pension age<sup>3</sup> and:

- 2573 (1) he has at least two years' qualifying service<sup>4</sup>; or
- 2574 (2) a transfer payment in respect of his rights under a personal pension scheme<sup>5</sup> has been made to the scheme, he is entitled to benefit<sup>6</sup> consisting of or comprising benefit of any description which would have been payable under the scheme as long service benefit<sup>7</sup>, whether for himself or others, and calculated in accordance with specified provisions<sup>8</sup>.

Subject as follows, short service benefit must be made payable as from normal pension age or, if in the member's case that age is earlier than 60, then from the age of 60<sup>9</sup>. Short service benefit payable on or in respect of the member's death after normal pension age must be made payable as from his death or within such time after it as long service benefit payable on or in respect of his death would be payable<sup>10</sup>.

In applying the above provisions, no regard is to be had to the operation of any scheme rule, taking effect at any time after termination of the member's pensionable service, as to what is normal pension age under the scheme<sup>11</sup>. A scheme must not provide for payment of short service benefit in the form of a lump sum at any time before normal pension age, except in such circumstances as may be prescribed<sup>12</sup>.

A period of service previously terminated is not to count towards the two years' qualifying service unless it counts towards qualification for long service benefit, and need then count only to the same extent and in the same way<sup>13</sup>. In the case of a member whose pensionable service has been broken<sup>14</sup>, the preservation requirements are modified<sup>15</sup>. If one or more of the following conditions is or are satisfied:

- 2575 (a) the break does not exceed one month;
- 2576 (b) the break corresponds to the member's absence from work wholly or partly because of pregnancy or confinement, the member returns to work after the break in exercise of a statutory right to return and the member returns to pensionable service no later than one month after returning to work;
- 2577 (c) the break corresponds to the member's absence from work in furtherance of a trade dispute, and the member's pensionable service is again terminated before normal pension age, the period of pensionable service previously terminated and any linked qualifying service in relation to that period count towards the two years' qualifying service whether or not they count towards qualification for long service benefit<sup>16</sup>. If the member became entitled to short service benefit when his pensionable service previously terminated, and the member's pensionable service is again terminated before normal pension age, the scheme must provide for the member to be entitled to short service benefit in respect of pensionable service after the break whether or not the conditions described in heads (1) and (2) above are satisfied, but this does not apply if all the member's accrued rights in respect of the period before the break have been transferred to another scheme<sup>17</sup>, appropriately secured by a specified type of transaction<sup>18</sup> or extinguished by payment of a state scheme premium (now replaced by contributions equivalent premium)<sup>19</sup> or by payment of a lump sum<sup>20</sup>.

A scheme may provide that, when the member returns to pensionable service under the scheme, the member's pensionable service before and after the break is to be treated as continuous so that the whole period qualifies the member for long service benefit under the scheme. The scheme will not then be required to provide short service benefit in respect of the period before the break<sup>21</sup>.

Schemes that provide long service benefit payable to a person other than the member only if that person is married to, or dependent on, the member when the member reaches normal pension age are required to provide short service benefit payable to the person concerned only if that person was also married to, or (as the case may be) dependent on, the member when the member's pensionable service terminated<sup>22</sup>.

1 For the meaning of 'scheme' for these purposes see PARA 931 note 5 ante.

2 For these purposes, there are to be regarded as members of an occupational pension scheme any persons who (1) are in pensionable service under the scheme; (2) have rights under the scheme by virtue of such pensionable service; or (3) have rights under the scheme by virtue of having been allowed transfer credits under the scheme; and there are to be regarded as prospective members of an occupational pension scheme (a) any persons who are able, at their own option, to become members of the scheme; and (b) any persons who under the terms of their contracts of service and the scheme rules will become so able, if they continue in the same employment for a sufficiently long period: Occupational Pension Schemes (Preservation of Benefit) Regulations 1991, SI 1991/167, reg 3(1)-(3) (amended by SI 1992/1531; SI 1994/1062). As to the power to prescribe for these purposes the persons who are to be regarded as members or prospective members of an occupational pension scheme and as to the times at which and the circumstances in which a person is to be treated as becoming, or as ceasing to be, a member or prospective member see PARA 557 note 9 ante. For the meaning of 'prescribe' see PARA 555 note 1 ante; for the meaning of 'occupational pension scheme' see PARA 741 ante; and for the meaning of 'pensionable service' see PARA 664 note 2 ante.

3 For the meaning of 'normal pension age' see PARA 896 note 6 ante.

4 'Two years' qualifying service' means two years (whether a single period of that duration or two or more periods, continuous or discontinuous, totalling two years) in which the member was at all times employed either: (1) in pensionable service under the scheme; or (2) in service in employment which was contracted-out by reference to the scheme (as to which see PARA 878 ante); or (c) in linked qualifying service under another scheme: Pension Schemes Act 1993 s 71(7). For the meaning of 'employment' see PARA 560 note 5 ante; and for the meaning of 'linked qualifying service' see PARA 922 note 10 ante. For the purposes of s 71(7), no regard is to be had to whether or not the service was of the same description in the whole of the two years: s 71(8).

5 For the meaning of 'personal pension scheme' see PARA 710 ante.

6 The benefit to which a member is entitled under the Pension Schemes Act 1993 s 71(1) is referred to as 'short service benefit': s 71(2).

7 'Long service benefit', in relation to a scheme, means the benefits which will be payable under the scheme, in accordance with legal obligation, to or in respect of a member of the scheme on the assumption: (1) that he remains in relevant employment; and (2) that he continues to render service which qualifies him for benefits, until he attains normal pension age; and for these purposes 'benefits' means: (a) retirement benefit for the member himself at normal pension age; or (b) benefit for the member's wife or husband, widow or widower, or dependants, or others, on his attaining that age or his later death; or (c) both such descriptions of benefit: ibid s 70(1). 'Relevant employment', in relation to a scheme, means any employment to which the scheme applies: s 70(1). As to when a person attains a particular age see PARA 881 note 2 ante.

8 Ibid s 71(1). The specified provisions are those of Pt III Ch IV (ss 69-82) (as amended): see PARA 933 et seq post.

9 Pension Schemes Act 1993 s 71(3).

10 Ibid s 71(4).

11 Ibid s 71(5).

12 Ibid s 71(6). For the purposes of s 71(6), the prescribed circumstances are that: (1) the member's earning capacity is destroyed or seriously impaired by physical or mental infirmity; (2) the member has become incapable of following his normal employment because of physical or mental infirmity; or (3) the member has attained age 50 or is within 10 years of normal pension age: Occupational Pension Schemes (Preservation of Benefit) Regulations 1991, SI 1991/167, reg 5 (amended by SI 1994/1062; SI 1996/2131).

13 Pension Schemes Act 1993 s 71(9).

14 For this purpose, a member's pensionable service is broken if, after it terminates, the member returns to pensionable service under the same scheme: Occupational Pension Schemes (Preservation of Benefit) Regulations 1991, SI 1991/167, reg 21(1).

15 See ibid reg 21 (amended by SI 1994/1062; SI 1995/3067).

16 See ibid regs 21(2), (3) (as amended: see note 15 supra).

17 Ie as described in the Pension Schemes Act 1993 s 73(2): see PARA 934 post.

18 Ie a transaction to which ibid s 19 applies: see PARA 894 ante. 'Appropriately secured' means the same as in s 19 except that a policy of insurance or annuity contract which is taken out or entered into with an authorised friendly society (as defined for the purposes of the Occupational Pension Schemes (Preservation of Benefit) Regulations 1991, SI 1991/167, reg 6: see PARA 934 note 6 post), but which otherwise satisfies the conditions for being 'appropriate' for the purposes of the Pension Schemes Act 1993 s 19, is to be treated as if it were appropriate for those purposes: Occupational Pension Schemes (Preservation of Benefit) Regulations 1991, SI 1991/167, reg 21(7) (as amended: see note 15 supra).

19 See PARA 922 et seq ante.

933. General prohibition on discrimination between short service and long service beneficiaries.

A scheme<sup>1</sup> must not contain any rule which results, or can result, in a member<sup>2</sup> being treated less favourably for any purpose relating to short service benefit<sup>3</sup> than he is, or is entitled to be, treated for the corresponding purpose relating to long service benefit<sup>4</sup>; but this does not apply to any rule in its application to members whose pensionable service<sup>5</sup> terminated before the rule came into force, unless the rule:

- 2578 (1) was made after the termination of a member's pensionable service; and 2579 (2) results, or is capable of resulting, in any treatment less favourable for him than that to which he would have been entitled but for the rule<sup>6</sup>.

Nor does it apply to a rule which merely confers discretion on the scheme's trustees<sup>7</sup> or managers<sup>8</sup>, or others, so long as it is not a rule requiring the discretion to be exercised in any discriminatory manner against members in respect of their short service benefit<sup>9</sup>.

UPDATE

931-960 Protection for Early Leavers

See further Pension Schemes Act 1993 Pt 4 Ch 5 (ss 101AA-101AI) (early leavers: cash transfer sums and contribution refunds); and PARA 960A.

933 General prohibition on discrimination between short service and long service beneficiaries

TEXT AND NOTES--The Pension Schemes Act 1993 s 72 is subject to s 71(3) and (6) (age at which short service benefit is to be payable: see PARA 932): s 72(4) (added by Pensions Act 2004 s 263(2)).

Halsbury's Laws of England/SOCIAL SECURITY AND PENSIONS (VOLUME 44(2) (REISSUE))/21. PROTECTION FOR EARLY LEAVERS/(1) PRESERVATION OF BENEFIT UNDER OCCUPATIONAL SCHEMES/934. Form of short service benefit and its alternatives.

934. Form of short service benefit and its alternatives.

Subject to certain exceptions<sup>1</sup>, a member's<sup>2</sup> short service benefit<sup>3</sup> must be payable directly out of the resources<sup>4</sup> of the scheme<sup>5</sup> or assured to him by such means as may be prescribed<sup>6</sup>. A scheme may, instead of providing short service benefit, provide:

- 2580 (1) for the member's accrued rights<sup>7</sup> (including any transfer credits allowed under the scheme):
- 226
- 298. (a) to be transferred to another occupational pension scheme<sup>8</sup> with a view to acquiring transfer credits for the member under the other scheme; or
- 299. (b) to be transferred to a personal pension scheme<sup>9</sup> or a self-employed pension arrangement<sup>10</sup> with a view to acquiring rights for the member under the rules of the scheme or arrangement<sup>11</sup>; or
- 227
- 2581 (2) for such alternatives to short service benefit as may be prescribed<sup>12</sup>.

The alternatives specified in heads (1) and (2) above may only be by way of complete or partial substitute for short service benefit if the member consents or in such other cases as may be prescribed<sup>13</sup>. An alternative prescribed under head (2) above may only include payment by way of return of contributions:

- 2582 (i) if they relate to a period of service before 6 April 1975<sup>14</sup>; or
- 2583 (ii) if there has been such a payment relating to a period of service before that date and the contributions relate to a period of service of less than five years after that date<sup>15</sup>.

1 ie those of the Pension Schemes Act 1993 s 73(2) (see the text and notes 12-13 infra) and s 81 (see PARA 938 post): s 73(1).

2 For the meaning of 'member' for these purposes see PARA 932 note 2 ante.

3 For the meaning of 'short service benefit' see PARA 932 note 6 ante.

4 For the meaning of 'resources' see PARA 609 note 2 ante.

5 For the meaning of 'scheme' see PARA 931 note 5 ante.

6 Pension Schemes Act 1993 s 73(1). For the meaning of 'prescribed' see PARA 555 note 1 ante. Short service benefit that is not payable directly out of the resources of the scheme may be assured to the member by means of a transaction to which s 19 (extinguishment of liability of scheme for pensions secured by insurance policies or annuity contracts: see PARA 894 ante) applies, and which satisfies the following requirements, ie that (1) it results in the member's short service benefit being secured by one or more policies of insurance or annuity contracts that are appropriate for the purposes of s 19; and (2) the member will be able to assign or surrender the insurance policies or annuity contracts on the conditions set out in the Occupational Pension Schemes (Discharge of Liability) Regulations 1997, SI 1997/784, reg 3 (conditions on which policies of insurance and annuity contracts may be assigned or surrendered: see PARA 894 ante): Occupational Pension Schemes (Preservation of Benefit) Regulations 1991, SI 1991/167, reg 6(1), (2) (amended by SI 1994/0162; SI 1995/3067; SI 1997/786). For these purposes, a policy of insurance or annuity contract which is taken out or entered into with an authorised friendly society, but which otherwise satisfies the conditions for being 'appropriate' for the purposes of the Pension Schemes Act 1993 s 19, is to be treated as if it were appropriate for the purposes of s 19 provided the terms of such policy or contract are not capable of being amended, revoked or rescinded; and

'friendly society' has the same meaning as in the Friendly Societies Act 1992 (including any society which by virtue of s 96(2) is to be treated as a registered friendly society within the meaning of that Act); and 'authorised friendly society' means a friendly society which is authorised under the Friendly Societies Act 1992 s 32 to carry on long term business under any of the Classes specified in ss 5, 7, Sch 2, Head A: Occupational Pension Schemes (Preservation of Benefit) Regulations 1991, SI 1991/167, reg 6(3), (4) (amended by SI 1994/1062; SI 1995/35). See further FINANCIAL SERVICES AND INSTITUTIONS vol 50 (2008) PARA 2081.

7 'Rights', in relation to accrued rights (within the meaning of the Pension Schemes Act 1993 s 73 or s 179 (see PARA 922 note 10 ante)) or transfer credits, includes rights to benefit and also options to have benefits paid in a particular form or at a particular time: s 181(1). For the meaning of 'transfer credits' see PARA 612 note 5 ante.

8 For the meaning of 'occupational pension scheme' see PARA 741 ante.

9 For the meaning of 'personal pension scheme' see PARA 710 ante.

10 'Self-employed pension arrangement' means an approved personal pension scheme within the meaning of the Income and Corporation Taxes Act 1988 Pt XIV Ch IV (ss 630-655) (as amended) (see PARA 711 et seq ante) being neither (1) a contract or scheme approved under Pt XIV Ch III (ss 618-629) (as amended) (see PARA 677 et seq ante); nor (2) a personal pension scheme within the meaning of the Pension Schemes Act 1993 (see PARA 710 ante): s 181(1).

11 Ibid s 73(2)(a). The option conferred by s 73(2)(a) is additional to any obligation imposed by Pt III Ch IV (ss 69-82) (as amended) (see PARAS 931-933 ante, 935 et seq post): s 73(3).

12 Ibid s 73(2)(b). Alternatives have been prescribed in relation to early or deferred retirement, bought out benefits and money purchase benefits. Those alternatives (described in the Occupational Pension Schemes (Preservation of Benefit) Regulations 1991, SI 1991/167, regs 8-10 (as amended)) may be provided by way of complete or partial substitute for short service benefit, but (except in the cases specifically referred to) only with the member's consent: see reg 7(1), (2) (amended by SI 1994/1062). The scheme may provide benefits that are different from those required to constitute short service benefit as regards amount, recipient and the time at which they are payable. The benefits must, however, include a benefit that is payable to the member, and the member's benefit must not be payable before normal pension age except in the circumstances referred to in the Occupational Pension Schemes (Preservation of Benefit) Regulations 1991, SI 1991/167, reg 5 (as amended) (see PARA 932 ante): see reg (8)(1), (2). Benefits consisting of, or including, a benefit that becomes payable to the member before normal pension age may be provided without the member's consent where (1) the member's earning capacity is destroyed or seriously impaired by physical or mental infirmity; and (2) in the opinion of the trustees or managers of the scheme, the member is incapable of deciding whether it is in his interests to consent: reg 8(3). Any scheme rule that allows the alternative described in reg 8 must require the trustees or managers of the scheme to be reasonably satisfied that, when the member's benefit becomes payable, the total value of the benefits to be provided under reg 8 is at least equal to the value of the amount described in reg 11 (as amended) (ie an amount equal to the value of the benefits (or, where the alternative is provided by way of partial substitute for short service benefit, the relevant part of the benefits) that have accrued to or in respect of the member under the applicable rules within the meaning of the Pension Schemes Act 1993 s 94(2) (see PARA 953 post)): Occupational Pension Schemes (Preservation of Benefit) Regulations 1991, SI 1991/167, reg 8(4).

The scheme may provide for benefits different from those required to constitute short service benefit to be appropriately secured by a transaction to which the Pension Schemes Act 1993 s 19 applies (extinguishment of liability of scheme for pensions secured by insurance policies or annuity contracts: see PARA 894 ante) but any scheme rule that allows this alternative must require the trustees or managers of the scheme to be reasonably satisfied that, except where the member is requiring the trustees or managers to provide the alternative by exercising a right to a cash equivalent, the payment made to the insurance company is at least equal to the amount described in the Occupational Pension Schemes (Preservation of Benefit) Regulations 1991, SI 1991/167, reg 11 (as amended): see reg 9(1)-(3) (amended by SI 1994/1062; SI 1995/3067). A scheme may allow this alternative to be provided without the member's consent where (a) the member will be able to assign or surrender the insurance policy or annuity contract on the conditions set out in the Occupational Pension Schemes (Discharge of Liability) Regulations 1997, SI 1997/784, reg 3 (conditions on which policies of insurance and annuity contracts may be assigned or surrendered: see PARA 894 ante); and the following requirements are satisfied, ie that the scheme is being wound up or that the member has less than five years' qualifying service in certain circumstances or that the trustees or managers of the scheme consider that, in the circumstances, it is reasonable for the scheme to provide the alternative without the member's consent and the additional requirements are satisfied: see the Occupational Pension Schemes (Preservation of Benefit) Regulations 1991, SI 1991/167, reg 9(4), (5) (amended by SI 1994/1062; SI 1996/2131; SI 1997/786). The additional requirements are that all the following conditions are satisfied, ie that the member's rights under the scheme do not include protected rights as defined in the Pension Schemes Act 1993 s 181(1) (see PARA 878 ante), that the insurance policy is taken out or the annuity contract entered into more than 12 months after the member's pensionable service terminates, that the trustees or managers of the scheme give the member at least 30 days' written notice of their intention to take out the insurance policy or enter into the annuity contracts unless the member exercises a right to a cash equivalent (the notice being sent to the member at his last known address or delivered to the member personally) and that when the trustees or managers of the scheme agree with the insurance company to take out the insurance policy or enter into the annuity contract, there is no outstanding application by the member for a cash equivalent: see the Occupational Pension Schemes (Preservation of Benefit) Regulations 1991, SI 1991/167, reg 9(6) (reg 9(6), (7) amended by SI 1994/1062). For these purposes, 'appropriately secured' means the same as in the Pension Schemes Act 1993 s 19 except that a policy of insurance or annuity contract which is taken out or entered into with an authorised friendly society, but which otherwise satisfies the conditions for being 'appropriate' for the purposes of s 19, is to be treated as if it were appropriate for those purposes: Occupational Pension Schemes (Preservation of Benefit) Regulations 1991, SI 1991/167, reg 9(7) (as so amended).

The scheme may provide money purchase benefits instead of all or any of the benefits that constitute short service benefit but any scheme rule that allows this alternative must require the trustees or managers of the scheme to be reasonably satisfied that the amount allocated to provide money purchase benefits in respect of the member is at least equal to the amount described in reg 11 (as amended): reg 10(1), (2). The scheme rule must also require the trustees or managers of the scheme to calculate the money purchase benefits, when they become payable, either on the basis of actuarial advice or in accordance with the terms of an insurance policy or annuity contract in which the amount allocated to provide the benefits is invested: reg 10(2).

A scheme may also, instead of providing short service benefit, provide for the member's accrued rights to be transferred, if the member consents, to an overseas arrangement (ie a scheme or arrangement, other than an occupational pension scheme, which has effect, or is capable of having effect, so as to provide benefits on termination of employment or on death or retirement to or in respect of earners, which is not an appropriate scheme for contracting-out purposes (as to which see PARA 880 ante) and which is administered wholly or primarily outside the United Kingdom: reg 11A (added by SI 1996/2131). For the meaning of 'United Kingdom' see PARA 15 note 4 ante.

13 Pension Schemes Act 1993 s 73(4). For these purposes, a scheme may provide for the member's accrued rights to be transferred to another occupational pension scheme (as described in s 73(2)(a)(i) (see head (1)(a) in the text) without the member's consent where the following conditions are satisfied, ie (1) that the rights of a member are being transferred from the transferring scheme to the receiving scheme and either (a) the transferring scheme and the receiving scheme apply to employment with the same employer; or (b) the transferring scheme and the receiving scheme apply to employment with different employers, the member concerned is one of a group in respect of whom transfers are being made from the transferring scheme to the receiving scheme, and either (i) the transfer is a consequence of a financial transaction between the employers; or (ii) the employers are companies or partnerships bearing a relationship to each other such as is described in the Occupational Pension Schemes (Contracting-out) Regulations 1996, SI 1996/1172, reg 64(2) (meaning of expression 'connected employer'); (2) that an actuary certifies to the trustees or managers of the transferring scheme that (a) the transfer credits to be acquired for each member under the receiving scheme are, broadly, no less favourable and, if that scheme were wound up immediately after transfer, would not be likely to be materially less secure than they would be if the transferring scheme were wound up immediately before the transfer, than the rights to be transferred; and (b) no beneficiary or contingent beneficiary under the transferring scheme will receive materially inferior benefits in the receiving scheme; and (c) where it is the established custom for discretionary benefits or increases in benefits to be awarded under the transferring scheme, there is good cause to believe that the award of discretionary benefits or increases in benefits under the receiving scheme will (making allowance for any amount by which transfer credits under the receiving scheme are more favourable than the rights to be transferred) be broadly no less favourable: Occupational Pension Schemes (Preservation of Benefit) Regulations 1991, SI 1991/167, reg 12(1)-(3) (variously amended and substituted by SI 1992/1531; SI 1993/1822; 1994/1062; SI 1995/3067; SI 1996/2131; SI 1997/786). For the purposes of head (2)(a) supra, where long service benefit in the transferring scheme is related to a member's earnings at, or in a specified period before, the time when he attains normal pension age then, in the case of a member in pensionable service at the date of transfer, the value of the rights to be transferred must be based on pensionable service (including any transfer credits) in the transferring scheme up to that date and projected final pensionable earnings; and for the purposes of head (2)(c) supra, the actuary must, in considering whether there is good cause, have regard to all the circumstances of the case and in particular to any established custom of the receiving scheme with regard to the provision of discretionary benefits or increases in benefits and to any announcements made with regard to the provision of such benefits under the receiving scheme: Occupational Pension Schemes (Preservation of Benefit) Regulations 1991, SI 1991/167, reg 12(4), (4A) (respectively substituted and added by SI 1993/1822). Where it is proposed that a member's accrued rights are to be transferred in accordance with this provision, information about the proposed transfer and details of the value of the rights to be transferred (including rights in respect of death in service benefits and survivors' benefits) must be furnished to the member not less than one month before the proposed transfer is due to take place: Occupational Pension Schemes (Preservation of Benefit) Regulations 1991, SI 1991/167, reg 12(4B) (added by SI 1996/2131). For these purposes, 'actuary' means a Fellow of the Institute of Actuaries, a Fellow of the Faculty of Actuaries, or a person with other actuarial qualifications who is approved by the Secretary of State, at the request of the trustees or managers of the scheme, as being a proper person to act for these purposes in connection with the scheme: Occupational Pension Schemes (Preservation of Benefit) Regulations 1991, SI 1991/167, reg 12(5) (amended by SI 1993/1822). The definition of 'actuary' is applied to 'relevant actuary' and also includes, where the transferring scheme is a scheme for which an actuary is required under the Pensions Act 1995 s 47 (see PARA 825) to be appointed, the individual for the time being appointed in accordance with s 47(1) as actuary for that scheme: SI 1991/167 reg 12(5), as so amended. The conditions are that (1) the transferring scheme is or has been a stakeholder pension scheme, within the meaning the Welfare Reform and Pensions Act 1999 s 1, and the receiving scheme is such a scheme; (2) the transferring scheme has commenced winding-up; and (3) the transfer payment is of an amount at least equal to the cash equivalent of the member's rights under the scheme, as calculated and verified in a manner consistent with regulations made under the 1993 Act s 97 (see PARA 956): SI 1991/167 reg 12(6) (added by SI 2000/1403).

Halsbury's Laws of England/SOCIAL SECURITY AND PENSIONS (VOLUME 44(2) (REISSUE))/21. PROTECTION FOR EARLY LEAVERS/(1) PRESERVATION OF BENEFIT UNDER OCCUPATIONAL SCHEMES/935. Computation of short service benefit.

935. Computation of short service benefit.

Subject as follows, a scheme<sup>1</sup> must provide for short service benefit<sup>2</sup> to be computed on the same basis as long service benefit<sup>3</sup> and for that purpose, no account is to be taken of any rule making it (directly or indirectly) a condition of entitlement to benefit that pensionable service<sup>4</sup> must have been of any minimum duration<sup>5</sup>. This computation requirement does not, however, apply to so much of any benefit as accrues at a higher rate, or otherwise more favourably, in the case:

- 2584 (1) of members<sup>6</sup> with a period of pensionable service of some specified minimum length<sup>7</sup>; or
- 2585 (2) of members remaining in pensionable service up to some specified minimum age<sup>8</sup>, nor does it apply to so much of any benefit as is of an amount or at a rate unrelated to length of pensionable service or to the number or amount of contributions paid by or for the member<sup>9</sup>; and regulations<sup>10</sup> may provide that it is not to apply to any category of schemes or members or to any description of benefit<sup>11</sup>. So far as any short service benefit is not required to be computed in accordance with the above provisions, it must be computed on the basis of uniform accrual, so that at the time when pensionable service is terminated, it bears the same proportion to long service benefit as the period of that service bears to the period from the beginning of that service to the time when the member would attain normal pension age or such lower age as may be prescribed<sup>12</sup>.

Where long service benefit is related to a member's earnings<sup>13</sup> at, or in a specified period before, the time when he attains normal pension age<sup>14</sup>, short service benefit must be related in a corresponding manner to his earnings at, or in the same period before, the time when his pensionable service is terminated<sup>15</sup>. A scheme must comply with any regulations relating to the basis of computation of short service benefit, including regulations providing for the avoidance of fractional amounts and otherwise to facilitate computation<sup>16</sup>.

Where a scheme provides that, in computing the amount of long service benefit payable to any person, a deduction will be made, either to take account of benefits payable to that person under the Social Security Contributions and Benefits Act 1992 or otherwise, the scheme may provide for a corresponding deduction from short service benefit<sup>17</sup>.

10 For the meaning of 'regulations' see PARA 557 note 2 ante.

11 Pension Schemes Act 1993 s 74(5).

12 Ibid s 74(6). Where an earner in relevant employment is required to complete a period of service ('waiting period') before joining the scheme and if the earner joins the scheme, a specific part of long service benefit will be attributable to the waiting period, the preservation requirements are modified so that (1) the waiting period is treated as pensionable service; (2) the earner is treated as a member during that period; and (3) the part of long service benefit that will be attributable to the waiting period is treated as accruing at such a rate as to accrue in full over the whole of the waiting period: Occupational Pension Schemes (Preservation of Benefit) Regulations 1991, SI 1991/167, reg 13(1), (2) (reg 13 amended by SI 1996/2131). Where the rate at which long service benefit is treated as accruing during the waiting period is lower than the rate at which the rest of long service benefit accrues, then short service benefit must be computed on the basis of uniform accrual (in accordance with the Pension Schemes Act 1993 s 74(6)) except that the scheme may provide for short service benefit to be computed on the same basis as long service benefit (in accordance with s 74(1)) where the waiting period does not exceed two years: Occupational Pension Schemes (Preservation of Benefit) Regulations 1991, SI 1991/167, reg 13(3) (as so amended; also amended by SI 1994/1062).

14 For the meaning of 'normal pension age' see PARA 896 note 6 ante.

15 Pension Schemes Act 1993 s 74(7). Where long service benefit is related to a member's earnings during a specified period and the member's pensionable service is less than that period, the scheme must provide for short service benefit to be correspondingly related to the member's earnings during the whole of the member's pensionable service: Occupational Pension Schemes (Preservation of Benefit) Regulations 1991, SI 1991/167, reg 15.

936. Credits.

Subject to the following provisions, if a scheme<sup>1</sup> provides for long service benefit<sup>2</sup> to include supplementary credits<sup>3</sup>, it must:

- 2586 (1) provide for such credits to be included in short service benefit<sup>4</sup>; and
- 2587 (2) provide for all credits to be so included<sup>5</sup>.

Where purchased credits<sup>6</sup> have not been paid for in full at or before termination of pensionable service, the short service benefit must include the appropriate proportion of the credits<sup>7</sup>.

If the benefit includes bonus credits<sup>8</sup>, or credits for which payment is to be made by deduction from that or another benefit, the credits to be included in the benefit and (where applicable) the amount of the deduction must be computed on the assumption:

- 2588 (a) that the credits accrue in full only to a member remaining in pensionable service until normal pension age<sup>9</sup>; and
- 2589 (b) that the amount of any such credit, and also of any relevant deduction, accrues at a uniform rate from the time when the credit was awarded up to the time of his attaining that age<sup>10</sup>.

Where any such deduction is a percentage of benefit, the percentage must be the same for short service as for long service benefit<sup>11</sup>. A scheme must comply with any regulations<sup>12</sup> made with respect to the manner in which supplementary credits are to be included in short service benefit, including regulations providing for the avoidance of fractional amounts and otherwise to facilitate computation<sup>13</sup>.

1 For the meaning of 'scheme' see PARA 931 note 5 ante.

2 For the meaning of 'long service benefit' see PARA 932 note 7 ante.

3 'Supplementary credits', in relation to a scheme and a member's entitlement to its benefits, means any increase of benefit or additional benefit to which the member may become entitled: (1) in consequence of any provision made by or under the scheme after he becomes a member of it (to the extent that it applies to any previous pensionable service of his); or (2) by reference to previous service of his (whether or not pensionable service); or (3) in such other circumstances as may be prescribed, including under head (2) supra any transfer credits: Pension Schemes Act 1993 s 75(1). In circumstances where a member becomes entitled to the increase of benefit or additional benefit in consequence of a provision made by or under the scheme after he becomes a member of it and before his pensionable service terminates, 'supplementary credits' include any increase of benefit or additional benefit that is of an amount, or at a rate, unrelated to length of pensionable service or to the number or amount of contributions paid by or for the member: Occupational Pension Schemes (Preservation of Benefit) Regulations 1991, SI 1991/167, reg 4(1), (2) (amended by SI 1994/1062).

For the meaning of 'member' for these purposes see PARA 931 note 2 ante; for the meaning of 'pensionable service' see PARA 664 note 2 ante; for the meaning of 'prescribed' see PARA 555 note 1 ante; and for the meaning of 'transfer credits' see PARA 612 note 5 ante.

4 Pension Schemes Act 1993 s 75(2)(a). For the meaning of 'short service benefit' see PARA 932 note 6 ante.

5 Ibid s 75(2)(b).

6 'Purchased credits' means supplementary credits for which, under the rules of the scheme, a member may or must make a payment in whole or in part (whether by means of additional contributions, or of deduction from benefit, or otherwise, and whether separately for each credit or by one or more payments for one or more credits): ibid s 75(1).

7 Ibid s 75(3). In s 75(3) 'the appropriate proportion of the credits' means: (1) if they were to be paid for by a fixed amount, the same proportion as the amount paid bears to the full amount payable; and (2) otherwise, the same proportion as the period between the time when the first payment became due and the termination of the member's pensionable service bears to the whole period over which payment was to be made: s 75(4). As to calculating this proportion see the Occupational Pension Schemes (Preservation of Benefit) Regulations 1991, SI 1991/167, reg 17(2)-(5) (amended by SI 1994/1062).

8 'Bonus credits' means supplementary credits other than purchased credits or transfer credits: Pension Schemes Act 1993 s 75(1).

9 Ibid s 75(5)(a). For the meaning of 'normal pension age' see PARA 896 note 6 ante.

937. Pension increases.

A scheme<sup>1</sup> which by its rules provides for increases of long service benefit<sup>2</sup> from time to time (whether by way of upwards revaluation or otherwise) must provide for corresponding increases of short service benefit<sup>3</sup> in the case of members<sup>4</sup> whose pensionable service<sup>5</sup> terminates at any time after the coming into force of any such rule<sup>6</sup>. Where the provision for increasing long service benefit involves the exercise of a discretion, a corresponding discretion must be conferred in relation to short service benefit<sup>7</sup>. If an increase of long service benefit is to take effect at a specified time after termination of service, the corresponding increase of short service benefit must take effect at the same time after the time when short service benefit becomes payable<sup>8</sup>. Where provision is made for increase of long service benefit otherwise than at a fixed rate, short service benefit may nevertheless be subject to increase at a fixed rate, if the rate is at least 3 per cent a year compound<sup>9</sup>.

The trustees or managers<sup>1</sup> of any scheme<sup>2</sup> must furnish in writing:

2597 (1) as of course to any person as soon as practicable and, in any event, within two months after he or his employer<sup>3</sup> has notified the trustees that his pensionable service<sup>4</sup> has terminated; and

2598 (2) to any member or prospective member<sup>5</sup> on request (not being a request made less than 12 months after the last occasion on which such information was furnished to him) as soon as practicable and, in any event, within two months after he requests it, information as to the rights and options (if any) available to a member whose pensionable service terminates before he attains normal pension age<sup>6</sup>.

The trustees or managers of any scheme must furnish in writing, to any person who has paid contributions to the scheme which have not been refunded, as soon as practicable and, in any event, within two months after he requests it, information as to whether a refund of contributions is available or would be available in any circumstances, and in either case, an estimate of the amount of the refund and an explanation of the method of calculating it<sup>7</sup>. This information need not, however, be furnished on a request made after such information has already been furnished to the same person, in a case where the information was that no refund of contributions would be available in any circumstances, or less than 12 months after the last occasion on which such information was furnished to the same person, in any other case<sup>8</sup>.

Where a person fails, without reasonable excuse, to comply with any requirement imposed on him<sup>9</sup> to provide information regarding a transfer of accrued rights without consent or to provide any information required under the above provisions, the Occupational Pensions Regulatory Authority<sup>10</sup> may require him to pay, within 28 days, a penalty which must not exceed £1,000 in the case of an individual or £10,000 in any other case<sup>11</sup>.

Halsbury's Laws of England/SOCIAL SECURITY AND PENSIONS (VOLUME 44(2) (REISSUE))/21. PROTECTION FOR EARLY LEAVERS/(2) REVALUATION OF ACCRUED BENEFITS/941. Revaluation of accrued benefits; basis of revaluation.

(2) REVALUATION OF ACCRUED BENEFITS

941. Revaluation of accrued benefits; basis of revaluation.

Provision has been made for the purpose of revaluing:

- 2599 (1) benefits payable to or in respect of a member<sup>1</sup> of an occupational pension scheme<sup>2</sup> where:
- 228
300. (a) his pensionable service<sup>3</sup> ends on or after 1 January 1986<sup>4</sup>;
301. (b) on the date on which his pensionable service ends ('the termination date') he has accrued rights<sup>5</sup> to benefit under the scheme<sup>6</sup>;
302. (c) the period beginning with the day after the termination date and ending with the date on which he attains normal pension age<sup>7</sup> ('the pre-pension period') is at least 365 days<sup>8</sup>; and
303. (d) in the case of benefit payable to any other person in respect of the member, the member dies after attaining normal pension age<sup>9</sup>; and
- 229
- 2600 (2) benefits payable to or in respect of a member of a personal pension scheme<sup>10</sup>:
- 230
304. (a) in respect of whom contributions to the scheme have ceased to be paid<sup>11</sup>; and
305. (b) who has accrued rights to benefit under the scheme<sup>12</sup>.
- 231

Subject to the following provisions, in the case of such benefits as are mentioned in heads (1) (a) to (1)(d) above, any pension or other retirement benefit payable under the scheme in question to the member and any pension or other benefit payable under it to any other person in respect of him, is to be revalued by the final salary method<sup>13</sup>. If any such benefit is an average salary benefit<sup>14</sup> or flat rate benefit<sup>15</sup> and it appears to the trustees or managers<sup>16</sup> of the scheme under which it is payable that it is appropriate to revalue the benefit by the average salary method<sup>17</sup> or, as the case may be, the flat rate method<sup>18</sup>, then the benefit must be revalued using that method<sup>19</sup>. If any benefit such as is mentioned in heads (1)(a) to (1)(d) above is a money purchase benefit<sup>20</sup>, and in the case of such benefit as is mentioned in head (2) above, the benefit must be revalued using the money purchase method<sup>21</sup>.

In making any calculation for the purposes of the above provisions<sup>22</sup> in relation to any occupational pension scheme any commutation, forfeiture or surrender of, any charge or lien on, and any set-off against, the whole or part of a pension must be disregarded<sup>23</sup>.

1 As to the power to prescribe for these purposes the persons who are to be regarded as members or prospective members of an occupational pension scheme and as to the times at which and the circumstances in which a person is to be treated as becoming, or as ceasing to be, a member or prospective member see PARA 557 note 9 ante. TEXT AND NOTES 1-12--In heads (1) and (2), before 'benefits' insert 'relevant': Pension Schemes Act 1993 s 83(1) (amended by Welfare Reform and Pensions Act 1999 Sch 12 paras 28, 31(1), (2)). For the purposes of the 1993 Act s 83(1), the following are relevant benefits (1) any benefits payable otherwise than by virtue of rights which are attributable (directly or indirectly) to a pension credit; and (2) in the case of a salary-related occupational pension scheme, any benefits payable by virtue of such rights, to the extent that the rights involve the member being credited by the scheme with notional pensionable service: s 83(1A) (added by 1999 Act Sch 12 paras 28, 31(1), (3)). For these purposes, an occupational pension scheme is salary-related if (a) it is not a money purchase scheme; and (b) it does not fall within a prescribed class: 1993 Act s 83(4) (added by 1999 Act Sch 12 paras 28, 31(1), (4)).

NOTE 21--1993 Act s 84(5) (amended by Pensions Act 2004 s 281; and SI 2005/2053) now makes provision for surviving civil partners. 1993 Act s 84(6) (meaning of 'retail prices index') added by Pensions Act 2004 s 281; and amended by Statistics and Registration Service Act 2007 Sch 3 para 9).

Halsbury's Laws of England/SOCIAL SECURITY AND PENSIONS (VOLUME 44(2) (REISSUE))/21. PROTECTION FOR EARLY LEAVERS/(2) REVALUATION OF ACCRUED BENEFITS/942. The final salary method.

942. The final salary method.

The final salary method is to add to the amount that would be payable but for the provisions relating to the revaluation of accrued benefits<sup>1</sup> or regulations<sup>2</sup> made under those provisions:

2601 (1) in a case where:

232

306. (a) the termination of pensionable service<sup>3</sup> occurs on or after 1 January 1991<sup>4</sup>; or

307. (b) the whole of the member's pensionable service falls on or after 1 January 1985<sup>5</sup>,

233

2602 an amount equal to the appropriate revaluation percentage<sup>6</sup> of the amount of the pension or other benefit which on the termination date<sup>7</sup> has accrued to him or to any other person in respect of him (excluding any part of that amount which consists of the member's or his widow's or her widower's guaranteed minimum)<sup>8</sup>; and

2603 (2) in any other case, an amount equal to such proportion of the appropriate revaluation percentage of the amount of that pension or other benefit (excluding any such part) as the member's pensionable service falling on or after 1 January 1985 bears to his total pensionable service<sup>9</sup>.

Any rule of a scheme the effect of which is that benefit falls to be revalued by reference to any period is to be disregarded in making any calculation required by this method<sup>10</sup>. For the above purposes the Secretary of State must in each calendar year by order specify a revaluation percentage for each period which is a revaluation period in relation to that order<sup>11</sup>.

1 le the provisions of the Pension Schemes Act 1993 Pt IV Ch II (ss 83-86) (as amended): see PARA 941 ante.

2 For the meaning of 'regulations' see PARA 557 note 2 ante.

3 For the meaning of 'pensionable service' see PARA 664 note 2 ante. For these purposes, 'pensionable service' includes any notional pensionable service which is credited to the member by the scheme: Pension Schemes Act 1993 s 84, Sch 3 para 1(2).

4 Ibid Sch 3 para 1(1)(a)(i).

5 Pension Schemes Act 1993 Sch 3 para 1(1)(a)(ii).

6 'The appropriate revaluation percentage' means the revaluation percentage specified in the last calendar year before the date on which the member attains normal pension age as the revaluation percentage for the revaluation period which is of the same length as the number of complete years in the pre-pension period: ibid Sch 3 para 2(7). The revaluation percentage which the Secretary of State is to specify in relation to each revaluation period is (1) the percentage which appears to him to be the percentage increase in the general level of prices in Great Britain during the period which is the reference period in relation to that revaluation period; or (2) the maximum rate, whichever is the less: Sch 3 para 2(3). For the meaning of 'Great Britain' see PARA 15 note 4 ante. For an example of the exercise of this power see the Occupational Pensions (Revaluation) Order 1996, SI 1996/2926. As to the Secretary of State see PARA 1 ante.

The Secretary of State may estimate the percentage increase mentioned in head (1) supra in such manner as he thinks fit: Pension Schemes Act 1993 Sch 3 para 2(4). For the purposes of that head, the reference period in relation to a revaluation period is: (a) in the case of the revaluation period beginning on 1 January 1986, the period which begins with 1 October 1985 and ends with the last day before the making of the order which is 30 September; and (b) in the case of the revaluation periods with later commencement dates, the period which begins with the last day before the commencement of the revaluation period which is 1 October and ends with the last day before the making of the order which is 30 September: Sch 3 para 2(5). For the purposes of head (2) supra, 'the maximum rate', in relation to a revaluation period, is (i) in the case of a revaluation period of 12 months, 5%; and (ii) in any other case, the percentage that would be the revaluation percentage had the general level of prices increased at the rate of 5% compound per annum during the reference period in question: Sch 3 para 2(6). For the meaning of 'normal pension age' see PARA 896 note 6 ante. A period is a 'revaluation period', in relation to an order under Sch 3 para 2 if it is a period which begins with 1 January 1986 or with an anniversary of that date falling before the making of the order and ends with the next day after the making of the order which is 31 December: Sch 3 para 2(2). For the meaning of 'the pre-pension period' see PARA 941 head (1)(c) ante.

7 For the meaning of 'the termination date' see PARA 941 head (1)(b) ante.

8 Pension Schemes Act 1993 Sch 3 para 1(1)(a).

9 Ibid Sch 3 para 1(1)(b). For the purposes of Sch 3 para 1(1)(b), any notional pensionable service which is credited to a member by a scheme must be taken to have ended immediately before the member's actual pensionable service began: Sch 3 para 1(3).

10 Ibid Sch 3 para 1(4).

11 Ibid Sch 3 para 2(1).

943. The average salary method.

The average salary method is to revalue the member's<sup>1</sup> salaries<sup>2</sup> as respects the pre-pension period<sup>3</sup> in any way in which they would have been revalued during that period if he had remained in the same pensionable service<sup>4</sup>. For these purposes those salaries are to be taken to include:

- 2604 (1) any amount which is attributed to them, otherwise than by virtue of these provisions, as the result of a revaluation for which the rules of the scheme provide<sup>5</sup>; and
- 2605 (2) any amount which is for any reason credited to the member by way of salary notionally earned<sup>6</sup>.

For the purposes of the application of these provisions to a case where a member is credited with an amount by reference to salary notionally earned over a period of time of a particular length, that period must be taken to have ended immediately before the member's actual pensionable service began<sup>7</sup>.

1 As to the power to prescribe for these purposes the persons who are to be regarded as members or prospective members of an occupational pension scheme and as to the times at which and the circumstances in which a person is to be treated as becoming, or as ceasing to be, a member or prospective member see PARA 557 note 9 ante. For the meaning of 'prescribe' see PARA 555 note 1 ante; and for the meaning of 'occupational pension scheme' see PARA 741 ante.

2 'Salaries' means, subject to the Pension Schemes Act 1993 s 84, Sch 3 para 3(4), the member's salaries for the period between the date when his pensionable service began and the termination date, or such part of them as was relevant under the scheme to the calculation of the retirement benefits payable under the scheme to him or to any other person in respect of him: Sch 3 para 3(2). For the meaning of 'pensionable service' see PARA 664 note 2 ante. For the meaning of 'the termination date' see PARA 941 head (1)(b) ante. Where the member's pensionable service ended before 1 January 1991, Sch 3 para 3(2) must have effect with the substitution for the words from 'means' to 'termination date' of the words 'means the member's salaries for the period between 1 January 1985 and the termination date': Sch 3 para 3(4).

944. The flat rate method and the money purchase method.

The flat rate method is to revalue the benefits which have accrued to the member<sup>1</sup> as respects the pre-pension period<sup>2</sup> in any way in which they would have been revalued during that period if he had remained in the same pensionable service<sup>3</sup>. Subject to the following provisions, the money purchase method is to apply the investment yield and any bonuses arising from payments made by or on behalf of a member towards providing any pension or other retirement benefit which is payable under the scheme to him or to any other person in respect of him in the manner in which they would have been applied if his pensionable service had not terminated<sup>4</sup>.

The Secretary of State<sup>5</sup> may by regulations<sup>6</sup> authorise trustees and managers<sup>7</sup> of occupational pension schemes<sup>8</sup> to deduct from any pension or other retirement benefit provided by virtue of the money purchase method an appropriate amount in respect of the administrative expenses incurred by them in carrying this method into effect<sup>9</sup>. The trustees and managers of a personal pension scheme<sup>10</sup> may, when providing a pension or other retirement benefit by virtue of the money purchase method, deduct the actual administrative expenses of doing so, or the amount of the administrative expenses which would have been incurred in providing a money purchase benefit<sup>11</sup> for the same member if contributions had not ceased to be paid to the scheme in respect of him, whichever is the less<sup>12</sup>.

Halsbury's Laws of England/SOCIAL SECURITY AND PENSIONS (VOLUME 44(2) (REISSUE))/21. PROTECTION FOR EARLY LEAVERS/(3) PROTECTION OF INCREASES IN GUARANTEED MINIMUM PENSIONS/947. Application of the general protection principle.

(3) PROTECTION OF INCREASES IN GUARANTEED MINIMUM PENSIONS

947. Application of the general protection principle.

The general protection principle applies where:

- 2617 (1) there is an interval between:
234
  - 308. (a) the date on which an earner<sup>1</sup> ceases to be in employment<sup>2</sup> which is contracted-out<sup>3</sup> by reference to an occupational pension scheme<sup>4</sup> which is not a money purchase contracted-out scheme<sup>5</sup> ('the cessation date'); and
  - 309. (b) the date on which his guaranteed minimum pension<sup>6</sup> under that scheme commences ('the commencement of payment date')<sup>7</sup>;
- 235 2618 (2) the relevant sum<sup>8</sup> exceeds his guaranteed minimum on the day after the cessation date<sup>9</sup>; and
- 2619 (3) on the commencement of payment date or at any time after it his guaranteed minimum pension under the scheme exceeds the amount of his guaranteed minimum under it on the day after the cessation date<sup>10</sup>.

The general protection principle also applies where:

- 2620 (i) there is an interval between the earner's cessation date and whichever of the following is the earlier, that is the date of his death or his commencement of payment date<sup>11</sup>;
- 2621 (ii) the relevant sum exceeds one half of the earner's guaranteed minimum on the day after the cessation date<sup>12</sup>; and
- 2622 (iii) at any time when a pension under the occupational pension scheme is required to be paid to the earner's widow or widower, the widow's or, as the case may be, the widower's guaranteed minimum pension under the scheme exceeds one half of the earner's guaranteed minimum on the day after the cessation date<sup>13</sup>.

Nothing in these provisions must, however, be construed as entitling an earner who has not reached normal pension age to any portion of a pension under a scheme to which he would not otherwise be entitled<sup>14</sup>.

The general protection principle does not apply to a pension to which a person is entitled in respect of employment if:

- 2623 (A) the earner left the employment, or left it for the last time, before 1 January 1985<sup>15</sup>; or
- 2624 (B) the employment ceased, or ceased for the last time, to be contracted-out in relation to him before that date<sup>16</sup>.

In making any calculation for these purposes<sup>17</sup> any commutation, forfeiture or surrender of, any charge or lien on, and any set-off against, the whole or part of a pension must be disregarded<sup>18</sup>.

1 For the meaning of 'earner' and 'earnings' see PARAS 32-33 ante (definitions applied by the Pension Schemes Act 1993 s 181(1)).

2 For the meaning of 'employment' generally see PARA 560 note 5 ante.

3 For the meaning of 'contracted-out employment' see PARA 878 ante.

4 For the meaning of 'occupational pension scheme' see PARA 741 ante.

5 For the meaning of 'money purchase scheme' see PARA 811 note 2 ante; and for the meaning of 'contracted-out scheme' see PARA 880 ante.

6 For the meaning of 'guaranteed minimum pension' see PARA 878 ante. In calculating an earner's guaranteed minimum for the purposes of the Pension Schemes Act 1993 Pt IV Ch III (ss 87-92) (see the text and notes 7-19 infra; and PARAS 948-950 post) his earnings factor must be taken to be that factor as increased, except as provided by s 92(3), by the last order under the Social Security Pensions Act 1975 s 21 (repealed) or the Social Security Administration Act 1992 s 148 (as amended) (see PARA 56 ante) to come into force before the end of the tax year in which the cessation date falls: Pension Schemes Act 1993 s 92(2). For the meaning of 'earnings factor' see PARA 56 ante (definition applied by s 181(1)). For the meaning of 'tax year' see PARA 893 note 1 ante. If an earner's cessation date falls in the tax year in which he attains pensionable age, s 92(2) has effect in relation to him as if for the words from 'tax year' onwards there were substituted the words 'final relevant year': s 92(3). 'Final relevant year' has the same meaning as in s 16 (as amended) (see PARA 891 ante): s 92(4). For the meaning of 'pensionable age' see PARA 562 ante.

7 Ibid s 87(1)(a). The provisions set out in s 87(1), (2) are referred to as 'the general protection principle'.

8 'The relevant sum' means: (1) in a case where ibid s 87(1) applies: (a) if the earner reaches normal pension age on or before the cessation date, an amount equal to the weekly rate of his pension on the day after the cessation date; and (b) if he reaches normal pension age after the cessation date, an amount equal to the weekly rate of any short service benefit which has accrued to him on the cessation date or, where no such benefit has then accrued, any other benefit to which s 88(1)(a)(ii) applies and which has then accrued to him; and (2) in a case where s 87(2) applies (see the text and notes 11-13 infra), an amount equal to the weekly rate at which, on the prescribed assumptions, a pension would have begun to be paid to the widow or widower if that person had satisfied the conditions for entitlement to a pension which are specified in the scheme: s 88(1). Head (1) supra has effect subject to s 88(5) and to s 87(5) (see note 10 infra) and s 91(1) (see PARA 949 post); and head (2) supra has effect subject to section 87(5): s 88(2). The prescribed assumptions for the purpose of calculating the relevant sum are as follows: in a case where s 87(2) applies, 'the relevant sum' means an amount equal to the weekly rate at which a pension would have commenced to be paid to the widow or widower, on the assumptions that (i) the earner had died on the day after the termination of employment date being then married to the widow or widower; and (ii) the weekly rate of the pension was then calculated using the formula appropriate to the circumstances of the earner's actual death but excluding, where the earner dies in employment to which the scheme applies, any notional service after the termination of employment date: see the Contracting-out (Protection of Pensions) Regulations 1991, SI 1991/166, reg 5 (amended by SI 1994/1062; having effect by virtue of the Pension Schemes Act 1993 s 189(1), Sch 6 para 2(2)). For the meaning of 'prescribed' see PARA 555 note 1 ante.

The benefit other than short service benefit to which head (1)(b) supra applies is benefit which would have been provided as either the whole or part of the earner's short service benefit; or of which the earner's short service benefit would have formed part, if the Pension Schemes Act 1993 s 71(1)(a) (see PARA 932 ante) had effect with the substitution of a reference to the service which the earner had on the cessation date for the reference to two years' qualifying service: s 88(3). Any such benefit is only to be included in the relevant sum to the extent that it does not exceed the amount which the scheme would have had to provide as short service benefit if s 71(1) had effect as mentioned in s 88(3): s 88(4). If the payment of any part of the earner's pension is postponed beyond the cessation date, the relevant sum is an amount equal to what would have been the weekly rate of his pension on the day after the cessation date if there had been no such postponement: s 88(5). For the meaning of 'normal pension age' see PARA 896 note 6 ante. Any reference to the weekly rate of a pension is to be construed, in relation to a pension payable otherwise than weekly, as a reference to the weekly sum which would be payable in respect of a pension of that amount payable weekly: s 92(5). For the meaning of 'short service benefit' see s 71(1), (2); and PARA 932 note 6 ante.

9 Ibid s 87(1)(b).

10 Ibid s 87(1)(c). To the extent that amounts attributable to transfer credits have accrued by reason of any transfer before 1 January 1985, they are to be disregarded for the purposes of s 87(1)(c), (2)(c) (see the text and note 13 infra) and s 87(4)(b) (see note 13 infra): s 87(5). #### 948. Requirements of the general protection principle.

Where the general protection principle applies<sup>1</sup>, the weekly rate of the pension payable to the member<sup>2</sup> at any time when that pension is required to be paid or, as the case may be, is payable to the widow or widower at any specified time<sup>3</sup>, must be an amount not less:

- 2625 (1) in a case where<sup>4</sup> a pension is provided by way of complete substitute for short service benefit<sup>5</sup> or, as the case may be, for widow's or widower's pension, than the weekly rate of that pension<sup>6</sup>; and
- 2626 (2) in any other case, than the relevant aggregate<sup>7</sup>.

'The relevant aggregate' means the aggregate of the following:

- 2627 (a) the relevant sum<sup>8</sup>;
- 2628 (b) the excess of guaranteed minimum pension as mentioned in the provisions applying the general protection principle<sup>9</sup>;
- 2629 (c) any amount which is an appropriate addition<sup>10</sup> at the time in question; and
- 2630 (d) where the scheme provides that part of the earner's or, as the case may be, the widow's or widower's pension is to accrue after the cessation date by reason of the earner's employment after that date, the later earnings addition<sup>11</sup>, and 'the later earnings addition' means the amount (if any) by which the assumed later unguaranteed element<sup>12</sup> exceeds the unguaranteed element<sup>13</sup>.

1    Ie where the Pension Schemes Act 1993 s 87(1) or (2) applies: see PARA 947 ante.

2    As to the power to prescribe for these purposes the persons who are to be regarded as members or prospective members of an occupational pension scheme and as to the times at which and the circumstances in which a person is to be treated as becoming, or as ceasing to be, a member or prospective member see PARA 557 note 9 ante. For the meaning of 'prescribe' see PARA 555 note 1 ante; and for the meaning of 'occupational pension scheme' see PARA 741 ante.

3    Ie at any such time as is mentioned in the Pension Schemes Act 1993 s 87(2)(c): see PARA 947 ante.

4    Ie by virtue of ibid s 73(2)(b): see PARA 934 ante.

5    For the meaning of 'short service benefit' see PARA 932 note 6 ante.

6    Pension Schemes Act 1993 s 87(3)(a).

7    Ibid s 87(3)(b).

8    For the meaning of 'the relevant sum' see PARA 947 note 8 ante.

9    Ie as mentioned in the Pension Schemes Act 1993 s 87(1)(c) or, as the case may be, s 87(2)(c): see PARA 947 ante.

10   'Appropriate addition' means: (1) where a scheme provides that part of an earner's or, as the case may be, a widow's or widower's pension must accrue after the cessation date by reason of the earner's employment after that date, an amount equal to the part which has so accrued; and (2) where a scheme provides that an earner's or, as the case may be, a widow's or widower's pension which has accrued before that date must be enhanced after that date if payment of the earner's pension is postponed, the amount by which the unguaranteed element of the pension has been enhanced by reason of the postponement: ibid s 89(1). For the purposes of head (2) supra the unguaranteed element of a pension is: (a) in the case of an earner's pension, the excess of the pension on the day after the cessation date over the earner's guaranteed minimum on that day; and (b) in the case of the widow's or widower's pension, the excess of that pension on that day over one half of the earner's guaranteed minimum on that day: s 89(2). For the meaning of 'earner' see PARA 32 ante (definition applied by s 181(1)); for the meaning of 'employment' see PARA 560 note 5 ante; and for the meaning of 'cessation date' see PARA 947 head (1)(a) ante.

12 For these purposes, 'the unguaranteed element' means the amount by which the relevant sum exceeds the earner's guaranteed minimum on the day after his cessation date or, in the case of a widow's or widower's pension, one half of that minimum: ibid s 90(2)(a). As to the assumed later unguaranteed element see note 13 infra.

13 Ibid s 90(1). 'The assumed later unguaranteed element' means the amount by which the relevant sum would exceed the earner's guaranteed minimum (or, in the case of a widow's or widower's pension, one half of that minimum) on the assumptions mentioned in s 90(3): s 90(2)(b). Those assumptions are (1) that the relevant sum were calculated on the basis that the weekly rate of the pension or benefit which determines that sum had been calculated by reference to the level of earnings by reference to which that rate would have been calculated if the earner's cessation date had fallen on the earlier of the earner's commencement of payment date, or the date on which the earner ceased to be in pensionable service under the scheme; and (2) that the earner's guaranteed minimum were such sum as bears the same proportion to the assumed later unguaranteed element as the guaranteed minimum mentioned in s 90(2)(a) bears to the unguaranteed element: s 90(3).

Where part of the pension for the earner, or the earner's widow or widower, accrues after the earner reaches normal pension age by reason of the earner's employment after that date, s 90 is so modified as to require the earner's later earnings level to be calculated as if the earner's termination of employment date had fallen on the earlier of (a) the earner's commencement of payment date; or (b) the date on which the pension ceased to accrue under the scheme: Contracting-out (Protection of Pensions) Regulations 1991, SI 1991/166, reg 8 (amended by SI 1994/1062; having effect by virtue of the Pension Schemes Act 1993 s 189(1), Sch 6 para 2(2)).

949. Special provision where employment continues after it ceases to be contracted-out by reference to scheme.

If (1) an earner's<sup>1</sup> employment<sup>2</sup> ceases to be contracted-out<sup>3</sup> by reference to an occupational pension scheme<sup>4</sup> but the scheme continues to apply to it; or (2) an earner transfers from employment which is contracted-out by reference to an occupational pension scheme to employment to which the scheme applies but which is not contracted-out by reference to it, the amount of any short service<sup>5</sup> or other benefit which has accrued to the earner must be computed for certain purposes<sup>6</sup> as it would be computed if he had ceased on the cessation date<sup>7</sup> to be in employment to which the scheme applies<sup>8</sup>.

If a benefit under a scheme is conditional on an earner attaining a particular age<sup>9</sup> or having a particular length of service and one of the events mentioned above occurs before he has fulfilled the condition, but he continues to be in employment to which the scheme applies until he has done so, the earner must be treated for the statutory purposes<sup>10</sup> as if that benefit had accrued to him<sup>11</sup>.

Halsbury's Laws of England/SOCIAL SECURITY AND PENSIONS (VOLUME 44(2) (REISSUE))/21. PROTECTION FOR EARLY LEAVERS/(3) PROTECTION OF INCREASES IN GUARANTEED MINIMUM PENSIONS/949A. Protection of increases in guaranteed minimum pensions: alternative rules.

949A. Protection of increases in guaranteed minimum pensions: alternative rules.

Alternative rules relating to the protection of increases in guaranteed minimum pensions<sup>1</sup> apply, instead of the usual rules relating to such protection<sup>2</sup>, in the case of a person, known as the pensioner, who is entitled to benefits under any occupational pension scheme if the benefits to which he is entitled under the scheme include a guaranteed minimum pension<sup>3</sup>. The alternative rules do not apply in the pensioner's case, instead of the usual rules, unless (1) the pensioner is a member of the scheme who, in relation to that scheme, left pensionable service after the coming into force of the alternative rules<sup>4</sup>; (2) the pensioner is the widow or widower of a member of the scheme whose pensionable service ended, by death or otherwise, after that date; or (3) certain criteria<sup>5</sup> are satisfied in relation to the benefits to which the pensioner is entitled under the scheme<sup>6</sup>. The alternative rules also do not apply in the pensioner's case (and, accordingly, the usual rules apply) if the scheme is a scheme of a prescribed description, unless the trustees or managers of the scheme have elected<sup>7</sup>, in the prescribed manner, that the alternative rules should apply in the case of the scheme<sup>8</sup>.

Where the alternative rules apply in the pensioner's case, the amount of the benefits to which he is entitled under the scheme must not be less than the amount of the benefits to which he would have been entitled under the scheme if his entitlement fell to be calculated by a specified method<sup>9</sup>. This provision<sup>10</sup> does not apply to benefits consisting in an alternative to a short service benefit<sup>11</sup>, except to the extent that (a) that provision would apply for the computation of the short service benefit to which those benefits are an alternative; and (b) the amount of any of the alternative benefits falls to be computed wholly or partly by reference to the value of what would have been the short service benefit<sup>12</sup>. All the above provisions override any provision of an occupational pension scheme with which they are inconsistent except a provision which is a protected provision<sup>13</sup>. However, all the above provisions<sup>14</sup> are without prejudice to any person's entitlement to exercise (i) any right of commutation, forfeiture or surrender of the whole or any part of any benefits computed in accordance with the alternative rules; (ii) any charge or lien on the whole or any part of any such benefits; or (iii) any right of set-off against the whole or any part of any such benefits, and, accordingly, the computations to be done<sup>15</sup> must be done disregarding anything falling within any of heads (i)-(iii) above<sup>16</sup>.

The Secretary of State may by order make such modifications of the above provisions as he considers appropriate<sup>17</sup>.

1    Ie contained in the Child Support, Pensions and Social Security Act 2000 Sch 5 paras 14-17. As to commencement see NOTE 4.

2    Ie contained in the Pension Schemes Act 1993 Pt IV Ch III (ss 87-92) (see PARAS 947-949).

3    Child Support, Pensions and Social Security Act 2000 Sch 5 para 14(1).

4    The Child Support, Pensions and Social Security Act 2000 Sch 5 paras 14-17 came into force on 12 February 2001, for the purposes only of authorising the making of regulations and the making of orders, and on 6 April 2002, for all other purposes: SI 2000/3166 (amended by SI 2001/1252), SI 2001/2295.

5    The criteria are that (1) the time at which the benefits first become payable is after the coming into force of the Child Support, Pensions and Social Security Act 2000 Sch 5 Pt II (see NOTE 4); (2) the benefits do not first become payable in respect of the death of a member of the scheme to whom benefits had already become payable under the scheme before that date; and (3) the trustees or managers of the scheme have elected, in the prescribed manner, that Sch 5 Pt II should apply to benefits first becoming payable under the scheme after that date: Sch 5 para 14(3). 'Prescribed' means prescribed by regulations: Pension Schemes Act 1993 s 181(1);

Child Support, Pensions and Social Security Act 2000 Sch 5 para 17(4). Any power of the Secretary of State to make regulations under Sch 5 Pt II is exercisable by statutory instrument subject to annulment in pursuance of a resolution of either House of Parliament: Sch 5 para 17(5). Furthermore, the Pension Schemes Act 1993 s 182(2)-(5) (see PARA 977) applies (a) to any power of the Secretary of State to make regulations under the Child Support, Pensions and Social Security Act 2000 Sch 5 Pt II; and (b) to the power of the Secretary of State to make an order under Sch 5 para 17(6) (see TEXT AND NOTE 17), as it applies to his powers to make regulations and orders under the Pension Schemes Act 1993: Child Support, Pensions and Social Security Act 2000 Sch 5 para 17(8). As to elections see NOTE 7.

6 Ibid Sch 5 para 14(2).

7 An election for the purposes of ibid Sch 5 para 14 is not exercisable differently in relation to different members of the scheme and, once exercised, is irrevocable: Sch 5 para 14(5).

8 Ibid Sch 5 para 14(4).

9 Ibid Sch 5 para 15(1). The specified method is as follows:

Step 1: compute the amount of any benefits consisting in the guaranteed minimum pension to which the pensioner is entitled;

Step 2: compute what would have been the amount of those benefits on the basis of assumptions set out in Sch 5 para 15(3);

Step 3: determine the extent (if any) to which attributing an amount of benefits equal to the amount computed in accordance with Step 2 to rights accruing before 6 April 1997 would leave any such rights unused;

Step 4: compute, in accordance with Sch 5 para 15(4), the amount of such of the benefits to which the pensioner is entitled under the scheme as are attributable to rights accruing before 6 April 1997 (if any) which, applying the determination in Step 3, would be left unused after the attribution of the amount mentioned in that Step to rights so accruing;

Step 5: compute the amount resulting, on the required assumption, from the application of the statutory revaluations and increases in the case of the benefits computed in accordance with Step 4;

Step 6: compute, in accordance with Sch 5 para 15(4), the amount of such of the benefits to which the pensioner is entitled under the scheme as are attributable to rights accruing on or after 6 April 1997;

Step 7: compute the amount resulting, on the required assumption, from the application of the statutory revaluations and increases in the case of the benefits computed in accordance with Step 6;

Step 8: aggregate the results of Steps 1, 5 and 7 to give the minimum benefits required by Sch 5 para 15(1): Sch 5 para 15(2).

The assumptions referred to in Step 2 are (1) that no increases are required to be made in accordance with the Pension Schemes Act 1993 s 15 (see PARA 892) or 109 (see PARA 926); (2) that increases in accordance with s 16(1) (see PARA 891) of any earner's earnings factors are to be calculated as if references to the final relevant year were references to whichever is the earlier of (a) the final relevant tax year; and (b) the tax year immediately preceding that in which the member in question left service that qualified him for salary-related benefits under the scheme; and (3) that no increases in accordance with any provision included in the scheme by virtue of s 16(3) (see PARA 891) are to be made for any year after the tax year immediately preceding that in which the member in question left service that qualified him for salary-related benefits under the scheme: Child Support, Pensions and Social Security Act 2000 Sch 5 para 15(3). Any reference in Sch 5 para 15 to a provision of the Pension Schemes Act 1993 includes a reference to any enactment re-enacted in that provision: Child Support, Pensions and Social Security Act 2000 Sch 5 para 15(9). 'Salary-related benefits' means benefits that are not money purchase benefits: Sch 5 para 17(3).

For the purposes of Steps 4 and 6 (a) if (apart from Sch 5 para 15(4)) there would be a difference between the two steps in the level of salary taken as the level by reference to which any salary-related benefits are to be computed, the level used for Step 4 must be no lower than that used for Step 6; and (b) statutory revaluations and increases must not be attributed to rights accruing at any time: Sch 5 para 15(4).

For the purposes of Steps 5 and 7, the required assumption is that the benefits in whose case the statutory revaluations and increases are applied comprise a whole pension deriving from the rights to which they are taken to be attributable for the purposes of Step 4 or, as the case may be, Step 6: Sch 5 para 15(5).

In Sch 5 Pt II references to rights accruing to a member of a scheme before 6 April 1997 include references (i) in relation to salary-related benefits, to rights accruing at any time in respect of service before that date; and (ii) in relation to benefits of any description, to rights that derive from any transfer of accrued rights or transfer payment and represent rights accruing under any other scheme before that date; and a reference in Sch 5 Pt II to rights accruing on or after that date are to be construed accordingly: Sch 5 para 17(1). For the purposes of Sch 5 Pt II rights to money purchase benefits that are attributable to payments in respect of employment are rights accruing before 6 April 1997 in so far only as that employment was employment carried on before that date; and a reference in Sch 5 Pt II to rights accruing on or after that date are to be construed accordingly: Sch 5 para 17(2).

Subject to Sch 5 para 15(7), references in Sch 5 para 15 to the statutory revaluations and increases are references to (A) the revaluations required to be made in accordance with the Pension Schemes Act 1993 Pt IV Ch II (ss 83-86: see PARA 941); and (B) the increases required to be made by virtue of the Pensions Act 1995 s 51 (see PARA 861): Child Support, Pensions and Social Security Act 2000 Sch 5 para 15(6). For the purpose of applying the statutory revaluations and increases for the purposes of Steps 5 and 7, money may be used in a way allowed by the Pension Schemes Act 1993 s 110(1) (see PARA 926), and any deductions authorised by the Pensions Act 1995 s 53(1) or (2) (see PARA 863) may be made: Child Support, Pensions and Social Security Act 2000 Sch 5 para 15(7).

NOTE 5--SI 1991/166 further amended: SI 2005/2050.

Halsbury's Laws of England/SOCIAL SECURITY AND PENSIONS (VOLUME 44(2) (REISSUE))/21. PROTECTION FOR EARLY LEAVERS/(4) TRANSFER VALUES/951. Circumstances in which the right to a cash equivalent applies.

(4) TRANSFER VALUES

951. Circumstances in which the right to a cash equivalent applies.

The statutory provisions relating to transfer values which confer the right to a cash equivalent<sup>1</sup> apply:

- 2636 (1) to any member<sup>2</sup> of an occupational pension scheme:
- 236 310. (a) whose pensionable service<sup>3</sup> has terminated at least one year before normal pension age<sup>4</sup>; and
- 311. (b) who on the date on which his pensionable service terminated had accrued rights<sup>5</sup> to benefit under the scheme,
- 237 2637 Except a member of a salary-related<sup>6</sup> occupational pension scheme whose pensionable service terminated before 1 January 1986 and in respect of whom prescribed requirements<sup>7</sup> are satisfied<sup>8</sup>;
- 2638 (2) to any member of a personal pension scheme (other than a scheme which is comprised in an annuity contract made before 4 January 1988) who has accrued rights to benefit under the scheme<sup>9</sup>.

Regulations<sup>10</sup> may provide for the right to a cash equivalent not to apply in relation to a person of a prescribed description or may apply the provisions conferring that right with prescribed modifications<sup>11</sup> to occupational pension schemes which are not money purchase schemes but where some of the benefits that may be provided are money purchase benefits<sup>12</sup>.

1 le the provisions of the Pension Schemes Act 1993 Pt IV Ch IV (ss 93-101) (as amended): see PARA 952 et seq post.

2 For these purposes, any reference to a member of an occupational pension scheme or a personal pension scheme in ibid Pt IV Ch IV (as amended) is a reference to a member of such a scheme to whom Pt IV Ch IV (as amended) applies: s 93(2). For the meaning of 'occupational pension scheme' and 'personal pension scheme' see PARAS 741, 710 respectively ante.

3 For the meaning of 'pensionable service' see PARA 664 note 2 ante.

4 For the meaning of 'normal pension age' see PARA 896 note 6 ante.

5 For the meaning of 'accrued rights' for these purposes see PARA 934 note 7 ante.

6 An occupational pension scheme is salary-related if the scheme is not a money purchase scheme, and the scheme does not fall within a prescribed class: Pension Schemes Act 1993 s 93(1A) (s 93(1A), (1B) added by the Pensions Act 1995 s 152). For the meaning of 'money purchase scheme' see PARA 811 note 2 ante; and for the meaning of 'prescribed' see PARA 555 note 1 ante. The prescribed class of scheme is a scheme the only benefits provided by which (other than money purchase benefits) are death benefits and under the provisions of which no member has accrued rights (other than rights to money purchase benefits): Occupational Pension Schemes (Transfer Values) Regulations 1996, SI 1996/1847, reg 1A (added by SI 1997/786).

7 The Pension Schemes Act 1993 Pt IV Ch IV (as amended) does not apply to a member of a salary-related scheme whose pensionable service terminated before 1 January 1986 if all of the member's accrued rights to benefits under the scheme (1) are rights (a) to official pensions specified in the Pensions (Increase) Act 1971 Sch 2 (as amended) (official pensions); (b) to pensions in relation to which the Pensions (Increase) Act 1971 has effect by virtue of regulations made under s 5(2) (scope of the 1971 Act and general powers); or (c) to pensions under a scheme the rules of which provide that pensions thereunder are to be increased in accordance with the Pensions (Increase) Act 1971; or (2) are rights to pensions under a scheme the rules of which provide that pensions thereunder are to be revalued in the pre-pension period (as defined in the Pension Schemes Act 1993 s 83(1)(a)(iii): see PARA 941 head (1)(c) ante) at a rate equal to or exceeding the rate of inflation as measured by the retail price index: Occupational Pension Schemes (Transfer Values) Regulations 1996, SI 1996/1847, reg 2.

8 Pension Schemes Act 1993 s 93(1)(a) (substituted by the Pensions Act 1995 s 152). This provision is modified in the case of a member whose normal pension age is earlier than 60: see the Occupational Pension Schemes (Transfer Values) Regulations 1996, SI 1996/1847, reg 15.

931-960 Protection for Early Leavers

See further Pension Schemes Act 1993 Pt 4 Ch 5 (ss 101AA-101AI) (early leavers: cash transfer sums and contribution refunds); and PARA 960A.

951 Circumstances in which the right to a cash equivalent applies

NOTE 5--In the Pension Schemes Act 1993 s 93(1), references to accrued rights to benefit do not include rights which are attributable (directly or indirectly) to a pension credit: s 93(1ZA) (added by the Welfare Reform and Pensions Act 1999 Sch 12 paras 28, 33). 'Pension credit' means a credit under the Welfare Reform and Pensions Act 1999 s 29(1)(b) (see PARA 961A.3) or under corresponding Northern Ireland legislation: Pension Schemes Act 1993 s 181(1) (amended by the Welfare Reform and Pensions Act 1999 Sch 12 paras 28, 41(a)).

TEXT AND NOTE 12--Pension Schemes Act 1993 s 93(1B) amended: Pensions Act 2008 s 134(2).

Halsbury's Laws of England/SOCIAL SECURITY AND PENSIONS (VOLUME 44(2) (REISSUE))/21. PROTECTION FOR EARLY LEAVERS/(4) TRANSFER VALUES/952. Salary-related schemes; right to statement of entitlement.

952. Salary-related schemes; right to statement of entitlement.

The trustees or managers<sup>1</sup> of a salary-related occupational pension scheme<sup>2</sup> must, on the application statement of any member<sup>3</sup>, provide the member with a written statement (a 'statement of entitlement'<sup>4</sup>) of the amount of the cash equivalent at the guarantee date<sup>5</sup> of any benefits which have accrued to or in respect of him under the applicable rules<sup>6</sup>.

Regulations<sup>7</sup> may make provision in relation to applications for a statement of entitlement, including, in particular, provision as to the period which must elapse after the making of such an application before a member may make a further such application<sup>8</sup>.

1 As to the power to provide by regulations who is to be treated as a manager of an occupational pension scheme see PARA 555 note 9 ante.

2 For the meaning of 'salary-related occupational pension scheme' see PARA 951 note 6 ante; and for the meaning of 'occupational pension scheme' see PARA 741 ante.

3 For the meaning of 'member' for these purposes see PARA 951 note 2 ante.

4 If, in the case of any scheme, a statement of entitlement has not been provided under the Pension Schemes Act 1993 s 93A (added by the Pensions Act 1995 s 153), the Pensions Act 1995 s 10 (power of the Occupational Pensions Regulatory Authority to impose civil penalties: see PARA 611 ante) applies to any trustee or manager who has failed to take all such steps as are reasonable to secure compliance with the Pension Schemes Act 1993 s 93A (as so added): s 93A(4) (as so added). The maximum amount of the penalty for these purposes is £1,000 in the case of an individual and £10,000 in any other case: Occupational Pension Schemes (Transfer Values) Regulations 1996, SI 1996/1847, reg 20. As to the Occupational Pensions Regulatory Authority see PARA 598 et seq ante.

5 'The guarantee date' means the date by reference to which the value of the cash equivalent is calculated, and must be: (1) within the prescribed period beginning with the date of the application; and (2) within the prescribed period ending with the date on which the statement of entitlement is provided to the member: Pension Schemes Act 1993 s 93A(2) (as added: see note 4 supra). The guarantee date in relation to a statement of entitlement must be within (a) a period of three months beginning with the date of the member's application for a statement of entitlement, or, where the trustees of the scheme are for reasons beyond their control unable within that period to obtain the information required to calculate the cash equivalent, within such longer period as they may reasonably require as a result of that inability, provided that such longer period does not exceed six months beginning with the date of the member's application; and (b) within the period of ten days (excluding Saturdays, Sundays, Christmas Day, New Year's Day and Good Friday) ending with the date on which the statement of entitlement is provided to the member: Occupational Pension Schemes (Transfer Values) Regulations 1996, SI 1996/1847, reg 6(1), (2). A member who has made an application for a statement of entitlement may not within a period of 12 months beginning on the date of that application make any further such application unless the rules of the scheme provide otherwise or the trustees allow the member to do so: reg 6(3). Subject to that, any application for a cash equivalent made by a member of a salary-related scheme which does not result in the member acquiring a right to a guaranteed cash equivalent (see PARA 953 post) is to be treated as if it were an application for a statement of entitlement: see reg 6(4).

6 Pension Schemes Act 1993 s 93A(1) (as added: see note 4 supra). 'The applicable rules' means: (1) any provision which the rules of the scheme do not contain but which a scheme must contain if it is to conform with the requirements of Pt IV Ch I (ss 69-82) (as amended) (see PARAS 931-940 ante); and (2) the rules of the scheme, except so far as Pt IV Ch II (ss 83-86) (as amended) (see PARAS 941-946 ante) or Pt IV Ch III (ss 87-92) (see PARAS 947-949 ante) overrides them; and (3) any provision of Pt IV Chs II or III (as amended) which overrides any of the rules of the scheme: s 94(2) (definition applied by s 93A(2) (as added: see note 4 supra)). As to the manner of calculation and verification of cash equivalents see the Occupational Pension Schemes (Transfer Values) Regulations 1996, SI 1996/1847, regs 7, 8 (amended by SI 1997/786); and as to increases and reductions of guaranteed cash equivalents once a statement of entitlement has been sent to a member of a salary-related scheme see the Occupational Pension Schemes (Transfer Values) Regulations 1996, SI 1996/1847, reg 9.

7 For the meaning of 'regulations' see PARA 557 note 2 ante.

8 Pension Schemes Act 1993 s 93A(3) (as added: see note 4 supra). As to the exercise of this power see notes 5-6 supra.

Subject to the following provisions<sup>1</sup>:

- 2639 (1) a member<sup>2</sup> of an occupational pension scheme<sup>3</sup> other than a salary-related<sup>4</sup> scheme acquires a right, when his pensionable service<sup>5</sup> terminates (whether before or after 1 January 1986), to the cash equivalent at the relevant date<sup>6</sup> of any benefits which have accrued to or in respect of him under the applicable rules<sup>7</sup>;
- 2640 (2) a member of a salary-related occupational pension scheme who has received a statement of entitlement and has made a relevant application within three months beginning with the guarantee date<sup>8</sup> in respect of that statement acquires a right to his guaranteed cash equivalent<sup>9</sup>; and
- 2641 (3) a member of a personal pension scheme<sup>10</sup> acquires a right to the cash equivalent at the relevant date of any benefits which have accrued to or in respect of him under the rules of the scheme<sup>11</sup>.

<sup>6</sup> 'The relevant date' means, subject to regulations under the Pension Schemes Act 1993 s 98(4) (see PARA 957 post), the date of the relevant application, or in the case of an occupational pension scheme, if it is later, the termination date; and 'the relevant application' means any application which the member has made under s 95 (as amended) (see PARA 954 post) and not withdrawn: s 94(2).

<sup>7</sup> Ibid s 94(1)(a) (amended by the Pensions Act 1995 s 154(1)). For the meaning of 'the applicable rules' see PARA 952 note 6 ante.

<sup>8</sup> 'The guarantee date' has the same meaning as in the Pension Schemes Act 1992 s 93A(2) (see PARA 952 note 5 ante): s 94(2) (amended by the Pensions Act 1995 s 154(4)).

<sup>9</sup> Pension Schemes Act 1993 s 94(1)(aa) (added by the Pensions Act 1995 s 154(2)). For the purposes of s 94(1)(aa) (as so added), a person's 'guaranteed cash equivalent' is the amount stated in the statement of entitlement mentioned in that subsection: s 94(1A) (added by the Pensions Act 1995 s 154(3)). Regulations may provide that, in prescribed circumstances, the Pension Schemes Act 1993 s 94(1)(aa) (as so added) does not apply to members of salary-related occupational pension schemes or applies to them with prescribed modifications: s 94(3) (added by the Pensions Act 1995 s 154(5)). For the meaning of 'prescribed' see PARA 555 note 1 ante; and for the meaning of 'modifications' see PARA 664 note 10 ante.

Where a member's guaranteed cash equivalent has been reduced or increased under the Occupational Pension Schemes (Transfer Values) Regulations 1996, SI 1996/1847, reg 9 (ie on the surrender, commutation or forfeiture of benefits, or where the scheme has begun to be wound up, or if the guaranteed cash equivalent falls short of or exceeds the amount which it would have been if calculated in the prescribed manner), the Pension Schemes Act 1993 s 94(1)(aa) (as so added) does not apply, or ceases to apply, but if the member (1) has made a relevant application within three months beginning with the guarantee date; or (2) makes a relevant application within three months beginning with the date on which the member is informed that the guaranteed cash equivalent is to be increased or reduced, the member acquires a right to the guaranteed cash equivalent as so increased or reduced: Occupational Pension Schemes (Transfer Values) Regulations 1996, SI 1996/1847, reg 14(1). In any case in which a member, within three months beginning with the guarantee date, disputes the amount of the guaranteed cash equivalent, or, within three months beginning with the date on which that member is informed that the guaranteed cash equivalent is to be increased or reduced in accordance with reg 9, disputes the basis or amount of the increase or reduction, the Pension Schemes Act 1993 s 94(1)(aa) (as so added) does not apply, or ceases to apply, but if the member (a) has made a relevant application within three months beginning with the guarantee date; or (b) makes a relevant application within three months beginning with the date on which the amount of the guaranteed cash equivalent is finally determined, the member acquires a right to the guaranteed cash equivalent at the amount so determined: Occupational Pension Schemes (Transfer Values) Regulations 1996, SI 1996/1847, reg 14(2).

Halsbury's Laws of England/SOCIAL SECURITY AND PENSIONS (VOLUME 44(2) (REISSUE))/21. PROTECTION FOR EARLY LEAVERS/(4) TRANSFER VALUES/954. Ways of taking right to cash equivalent.

954. Ways of taking right to cash equivalent.

A member<sup>1</sup> of an occupational pension scheme<sup>2</sup> or a personal pension scheme<sup>3</sup> who acquires a right to a cash equivalent may only take it by making an application in writing to the trustees or managers<sup>4</sup> of the scheme requiring them to use the cash equivalent<sup>5</sup> to which he has acquired a right in whichever of the following specified ways he chooses<sup>6</sup>. In the case of a member of an occupational pension scheme, the ways referred to are:

- 2642 (1) for acquiring transfer credits<sup>7</sup> allowed under the rules of another occupational pension scheme:
- 238 312. (a) the trustees or managers of which are able and willing to accept payment in respect of the member's accrued rights; and
- 313. (b) which satisfies prescribed<sup>8</sup> requirements<sup>9</sup>;
- 239 2643 (2) for acquiring rights allowed under the rules of a personal pension scheme:
- 240 314. (a) the trustees or managers of which are able and willing to accept payment in respect of the member's accrued rights; and
- 315. (b) which satisfies prescribed requirements<sup>10</sup>;
- 241 2644 (3) for purchasing from one or more insurance companies<sup>11</sup>, chosen by the member and willing to accept payment on account of the member from the trustees or managers, one or more annuities which satisfy prescribed requirements<sup>12</sup>;
- 2645 (4) for subscribing to other pension arrangements which satisfy prescribed requirements<sup>13</sup>.

In the case of a member of a personal pension scheme, the ways referred to above are:

- 2646 (i) for acquiring transfer credits allowed under the rules of an occupational pension scheme:
- 242 316. (A) the trustees or managers of which are able and willing to accept payment in respect of the member's accrued rights; and
- 317. (B) which satisfies prescribed requirements<sup>14</sup>;
- 243 2647 (ii) for acquiring rights allowed under the rules of another personal pension scheme:
- 244 318. (A) the trustees or managers of which are able and willing to accept payment in respect of the member's accrued rights; and
- 319. (B) which satisfies prescribed requirements<sup>15</sup>;
- 245 2648 (iii) for subscribing to other pension arrangements which satisfy prescribed requirements<sup>16</sup>.

A member of an occupational pension scheme may only exercise the right conferred by these provisions on or before the last option date<sup>17</sup>. A member of a scheme may withdraw such an application by giving the trustees or managers of the scheme notice in writing that he no longer wishes them to do what is needed to carry out what he previously required<sup>19</sup>.

A member who withdraws an application may make another<sup>20</sup>. Such a notice to the trustees or managers of a scheme is to be taken to have been given if it is delivered to them personally, or sent by post in a registered letter or by recorded delivery service<sup>21</sup>.

956. Calculation of cash equivalents.

Cash equivalents<sup>1</sup> are to be calculated and verified in the prescribed manner<sup>2</sup>. Regulations<sup>3</sup> may provide that in prescribed circumstances a cash equivalent must be increased or reduced<sup>4</sup> and may specify as the amount by which a cash equivalent is to be reduced such an amount that a member has no right to receive anything<sup>5</sup>. Regulations may also provide that in calculating cash equivalents, except guaranteed cash equivalents, account must be taken:

- 2654 (1) of any surrender, commutation or forfeiture of the whole or part of a member's pension which occurs before the trustees or managers of the scheme of which he is a member do what is needed to comply with what he requires under his right to exercise an option as to how he takes the cash equivalent<sup>6</sup>;
- 2655 (2) in a case where the trustees or managers are able or willing to accept a transfer payment only in limited circumstances<sup>7</sup>, of the need to deduct an appropriate amount to provide for the specified<sup>8</sup> liabilities<sup>9</sup>.

In making any calculation for the statutory purposes<sup>10</sup>, any charge or lien on, and any set-off against, the whole or part of a pension must be disregarded<sup>11</sup>.

1 As to cash equivalents see PARA 953 ante.

4 Pension Schemes Act 1993 s 97(2)(b). Without prejudice to the generality of this power, the circumstances that may be specified by virtue of s 97(2)(b) include: (1) in the case of an occupational pension scheme, the length of time which elapses between the termination of a member's pensionable service and his exercise of the option conferred by Pt IV Ch IV (ss 93-101) (as amended) (see PARAS 951-955 ante, 957 et seq post) or regulations made under it; (2) failure by the trustees or managers of the scheme to do what is needed to carry out what a member of the scheme requires within six months of the appropriate date; and (3) the state of the funding of the scheme: s 97(3) (amended by the Pensions Act 1995 s 173, Sch 6 paras 2, 4). For these purposes, the 'appropriate date': (a) in the case of a salary-related occupational pension scheme, is the guarantee date (within the meaning of the Pension Schemes Act 1993 s 93A (as added) (see PARA 952 ante)); and (b) in any other case, is the date on which the trustees receive an application from the member under s 95 (as amended) (see PARA 954 ante): s 97(3A) (added by the Pensions Act 1995 Sch 6 paras 2, 4). ### 957. Variation and loss of rights to cash equivalent.

Regulations<sup>1</sup> may provide that a member<sup>2</sup> of an occupational pension scheme<sup>3</sup> other than a salary-related scheme<sup>4</sup> who continues in employment<sup>5</sup> to which the scheme applies after his pensionable service<sup>6</sup> in that employment terminates:

- 2656 (1) only acquires a right to the cash equivalent of such part of the specified benefits<sup>7</sup> as may be prescribed<sup>8</sup>; or
- 2657 (2) acquires no right to a cash equivalent<sup>9</sup>.

Regulations may also provide that a member of a salary-related occupational pension scheme who continues in employment to which the scheme applies after his pensionable service in that employment terminates acquires a right to only part of his guaranteed cash equivalent, or acquires no right to his guaranteed cash equivalent<sup>10</sup>.

Where the whole or any part of the benefits payable to a member of a personal pension scheme<sup>11</sup> under the scheme have become payable on or before the relevant date, the right to a cash equivalent<sup>12</sup> is only to the cash equivalent of any of the benefits which have not become payable<sup>13</sup>.

A member of an occupational pension scheme or a personal pension scheme loses the right to any cash equivalent if the scheme is wound up<sup>14</sup>. A member of an occupational pension scheme also loses that right:

- 2658 (a) if his pension or benefit in lieu of a pension or any part of it becomes payable before he attains normal pension age; or
- 2659 (b) he fails to exercise the option to take a cash equivalent<sup>15</sup> on or before the last option date<sup>16</sup>.

Where a member's employment to which a scheme applies terminates but that member enters again into employment to which that scheme applies, then, if there is between those two employments (1) an interval not exceeding one month; or (2) an interval of any length if the second of the employments results from the exercise of a right to return to work under the Employment Rights Act 1996 s 79 (maternity; right to return to work: see EMPLOYMENT vol 39 (2009) PARA 357), they are to be treated as a single employment: Occupational Pension Schemes (Transfer Values) Regulations 1996, SI 1996/1847, reg 5.

Halsbury's Laws of England/SOCIAL SECURITY AND PENSIONS (VOLUME 44(2) (REISSUE))/21. PROTECTION FOR EARLY LEAVERS/(4) TRANSFER VALUES/958. Trustees' duties after exercise of option.

958. Trustees' duties after exercise of option.

Where a member<sup>1</sup> has exercised the option to take a cash equivalent<sup>2</sup> and the trustees or managers<sup>3</sup> of the scheme<sup>4</sup> have done what is needed to carry out what the member requires, the trustees or managers are discharged from any obligation to provide benefits to which the cash equivalent related except, in specified cases<sup>5</sup>, to the extent that an obligation to provide guaranteed minimum pensions<sup>6</sup> or give effect to protected rights<sup>7</sup> continues to subsist<sup>8</sup>. Subject to the following provisions, if the trustees or managers of a scheme receive an application for taking a cash equivalent<sup>9</sup>, they must do what is needed to carry out what the member requires:

- 2660 (1) in the case of a member of a salary-related occupational pension scheme<sup>10</sup>, within six months of the guarantee date<sup>11</sup>, or (if earlier) by the date on which the member attains normal pension age<sup>12</sup>;
- 2661 (2) in the case of a member of any other occupational pension scheme, within six months of the date on which they receive the application, or (if earlier) by the date on which the member attains normal pension age<sup>13</sup>; or
- 2662 (3) in the case of a member of a personal pension scheme<sup>14</sup>, within six months of the date on which they receive the application<sup>15</sup>.

If disciplinary proceedings or proceedings before a court have been begun against a member of an occupational pension scheme at any time before the expiry of the period of 12 months beginning with the termination date; and

- 2663 (a) it appears to the trustees or managers of the scheme that the proceedings may lead to the whole or part of the pension or benefit in lieu of a pension payable to the member or his widow being forfeited; and
- 2664 (b) the date before which they would otherwise be obliged to carry out what the member requires is earlier than the end of the period of three months after the conclusion of the disciplinary or court proceedings (including any proceedings on appeal), then, subject as follows, they must instead do so before the end of that period of three months<sup>16</sup>. The Occupational Pensions Regulatory Authority<sup>17</sup> may, in prescribed circumstances<sup>18</sup>, grant an extension of the period within which the trustees or managers of the scheme are obliged to do what is needed to carry out what a member of the scheme requires<sup>19</sup>. If the authority is satisfied that there has been a relevant change of circumstances since it granted an extension, or that the authority granted an extension in ignorance of a material fact or on the basis of a mistake as to a material fact, it may direct that the extension be shortened or may revoke the extension<sup>20</sup>.

Where the trustees or managers of an occupational pension scheme have not done what is needed to carry out what a member of the scheme requires within six months of the date mentioned in head (1) or head (2) above:

- 2665 (i) they must, except in prescribed cases, notify the authority of that fact within the prescribed period<sup>21</sup>; and 2666 (ii) the provisions relating to civil penalties<sup>22</sup> apply to any trustee or manager who has failed to take all such steps as are reasonable to ensure that it was so done<sup>23</sup>.

Where a member<sup>1</sup> has acquired a right to a cash equivalent<sup>2</sup> but has not exercised the option conferred as to how to take that right<sup>3</sup> and the member's accrued rights have been transferred to another occupational pension scheme<sup>4</sup> without that member's consent, the statutory provisions relating to transfer values<sup>5</sup> have effect as if the member's right to a cash equivalent of the benefits in respect of which a transfer or transfer payment has been made existed in relation to the receiving scheme instead of the transferring scheme<sup>6</sup>.

Where a member's pensionable service<sup>7</sup> terminates in the prescribed circumstances<sup>8</sup>, those statutory provisions have effect as if that service had not terminated<sup>9</sup>; but this does not apply where the trustees of the scheme, during any prescribed interval<sup>10</sup>, do what is needed to carry out what a member required in exercising an option to take the right to a cash equivalent<sup>11</sup>.

- 2667 (1) cases where the normal pension age is earlier than 60<sup>12</sup>;
- 2668 (2) schemes with an overseas element<sup>13</sup>; and

An active member<sup>1</sup> of any occupational pension scheme<sup>2</sup>, and a deferred member<sup>3</sup> of a scheme which is a money purchase scheme<sup>4</sup>, is entitled on request (not being a request made less than 12 months after the last occasion, if any, on which such information was furnished to that member) to specified information regarding any cash equivalent or transfer value available to the member<sup>5</sup> and that information must be provided to the member by the trustees in writing as soon as is practicable and in any event within three months after the member makes that request<sup>6</sup>. An active or deferred member of any scheme is also entitled on request to a copy of the actuary's written report, if any, obtained in accordance with the requirements relating to the calculation of cash equivalents<sup>7</sup> and that report must be sent to the member by the trustees within one month after the member makes that request<sup>8</sup>.

The trustees must ensure that a statement of entitlement<sup>9</sup> to a guaranteed cash equivalent is accompanied by the prescribed information<sup>10</sup> in relation to any cash equivalent of or transfer value in relation to the member's money purchase benefits, if any, under the scheme, calculated by reference to the guarantee date, and by a statement in writing containing prescribed details<sup>11</sup>. Where a guaranteed cash equivalent is reduced or increased<sup>12</sup>, the trustees must notify the member of that fact in writing within ten days (excluding Saturdays, Sundays, Christmas Day, New Year's Day and Good Friday) and that notification must:

- 2670 (1) state the reasons for and the amount of the reduction or increase;
- 2671 (2) indicate the relevant statutory provision<sup>13</sup> which has been relied upon; and
- 2672 (3) state that the member has a further three months, beginning with the date on which the member is informed of the reduction or increase, to make a written application to take the guaranteed cash equivalent as so reduced or increased<sup>14</sup>.

Where any person fails to comply with any requirement imposed upon that person by these requirements, the Occupational Pensions Regulatory Authority<sup>15</sup> may require that person to pay, within 28 days, a penalty not exceeding £1,000 in the case of an individual or £10,000 in any other case<sup>16</sup>.

1. Scope

Chapter 5 of Part 4 of the Pension Schemes Act 1993<sup>1</sup> applies to any member of an occupational pension scheme to which Chapter 1 of Part 4 of the Pension Schemes Act 1993<sup>2</sup> applies<sup>3</sup> if (1) his pensionable service terminates before he attains normal pension age, and (2) on the date on which his pensionable service terminates (a) the three month condition is satisfied, but (b) he does not have relevant accrued rights to benefit under the scheme<sup>4</sup>. For the above purposes<sup>5</sup>, the three month condition is that the period of the member's pensionable service under the scheme, taken together with (i) any previous period of his pensionable service under the scheme, and (ii) any period throughout which he was employed in linked qualifying service under another scheme, amounts to at least three months<sup>6</sup>.

1    Ie the Pension Schemes Act 1993 ss 101AA-101AI.

2    Ie ibid ss 69-82.

3    See ibid s 69(3) and PARA 931.

4    Ibid s 101AAA(1) (ss 101AA, 101AI added by Pensions Act 2004 s 264). For the purposes of the 1993 Act s 101AA(1), 'relevant accrued rights to benefit under the scheme', in relation to a member of a scheme, means rights which (1) have accrued to or in respect of him under the scheme, and (2) entitle him to the relevant benefits which would have accrued to or in respect of him under the applicable rules if s 71(1)(a) and (b) (see PARA 932) (and the word 'and' immediately preceding them) did not have effect: s 101AA(4) s 101AA. For the meaning of 'relevant benefits' and 'the applicable rules' see s 101AI(7).

5    Ie for the purposes of ibid s 101AA(1).

6    Ibid s 101AA(2). A period counts for the purposes of head (i) or (ii) in the text only so far as it counts towards qualification for long service benefit within the meaning of Pt 4 Ch 1: s 101AA(3).

References in the following provisions of Pt 4 Ch 5 (ss 101AB-101AI) to a member, in relation to an occupational pension scheme, are to a member of the scheme to whom Pt 4 Ch 5 applies: s 101AA(5).

2. Right to cash transfer sum and contribution refund

On the termination of his pensionable service, a member<sup>1</sup> of an occupational pension scheme acquires a right to whichever one he elects of the following options (1) a cash transfer sum<sup>2</sup>; (2) a contribution refund<sup>3</sup>.

1    For the meaning of 'member' see Pension Schemes Act 1993 s 101AI(7) (s 101AI added by Pensions Act 2004 s 264).

2    In the 1993 Act Pt 4 Ch 5 (ss 101AA-101AI) 'cash transfer sum' means, in relation to a member of an occupational pension scheme, the cash equivalent, at the date on which his pensionable service terminates, of the benefits mentioned in s 101AA(4)(b) (see PARA 960A.1): s 101AB(3) (s 101AB added by Pensions Act 2004 s 264).

3    1993 Act s 101AB(1). Section 101AB(1) is subject to the following provisions of Pt 4 Ch 5 (ie ss 101AA-101AI): s 101AB(2). In Pt 4 Ch 5, 'contribution refund' means, in relation to a member of an occupational pension scheme, a sum representing the aggregate of (1) the member's employee contributions to the scheme, and (2) where transfer credits have been allowed to the member under the scheme by virtue of a payment ('the transfer payment') made by the trustees or managers of another occupational pension scheme, the member's employee contributions to that other scheme, so far as they (a) relate to the transfer payment, and (b) do not, in aggregate, exceed the amount of the transfer payment: s 101AB(4). In s 101AB(4), 'employee contributions' means, in relation to a member of an occupational pension scheme, contributions made to the scheme by or on behalf of the member on his own account, but does not include (i) a transfer payment by virtue of which transfer credits have been allowed to the member under the scheme, or (ii) any pension credit or amount paid to the scheme which is attributable (directly or indirectly) to a pension credit: s 101AB(5).

3. Notification of right to cash transfer sum or contribution refund

The following provisions<sup>1</sup> apply where the pensionable service of a member of an occupational pension scheme has terminated<sup>2</sup>. The trustees or managers of the scheme must (1) within a reasonable period after the termination give the member a statement in writing containing information adequate to explain (a) the nature of the right acquired by him<sup>3</sup>, and (b) how he may exercise the right, and such other information as may be prescribed, and (2) afford the member a reasonable period after giving him that statement within which to exercise the right<sup>4</sup>.

1    Ie the Pension Schemes Act 1993 s 101AC.

2    Ibid s 101AC(1) (s 101AC added by Pensions Act 2004 s 264).

3    Ie under the 1993 Act s 101AB (see PARA 960A.2).

4    Ibid s 101AC(2). The statement given under head (1) in the text must specify, in particular (1) in relation to the cash transfer sum to which the member acquires a right under s 101AB, its amount and the permitted ways in which the member can use it, (2) the amount of the contribution refund to which the member so acquires a right, and (3) the last day on which the member may, disregarding s 101AI(2) (see PARA 960A.9), exercise the right ('the reply date'): s 101AC(3). For the meaning of 'permitted way' see s 101AI(7). Information which may be prescribed under head (1) in the text includes, in particular (a) information about any tax liability in respect of, or deduction required or permitted to be made from, the cash transfer sum or contribution refund, and (b) information about the effect on other rights of the member (whether under the applicable rules or otherwise) of exercising the right: s 101AC(4). The trustees or managers may notify the member that, if he does not exercise the right mentioned in head (a) in the text on or before the reply date, the trustees or managers will be entitled to pay the contribution refund to him: s 101AC(5). Where the trustees or managers of the scheme fail to comply with s 101AC(2), the Pensions Act 1995 s 10 (civil penalties: see PARA 611) applies to any trustee or manager who has failed to take all reasonable steps to secure compliance: Pension Schemes Act 1993 s 101AC(6).

As to further information which must be provided in addition to the matters specified in s 101AC(2), (3), see the Occupational Pension Schemes (Early Leavers: Cash Transfer Sums and Contribution Refunds) Regulations 2006, SI 2006/33, reg 7.

4. Exercise of right

Where a member of an occupational pension scheme acquires a right<sup>1</sup>, the member may exercise the right by giving a notice in writing to that effect to the trustees or managers stating (1) which of the options<sup>2</sup> he elects, and (2) if he elects for the cash transfer sum, the permitted way in which he requires that sum to be used<sup>3</sup>.

1    Ie under the Pension Schemes Act 1993 s 101AB (see PARA 960A.2): s 101AD(1) (ss 101AD, 101AI added by Pensions Act 2004 s 264).

2    Ie under the 1993 Act s 101AB(1).

3    Ibid s 101AD(1), (2). The notice under s 101AD(2) must be given on or before (1) the reply date, or (2) such later date as the trustees or managers may allow in his case under s 101AI(2) (see PARA 960A.9): s 101AD(3). For the meaning of 'reply date' see s 101AI(7).

5. Permitted ways of using cash transfer sum

The following provisions<sup>1</sup> apply in relation to a cash transfer sum to which a member of an occupational pension scheme acquires a right<sup>2</sup>. The ways in which the cash transfer sum may be used are (1) for acquiring transfer credits allowed under the rules of another occupational pension scheme (a) whose trustees or managers are able and willing to accept the cash transfer sum, and (b) which satisfies prescribed requirements<sup>3</sup>, (2) for acquiring rights allowed under the rules of a personal pension scheme (i) whose trustees or managers are able and willing to accept the cash transfer sum, and (ii) which satisfies prescribed requirements, (3) for purchasing one or more appropriate annuities<sup>4</sup>, (4) in such circumstances as may be prescribed, for subscribing to other pension arrangements which satisfy prescribed requirements<sup>5</sup>.

2 le a right under ibid s 101AB (see PARA 960A.2): s 101AE(1) (s 101AE added by Pensions Act 2004 s 264).

4 For the purposes of the 1993 Act s 101AE(2), 'appropriate annuity' means an annuity which satisfies prescribed requirements and is purchased from an insurer who (1) falls within s 19(4)(a) (see PARA 894), (2) is chosen by the member, and (3) is willing to accept payment on account of the member from the trustees or managers of the scheme: s 101AE(3).

5 Ibid s 101AE(2). As to the prescribed requirements see NOTE 3.

6. Calculation of cash transfer sum and contribution refund

Cash transfer sums are to be calculated and verified in the prescribed manner<sup>1</sup>. Any calculation of a contribution refund must conform with such requirements as may be prescribed<sup>2</sup>. Regulations may provide (1) for amounts to be deducted in respect of administrative costs in calculating cash transfer sums; (2) for a cash transfer sum or contribution refund to be increased or reduced in prescribed circumstances<sup>3</sup>.

3 Ibid s 101AF(3). The circumstances that may be prescribed under head (2) in the text include in particular (1) a failure by the trustees or managers of the scheme to comply with s 101AG(2) or (4) (see PARA 960A.7) in relation to the cash transfer sum or contribution refund, and (2) the state of funding of the scheme: s 101AF(4). Regulations under head (2) in the text may provide (a) for a cash transfer sum to be reduced so that the member has no right to have any amount paid by way of cash transfer sum in respect of him; (b) for a contribution refund to be reduced so that the member has no right to receive any amount by way of contribution refund under Pt 4 Ch 5 (ss 101AA-101AI): s 101AF(5). As to the reduction or increase of cash transfer sums and contribution refunds see SI 2006/33 regs 3-5 (reg 4 substituted, reg 5 amended by SI 2008/1050).

7. Duties of trustees or managers following exercise of right

The following provisions<sup>1</sup> apply where a member of an occupational pension scheme has exercised a right<sup>2</sup>. Where the member has elected for the cash transfer sum, the trustees or managers of the scheme must, within a reasonable period beginning with the date on which the right was exercised, do what is needed to carry out the requirement specified in the member's notice<sup>3</sup>. When the trustees or managers have done what is needed to carry out that requirement, they are discharged from any obligation (1) in respect of any rights (including conditional rights) of, or in respect of, the member to relevant benefits under the applicable rules, and (2) to make any other payment by way of refund to or in respect of the member of, or in respect of (a) the contributions, or any payment<sup>4</sup>, or (b) any other contributions made to the scheme, or any other scheme, in respect of the member (other than any pension credit or amount attributable (directly or indirectly) to a pension credit)<sup>5</sup>. Where the member has elected for the contribution refund, the trustees or managers of the scheme must, within a reasonable period beginning with the date on which the right was exercised, do what is needed to secure that the amount of the contribution refund is paid to the member or as he directs<sup>6</sup>. When the trustees or managers have done what is needed to secure the payment of the contribution refund<sup>7</sup> (i) they are discharged from any obligation in respect of any rights (including conditional rights) of, or in respect of, the member to relevant benefits under the applicable rules, and (ii) if they are required under the applicable rules, or determine in accordance with those rules, to make any payment ('the refund payment') by way of refund to or in respect of the member of, or in respect of (A) the contributions, or any payment<sup>8</sup>, or (B) any other contributions made to the scheme, or any other scheme, in respect of the member (other than any pension credit or amount attributable (directly or indirectly) to a pension credit), the amount of the contribution refund may be set off against the refund payment<sup>9</sup>.

8. Powers of trustees or managers where right not exercised

The following provisions<sup>1</sup> apply where (1) a member of an occupational pension scheme does not exercise a right acquired by him<sup>2</sup> on or before the reply date or such later date as the trustees or managers of the scheme allow in his case<sup>3</sup>, and (2) the trustees or managers of the scheme have notified the member<sup>4</sup>. The trustees or managers may within a reasonable period beginning with (a) the reply date, or (b) if a later date has been allowed<sup>5</sup>, that later date, pay the contribution refund to the member<sup>6</sup>. When the trustees or managers have paid the contribution refund to the member (i) they are discharged from any obligation in respect of any rights (including conditional rights) of, or in respect of, the member to relevant benefits under the applicable rules, and (ii) if they are required under the applicable rules, or determine in accordance with those rules, to make any payment ('the refund payment') by way of refund to or in respect of the member of, or in respect of (A) the contributions, or any payment<sup>7</sup>, or (B) any other contributions made to the scheme, or any other scheme, in respect of the member (other than any pension credit or amount attributable (directly or indirectly) to a pension credit), the amount of the contribution refund may be set off against the refund payment<sup>8</sup>.

If the member has failed to exercise any such right on or before the reply date, the trustees or managers of the scheme may allow him to exercise it on or before such later date as they may determine on the application of the member<sup>4</sup>. Where the trustees or managers determine a later date<sup>5</sup> (a) they must give a notice in writing to that effect to the member, and (b) head (2) above applies in relation to the member as if the reference to the reply date were a reference to the later date<sup>6</sup>.

For the purposes of s 101AI(4), and the Interpretation Act 1978 s 7 (service of documents by post) in its application to the Pension Schemes Act 1993 s 101AI(4), the proper address of a person is (a) in the case of a body corporate, the address of the registered or principal office of the body, and (b) in any other case, the last known address of the person: s 101AI(5).

Halsbury's Laws of England/SOCIAL SECURITY AND PENSIONS (VOLUME 44(2) (REISSUE))/22. PENSIONS ON DIVORCE/961. Requirement for court to consider pension position on divorce.

22. PENSIONS ON DIVORCE

961. Requirement for court to consider pension position on divorce.

The matters to which, in considering a divorce settlement, the court is to have regard in deciding how to exercise its powers to make periodical payment orders or lump sum orders<sup>1</sup>, property adjustment orders<sup>2</sup> or orders for the sale of a property<sup>3</sup> in relation to a party to the marriage include:

- 2673 (1) any benefits under a pension scheme<sup>4</sup> which a party to the marriage has or is likely to have; and
- 2674 (2) any benefits under a pension scheme which, by reason of the dissolution or annulment of the marriage, a party to the marriage will lose the chance of acquiring<sup>5</sup>.

In any proceedings for a financial provision order<sup>6</sup> in a case where a party to the marriage has, or is likely to have, any benefit under a pension scheme, the court must, in addition to considering any other matter which it is otherwise required to consider, consider:

- 2675 (a) whether, having regard to any matter to which it is required to have regard in the proceedings by virtue of heads (1) and (2) above, such an order (whether deferred or not) should be made; and
- 2676 (b) where the court determines to make such an order, how the terms of the order should be affected, having regard to any such matter<sup>7</sup>.

Where, having regard to any benefits under a pension scheme, the court determines to make a financial provision order, then to the extent to which the order is made having regard to any benefits under a pension scheme, the order may require the trustees or managers<sup>8</sup> of the pension scheme in question, if at any time any payment in respect of any benefits under the scheme becomes due to the party with pension rights, to make a payment for the benefit of the other party<sup>9</sup>. The amount of any payment which the trustees or managers are so required to make under the order at any time must not exceed the amount of the payment which is due at that time to the party with pension rights<sup>10</sup> and any such payment by the trustees or managers discharges so much of the trustees' or managers' liability to the party with pension rights as corresponds to the amount of the payment and is to be treated for all purposes as a payment made by the party with pension rights in or towards the discharge of his liability under the order<sup>11</sup>.

Where the party with pension rights may require any benefits which he has or is likely to have under the scheme to be commuted, the order may require him to commute the whole or part of those benefits, and these provisions apply to the payment of any amount commuted in pursuance of the order as they apply to other payments in respect of benefits under the scheme<sup>12</sup>.

In deciding whether to make an order which by virtue of these provisions imposes any requirement on the trustees or managers of a pension scheme, the court must take into account any representations of the trustees or managers as to whether, in all the circumstances of the case, the court ought to make the order, and in particular whether the trustees or managers have been given sufficient information to enable them to comply with their obligations under any such order and the administrative expenses which they are likely to incur in complying with any such obligations<sup>13</sup>.

For these purposes, references to a pension scheme include (1) a retirement annuity contract (see PARA 677 et seq ante); or (2) an annuity, or insurance policy, purchased or transferred for the purpose of giving effect to rights under a pension scheme; and references to benefits under a pension scheme include any benefits by way of pension, whether under a pension scheme or not: Matrimonial Causes Act 1973 s 25D(3) (as so added).

6    le any order under ibid s 23 (as amended).

7    Ibid s 25B(2) (as added: see note 4 supra).

8    In relation to such a contract or annuity as is mentioned in note 4 head (1) supra, references to the trustees or managers must be read as references to the provider of the annuity, and in relation to such a policy of insurance as is mentioned in note 4 head (2) supra, references to the trustees or managers must be read as references to the insurer: ibid s 25D(3) (as added: see note 4 supra).

9    Ibid s 25B(3), (4) (as added: see note 4 supra). 'The party with pension rights' means the party to the marriage who has or is likely to have benefits under a pension scheme and 'the other party' means the other party to the marriage: s 25D(4) (as so added). Section 25C (as so added) does not affect the powers of the court under s 31 (as amended) (variation, discharge, etc of orders) in relation to any order made before the commencement of the Pensions Act 1995 s 166: s 166(6). Section 166 was brought into force partially on 27 June 1996 and fully on 1 August 1996: see the Pensions Act 1995 (Commencement No 5) Order 1996, SI 1996/1675.

961A. Sharing of rights under pension arrangements.

1. Scope of mechanism

Pension sharing is available<sup>1</sup> in relation to a person's shareable rights under any pension arrangement<sup>2</sup> other than an excepted public service pension scheme<sup>3</sup>. A person's shareable rights under a pension arrangement are any rights of his under the arrangement, other than rights of a description specified by regulations made by the Secretary of State<sup>4</sup>. A public service pension scheme is excepted if it is specified by order made by such minister of the Crown or government department as may be designated by the Treasury as having responsibility for the scheme<sup>5</sup>.

1 Ibid under the Welfare Reform and Pensions Act Pt IV Ch I (ss 27-46).

2 'Pension arrangement' means (1) an occupational pension scheme; (2) a personal pension scheme; (c) a retirement annuity contract; (d) an annuity or insurance policy purchased, or transferred, for the purpose of giving effect to rights under an occupational pension scheme or a personal pension scheme; and (5) an annuity purchased, or entered into, for the purpose of discharging liability in respect of a credit under ibid s 29(1)(b) or under corresponding Northern Ireland legislation: s 46(1). 'Personal pension scheme' and 'occupational pension scheme' have the same meanings as in the Pension Schemes Act 1993 s 1 (see PARAS 710, 741); and 'retirement annuity contract' means a contract or scheme approved under the Income and Corporation Taxes Act 1988 Pt XIV Ch III (ss 618-629): 1999 Act s 46(1).

3 Ibid s 27(1).

4 Ibid s 27(2). See the Pension Sharing (Valuation) Regulations 2000, SI 2000/1052 (amended by SI 2000/2691, SI 2003/1727, SI 2005/706, SI 2005/2877, SI 2005/3377, SI 2006/34, SI 2006/744, SI 2007/60, SI 2008/1050).

5 1999 Act s 27(3). See the Pension Sharing (Excepted Schemes) Order 2000, SI 2000/3088, which excepts the public service pension schemes relating to the offices of the Prime Minister and First Lord of the Treasury, the Lord Chancellor and the Speaker of the House of Commons.

2. Activation of pension sharing

Provision relating to the creation of pension debits and credits<sup>1</sup> applies on the taking effect of any of the following relating to a person's shareable rights under a pension arrangement<sup>2</sup> (1) a pension sharing order under the Matrimonial Causes Act 1973<sup>3</sup>; (2) a pension sharing order under Schedule 5 to the Civil Partnership Act 2004<sup>4</sup>; (3) provision which corresponds to the provision which may be made by such an order and which (a) is contained in a qualifying agreement<sup>5</sup> between the parties to a marriage; and (b) takes effect on the dissolution of the marriage under the Family Law Act 1996<sup>6</sup>; (4) provision which corresponds to the provision which may be made by such an order and which (i) is contained in a qualifying agreement between the parties to a marriage or former marriage; and (ii) takes effect after the dissolution of the marriage under the Family Law Act 1996<sup>7</sup>; (5) an order under the Matrimonial and Family Proceedings Act 1984 Pt III corresponding to such an order as is mentioned in head (1) above<sup>8</sup>; (6) an order under Schedule 7 to the Civil Partnership Act 2004 corresponding to such an order as is mentioned in head (2) above<sup>9</sup>; and (7) a pension sharing order under Schedule 15 to the Civil Partnership Act 2004<sup>10</sup>.

Certain provisions which restrict the alienation of pension rights are disapplied<sup>11</sup>.

- 1 le the Welfare Reform and Pensions Act 1999 s 29: see PARA 961A.3.
- 2 Ibid s 28(1). For the meaning of 'pension arrangement' and 'shareable rights' see PARA 961A.1.
- 3 Ibid s 28(1)(a).

Section 28(1)(b) does not apply if (a) the pension arrangement to which the provision relates is the subject of a pension sharing order under the Matrimonial Causes Act 1973 in relation to the marriage; or (b) there is in force a requirement imposed by virtue of s 25B or 25C (see PARAS 961-963) which relates to benefits or future benefits to which the party who is the transferor is entitled under the pension arrangement to which the provision relates: 1999 Act s 28(4). The reference in head (b) above to the party who is the transferor is to the party to whose rights the provision relates: s 28(11).
- 7 Ibid s 28(1)(c). Section 28(1)(c) does not apply if (1) the marriage was dissolved by an order under the Family Law Act 1996 s 3 and the satisfaction of the requirements of s 9(2) was a precondition to the making of the order; (2) the pension arrangement to which the provision relates (a) is the subject of a pension sharing order under the Matrimonial Causes Act 1973 in relation to the marriage; or (b) has already been the subject of pension sharing between the parties; or (3) there is in force a requirement imposed by virtue of s 25B or 25C which relates to benefits or future benefits to which the party who is the transferor is entitled under the pension arrangement to which the provision relates: 1999 Act s 28(5). - 11 Nothing in any of the provisions specified in the 1999 Act s 44(1)(a)-(d) applies in relation to any order or provision falling within s 28(1): s 44(1) (amended by the Armed Forces Act 2006 Sch 16 para 162). The provisions in s 44(1)(a)-(d) are (1) the Armed Forces Act 2006 s 356 (see ARMED FORCES vol 2(2) (Reissue) PARA 166) and the Pension Schemes Act 1993 s 159(4), (4A) (see PARA 928); (2) the Pensions Act 1995 s 91 (see PARA 865); (3) any provision of any enactment (whether passed or made before or after the Welfare Reform and Pensions Act 1999 was passed (ie 11 November 1999)) corresponding to any of the enactments mentioned in heads (1) and (2); and (4) any provision of a pension arrangement corresponding to any of those enactments. For these purposes, 'enactment' includes an enactment comprised in subordinate legislation (within the meaning of the Interpretation Act 1978): 1999 Act s 44(2).

3. Creation of pension credits and debits

On the application of these provisions<sup>1</sup> (1) the transferor's<sup>2</sup> shareable rights<sup>3</sup> under the relevant arrangement<sup>4</sup> become subject to a debit of the appropriate amount<sup>5</sup>; and (2) the transferee<sup>6</sup> becomes entitled to a credit of that amount as against the person responsible for that arrangement<sup>7</sup>. Where the relevant order or provision<sup>8</sup> specifies a percentage value to be transferred, the appropriate amount is the specified percentage of the cash equivalent of the relevant benefits on the valuation day<sup>9</sup>. Where the relevant order or provision specifies an amount to be transferred, the appropriate amount is the lesser of (a) the specified amount; and (b) the cash equivalent of the relevant benefits on the valuation day<sup>10</sup>. Where the relevant arrangement is an occupational pension scheme and the transferor is in pensionable service<sup>11</sup> under the scheme on the transfer day<sup>12</sup>, the relevant benefits are the benefits or future benefits to which he would be entitled under the scheme by virtue of his shareable rights under it had his pensionable service terminated immediately before that day<sup>13</sup>. Otherwise, the relevant benefits are the benefits or future benefits to which, immediately before the transfer day, the transferor is entitled under the terms of the relevant arrangement by virtue of his shareable rights under it<sup>14</sup>.

The Secretary of State may by regulations make provision about the calculation and verification of cash equivalents for the purposes of the above provisions<sup>15</sup>.

All proceedings relating to pension credits or debits are assigned to the Family Division<sup>16</sup>.

1 See PARA 961A.2.

2 'Transferor' means the person to whose rights the relevant order or provision relates: Welfare Reform and Pensions Act 1999 s 29(8).

3 For the meaning of 'shareable rights' see PARA 961A.1.

4 'Relevant arrangement' means the arrangement to which the relevant order or provision relates: 1999 Act s 29(8).

5 Ibid s 29(1)(a).

6 'Transferee' means the person for whose benefit the relevant order or provision is made: ibid s 29(8).

7 Ibid s 29(1)(b). The reference to the person responsible for a pension arrangement is (1) in the case of an occupational pension scheme or a personal pension scheme, to the trustees or managers of the scheme; (2) in the case of a retirement annuity contract or an annuity falling within heads (4) or (5) of the definition of 'pension arrangement' in s 46(1) (see PARA 961A.1), to the provider of the annuity; and (3) in the case of an insurance policy falling within head (4) of that definition, to the insurer: s 46(2). For the meaning of 'occupational pension scheme', 'personal pension scheme' and 'retirement annuity contract' see PARA 961A.1.

8 'Relevant order or provision' means the order or provision by virtue of which ibid s 29 applies: s 29(8).

9 Ibid s 29(2). The 'valuation day' is such day within the implementation period for the credit under s 29(1) as the person responsible for the relevant arrangement may specify by notice in writing to the transferor and transferee: s 29(7). As to the implementation period see PARA 961A.5.

10 Ibid s 29(3).

11 'Pensionable service', in relation to a member of an occupational pension scheme, means service in any description or category of employment to which the scheme relates which qualifies the member (on the assumption that it continues for the appropriate period) for pension or other benefits under the scheme: ibid s 46(1) (words 'or category' in s 46(1) prospectively repealed: Pensions Act 2004 Sch 13 Pt 1). In determining what is 'pensionable service' for these purposes (1) service notionally attributable for any purpose of the scheme is to be disregarded; and (2) no account is to be taken of any rules of the scheme by which a period of service can be treated for any purpose as being longer or shorter than it actually is: 1999 Act s 46(3).

12 'Transfer day' means the day on which the relevant order or provision takes effect: ibid s 29(8).

13 Ibid s 29(4). The Secretary of State may by regulations provide for any description of benefit to be disregarded for the purposes of s 29(4), (5): s 29(6).

14 Ibid s 29(5). See also NOTE 14.

15 Ibid s 30(1). The power conferred by s 30(1) includes power to provide for calculation or verification (1) in such manner as may, in the particular case, be approved by a person prescribed by the regulations; or (2) in accordance with guidance from time to time prepared by a person so prescribed: s 30(2). See the Pension Sharing (Valuation) Regulations 2000, SI 2000/1052; and PARA 961A.1.

4. Pension debits

Where a person's shareable rights<sup>1</sup> under a pension arrangement<sup>2</sup> are subject to a pension debit<sup>3</sup>, each benefit or future benefit (1) to which he is entitled under the arrangement by virtue of those rights; and (2) which is a qualifying benefit<sup>4</sup>, is reduced by the appropriate percentage<sup>5</sup>. However, where a pension debit relates to the shareable rights under an occupational pension scheme<sup>6</sup> of a person who is in pensionable service<sup>7</sup> under the scheme on the transfer day<sup>8</sup>, each benefit or future benefit (a) to which the person is entitled under the scheme by virtue of those rights; and (b) which corresponds to a qualifying benefit, is reduced by an amount equal to the appropriate percentage of the corresponding qualifying benefit<sup>9</sup>.

The above provisions override any provision of a pension arrangement to which they apply to the extent that the provision conflicts with them<sup>10</sup>.

1 For the meaning of 'shareable rights' see PARA 961A.1.

2 For the meaning of 'pension arrangement' see PARA 961A.1.

3 Is a debit under the Welfare Reform and Pensions Act 1999 s 29(1)(a) (see PARA 961A.3): s 46(1).

4 A benefit is a 'qualifying benefit' for these purposes if the cash equivalent by reference to which the amount of the pension debit is determined includes an amount in respect of it: ibid s 31(3). See also Slattery v Cabinet Office Civil Service Pensions [2009] EWHC 226 (Ch), [2009] ICR 806, [2009] 1 FLR 1365.

'Appropriate percentage', in relation to a pension debit, means (1) if the relevant order or provision specifies the percentage value to be transferred, that percentage; (2) if the relevant order or provision specifies an amount to be transferred, the percentage which the appropriate amount for the purposes of s 29(1) represents of the amount mentioned s 29(3)(b) (see PARA 961A.3): s 31(5). 'Relevant order or provision', in relation to a pension debit, means the pension sharing order or provision on which the debit depends: s 31(5).

6 For the meaning of 'occupational pension scheme' see PARA 961A.1.

7 For the meaning of 'pensionable service' see PARA 961A.3.

10 Ibid s 31(4).

5. Pension credits

A person subject to liability in respect of a pension credit<sup>1</sup> must discharge his liability before the end of the implementation period<sup>2</sup> for the credit<sup>3</sup>. Where the trustees or managers of an occupational pension scheme<sup>4</sup> have not done what is required to discharge their liability in respect of a pension credit before the end of the implementation period for the credit (1) they must, except in such cases as the Secretary of State may prescribe by regulations, notify the Regulatory Authority<sup>5</sup> of that fact within such period as the Secretary of State may so prescribe; and (2) the provision relating to civil penalties<sup>6</sup> will apply to any trustee or manager who has failed to take all such steps as are reasonable to ensure that liability in respect of the credit was discharged before the end of the implementation period for it<sup>7</sup>. If such trustees or managers fail to perform the notification obligation mentioned above, the provision relating to civil penalties will apply to any trustee or manager who has failed to take all reasonable steps to ensure that the obligation was performed<sup>8</sup>. On the application of the trustees or managers of an occupational pension scheme who are subject to liability in respect of a pension credit, the Regulatory Authority may extend the implementation period for the credit for the purposes of the above provisions if it is satisfied that the application is made in such circumstances as the Secretary of State may prescribe by regulations<sup>9</sup>.

The implementation period for a pension credit is the period of four months beginning with the later of (a) the day on which the relevant order or provision takes effect; and (b) the first day on which the person responsible for the pension arrangement<sup>10</sup> to which the relevant order or provision<sup>11</sup> relates is in receipt of (i) the relevant documents<sup>12</sup>; and (ii) such information relating to the transferor<sup>13</sup> and transferee<sup>14</sup> as the Secretary of State may prescribe by regulations<sup>15</sup>. The Secretary of State may by regulations (A) make provision requiring a person subject to liability in respect of a pension credit to notify the transferor and transferee of the day on which the implementation period for the credit begins; (B) provide for these provisions<sup>16</sup> to have effect with modifications where the pension arrangement to which the relevant order or provision relates is being wound up; (C) provide for these provisions to have effect with modifications where the pension credit depends on a pension sharing order and the order is the subject of an application for leave to appeal out of time<sup>17</sup>.

Provision is made as to the mode of discharge of liability in respect of a pension credit<sup>18</sup>.

7. Requirements relating to pension credit benefit

The following rules apply to any occupational pension scheme<sup>1</sup> whose resources are derived in whole or part from (1) payments (a) under an actual or contingent legal obligation; or (b) in the exercise of a power conferred, or the discharge of a duty imposed, on a minister of the Crown, government department or any other person, being a power or duty which extends to the disbursement or allocation of public money, made or to be made by one or more employers of earners to whom the scheme applies; or (2) such other payments by the earner or his employer, or both, as may be prescribed for different categories of scheme<sup>2</sup>.

Normal benefit age<sup>3</sup> under such a scheme must be between 60 and 65<sup>4</sup>. Such a scheme must not provide for payment of pension credit benefit<sup>5</sup> in the form of a lump sum at any time before normal benefit age, except in such circumstances as may be prescribed<sup>6</sup>. In general<sup>7</sup>, a person's pension credit benefit under a scheme must be (i) payable directly out of the resources of the scheme; or (ii) assured to him by such means as may be prescribed<sup>8</sup>.

An eligible member<sup>9</sup> of a qualifying scheme<sup>10</sup> may by notice in writing require the trustees or managers of the scheme to use an amount equal to the cash equivalent<sup>11</sup> of his pension credit benefit<sup>12</sup> for such one or more of the authorised purposes<sup>13</sup> as he may specify in the notice<sup>14</sup>. Certain restrictions are placed on the power to give a transfer notice<sup>15</sup>. The trustees or managers of a qualifying scheme which is a salary-related occupational pension scheme must, on the application of an eligible member, provide him with a written statement of the amount of the cash equivalent of his pension credit benefit under the scheme<sup>16</sup>. Compliance with a transfer notice has effect to discharge the trustees or managers of a qualifying scheme from any obligation to provide the pension credit benefit of the eligible member who gave the notice<sup>17</sup>. Additional provision is made concerning the time for compliance with a transfer notice<sup>18</sup>, withdrawal of such a notice<sup>19</sup>, matters to be disregarded in calculations<sup>20</sup> and the service of transfer notices<sup>21</sup>.

Regulations may apply the provisions relating to transfer notices<sup>22</sup> with prescribed modifications to occupational pension schemes which are not money purchase schemes, but where some of the benefits that may be provided are money purchase benefits<sup>23</sup>.

8. Miscellaneous

The Secretary of State may by regulations make provision for a pension provided to give effect to eligible<sup>1</sup> pension credit rights<sup>2</sup> of a member under a qualifying occupational pension scheme<sup>3</sup> to be increased, as a minimum, by reference to increases in the retail prices index, so far as not exceeding the maximum percentage per annum<sup>4</sup>.

The Secretary of State may by regulations make provision for the purpose of enabling the person responsible for a pension arrangement<sup>5</sup> involved in pension sharing<sup>6</sup> to recover from the parties to pension sharing prescribed charges in respect of prescribed descriptions of pension sharing activity<sup>7</sup>. Such regulations may include provision (1) for the start of the implementation period<sup>8</sup> for a pension credit to be postponed in prescribed circumstances<sup>9</sup>; (2) in relation to payments in respect of charges recoverable under the regulations, for reimbursement as between the parties to pension sharing<sup>10</sup>; (3) in relation to the recovery of charges by deduction from a pension credit, for the modification of provision relating to the mode of discharge of pension credits<sup>11</sup>; (4) for the recovery in prescribed circumstances of such additional amounts as may be determined in accordance with the regulations<sup>12</sup>. For the purposes of such regulations, the question of how much of a charge recoverable under the regulations is attributable to a party to pension sharing is to be determined as follows (a) where the relevant order or provision includes provision about the apportionment of charges under this provision, there is attributable to the party so much of the charge as is apportioned to him by that provision; (b) where the relevant order or provision does not include such provision, the charge is attributable to the transferor<sup>13</sup>.

Power under an Act to establish a pension scheme<sup>14</sup> now includes power to make provision for the provision, by reference to pension credits<sup>15</sup> which derive from rights under (i) the scheme; or (ii) a scheme in relation to which the scheme is specified as an alternative<sup>16</sup>, of benefits to or in respect of those entitled to the credits<sup>17</sup>. Such provision is without prejudice to any other power<sup>18</sup> and applies in relation to Acts whenever passed<sup>19</sup>. There is no obligation to consult in relation to the making, in exercise of a power under an Act to establish a pension scheme, of provision of a kind so authorised<sup>20</sup>. The power also exists to extend judicial pension schemes<sup>21</sup> to make corresponding provision<sup>22</sup>.

The Secretary of State may by regulations require the person responsible for a pension arrangement involved in pension sharing to supply to such persons as he may specify in the regulations such information relating to anything which follows from the application of the provision relating to the creation of pension debits and credits<sup>23</sup> as he may so specify<sup>24</sup>.

1 'Eligible', in relation to pension credit rights, means of a description prescribed by regulations made by the Secretary of State: Welfare Reform and Pensions Act 1999 s 40(3). See the Pension Sharing (Pension Credit Benefit) Regulations 2000, SI 2000/1054; and PARA 961A.7.

'Money purchase benefit' has the meaning given by the Pension Schemes Act 1993 s 181(1) and 'commencement day' means the day appointed for the coming into force of the Pensions Act 2004 s 280 (ie 6 April 2005: see SI 2005/275): 1999 Act s 40(3) (amended by Pensions Act 2004 s 280(5)). For the purposes of the 1999 Act s 40(1) the 'maximum percentage' means (a) 5 per cent in a case where (i) the pension is in payment before the commencement day, or (ii) the pension is not in payment before the commencement day but the entitlement to the relevant pension credit arose before that day, and (b) 2.5 per cent in a case where the entitlement to the relevant pension credit arises on or after the commencement day: s 40(2B). 'Relevant pension credit' means the pension credit to which the eligible pension credit rights are (directly or indirectly) attributable: s 40(3) (amended by Pensions Act 2008 Sch 11 Pt 2).

13 1999 Act s 41(3). In s 41(3) the reference to the relevant order or provision is to the order or provision which gives rise to the pension sharing, and the reference to the transferor is to the person to whose rights that order or provision relates: s 41(6).

14 'Pension scheme' means a scheme or arrangement providing benefits, in the form of pensions or otherwise, payable on termination of service, or on death or retirement, to or in respect of persons to whom the scheme or arrangement applies: ibid s 42(6).

The Pension Schemes Act 1993 s 168 (see PARA 970) applies as if the 1999 Act s 45 were contained in the 1993 Act (otherwise than in Pt VII Ch II (ss 123-127)): 1999 Act s 45(2). For the purposes of s 45, a pension arrangement is involved in pension sharing if s 29 applies by virtue of an order or provision which relates to the arrangement: s 45(3).

962. Pensions on divorce; lump sums.

The power of the court<sup>1</sup> to order a party to a marriage to pay a lump sum to the other party includes, where the benefits which the party with pension rights<sup>2</sup> has or is likely to have under a pension scheme<sup>3</sup> include any lump sum payable in respect of his death, power to make any of the following provisions by the order<sup>4</sup>. The court may:

- 2677 (1) if the trustees or managers<sup>5</sup> of the pension scheme in question have power to determine the person to whom the sum, or any part of it, is to be paid, require them to pay the whole or part of that sum, when it becomes due, to the other party;
- 2678 (2) if the party with pension rights has power to nominate the person to whom the sum, or any part of it, is to be paid, require the party with pension rights to nominate the other party in respect of the whole or part of that sum;
- 2679 (3) in any other case, require the trustees or managers of the pension scheme in question to pay the whole or part of that sum, when it becomes due, for the benefit of the other party instead of to the person to whom, apart from the order, it would be paid<sup>6</sup>.

Any payment by the trustees or managers under an order so made discharges so much of the trustees', or managers', liability in respect of the party with pension rights as corresponds to the amount of the payment<sup>7</sup>.

In deciding whether to make an order which by virtue of these provisions imposes any requirement on the trustees or managers of a pension scheme, the court must take into account any representations of the trustees or managers as to whether, in all the circumstances of the case, the court ought to make the order, and in particular whether the trustees or managers have been given sufficient information to enable them to comply with their obligations under any such order and the administrative expenses which they are likely to incur in complying with any such obligations<sup>8</sup>.

Where the trustees or managers of an occupational pension scheme receive contributions to the scheme from a European employer, the trustees or managers must ensure that the scheme, so far as it relates to members who are or have been employed by the employer, is operated in a way which is consistent with the requirements of the social and labour law of the host member State<sup>1</sup>. Regulations may modify any provision of pensions legislation<sup>2</sup> in its application to members of an occupational pension scheme in respect of which the employer is a European employer<sup>3</sup>.

2 In ibid s 291 'pensions legislation' means (1) the Pension Schemes Act 1993, (2) the Pensions Act 1995 Pt 1, other than ss 62-66A (equal treatment), (3) the Welfare Reform and Pensions Act 1999 Pt 1 or s 33, or (4) the Pensions Act 2004: s 291(4).

1 In the Pensions Act 2004 s 292(1), 'ring-fencing' has the same meaning as in the Directive: Pensions Act 2004 s 292(2).

See also the Occupational Pension Schemes (Cross-border Activities) Regulations 2005, SI 2005/3381, PARA 969A.2.

7. Functions of Regulator in relation to institutions administered in other member States

Where a UK employer<sup>1</sup> makes (or proposes to make) contributions to a European pensions institution<sup>2</sup>, any function which the Directive<sup>3</sup> requires or authorises to be exercised by the competent authorities of the host member State is exercisable by the Regulator<sup>4</sup>. If the Regulator receives a notification in pursuance of the Directive<sup>5</sup> from the competent authority in another member State, the Regulator must within two months inform that authority of any relevant legal requirements<sup>6</sup>. Where a UK employer makes contributions to a European pensions institution, the Regulator must (1) monitor the compliance of that institution with the relevant legal requirements, and (2) if the Regulator becomes aware of any contravention<sup>7</sup> by the institution of any relevant legal requirements, inform the competent authority of the member State in which the institution has its main administration of the failure<sup>8</sup>. If the Regulator is satisfied that a European pensions institution which receives contributions from a UK employer is contravening any relevant legal requirements, the Regulator may issue a notice to the UK employer directing him (a) to take or refrain from taking such steps as are specified in the notice in order to remedy the failure by the institution, or (b) to cease to make further contributions to the institution<sup>9</sup>.

1 In the Pensions Act 2004 s 293 'UK employer' means an employer who (1) in the case of a body corporate, is incorporated under the law of the United Kingdom or any part of the United Kingdom, or (2) in any other case, is resident in the United Kingdom: s 293(8).

2 In ibid s 293 'European pensions institution' means an institution for occupational retirement provision, as defined by art 6(a) of the Directive, that has its main administration in a member State other than the United Kingdom: Pensions Act 2004 s 293(8).

3 I.e art 20 of the Directive.

4 Pensions Act 2004 s 293(1).

In s 293 'relevant legal requirements' means such requirements of the law relating to occupational pension schemes, as it applies in any part of the United Kingdom, as may be prescribed: s 293(8). See the Occupational Pension Schemes (Cross-border Activities) Regulations 2005, SI 2005/3381, reg 16, Sch 2 paras 2, 3, 5. Where there is a significant change in any relevant legal requirements, the Regulator must as soon as reasonably practicable inform any competent authority in relation to which it has provided information under the 2004 Act s 293(2) of that change: s 293(3).

7 For the meaning of 'contravention' see PARA 636A.11.

8 Pensions Act 2004 s 293(4).

9 Ibid s 293(5). Regulations may make further provision about the effect of a notice under head (b) in the text, including provision conferring functions on the Regulator: s 293(6). As to regulations under the Pensions Act 2004 see ss 314-317 (s 316 amended by Pensions Act 2008 ss 124(7)-(10), 125(3), Sch 9 paras 5, 12). The Pensions Act 1995 s 10 (civil penalties: see PARA 611) applies to any UK employer who, without reasonable excuse, fails to comply with a notice under the Pensions Act 2004 s 293(5): s 293(7).

8. Stopping disposal of assets of institutions administered in other member States

The following provisions<sup>1</sup> apply if the Regulator receives a request from the competent authority of a member State for assistance in prohibiting the free disposal of UK-held assets<sup>2</sup> of a European pensions institution that has its main administration in that member State<sup>3</sup>. The court may on an application made by the Regulator with respect to UK-held assets of the institution grant an injunction restraining a defendant from disposing of, or otherwise dealing with, assets to which the application relates<sup>4</sup>. If the court grants an injunction<sup>5</sup>, it may by subsequent orders make provision for such incidental, consequential and supplementary matters as it considers necessary to enable the competent authority that sent the request to perform any of its functions in relation to assets subject to the injunction<sup>6</sup>. If the institution is not a party to proceedings<sup>7</sup>, the institution (1) has the same rights to notice of the proceedings as a defendant, and (2) may take part as a party in the proceedings<sup>8</sup>. In deciding any question as to costs or expenses, a court before which any proceedings take place (a) may take account of any additional expense which it considers that any party to the proceedings has incurred as a result of the participation of the institution in pursuance of head (2) above, and (b) may award the whole or part of the additional expense as costs or (as the case may be) expenses to the party who incurred it (whatever the outcome of the Regulator's application)<sup>9</sup>.

969B. Transfer of state pensions and benefits.

A person who wishes to transfer his transferable rights<sup>1</sup> to the Communities' scheme<sup>2</sup> must make an application to the Secretary of State<sup>3</sup>. Such an application must be in such form as the Secretary of State may from time to time approve<sup>4</sup>. The Secretary of State must provide the transferor with a statement of entitlement that remains valid for a period of seven months beginning with the day on which it is issued<sup>5</sup>, before the end of the period of fourteen days beginning with the guarantee date<sup>6</sup>. The cash equivalent of the transferor's transferable rights is to be calculated and verified in such manner as may be approved by, or on behalf of, the Government Actuary<sup>7</sup>. Where, at the guarantee date, the transferor is in receipt of one or more relevant benefits, the cash equivalent of any amounts paid in respect of that benefit or those benefits must be deducted from the total cash equivalent of his transferable rights<sup>8</sup>. A transfer of a transferor's transferable rights to the Communities' scheme may only take place where the Secretary of State has been notified in writing, before the expiry of the period that the transferor wishes the transfer to take place<sup>9</sup>. Provision is made for where an incorrect amount is transferred<sup>10</sup>. Payments of cash equivalents of transferable rights made by the Secretary of State by virtue of these provisions are to be paid out of money provided by Parliament<sup>11</sup>.

1 'Transferable rights' means any rights to relevant benefits, which, at the guarantee date, have accrued to, or in respect of, a person by virtue of (1) the payment by that person of Class 1, 2 or 3 contributions under the Social Security Contributions and Benefits Act 1992; (2) that person having been credited with such contributions or with earnings; or (3) contributions of any class paid under the National Insurance Act 1965: Transfer of State Pensions and Benefits Regulations 2007, SI 2007/1398, reg 2(1). This does not include (a) any rights under the Social Security Contributions and Benefits Act 1992 ss 48, 82-86A; or (b) the cash equivalent of the value of the appropriate national health service allocation under the Social Security Contributions and Benefits Act 1992 s 162: SI 2007/1398 reg 2(2). In determining a person's rights to relevant benefits for the purposes of these provisions the Social Security (Widow's Benefit and Retirement Pensions) Regulations 1979, SI 1979/642, reg 6(1) is modified: SI 2007/1398 reg 2(3).

2 'The Communities' scheme' means the pension scheme provided for officials and other servants of Community institutions and bodies in accordance with regulations adopted by the European Council: SI 2007/1398 reg 1(2).

5 Ibid reg 4(2).

6 Ibid reg 4(1). Where the transferor is not satisfied as to the accuracy of any of the information contained in the statement of entitlement, he must notify the Secretary of State accordingly within one month of receiving it: reg 4(3). The Secretary of State need not provide a statement of entitlement to a transferor if he has provided a statement of entitlement to that transferor in the previous twelve months: reg 4(4).

7 Ibid reg 5(1).

8 Ibid reg 5(2). As to the effect of making a cash equivalent transfer payment, see reg 8.

9 Ibid reg 6. Where the Secretary of State is satisfied that the cash equivalent of the transferor's transferable rights is correct, he must transfer into the Communities' scheme, before the end of the period of ten months beginning with the guarantee date, (1) an amount in respect of that cash equivalent; and (2) interest accruing on that amount by virtue of reg 10: reg 7(2). Interest accrues on the cash equivalent of the transferor's transferable rights in respect of the period beginning on the guarantee date and ending on the day on which an amount in respect of that cash equivalent is transferred: reg 10(1). Where the Secretary of State is not satisfied as to the accuracy of the cash equivalent of the transferor's transferable rights, he must notify the transferor accordingly and issue a revised statement of entitlement: reg 7(3). Where the Secretary of State receives a notice from a transferor indicating that he wishes to complete a transfer of his transferable rights to the Communities' scheme, and that notice is received after the expiry of the period, he must notify the transferor that his application is invalid and that a new application must be made and a new statement of entitlement obtained: reg 7(4).

(3) GENERAL OFFENCES

970. Breach of regulations.

Regulations<sup>1</sup> under any provision of the Pension Schemes Act 1993<sup>2</sup> may make such provision as is referred to below<sup>3</sup> for the contravention<sup>4</sup> of any provision contained in regulations made or having effect as if made under any provision of the 1993 Act<sup>5</sup>. The regulations may provide for the contravention to be an offence under the Act and for the recovery on summary conviction of a fine not exceeding level 5 on the standard scale<sup>6</sup>. An offence under any provision of the regulations may be charged by reference to any day or longer period of time; and a person may be convicted of a second or subsequent offence under such a provision by reference to any period of time following the preceding conviction of the offence<sup>7</sup>.

The regulations may provide for a person who has contravened the provision to pay to the Occupational Pensions Regulatory Authority<sup>8</sup>, within a prescribed<sup>9</sup> period, a penalty not exceeding an amount specified in the regulations; and the regulations must specify different amounts in the case of individuals from those specified in other cases and any amount so specified may not exceed the amount for the time being specified in the case of individuals or, as the case may be, other specified individuals<sup>10</sup>. Where:

- 2704 (1) such a penalty is recoverable<sup>11</sup> from a body corporate or Scottish partnership<sup>12</sup> by reason of any act or omission of the body or partnership as a trustee of a trust scheme; and
- 2705 (2) the act or omission was done with the consent or connivance of, or is attributable to any neglect on the part of, any persons mentioned below, such a penalty is recoverable from each of those persons who consented to or connived in the act or omission or to whose neglect the act or omission was attributable<sup>13</sup>. The persons so referred to:

- 2706 (a) in relation to a body corporate, are any director, manager, secretary, or other similar officer of the body, or a person purporting to act in any such capacity, and, where the affairs of a body corporate are managed by its members, any member in connection with his functions of management<sup>14</sup>; and
- 2707 (b) in relation to a Scottish partnership, are the partners<sup>15</sup>.

Where by reason of the contravention of any provision contained in regulations made, or having effect as if made, under the Pension Schemes Act 1993, a person is convicted of an offence under the Act or a person pays a penalty<sup>16</sup>, then in respect of that contravention, he is not, in a case where he is convicted of such an offence, also liable to pay such a penalty and is not, in a case where he pays such a penalty, also liable to be convicted of such an offence<sup>17</sup>.

Where an offence under the Pension Schemes Act 1993 which has been committed by a body corporate is proved to have been committed with the consent or connivance of, or to be attributable to any neglect on the part of, a director, manager, secretary or other similar officer of the body corporate, or any person who was purporting to act in any such capacity, he as well as the body corporate is guilty of that offence and liable to be proceeded against accordingly<sup>1</sup>.

Where the affairs of a body corporate are managed by its members, the above provision applies in relation to the acts and defaults of a member in connection with his functions of management as if he were a director of the body corporate<sup>2</sup>.

Halsbury's Laws of England/SOCIAL SECURITY AND PENSIONS (VOLUME 44(2) (REISSUE))/23. MISCELLANEOUS PROVISIONS/(4) RELATIONSHIP BETWEEN STATUTORY REQUIREMENTS AND PENSION SCHEME RULES/972. In general.

(4) RELATIONSHIP BETWEEN STATUTORY REQUIREMENTS AND PENSION SCHEME RULES

972. In general.

Certain provisions of the Pension Schemes Act 1993 are overriding requirements<sup>1</sup> which override any provision of a pension scheme to which they apply to the extent that it conflicts with them<sup>2</sup>.

Nothing in the provisions relating to contracting out<sup>3</sup> precludes an occupational pension scheme from providing benefits that are more favourable than those required for contracting-out purposes<sup>4</sup> and nothing in the provisions relating to the revaluation of accrued benefits<sup>5</sup> or to transfer values<sup>6</sup> precludes a scheme from being framed or managed more favourably to beneficiaries than is called for by those provisions<sup>7</sup>. Nor does anything in the provisions relating to the preservation of benefits<sup>8</sup> apply with direct effect to any scheme, or to the rights or liabilities of any person in, under or by virtue of a scheme, or preclude a scheme from being so framed as to provide benefits on any ampler scale, or (subject to any express statutory provision)<sup>9</sup> payable at any earlier time or otherwise more favourable to beneficiaries, than is called for by the preservation requirements<sup>10</sup>.

Where the rules of an occupational pension scheme to which the preservation requirements or the voluntary contributions requirements<sup>11</sup> apply, or the rules of a personal pension scheme<sup>12</sup> to which the voluntary contributions requirements apply, do not comply with those requirements, it is the responsibility of the trustees and managers<sup>13</sup> of the scheme, or, in the case of a public service pension scheme<sup>14</sup>, the minister, government department or other person or body concerned with its administration, to take such steps as are open to them for bringing the rules of the scheme into conformity with those requirements<sup>15</sup>.

1 As to the provisions of the Pensions Act 1995 which are overriding requirements in relation to occupational pension schemes see PARA 871 ante. For the meaning of 'occupational pension scheme' see PARA 741 ante.

2 See the Pension Schemes Act 1993 s 129(1) (s 129 amended by the Pensions Act 1995 ss 122, 177, Sch 3 paras 22, 31, Sch 7 Pt I). The provisions referred to are the provisions of Pt IV Chs II-IV (ss 83-101) (as amended); s 110(1); and any regulations made under s 113: see PARA 557 ante. Part IV Ch II (as amended) as it applies to occupational pension schemes does not, however, override a protected provision of a scheme and Pt IV Ch IV does not override a provision falling within head (1) infra: s 129(2) (as so amended). 'Protected provision' means: (1) any provision of a scheme to the extent that it deals with priorities on a winding up; (2) any provision of a scheme which is included in it for the purpose of effecting a transfer of rights or liabilities authorised by regulations under s 20(1) (see PARA 895 ante); (3) any provision of a scheme to the extent that it deals with commutation, suspension or forfeiture of the whole or part of a pension; and (4) any provision of a scheme whereby, as respects so much of a widow's or widower's pension as exceeds the guaranteed minimum pension (as to which see PARA 878 ante), (a) no pension or a pension at a reduced rate is payable if the earner and the widow or widower married not more than six months before the earner's death; (b) the whole or any part of the pension is not paid to the widow or widower, but instead comparable benefits are provided for one or more dependants of the deceased earner; or (c) no pension, or a pension at a reduced rate, is payable to the widow or widower (or, where a provision such as is mentioned in head (b) supra operates, to another dependant of the deceased earner) who was more than ten years younger than the deceased earner: s 129(3) (as so amended). For the purposes of the application of Pt IV Ch II to schemes which are not contracted-out, s 129(3) has effect with the omission from head (2) supra of the words from 'authorised' to the end, and from head (4) supra of the words from 'as respects' to 'guaranteed minimum pension': s 129(4).

3 I.e. the Pension Schemes Act 1993 Pt III (ss 7-68) (as amended): see PARA 877 et seq ante.

- 4 In particular, nothing in ibid s 16(3) (as amended) (see PARA 891 ante) is to be taken as preventing the scheme from providing increases above the alternative minima there mentioned: s 130.
- 5 Ie ibid Pt IV Ch II (ss 83-86) (as amended): see PARAS 941, 946 ante.
- 6 Ie ibid Pt IV Ch IV (ss 93-101) (as amended): see PARA 951 et seq ante.

973. Grants to advisory bodies etc.

The Occupational Pensions Regulatory Authority<sup>1</sup> may make grants on such terms and conditions as it thinks fit to any person or body of persons providing advice or assistance, or carrying out other prescribed<sup>2</sup> functions, in connection with occupational or personal pensions<sup>3</sup>. The Secretary of State<sup>4</sup> may pay the authority such sums as he may think fit towards any expenditure of the authority in making grants under this provision<sup>5</sup>.

2 For the meaning of 'prescribed' see PARA 555 note 1 ante.

3 Pension Schemes Act 1993 s 174(1) (amended by the Pensions Act 1995 s 151, Sch 5 paras 18, 73).

Halsbury's Laws of England/SOCIAL SECURITY AND PENSIONS (VOLUME 44(2) (REISSUE))/23. MISCELLANEOUS PROVISIONS/(5) GENERAL FINANCIAL PROVISIONS/974. Levies towards certain expenditure.

974. Levies towards certain expenditure.

For the purpose of meeting expenditure under specified provisions of the Pension Schemes Act 1993<sup>1</sup> or expenditure of the Occupational Pensions Regulatory Authority<sup>2</sup>, including the establishment of the authority and, following the authority's appointment as Registrar of Occupational and Personal Pension Schemes<sup>3</sup>, its expenditure as registrar, regulations<sup>4</sup> may make provision for imposing levies in respect of prescribed<sup>5</sup> occupational or prescribed personal pension schemes<sup>6</sup>. Any levy so imposed is payable to the Secretary of State<sup>7</sup> by or on behalf of:

- 2708 (1) the administrators of any prescribed public service pension scheme<sup>8</sup>;
- 2709 (2) the trustees or managers<sup>9</sup> of any other prescribed occupational or prescribed personal pension scheme; or
- 2710 (3) any other prescribed person, at prescribed rates and at prescribed times<sup>10</sup>.

Regulations may also make provision for imposing a levy in respect of prescribed occupational pension schemes for the purpose of meeting expenditure of the Pensions Compensation Board<sup>11</sup> (including the establishment of the board)<sup>12</sup>. Any levy so imposed is payable to the board by or on behalf of the trustees of any prescribed occupational pension scheme, or any other prescribed person, at prescribed times and at a rate, not exceeding the prescribed rate, determined by the board<sup>13</sup>.

An amount payable by a person on account of a levy imposed under these provisions is a debt due from him to the appropriate person<sup>14</sup>, and an amount so payable is recoverable by the appropriate person accordingly or, if the appropriate person so determines, be recoverable by the registrar on behalf of the appropriate person<sup>15</sup>.

Regulations under these provisions may<sup>16</sup> include provision relating to the collection and recovery of amounts payable by way of levy<sup>17</sup>, or the circumstances in which any such amount may be waived<sup>18</sup>. Special provision is made with regard to multi-employer schemes<sup>19</sup>.

Where any person fails, without reasonable cause, to comply with the requirement to pay a general levy, a compensation levy or a levy for which he is liable under the former statutory provisions, the authority may require that person to pay, within 28 days, a penalty which must not exceed £1,000 in the case of an individual, or £10,000 in any other case<sup>20</sup>.

1    le under the Pension Schemes Act 1993 s 6 (as amended) (see PARA 660 ante); Pt X (ss 145-152) (see PARA 663 et seq ante); and s 174 (see PARA 973 ante); see s 175(1)(a), (b) (s 175 substituted by the Pensions Act 1995 s 165).

2    As to the Occupational Pensions Regulatory Authority see PARA 598 ante.

3    As to the registrar see PARA 661 ante.

5    For the meaning of 'prescribed' see PARA 555 note 1 ante.

6 Pension Schemes Act 1993 s 175(1) (as substituted: see note 1 supra). For the meaning of 'occupational' and 'personal' pension schemes see PARAS 741, 710 respectively ante. Regulations made by virtue of s 175(1) (as so substituted): (1) in determining the amount of any levy in respect of the authority, must take account (among other things) of any amounts paid to the Secretary of State under s 168(4) (see PARA 970 ante) or the Pensions Act 1995 s 10 (see PARA 611 ante); and (2) in determining the amount of expenditure in respect of which any levy is to be imposed, may take one year with another and, accordingly, may have regard to expenditure estimated to be incurred in current or future periods and to actual expenditure incurred in previous periods (including periods ending before the coming into force of the Pension Schemes Act 1993 s 175(3) (as so substituted)): s 175(3) (as so substituted).

For the purpose of meeting expenditure under s 6 (as amended), Pt X and s 174, and expenditure of the authority, the trustees of every registrable occupational pension scheme are liable to pay a levy to the Secretary of State; and for the purpose of meeting expenditure under s 6 (as amended), Pt X and s 174, the trustees of every registrable personal pension scheme are liable to pay a levy to the Secretary of State; and levy so payable is referred to as 'the general levy': Occupational and Personal Pension Schemes (Levy) Regulations 1997, SI 1997/666, reg 2(1)-(3). The general levy is payable in respect of each registration year (ie each period of 12 months beginning on 1 April: reg 1(2)); and subject to reg 8 (waiver: see note 18 infra), where, during a registration year, a scheme becomes a registrable scheme, ceases to be a registrable scheme or is wound up, the general levy is nevertheless payable in full for that year: reg 2(4), (5). 'Registrable scheme' means an occupational or a personal pension scheme which (a) is established in the United Kingdom or has a place at which its management is conducted in the United Kingdom and has a representative appointed to carry out the functions of a trustee in the United Kingdom; and (b) which is a scheme in respect of which a person has applied for, or received, the approval of the Inland Revenue for the purposes of the Income and Corporation Taxes Act 1988 ss 590 or 591 (as amended) (other than s 591(2)(g) (as amended) (conditions for approval of retirement benefit schemes and discretionary approval: see PARAS 748-751 ante), or for the purposes of Pt XIV Ch IV (ss 630-655) (as amended) (personal pension schemes: see PARA 711 et seq ante) or is a scheme which is a public service pension scheme (see PARA 874 ante); and (c) which has more than one member and provides benefits which are not solely payable on the death of a member; and for these purposes an occupational pension scheme which is a retirement benefits scheme approved under the Income and Corporation Taxes Act 1988 s 591(2)(h) (discretionary approval: see PARA 751 ante) is treated as a personal pension scheme: Occupational and Personal Pension Schemes (Levy) Regulations 1997, SI 1997/666, reg 1(2). The amount of the general levy is determined by reference to the total membership of a scheme: see reg 3(1). As to calculation see reg 3(2), Schedule Pts I, II.

7 As to the Secretary of State see PARA 1 ante.

8 For the meaning of 'public service pension scheme' see PARA 874 ante.

9 As to the power to provide by regulations who is to be treated as a manager of an occupational pension scheme see PARA 555 note 9 ante.

11 As to the Pensions Compensation Board see PARA 637 ante.

12 Pension Schemes Act 1993 s 175(4) (as substituted: see note 1 supra). In determining the amount of expenditure in respect of which any levy under s 175(4) (as so substituted) is to be imposed, the board, and regulations made by virtue of s 175(5) (as so substituted), may take one year with another and, accordingly, may have regard to expenditure estimated to be incurred in current or future periods and to actual expenditure incurred in previous periods (including periods ending before the coming into force of s 175(6) (as so substituted)): s 175(6) (as so substituted).

13 Ibid s 175(5) (as substituted: see note 1 supra). Notice of the rates determined by the board under s 175(5) (as so substituted) must be given to prescribed persons in the prescribed manner: s 175(7) (as so substituted).

For the purpose of meeting the expenditure of the Pensions Compensation Board, the trustees of every registrable occupational pension scheme established by trust are liable to pay a levy to the board, referred to as 'the compensation levy': Occupational and Personal Pension Schemes (Levy) Regulations 1997, SI 1997/666, reg 5(1), (2). This does not, however, apply in the case of any occupational pension scheme referred to in the Occupational Pension Schemes (Pensions Compensation Provisions) Regulations 1997, SI 1997/665, reg 2(1)(d)-(g) (schemes to which the compensation provisions in the Pensions Act 1995 ss 81-85 do not apply: see PARA 643 ante) or in the case of any occupational pension scheme in respect of which the employer cannot become insolvent within the meaning given by the Pension Schemes Act 1993 s 123 (see PARA 853 note 5 ante); but subject to that, and to reg 8 (waiver), where, during a registration year, a scheme to which the Occupational and Personal Pension Schemes (Levy) Regulations 1997, SI 1997/666, reg 5(1) applies becomes a registrable scheme, ceases to be a registrable scheme or is wound up, the compensation levy is nevertheless payable in full for that year: reg 5(3), (4). The amount of the compensation levy payable in respect of each registration year must be determined by reference to the total membership of a scheme but the amount payable per member in respect of each registration year must not exceed the amount specified in reg 6(2), Schedule Pt III; and the board must secure that arrangements are made and implemented for giving notice in writing to the trustees of schemes to which reg 5(1) applies of the amount of the compensation levy payable per member and that reasonable steps are taken to ascertain the address to which such notice should be sent: reg 6(1)-(3).

14 If the levy is imposed under the Pension Schemes Act 1993 s 175(1) (as substituted: see note 1 supra), the appropriate person is the Secretary of State, and if the levy is imposed under s 175(4) (as so substituted), the appropriate person is the board: see s 175(8)(a), (b) (as so substituted).

15 Ibid s 175(8) (as substituted: see note 1 supra).

16 Ibid without prejudice to the generality of the provisions of ibid s 175(1), (4) (as substituted: see note 1 supra): see the text and notes 6, 12 supra.

17 Ibid s 175(9)(a) (as substituted: see note 1 supra). The general levy must be remitted to the registrar who must collect it on behalf of the Secretary of State; it is normally payable in advance at the beginning of each registration year and no additional levy or refund is payable in respect of any change taking place during that year; but in the case of a scheme to which the Occupational and Personal Pension Schemes (Levy) Regulations 1997, SI 1997/666, reg 2(5)(a) applies, the general levy is payable on the day on which the scheme becomes a registrable scheme: reg 4(1)-(3). The compensation levy is normally payable in advance at the beginning of each registration year and no additional levy or refund is payable in respect of any change taking place during that year; but in the case of a scheme to which reg 5(4)(a) applies, the compensation levy is payable on the day on which the scheme becomes a registrable scheme: reg 7(1), (2).

18 Pension Schemes Act 1993 s 175(9)(b) (as substituted: see note 1 supra). Payment of the general levy or the compensation levy must be waived where the trustees confirm in writing to the registrar that (1) there is no employer or the employer is insolvent (for the meaning of which see PARA 853 note 5 ante); and (2) in the case of a scheme under which all the benefits that may be provided (other than death benefits) are money purchase benefits, there are insufficient unallocated assets in the scheme to meet its levy liabilities in full; or (3) in the case of a scheme to which the Pensions Act 1995 ss 56-60 apply (the minimum funding requirement: see PARA 811 et seq ante) and in respect of which there has been an actuarial valuation of the scheme's assets in accordance with s 57 (valuation and certification of assets and liabilities), the value of the scheme's assets is less than 100% of its liabilities; or (4) in the case of a scheme to which ss 56-60 apply and in respect of which there has been no actuarial valuation of the scheme's assets in accordance with s 57, the amount by which the scheme's assets exceed its liabilities, in accordance with the last actuarial valuation of the scheme's assets under the Occupational Pension Schemes (Disclosure of Information) Regulations 1986, SI 1986/1046, reg 8 (revoked) is less than the total amount of its levy liabilities: see the Occupational and Personal Pension Schemes (Levy) Regulations 1997, SI 1997/666, reg 8(1), (2).

(6) GENERAL PROVISIONS IN RELATION TO REGULATIONS AND ORDERS

977. Orders and regulations under the Pension Schemes Act 1993; in general.

Any power under the Pension Schemes Act 1993 to make regulations<sup>1</sup> or orders (except a power of the court to make orders) and the powers to make rules<sup>2</sup> are exercisable by statutory instrument<sup>3</sup>. Except in so far as the Pension Schemes Act 1993 otherwise provides, any power conferred by it to make an Order in Council, regulations or an order<sup>4</sup> may be exercised:

- 2711 (1) Either in relation to all cases to which the power extends, or in relation to those cases subject to specified exceptions, or in relation to any specified cases or classes of case;

- 321. (b) the same provision for all cases in relation to which the power is exercised, or different provision for different cases or different classes of case or different provision as respects the same case or class of case for different purposes of the Pension Schemes Act 1993;
- 322. (c) any such provision either unconditionally or subject to any specified condition, and where such a power is expressed to be exercisable for alternative purposes it may be exercised in relation to the same case for any or all of those purposes; and any power to make an Order in Council, regulations or an order for the purposes of any one provision of that Act is without prejudice to any power to make an Order in Council, regulations or an order for the purposes of any other provision<sup>5</sup>.
- 247

Any power conferred on the Secretary of State by any provision of that Act to make any regulations or order<sup>8</sup>, where the power is not expressed to be exercisable with the consent of the Treasury, is nevertheless exercisable only in conjunction with the Treasury if the Treasury so directs<sup>9</sup>.

The Secretary of State has power to direct by regulations that certain provisions of the Pension Schemes Act 1993<sup>10</sup> are to have effect, in such cases as he may specify in the regulations, subject to such modifications<sup>11</sup> as he may specify<sup>12</sup>. Regulations may also provide that any provision of that Act which relates to occupational pension schemes<sup>13</sup> is to have effect in relation to personal pension schemes subject to prescribed modifications<sup>14</sup>.

A power conferred by the Pension Schemes Act 1993 to make Orders in Council, regulations or an order generally includes power to provide for a person to exercise a discretion in dealing with any matter<sup>15</sup>.
